

Is Your Home Ready for What's Next?

Your home should work well for the way you live today—and have the flexibility to support you as life changes.

Use this quick checklist to think about what's working, what could be easier, and where a thoughtful change might make a difference.

Check any statement that sounds like you.

Planning Ahead

- ☐ I want my home to continue working well as I get older.
- ☐ I'm thinking about future needs before they become a problem.
- ☐ I'm planning a remodel and want to make choices that will serve me well for years to come.
- ☐ I'd rather plan ahead than make changes in a hurry later.

Everyday Living

- ☐ Some things in my home are harder to do than they used to be.
- ☐ I'd like to move through my home more easily.
- ☐ I want everyday tasks to feel safer and more comfortable.
- ☐ I'd like to maintain my independence at home.
- ☐ There are small things about my home that I've simply learned to work around.

Changing Needs

- ☐ My mobility has temporarily changed because of an injury, surgery, or recovery.
- ☐ I or someone in my household has an ongoing mobility or accessibility need.
- ☐ We use a cane, walker, wheelchair, or other mobility device.
- ☐ We're adapting our home for a spouse, parent, family member, or guest.
- ☐ Our needs have changed, and our home hasn't quite caught up.

Looking at Your Home Differently

- ☐ Some rooms or areas of my home no longer work as well as they once did.
- ☐ I think about the stairs, the bathroom, entering and exiting the home, or moving between rooms and how a change or adaptation would be nice.
- ☐ I want my home to be safer without making it feel institutional.
- ☐ I want accessibility features to feel natural within the design of my home.
- ☐ I'd like to make thoughtful changes now that could make everyday life easier later.

What Your Answers Might Tell You

If you checked several boxes, your home may have opportunities to make everyday life safer, easier, and more comfortable.

That doesn't necessarily mean a major remodel. Sometimes the right solution is a simple change. Other times, a larger project makes sense. What matters is understanding how your home could better support the way you live—and deciding what makes sense for you.

You don't have to wait for a major life change to start thinking ahead.

Designing Homes for Real Life

At Isher, we believe good design should support the way people live—not just today, but through the changes that come with life.

Designing Homes for Real Life is our approach to creating homes that are comfortable, functional, beautiful, and adaptable over time. That might mean a small update, a focused renovation, or a larger remodeling project.

We start with your home, your goals, and your priorities, then help you understand what's possible.

Ready to take the next step?

Schedule a Designing Homes for Real Life Consultation

You don't need to know exactly what you need. That's part of the conversation.

www.ishercompany.com

Keep Thinking Ahead

A home that works well today can be designed to work beautifully for what's next.

The Isher Home & Design email offers practical ideas for creating homes that are safer, more comfortable, more accessible, and thoughtfully designed for the years ahead.

You'll occasionally hear from us about:

- Practical improvements that make a difference
- Planning for life changes
- Home safety & smart technology
- Aging in place & accessibility
- Easy ways to plan ahead

Join the Isher email list here. Stay inspired. Think ahead. Create a home that supports the way you want to live.

Imagine What's Possible in Your Home

If this checklist has you thinking about your own home, let's explore what's possible together. Isher can help you look at your space with fresh eyes, talk through what matters most to you, and discover thoughtful solutions—from simple improvements to a larger remodel.

Schedule a Designing Homes for Real Life Consultation to explore how your home can support you today--- and continue to work beautifully tomorrow.

Contact Us
Today

Phone: (801) 735-9093

Email: ishercompany@gmail.com

Web: www.ishercompany.com

Thoughtful Design. Effortless Living. Built for What's Next.