reetings Everyone —

Today is Sunday, August 23. The 21st Sunday in ordinary time and the 12th Sunday after Pentecost. We are streaming our second online live virtual service on the internet beginning at 9:00 AM.

We had great participation during the live service and during the recorded playback as well. Thank you all for participating . We look forward to even more participants this week.

A few points to remember when you are connected:

- ☐ Your microphone will be muted by the moderator and only the Church audio will be open. This will keep communications clear.
- ☐ During the announcement section of our service we will ask for any prayer requests. To submit your prayer request into the Zoom meeting, simply type it into the Chat function of the Zoom application, and we will collect them all for Pastor to offer up at the appropriate time.
- ☐ You can type up your request ahead of time and then copy and paste it into the Chat window. You may also email your request ahead of time to RickCheslo@Gmail.com to submit them ahead of the service.

Give God Your Worries

Barbara Hammell

To paraphrase one of your great leaders on Earth, there's nothing to worry about but worry itself. The weight of your troubles closes your heart to joy, and your constant nervous glances toward tomorrow's horizon rob you of your enjoyment of the present moment. Worry saps happiness from relationships and makes you feel and look old beyond your years.

It's normal among humans to worry, so God would like us to focus today on what you do with your cares.

You already know that being anxious is unhealthful and unhelpful. You're also aware that concentrating on your worries can bring them into being through the law of attraction. The solution is to form a spiritual partnership with God wherein you give him your concerns and he will help lift them away.

Give God Your Worries (CONTINUED)

Anytime you become conscious of anxious feelings, immediately think of God – your thought will be heard by Him. When you hand God your troubles, your burden is lifted. Not only does this reopen your heart to joy, it also lets light and fresh air into the situation so that it can be perfectly healed.

Make God your Refuge by pouring out your heart to Him, trusting in Him at all times.

I give any worries to God,
Calling upon Him if I'm troubled about anything, small or large. There is nothing that I should Be concerned about; I just need to remember to ask Him for help. I am empowered as I work closely with Him.
I can receive assistance with any situation –
all I need to do is ask.

*Trust in Him at all times,
O people; pour out your hearts to him,
For God is our refuge.
- Psalm 62:8*

Bustleton's Best — Church Cookbook Recipe of the Week

As I hang on through the Dog Days of August coping with the heat and humidity. I crave the cool respite of ice cream. I wander toward the freezer and spy a box of Jell-O Instant Pudding on the counter. Hmmm, I like pudding too! The light goes on and I recall this recipe from Jeanne Black in our Church Cookbook. Perfect! Why not enjoy both with a small scoop of extra ice cream while I wait for this to set! After all, I should be rewarded for this brilliance. In this instance vanilla pudding and peach ice cream made a wonderful dessert. Thank you Jeanne!

Ice Cream Pudding Pie

Jeanne Black

1 1/2 C milk
1 C ice cream (any flavor), softened
1 (6 serving size) pkg. Jell-O instant

pudding
1 baked 9 inch pie shell

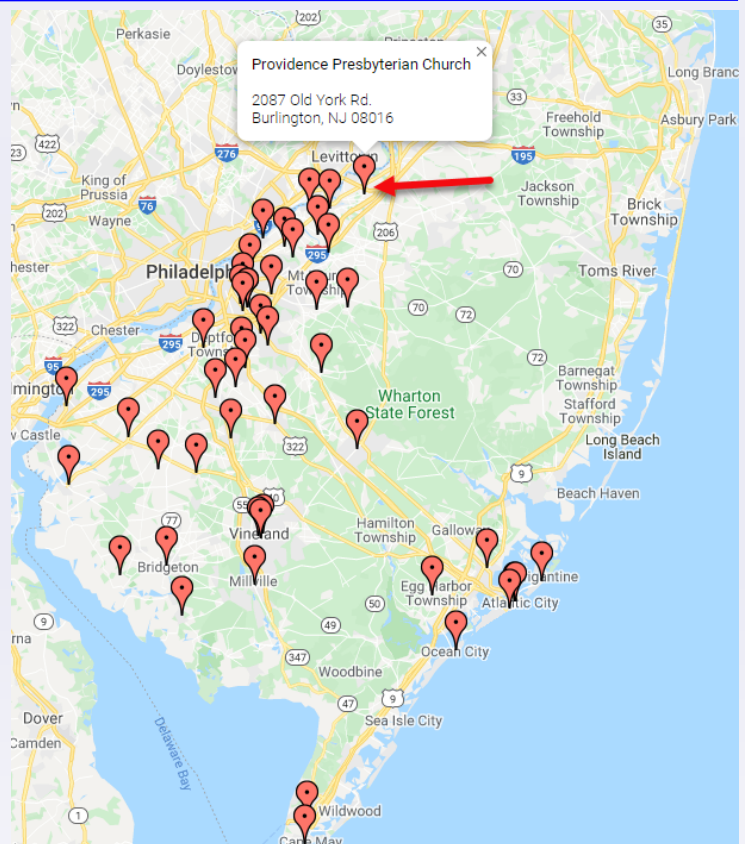

Thoroughly blend milk and ice cream in bowl; add pudding mix. Beat slowly with mixer on lowest speed until blended, about 1 minute. Pour immediately into pie shell. Chill until set, about 3 hours.
