DJ RACHI

THE DANCE FLOOR CONNOISSEUR

"Art is how we decorate space, music is how we decorate time"
- Jean-Michel Basquiat

Amarachi Ubani, mostly known as DJ Rachi or "The Dancefloor Connoisseur", is a multi-faceted selector with an enyclopedia of dance music stored in his brain. He delivers high-energy fused with eclectic sets with his swiss-army style of djing. His calibrated sound is designed to move bodies and uplift spaces. DJ Rachi is the founder of YAKTF Records, which is the platform that takes credit for community-driven parties like No Wahala and Magic Mondaze.

As a producer and curator, DJ Rachi has created mashups of songs by artists like Usher, Snoh Alegrah and Lenny Kravitz. He also has created compilation mixes like Kaytranada vs. Tory y Moi, while also producing his own original tracks that highlight his signatur sound.

Drawing inspiration from his African roots, Rachi employs melodic synths, dramatic percussion and deep, heavy bass to create his sound. It's an amalgamation of Hip-hop, Afrobeats, R&B, Reggae, Dubstep, Techno & House. His sets are immersive journeys through sound - built to create movement and uplift energy on the dancefloor, leaving listeners with a feeling of genuine love & connection.

DJ Rachi is a Nigerian-American, born in the MIdwest and raised in the DMV. Both of his parents were preachers and amateur musicians. They're whom he credits much of his early musical awareness to. A lot of his background also comes also from hoops, skateboarding and graphic design and this, along with family, is where he draws most his inspiration from.
