General Information

Written Reciprocity Agreement

The Office of Attorney General may negotiate written “reciprocity agreements” with other states to allow residents of each state to carry a concealed firearm in the other state. The Pennsylvania Uniform Firearms Act of 1995 grants the Attorney General the “the power and duty to enter into reciprocity agreements with other states providing for the mutual recognition of a license to carry a firearm issued by the Commonwealth and a license to carry a firearm issued by the other state.” 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109(k). The Attorney General is “authorized to negotiate reciprocity agreements and grant recognition of a license to carry a firearm issued by another state.” Id.

Mutual Statutory Reciprocity

In some circumstances, the Attorney General may grant mutual reciprocity without a written agreement. Under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6106(b)(15), the Attorney General may grant statutory reciprocity where: (1) the other state grants recognition to Pennsylvania concealed carry licenses through its laws and (2) that state’s laws governing firearms are sufficiently similar to the firearms laws of Pennsylvania.

Unilateral Recognition by Another State

Unilateral recognition occurs when another state recognizes the validity of Pennsylvania concealed carry licenses regardless of whether Pennsylvania is able to recognize concealed carry licenses issued by that state or that state does not require a license to carry a concealed firearm.

Review of Reciprocity

Under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109(m), the Attorney General must annually contact each state with which Pennsylvania does not have a written reciprocity agreement to determine whether (1) it is willing to negotiate a reciprocity agreement with Pennsylvania, (2) a Pennsylvania concealed carry licensee may carry a concealed firearm in that state, and (3) a Pennsylvania concealed carry licensee may apply for a separate concealed carry license from that state. In addition, the Office of Attorney General contacts each state on an annual basis to review their firearms laws and reciprocity status.

The Office of Attorney General also conducts a targeted review whenever it becomes aware that another state's laws have changed. You may help the Office of Attorney General by reporting a change in another state's laws HERE².

Carrying a Concealed Firearm in Pennsylvania

Pennsylvania residents who wish to carry a concealed firearm in Pennsylvania must have a valid Pennsylvania concealed carry license to do so legally. 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109(b) states that “an individual who is 21 years of age or older may apply to a sheriff for a license to carry a firearm concealed on or about his person or in a vehicle within [Pennsylvania].” Pennsylvania residents generally must file their application for a concealed carry license with their county sheriff; however, residents of Philadelphia must apply with the chief of police. A concealed carry license issued by another state does not allow a Pennsylvania resident to legally carry a concealed firearm in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
