The RV Refrigeration Network (RVRN) is a new and growing network made up of people who have received Certified training in the field of RV refrigerator reconditioning from Ford RV Refrigeration Training Center. These RV refrigerator specialists make themselves progressively available and educated in order to successfully provide a much needed service to RV owners. In addition, some of them also have other certifications and can assist you with other RV services.

RVRN members come from all walks of life. Some are HVACR Certified, RVDA/RVIA Certified, or owned Appliance Repair Centers. Some were electricians, welders, construction workers, salesmen, and chemical engineers. RV owners have even taken our training because they saw the need for this service in their areas.

Any RVRN member will service your RV refrigerator and/or recondition your RV refrigerator cooling unit, save you money, and provide you with the RV Industries best warranty.
