

Dear Friends,

The idea of using our newsletter as a preaching stage or a bully pulpit for political views does not fit my personality. But occasionally, there is an urge to share a truth I believe God has breathed into my spirit. Today, it is that we must live our lives INTENTIONAL. As a teenager working in construction, I recall our lunch breaks in Gulf Shores, Alabama spending time in the video arcades. A favorite game was the PIN BALL machine, where the steel ball was put into play where it was at the mercy of the paddles that constantly slapped it around the box. It simply reacted to whatever it came in contact with and had no mind of its own.

How many times do we find ourselves being slapped around by circumstances we seem to have no control over? I believe we can live a life of INTENTIONS. Meaning, we get up in the morning and make plans for the day. Then, we work the plan with INTENTIONAL LIVING. We do not have to be the ball in the machine, but rather a force to be reasoned with because WE KNOW WHERE WE WANT TO GO.

This week, I have hired an Intern from the Adult & Teen Challenge in Missouri. His name is Mike and comes to us from Saint Louis where his life had spun out of control. He found himself in the program where he finally began to experience life with some order in it. Then there came a day when he realized that God had purpose for him. and that purpose is to encourage others. Mike has traveled to South Carolina to become a mentor to men whose lives have been trapped in the pin ball machine of addiction. As he adjusts from being a student to leading other men, he would love to know that you have his back in prayer. His prayer is to be teachable and to lead others to this life in Christ.

As you know, the political and economic surroundings are difficult to say the least. A simple trip to the gas station or grocery store brings that reality front and center. It has affected all aspects of how we live; and we feel the crunch just as you do. Please pray that we can stay ahead of the fray and continue to offer HOPE and HELP to those who need it most. Every dollar counts and every soul is important. We appreciate all you have done and what you can do to help us this month.
