The patrons of KAVMS met in the year 2015 under the Chairmanship of Sri. D. H. Shankar Murthy, the then Chairman, Karnataka Legislative Council, along with Sri. R. P. Gopala Rao, IRS, the then Commissioner of Income Tax, Bangalore, deliberated upon the need for a separate institution for exclusively imparting coaching for the Civil Services Exams, KAS exams and other Competitive exams to the poor and talented students. In the initial years, Vasavi Academy sponsored the talented students selected through the screening test by reimbursing the fees (borne by them in other Institutes) due to the lack of infrastructure in the old premises of KAVMS.

IMPORTANCE & PROSPECTS OF BEING A CIVIL SERVANT

IAS, IPS or IRS officers are the Civil Servants who administer the policies of the Government through different departments and serve the public at large. Civil servants have received wide acceptance and prominence because their recruitment is based on merit through a Constitutional body, Union Public Service Commission (UPSC). Civil Servants allegiance is for the Constitution and not for the Government of the day hence Civil servants are respected throughout the country.

Civil Servants are protected by the Indian Constitution and they have got job security. The IAS officer implements the development schemes of the Government for the benefit of the nation through the revenue collected by an IRS officer and the IPS officer ensures law and order of the country. Similarly, the Officers of other Services also contribute to the successful administration of the Government. Thus the Civil Servants play a dominant role in the development of the country. The civil servants get not only a decent salary but command social prestige and respect. The Civil Servants with their varied experience can head specialized organizations and bring name and fame to the country. The services of the Civil Servants are utilized even after their retirement both by the Government and the Private Sector.
