If for this life only we have hoped in Christ, we are of all people most to be pitied. But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead, the first fruits of those who have died. For since death came through a human being, the resurrection of the dead has also come through a human being; for as all die in Adam, so all will be made alive in Christ. 1 Corinthians 15:19-26

Imagine for just a moment that there was no Easter. Imagine that Jesus didn't rise from the dead. Imagine that Good Friday was the end of it all - that death had the final word. There would be no hope for Easter.

In the Corinthian church the resurrection came into question as some were saying there was no resurrection of the dead. Paul told the Corinthians how necessary the resurrection was to the Christian faith. It was everything. Without it, faith was empty. Christianity would be like every other religion in the world. In fact, it would be worse because it would be making a false claim.

Lee Strobel, best-selling author of many books including God's Outrageous Claims, The Case for Christ, The Case for Faith, and The Case for Easter, once felt that Christianity was doing just that -- making a false claim. As a journalist, he was an avowed atheist. Yet, after viewing the evidence, the award-winning atheistic journalist believed in Christ -- resurrection and all.

The apostle Paul made his case for Easter and the resurrection to the Corinthians in the passage above. He asserted the main claim of Easter and of Christianity: "Christ has been raised from the dead." And, Christ's resurrection has a purpose: so that "all will be made alive in Christ." Death has no hold on us any longer, as "the last enemy to be destroyed is death."

Yet how often do we ignore our basic belief and fear death? We live as if Easter was dead -- as if Christ stayed in the grave. We fear death.

Easter shouts to all who will listen: The enemy of death has been destroyed! Adam's disobedience leading to death has been reversed by the obedience of Christ. The resurrection is real.

- * Jesus is no longer on the cross. The cross is empty.
- * Jesus is no longer wrapped in grave clothes. They are empty.
- * Jesus is no longer in the tomb. The tomb is empty.

The message of Easter is so clear: We have reason to be thankful -- Christ has given us a tomorrow. There is no need to fear death -- Christ has destroyed that enemy. Death loses some of its power and sting. Thanks be to God who gives us the victory in our Lord, Christ Jesus!

Because of Easter, we can and will experience everlasting life. Let us experience God's love as the last word over death. Alleluia! Christ is risen! May we live as Easter people every single day! Have a blessed Easter!

See you in church!

Pastor Robin

“Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything that I have commanded you.” Matthew 28:19,20

During our January meeting, we discussed the budget, a significant deficit between our budgeted expenses and our income, and how to close that gap. Most of our large expenses we have little control over. However, one that we might be able to adjust is our mortgage payment. PPC brought forth the proposal to refinance the mortgage at the January meeting. The congregation approved moving forward with getting mortgage proposals. And, at the meeting, we advised the congregation that a special congregational meeting to vote on a refinance proposal would be forthcoming. We have called a meeting for April 8 after the worship service to complete this process.

This turned out to be more difficult than we thought. Chase led us to believe that we would qualify, and when they declined our application, we were surprised as was the Chase branch manager. We then looked into other potential lenders. We contacted 7 other lenders and made applications to 3. We dismissed one lender due to their rates. 2 only do residential loans. We received positive responses from 2, one of which was a broker who would have charged a significant amount in brokerage fees.

We have settled on First Commonwealth. They are the bank that acquired Delaware County Bank. We met with their business loans representative and went over all the terms and questions that we had. The basic terms were as follows:

- Financed amount of $300,000 with a 20 year amortization schedule, fixed for 5 years with adjustments each 5 years after
- $2,043.38 monthly payment at current 5.38% interest rate
- $2043.38 monthly payment
- Closing fees of $1,300
- Annual cash flow savings for our operating budget of $11,959 that will help us maintain and improve our mission
- Cash takeout available for capital improvements such as repaving driveway, security system, repair of east wall, etc. – approximately $42,000

The interest rates have gone up some since we started investigating this with Chase in December.

This would be a significant improvement in our cash flow. With the refinance and our current balances, we would finish the year about a -$1,200 balance at year end. We have also worked on some other cash flow improvements including changing our electric contract, and we are hopeful that our recent visitors are a good sign for bringing in new members.

Please make every effort to attend the meeting on April 8. We will discuss the details of the proposal at that meeting. Thank you.

Your servant in Christ,

Todd Engen

"For the Lord gives wisdom; from his mouth come knowledge and understanding." Proverbs 2:6

The adult Sunday School class is currently studying the Augsburg Confession. We will begin very soon reading the entire Bible again. After each book, there will be a discussion and lecture. We are looking forward to this. Please join us from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m. in the narthex on Sundays. Steve Espe and Bruce Johnson lead the Adult Bible School.

On Thursday, April 5, 2018, will be our final trip to the Frebis Food Pantry. A sign-up sheet is located on the bulletin board in the hallway. Frebis will close in April 2018. However, we can continue helping for they will have a mobile pantry which will move on a daily basis. The mobile pantry will still need volunteers to help dispense the groceries and produce. I will keep you informed on the change.

Our next men's breakfast will on Saturday, April 14, 2018, at 8:30 a.m. Please join us for an amazing breakfast and fellowship with others.

We will recognize our Sunday School teachers on Sunday, May 20th. Students who are graduating from high school or college will be recognized on Sunday, June 10th. If there is a senior graduating in your family, please give Pastor Robin the information (date and place of graduation, future plans, etc., and a picture of the student).

Amazing Grace Day Camp Please don't forget the Amazing Grace Day Camp on July 16-20. This is a major outreach for our church to our immediate neighbors. Please see Todd, Dianna, Pastor Robin or me if you can help or need details. Registration forms are now available and being accepted in the church office.

In His service,
Bill

Each of you should give what you have decided in your heart to give, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver.

I'm always looking for ideas for the newsletter articles. This came from the March issue of Thrivent magazine.

We all share the belief that everything we have is a gift from God and we are called to be wise stewards of these gifts. In order to be wise stewards, there are on-going steps and essential questions that we must regularly repeat to better understand how we can help ourselves and others at the same time.

Know God's money story: Everything we have is a gift from God; we are called to be wise stewards of those gifts. We may ask "What does that mean?" There may be tension as we examine the choices we make.

Own your story: By looking within and being honest with ourselves, we can answer the question, "What is my enough?" Then we can wrestle how best to make wise choices with money and "write" our own story, informed by faith, heart and habits.

Practice wise financial habits: By making wise choices with money, we can turn our beliefs into something real. Asking "Who or what is going to help me?" we strive to manage God's gifts wisely and put our values and plans into action.

Give of yourself: True generosity isn't just giving money, but sharing what's on our minds and in our hearts. By considering "Who can I help?" we focus on caring for others by generously sharing the gifts God has given: time, talent and treasure.

"Once (we) gain a deeper insight into the two stories – God's and (our) own – (we'll) begin to see money for what it truly is ... simply a tool for storing and exchanging love and service of self, family and others," says Thrivent CEO Brad Hewitt. "It becomes the means for living out one's faith."

Six times a year Fellowship members prepare and serve a community meal at First English Lutheran Church on the near east side of Columbus. We served over 120 folks in March. Thanks to Dave Bear for preparing the meal, and to all who served and made cookies. We can always use a few more hands (and cookies!). Please consider joining us in May.

Yours in Stewardship and Service,

Jim

“For behold, the winter is past; the rain is over and gone. The flowers appear on the earth, the time of singing has come, and the voice of the turtledove is heard in our land.”
Song of Solomon 2:11 – 12

Our early Easter this year is a perfect way to welcome spring. With the arrival of the spring season, we anticipate the renewal of life as the earth warms, trees sprout leaves and flowers begin to bloom.

Let us give thanks for the renewal of life that greets us with the coming of spring.

THANK YOU to everyone who participated in our many activities during Lent, Holy Week and Easter. We are blessed to experience this demonstration of fellowship from our members.

Sunday evening Worship and Praise services will resume April 11. Please join us at 5:00 p.m. for this 45-50 minute, “come as you are” service with singing, a short message, and communion.

ELCA World Hunger Global Farm

As long as the earth endures, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night, shall not cease.” Genesis 8:22 (NSRV)

Not so long ago, most of the people in the United States lived on farms, like the Engen Farm of ND pictured here, and were basically subsistence farmers. Their existence depended on weather, health, and enough labor to work the fields. One severe drought or severe winter could bankrupt or even kill them. As late as the 1930s, there was widespread famine due to drought and economic conditions in farming country here in the United States.

Much of the undeveloped world is still in that situation. Today, 80% of the world’s food is produced on small farms that depend on family labor, just like the prairie homesteaders did here in the United States a hundred or more years ago. Half of the world’s undernourished people live on these farms. And, adding to the usual weather challenges that farmers face, climate change is changing the rules right under people’s feet.

Family farming is a way of life in the United States and the world. We city-folk have grown away from our farming legacy, but there are still a huge number of family farms here at home. Most are much bigger now than they were even 30 years ago. Where my ancestors worked a 160 acre homestead, today’s family farm in the United States probably works thousands of acres.

ELCA World Hunger has started the ELCA World Hunger Global Farm campaign to help family farmers the world over gain access to livestock, seeds, tools and training. Much like I witnessed in Haiti with the Haitian Timoun Foundation, access to this kind of support can make a huge difference in the viability of family farms. Fellowship actually participated in the beginnings of this at Christmas when we had the opportunity to buy pigs, honeybees, and other farm animals and tools via those ornaments on the tree in the narthex.

The ELCA Youth Gathering is making this a focus and many groups will bring their offerings to this campaign to the gathering this summer. For more information on how you can contribute, see:

ADDRESS SERVICE REQUESTED

Our Purpose: To share God's love and grace through our words and actions.

Our Vision: To be a "called and gathered" family of faith whose members so fully experience the undeserved love of God that we are moved to express that same love of God, in our relationships with one another and our whole community . . .
