WELCOME

to S23 film

Recently, becoming a father has ignited a powerful drive within me to achieve greatness. I want to take charge of my own destiny as well as my family's, and I believe photography will be the means to accomplish that.

I am not just capturing moments but also building a legacy that my children can be proud of. The art of photography allows me to tell stories, to connect with diverse cultures, and to freeze time in a way that words alone cannot express.

I am committed to honing my craft, learning from every experience, and sharing the beauty I find in the world with others. S23 Film is not just a business; it's a dream, a passion, and a promise to create something meaningful and lasting. The future holds endless possibilities, and I am ready to embrace them with open arms and a camera in hand.

I'M JOSH POWELL

Greetings, I am Josh, the creative force behind S23 Film. From the outset, I have embraced my identity as a distinctive statement piece—while some appreciate it, others may not. Nonetheless, I remain unapologetically true to myself.

I did not meticulously plan my life's path; however, during my university years, I unintentionally ventured into the realm of music photography. This experience illuminated my direction and became my guiding inspiration.

“Better to admit you stumbled through the wrong door than to spend a lifetime in the wrong room”.

FUTURE PROJECTS

#01 Behind the scenes

I quickly learned that capturing the essence of a scene required more than just technical skill; it was about feeling the energy on set and anticipating those fleeting, candid moments that truly told the story behind the story. Whether it was the intense focus of a director reviewing a scene or the laughter shared between takes, each shot became a cherished memory of the creative process. This experience not only honed my photography skills but also opened my eyes to the collaborative spirit and passion that drives the film industry.

#02 Music photography

Whether it's capturing the raw energy of a live performance or the quiet moments backstage, music photography allows me to tell stories through my lens. I envision a project that brings these narratives to life, perhaps through a series of exhibitions or a published collection. This endeavor would not only celebrate the artists and their craft but also highlight the vibrant culture that surrounds live music.
