Kuklak's Corner

Hello TRM families!

Welcome back to another edition of Three Rivers Reads. We are so happy to be back and to have finally completed our first full week in the new year. This is also the time of year I begin looking ahead and thinking about what the next school year has in store for us. We are in the process of finalizing the enrollment and lottery process and are excited to be thinking about the opportunities next year will bring us! Keep your eye on the school website for updated information as we move closer to February.

Transition is a normal part of a school setting as we see our oldest transition out at the end of each year and our youngest transition in each Fall. You will notice a transition in our front office starting next week. Jonna Duke has served TRM in many ways, most recently as the Executive Assistant supporting my start at the school. This was a role I advocated for and Jonna has been instrumental to my integration into the school. Now that I am up to speed, we are looking for ways to ensure our budget stays in alignment. One way we can do this is with the elimination of the position of the Executive Assistant. Jonna's last day with us will be next Wednesday, January 18th. This is bitter sweet for me as we spent a great deal of time working together this year. We certainly wish her well in her next chapter and we know she will do great things as she enters this new transition.

Moving forward you will notice that the computer used to sign in and out will be located at our Office Manager, Connie's, desk. She will be your point of contact as you come and go from the building starting next week. As always, if you have ideas, feedback, or suggestions for things you notice when you visit, please do not hesitate to let us know. We are always looking for ways to increase efficiency at the school.

My best,

Antonio Kuklok – Executive Director and Principal
