Kuklok's Corner

Greetings, TRM families.

This week's message will remain short. Unfortunately, I have been out sick all week, so I have missed much of the excitement of the building. I have been able to spend time working on state reports which are a necessary part of the job, and the dedicated time reminds me of the infrastructure needed to keep our school running.

Our authorizer moved their site visit to early December, and we are appreciative of their flexibility and still excited to share all of the ways TRM is growing and evolving. I look forward to returning to the building next week and welcoming the students back on Tuesday, November 15th. I hope you enjoy your extra day off on Monday and that the students get some well-earned rest.

My best,

Antonio Kuklok – Executive Director and Principal
