

English Language Specialists

Helping You Help Your Employees

Learn.

Speak.

Advance.

Learn Now
Learn Well
LLC

Hello,

My name is Joel Volkert and I'm the founder of Learn Now Learn Well LLC, an English language company that specializes in teaching and improving the English needs of employees. Our mission is to empower students to achieve their maximum potential, ultimately benefitting your employees, your company and your clients.

Healthcare retention is a problem

Read why 82% of health industry executives say difficulty attracting and retaining talent is a moderate or serious risk to their business (PWC, 2023)

Click here for article

What we do

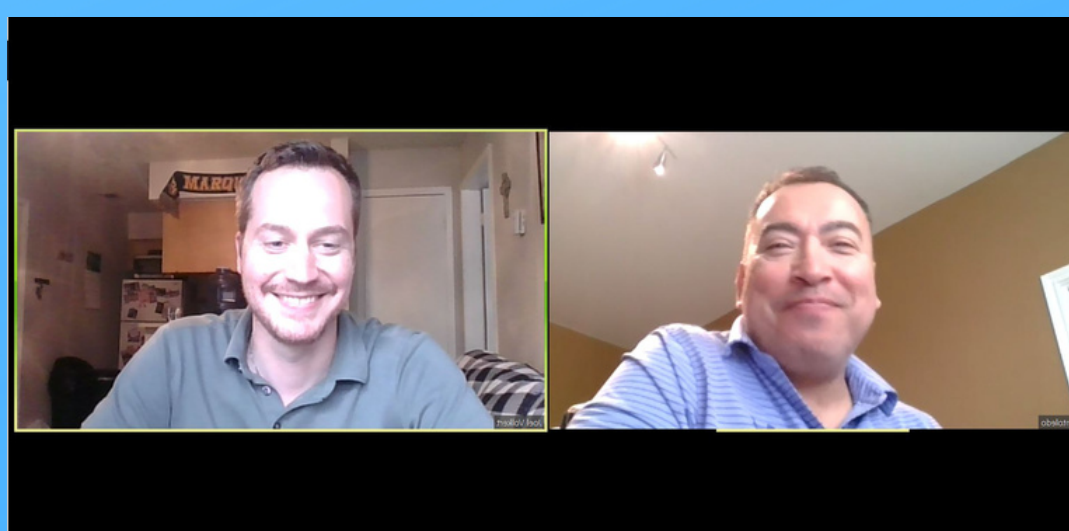

We provide high-quality and affordable tutoring – through individual and group tutoring, we personalize lessons to make sure employees are advancing quickly and successfully in their English skills.

Joel Volkert
Founder and CEO

Why English matters at work

- Effective communication with clients, coworkers, and management
- Saves your company money by decreasing language confusion, expensive translation services, and costly business mistakes
- English is a global language in an increasingly competitive market
- English fluency empowers and encourages employee growth

Medical Professions

Examples of challenging words and phrases for English learners

Vocabulary

- Bedpan
- Pain/ache
- Wound
- Shot
- Recover
- Hallway
- Aide
- Weight/height
- Chart
- Sample

Acronyms

- ER
- OR
- ICU
- IV
- EMT
- X-ray

Phrases

1. Jump right in (begin immediately)
2. "Nice to meet you" vs "Nice to see you"
3. It's up to you (your decision)
4. Throw away (throw something in the garbage)
5. "Go back" vs "come back" vs "get back"
6. Smooth sailing (to have an easy time)
7. Give someone a hand (help them)
8. Put off (postpone, as in a meeting)
9. Look something up (research, investigate)
10. Fill in/out (complete, as in a form)
11. Here you go (when handing someone something)
12. "Looks like" vs "sounds like" vs "seems like"
13. Here and there (once in a while)
14. "Turn on" vs "turn off"
15. So far, so good (things are okay)
16. It takes time (it won't happen quickly)
17. To end up (to result in)
18. "How much" vs "how many"

What we offer

Individual tutoring

For individual employees, we personalize lessons to meet the specific goals of the individual. We focus on high-impact needs, such as accent reduction, reading/writing professionally, public speaking skills, and conversational fluency.

Group tutoring

Designed for multiple employees, we focus on important business skills, such as: Advanced English vocabulary and phrases, reading/writing professionally, interpersonal communication, and cultural information. (We also provide helpful English content for New Employee Onboarding.)

Online classes

Business English - Employees will become comfortable with commonly used professional and business English vocabulary, email best practices, understanding American business culture better and improving reading comprehension of business-related material.

Phrasal Verbs - Phrasal verbs, such as Put up with or Call off, can be confusing to English learners. We give examples, definitions and opportunities for students to practice using phrasal verbs commonly heard at work.

Affordable rates - Our mission is to teach and help others grow, and that starts by keeping prices affordable

Did you know? A single translator can cost over $100,000 per year!
(Glassdoor, 2022)

www.learnnowlearnwell.com

How we are successful

With years of experience, we've learned the most successful way to teach is through tracking progress of goals and having our students apply what they learn in their day-to-day activities at work. As such, you will see immediate results and improvement from your employees.

With our "Phrases of the Week," your employees can receive emails twice per week that teach them commonly used phrases such as Find out, Look up, Put up with, It's up to you, and The ball is in your court. Without explanation of what these phrases mean, employees can sometimes be confused and have a difficult time communicating with customers, clients and even coworkers.

Phrase of the Week

From Learn Now Learn Well © 2021

ENGLISH: Work out

There are several meanings for "work out."

1) To do exercise (running, lifting, biking, etc.)
I like to work out in the morning.

2) Be okay/function well
Everything will work out with this big project.

3) Solve
The engineers need to work the problem out.

ESPAÑOL: Vale la pena

This means "To be worth it."

A: No quiero pagar tanto dinero por este viaje.

(I don't want to pay so much for this trip)

B: Vale la pena, estoy seguro. (It's worth it, I'm sure)

*Receive two FREE Phrases of the Week each week!
Visit our website: www.learnnowlearnwell.com/free-resources

Test it out for FREE...

Learn more about our "Phrases of the Week" on YouTube!

www.learnnowlearnwell.com

Testimonials

View Google Reviews

"Learn Now Learn Well's Business English class was very helpful for my English communication at work. All the material provided was very helpful and the examples were super practical."

Igor, Legal Assistant
Brazil

"I highly recommend Learn Now Learn Well. They have the skills, strategies and talent for teaching English like a second language. I'm gaining more confidence speaking, improving my pronunciation, written communication and I am still learning. The one on one attention is a plus for someone like myself that needed to gain confidence. I am truly happy being a student at Learn Now Learn Well."

Silvia, Entrepreneur Mexico

"[Joel] puts a lot of effort revising what he is going to talk about before class to ensure using the class time effectively and having excellent examples from daily life. I like his teaching style because it is so logical, organized and easy to follow. The assignments he assigns reflects what he teaches in the class."

Feras
Health Safety Engineer
Saudi Arabia

"Joel is a very positive and well prepared English teacher. He raised my spirit and excitement not only to learn English, but also to increase my understanding of many interesting cultures in the world. I really like my progress and classes with him."

Rachel, Teacher
China

We highly value our students and do our best to make their experiences positive and engaging.

How to get more information

If you would like to speak further about Learn Now Learn Well and how we can benefit your organization, please let us know and we can set up a time to talk.

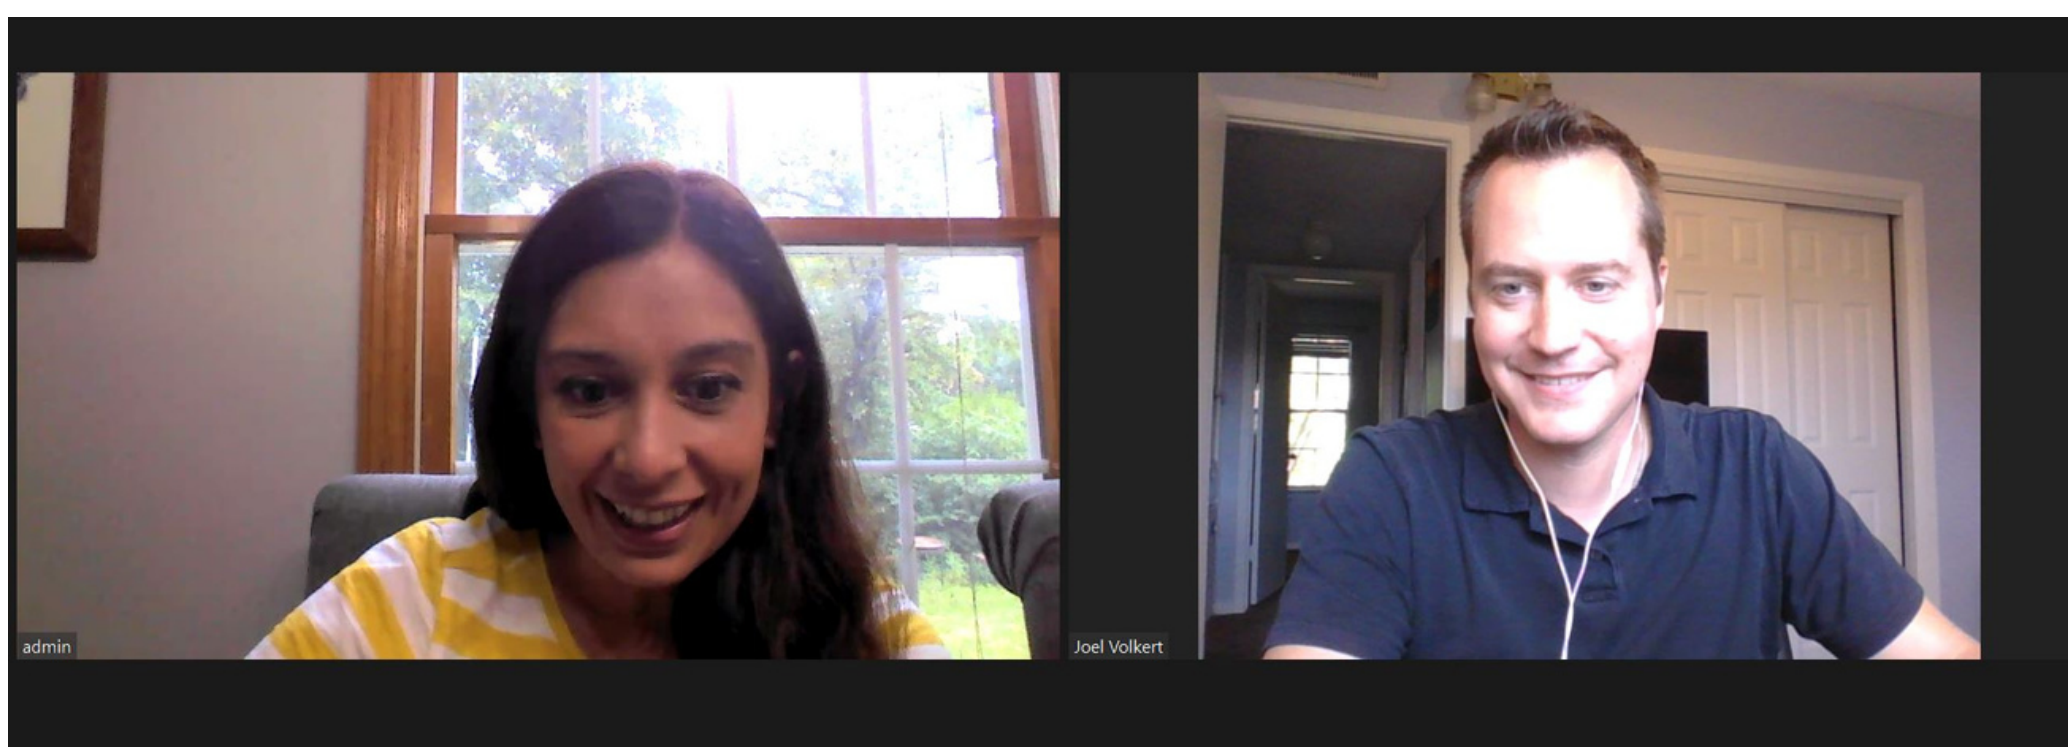

info@learnnowlearnwell.com

512-710-9605

www.learnnowlearnwell.com

Thank you for taking the time to explore how to further develop your employees. Take care and stay well!

- Joel

Virtual teaching at work!

View Google Reviews

