

Youth ReGeneration Corps St. Croix, USVI

ReGeneration Corps USVI is a youth leadership and hands-on education program for students in grades 8-11. The program blends classroom learning, land laboratory experiences, and community service to help youth explore solutions to climate change, food security, and environmental health. Students meet twice a month at the Florence Williams Public Library, the Peace International Compound, and across the island—on farms, in forests, near waterways, and in cultural spaces—connecting local knowledge with scientific practice. Transportation will be coordinated for monthly field visits.
