

Late August 2022. Unexpected Birthing of SoFlo

I was on a secret journey, following my times with a holy man and his team, and a financial genius who is started to growl ferociously from his headquarters near Jupiter ... Jupiter Florida that is.

Me and Matt Sapaula at PBD's Villa

After the party on Saturday night, I was gearing up for a road trip.

I needed a break to process like Maxwell's Leadership Development strategy session called, "The 21 Irrefutable Laws of Leadership." I sang John a dirge on the G5. He asked me to write it out. I'm sure it is like the way PBD grabbed the stage to welcome my valuable contribution to the questioning option for Robert Kiyosaki. I was the last guy. And I laid another egg, like praying for the meal at an opening celebration for a product line. So I headed for the Keys for a little rehabilitation. "I might find a pirate ship like Sir Francis Drake suffered, just looking for a dock on the bay. I wondered what all these experiences meant as I sought to fellowship with Father, and explore like a pirate, who loves the edges of masses ... Mass like Energy measurements expected by humans to continue operating flawlessly. And to meet people who lived in this area. So, I randomly chose an off-brand, unlike I normally do.

Video 1 – The rock at Casa Marina Hotel, Key West and the launching of Abundance Complex #20 South Florida (SoFlo).

This is where I wanted to start the Piece about how my trip to Key West included a magnanimous instigation by intuition. I interpreted the sequences to mean AC#20 SoFlo.

The atmosphere over Florida produces an amazing skyline of cloud formations.

Finally, I arrived at the hotel. I chose an off-label hotel, only to find out it is a Curio collection of Hilton.

It's delightful. Casa Marina Key West.

Here's the video:

A couple of videos – that I am learning to use.

While I was leaving, my mind was racing about SoFlo. Abundance Complex Southern Florida, from this rock on the southern shore of Key West to the beaches and bays of St. Augustine – this is AC#20 SoFlo.

Now, the only challenge with Key West is ... traffic. So I headed out early and got some great shots.

Then I thought, there must be a better way to get here. And I had a flashback to an image I noticed while coming into Key Largo.

Postscript, Sept. 15, 2022

Stretching my recall, back to the moments in time, when my mind was racing sequences of fictions within the eventual events depicted in the photographs above.

During all those sequences, I recall a great enthusiasm of fellowship with Father. It was like, "Father, what reasons do I have in my "rehearsals" of truths expected at those instant sequences within those "events pictured" ... Oh, my mind fills with imagery of doing what I expect my perfect creator to accomplish.

The terms and sequences of expression ... human expression of expectations within the future fictions we imagine will happen, based on accurate expectations from observations made in each of the 7CAC.

The experience I am writing about is what happens in your physical body, particularly in your headquarters of your physical plant. The entirety of you is classified with "agreed upon" details in the fine print of expositing sequences of experiences. This expression is not meant to be "esoteric" as much as sentient ... that human beings like me ... 80% of humans living on this rock now. We can all agree to the statements of expectations signaled in the contracts of humans, "formerly known as Prince" ... like William, the newest cast member for "Prince of Wales" lore.

Dynasty. And if you care to get it clear in your expectational "valuation" calculator, that sits on your "desk" in your headquarters of CEO of Self. It's your imago Dei ... It's His image and likeness that you are created to manage toward competitive greatness.

As we are all watching the "changing of the guard" at Windsor, William experienced an expected and rehearsed "fiction" about a future experience: "When I become Prince of Wales ..." he may have considered a few times, at least in the corner of the "drawing room" where we experiment with "What If." And when reality sequences match the "expected timing" of the transitional experience of shifting ... we all must measure accurately, so we don't hurt the flow of a narrative we investigated to be chaos. It doesn't make sense to us about shifting.

I learned about the necessity of timed shifting early on in my development of leadership awareness. Like at Ascot, and that timing of the shift from 4th to 5th gear on those 250cc racebikes back in the 1980s. If you don't shift at the appropriate expectation, and stay steady in fourth gear, you won't win the race you're in.

"What happens if I go west from my house?" my social network used to joke in the 70's, crowded around Newport Beach, CA.

"Bobby, you might get your wheels wet!" my mother chirped, as we rolled on the floor laughing ... like moms and sons do in our early second decade. "If you drive west young man, you will drive into the Pacific Ocean." "Yeah," we agree. "That's not a good place to park 'The Truck'!"

“Are you sure you want to put Diesel Fuel in that Datsun?” Such great love among all our friends as we compete at the best of our experiences suffered.

Learn from the experiences that taught a narrative of Family First. And to that I agree, so long as we all realize that we cannot move unless others are open to accepted our flawed existence.

And yes, 80%ers understand. “If you understand a few sets of meanings within the phrase ‘Life is Messy’ ... well then, let’s ask each of us to think within our own headquarters. “I hope mercy hides my imperfections, or else.” Or else what?

Civilians cooperating under expectations.

Expect Competitive Greatness.

Life is about shifting gears, as you drive and explore each of your Seven Cultures Amid Chaos (7CAC). It’s a weekly routine that we humans experience in the images we share. “To look at the sites in SoFlo compared to NB?” It’s very similar as coastal towns go, but the distinctions are drinkably vast. Like drinking beer. “They make more.” So, the objective is not to the drink the assets dry. It is to leverage agreements so that all can compete cooperatively in every culture experienced afresh now.

“Gratitude, gratitude, Gratitude” I preached in New Cuyama. We had a lot of fun there. And the house at Darrin and Urner was the next step in the narrative we experienced.
