

Round 1 – Define a Use Case

What business challenge should the AI system address?

(Examples: better forecasting, prioritizing leads, customer retention, faster response times)

Round 2 – Data Sources & Readiness

Name two data sources, and rate them:

1

+

2

1

2

For each source:

Accessibility (1 = hard to access, 5 = easily available)

Quality/Cleanliness (1 = messy/inconsistent, 5 = reliable)

Volume & Frequency (1 = too little/rare updates, 5 = sufficient and frequent)

Cost/Expensiveness (1 = very costly, 5 = free or affordable)

1	2	3	4	5

Round 3: AI Processing

Could you outline the proposed AI processing steps? This includes selecting appropriate models/algorithms and considering deployment strategies.

Inputs:

- AI/ML Model Selection
→ What could we use for this?
- Deployment Strategy

Round 4: Expected Business Value

Quantify the potential business value of the AI system.

Consider both tangible benefits (e.g., cost savings, revenue increases) and intangible benefits (e.g., improved customer satisfaction, enhanced decision-making).

Inputs:

- Tangible Benefits
- Intangible Benefits
- Key Performance Indicators (KPIs)

Round 5: First Steps

Identify the immediate next steps required to initiate the AI project. This includes resource allocation, team formation, and initial data exploration.

Inputs:

- Action Items
- Responsibilities
- Timeline
- Resources Required
