

PRINCESS BEAUTY & SIMPLE SIMON

- PRINCESS Oh my god! Hi Simon! I've not seen you all evening! Wow you've scrubbed up well for my party! (*Hugs SIMON) And you smell fantastic, what do you have on?
- SIMON Well... I've uh - I've got a hard-on, actually - It's crazy that you can smell it!
- PRINCESS (Continue on without drawing any attention to it - like she didn't hear it)
What a great day I am having, there are so many presents! I've had such a wonderful time, and you have helped so much.
- SIMON Ever since your parents took me in, I've always tried to help where I could, even more so when you came along.
- PRINCESS Well - thank you, truly.
Simon, do you ever want more from life? Like, do you have a dream?
- SIMON Not really, I've never really thought about it - or much else really.
May I ask, what is your dream?
- PRINCESS It's silly really, but Disney and society in general, dictate that my dream is to someday marry a charming prince, after not much more than seeing him for the first time. Then to find out that he's a bit of an idiot, and that maybe we should have dated for a bit first.
- SIMON Then, maybe my dream should be to be a Prince - then I could ask you to marry me!
- PRINCESS Oh Simon, you're so silly!
- (SIMON looks dejected*)
- PRINCESS I know let's sing that song you used to sing to me when I was little...
- SIMON A song? - Oh I don't know...
Oooh okay then - but you can all join in!