Zuuster Launches: The First Real Estate App That Puts Money Back in Buyers' Pockets—And Gives Back to Local Schools

Chino, CA – 02/18/2025 – The real estate industry is changing, and Zuuster is leading the way. Unlike Zillow, Homes.com and Realtor.com, which simply act as search portals, Zuuster is the only real estate platform that directly rewards its users—not just with listings, but with real money. With up to a 50% Buyer's Agent Rebate, Zuuster is making homeownership more affordable than ever.

But it doesn't stop there. Whatever rebate amount remains after closing, Zuuster donates it to local schools—because a strong community starts with giving back.

A Real Estate Platform That Pays You Back

Why should buyers pay full commission when they don't have to? With Zuuster, registered users receive up to 50% of the Buyer's Agent commission as a rebate. That means:

- ✓ More money in your pocket—Use the rebate to reduce or eliminate closing costs or lower your interest rate.
- ✓ Total flexibility—Buyers don't have to sell a home to qualify, and they can use any lender they choose.
- ✓ A community-first approach—Any rebate money left over goes straight to local schools, helping future generations.

Sellers Save Big, Too

For homeowners looking to sell, Zuuster offers listings for as low as 1%—a fraction of traditional commission costs, allowing sellers to keep more of their equity while still reaching serious buyers.

Smarter Home Search with AI-Powered Matching

Zuuster isn't just another real estate app. It learns from buyers' search behavior, using AI-powered dynamic search to customize listings based on preferences—making house hunting faster, easier, relevant and more fun than ever.

A Mission-Driven Approach to Real Estate

Zuuster isn't just about saving money—it's about building stronger communities. Founder Nick Bergiadis has long been dedicated to giving back. He spent several years serving high
