ROYAL PURPLE

A charming Banarasi classic, handwoven in the endearing Baluchari traditional technique, with vintage gold zari bootis, an ornate border, and a distinctive aanchal with artistic motifs depicting scenes from the nuptials and doli.

READY-TO-WEAR COUTURE

We celebrate the harmonious relationship between fashion and the tradition.

A modern adaptation of the traditional saree, designed for convenience and ease of wearing. Unlike the traditional saree, which requires intricate draping, a ready-to-wear saree comes pre-stitched with pleats and pallu, often with an attached underskirt. This design allows the wearer to simply wrap the saree around the waist and secure it with a zipper, hooks, or Velcro, and then drape the pre-pleated pallu over the shoulder.

The ready-to-wear saree retains the elegance and grace of the traditional saree but eliminates the need for skillful draping, making it perfect for those who want the saree's classic look without the hassle. These sarees are available in various fabrics, colors, and designs, ranging from simple, everyday wear to more elaborate and embellished options suitable for weddings and special occasions. The blouse, usually pre-stitched, often matches the saree and is styled to complement the overall look.

NATURE'S PALETTE

An earthy nature palette green Banarasi silk saree is a luxurious and elegant piece of traditional Indian attire. The saree features a rich, deep green color reminiscent of lush forests and natural landscapes, evoking a sense of tranquility and connection with nature.

The saree is crafted from high-quality silk, known for its lustrous sheen and smooth texture. Banarasi silk, in particular, is renowned for its intricate weaving and the fine craftsmanship involved in its creation. The border and pallu is richly adorned with elaborate designs, showcasing the skill of the weavers. The border have the intricate patterns of paisleys, floral vines, all created with shimmering zari work.

This green Banarasi silk saree is perfect for festive occasions, weddings, or any event where you want to make a statement while embracing the beauty of traditional craftsmanship and the serene hues of nature. The green hue is typically muted or slightly subdued, giving the saree an earthy, organic feel, perfect for those who appreciate understated elegance.
