Social Media Policy for CCLS

Social media is one of the communication methods used by the Carbon County Library System (CCLS) to share information about library services, programs, events, and activities with the community.

The public is welcome to view, share, and comment on CCLS social media content. CCLS reserves the right to monitor content posted on its social media sites and accounts and to remove comments or content that are abusive, threatening, defamatory, unlawful, violate copyright or trademark laws, contain personal or confidential information, or are spam or advertising.

Library social media content and public comments may be subject to applicable public records and records retention requirements.

Images taken during Carbon County Library System-sponsored events, activities, and programs may be used in CCLS social media postings. Every effort will be made to avoid showing the faces of participants. Patrons who do not wish to have their image, or the image of their child, used should notify library staff.

Content on Library social media sites is the property of the Library.

Comments and opinions posted by the public do not necessarily represent the views of CCLS.

Any person who does not agree with this policy should refrain from commenting on Library social media sites.

By commenting on CCLS social media sites, users agree to follow this policy and the applicable guidelines of the social media platform.
