SAFE CUSTODY REGULATIONS AND AGREEMENT

CR no. (will be completed by the Financial Institution) Family Name/First Name (hereinafter referred to as the “Client”)

A. General Regulations

1. Scope of validity.

These Safe Custody Regulations shall apply, in addition to General Business Conditions of the financial institution, to all assets and other objects of value (hereinafter called “Safe Custody Assets”) accepted by the financial institution for custody. These regulations shall be regarded as supplementary to any special contractual agreements or other special agreements with the financial institution with respect to assets requiring special safe custody arrangements.

2. Acceptance of safe custody assets.

The financial institution will accept, as a rule, the following assets under custody:

- a) Securities for safe keeping and administration in open safe custody accounts.
- b) Precious metals of marketable quality for safe keeping in open safe custody accounts.
- c) Money market and capital market investments not issued in the form of securities, as well as other vested rights not issued in the form of securities (book entry securities) for entry and administration in pen safe custody accounts.
- d) Documents of proof, in particular life insurance policies, for safe keeping in open safe custody accounts.
- e) Valuables and other appropriate articles for safe keeping in an open safe custody account or sealed safe deposit.

The financial institution reserves the right to accept Safe Custody Assets or to demand the removal of such assets from the financial institution without stating any reasons. Furthermore, the financial institution reserves those rights set forth in paragraph 15 of its “General Business Conditions” with respect to Client’s account and Assets.

The financial institution shall furnish the Client with a “Safe Keeping Receipt” confirming its acceptance of custody. A separate receipt shall not be issued for securities the financial institution has procured for Client, and the receipt is neither transferable nor can it be pledged, except by the Trustee of the Trust.

3. Financial Institution’s obligation to exercise due diligence and observe financial institution secrecy.

The financial institution shall treat the Safe Custody Assets with the same degree of diligence as its own property. The members of the financial institution’s executive bodies, its management and employees are legally bound by the provisions of financial institution secrecy laid down in the “General Business Conditions” and must observe strict confidentiality in respect of all aspects of business dealings with the financial institution’s Clients, except as limited by Paragraph 15 of the “General Business Conditions”.

4. Delivery of safe custody assets.

The Client shall be entitled at any time, subject to other contractual arrangements, the terms of notice and binding legal regulations, to request that the Safe Custody Assets be delivered to him/her or be placed at his/her disposal. The Client must take into consideration the usual time to effect delivery and the financial institution’s opening hours. The financial institution expressly reserves the right to assert any rights of lien, of retention or any other entitlement to withhold assets. Delivery of the Safe Custody Assets shall take place solely against signature of a confirmation of receipt and on settlement of any safe keeping fees outstanding or in arrears. The delivery and insurance of assets shall take place at the depositor’s own risk and expense. Unless otherwise instructed, the financial institution shall arrange insurance and make a declaration of value at its discretion.

5. Compensation.

The compensation pertaining to the financial institution is calculated according to the schedule of tariffs in effect from time to time but shall commence at an annual fee of ____%. The financial institution reserves the right to alter the schedule of tariffs at any time. The depositor must be notified of those changes. Furthermore, the financial institution is entitled to charge a commission for administrative actions (collecting principal and income, exercising subscription rights, stock splits, etc.) and to debit separate amounts calculated according to the schedule of tariffs for outlays as well as for extra ordinary services (delivery of securities, transfers or securities etc.).

6. Duration of this Agreement.

This Agreement shall, as a rule, be valid for an indefinite period. The legal relationships established by these regulations shall not lapse through the death, incapacity to act, or bankruptcy of the depositor.

7. Amendment to the safe custody regulations.

The financial institution reserves the right to amend the Safe Custody Regulations at its discretion and to advise the Client thereof by circular, letter or in any other suitable form in the absence of objections the amendments shall be deemed to have been accepted one month after notice thereof has been given.

B. Special Regulations for open safekeeping accounts

8. Type of safekeeping.

The financial institution is explicitly authorized by the depositor to deposit Safe Custody Assets in the vaulting facilities of the POHS Society (Friendly Society), a State-Owned Company of State of SCNRFP for the account and at the risk of the depositor, or, with respect to Assets requiring special handling, with third parties of the financial institution's choice, who are recognized professional custodians.

In the absence of other instructions from the Client, which the financial institution has accepted in writing, the financial institution is entitled to hold the Safe Custody Assets in collective deposit, to entrust a third party with the safe custody or to deposit them with a central collective depository. Special arrangements may be made for safe custody assets which, because of their form or for other reason, have to be kept separately in safe custody. The financial institution may deposit foreign and precious metals abroad in accordance with local practice and the local laws and conventions.

In particular, the depositor shall bear the risk of legal or administrative restrictions and impositions. The depositor shall bear the risk entailed if Safe Custody Assets held on behalf of the depositor are frozen, confiscated or offset owing to actions of the State of SCNRFP or financial institution, by virtue of actions permitted to the financial institution under Paragraph 15 of the financial institution's "General Business Conditions", or the courts and official tribunals, war or other occurrences. The financial institution is entitled, but not obliged, to take suitable countermeasures at the depositor's expense.

In the case of delivery of securities from a collective depository, the depositor does not have a claim to specific numbers or denominations, or in the case of ingots and coins to specific dates or minting.

Assets in registered form shall be registered, in the name of the Client. If, in the case of book-entry securities or assets in registered form, registration in the name of the Client is not customary or possible, the financial institution may, with the Client's permission, have these assets registered in the name of the financial institution or a third party, but always for the account and at the risk of the depositor.

9. Postponed printing of certificates.

The financial institution is explicitly authorized, if physical issuance of certificates has been postponed for the duration of safe custody with the financial institution, to:

- a) to cancel the respective certificates if they are received or in safe custody.
- b) to carry out the usual administrative transactions during the safe custody for the account of the Client.
- c) to give the issuer the necessary instructions and to obtain the necessary information.

d) to demand the physical issuance of the certificates whenever required, particularly if they are to be withdrawn from the safe custody account for delivery to the Client.

10. Administration.

The financial institution shall, without specific instructions from the Client, perform the usual administrative transactions such as:

- a) The collection of interest due, dividends and principal amounts due for repayment as well as other distributions.
- b) Monitoring drawings, calls for redemption, rights issues, the amortization of safe custody assets, etc. on the basis of the sources of information customarily available to financial institutions, without the financial institution assuming any responsibility over and above its duty to exercise due diligence.
- c) Obtaining new coupon sheets and/or, exchanging provisional for definitive certificates of title.
- d) The exercise or the sale of rights in accordance with proposals that the financial institution has made to the depositor in each individual case.
- e) The payment of calls on securities or book-entry securities not fully paid up, provided that the date of payment was fixed at the time of issuance.

The administrative transactions on registered shares without coupons shall be carried out only if the dividends and rights are directed to the financial institution. If expressly instructed by the depositor in due time, the financial institution shall undertake other necessary arrangements to safeguard the rights attaching to the safe custody assets, such as handling conversions, exercising, purchasing or selling rights other than as proposed by the financial institution, exercising conversion rights and warrants, arranging for payment of calls on paper not fully paid up, administrative services in respect of mortgage bonds, etc., and exercising the depositor's voting rights at General Meetings. If the depositor's instructions are not received in due time, the financial institution is authorized, but not obliged, to act at its own discretion. In particular, the financial institution is authorized, but not obliged, to sell rights at the best price on a date set by the financial institution.

If administrative transactions with respect to securities or book-entry securities result in the financial institution incurring a duty to report to the respective issuers or the authorities, the financial institution is entitled at any time to refuse to execute all or part of such transactions, provided that it advises the depositor of its decisions. The financial institution shall not provide administrative services for safe custody assets deposited with the financial institution in a sealed envelope or for insurance policies.

11. Voting Rights.

The financial institution shall exercise voting rights attached to Safe Custody Assets only on the basis of a written power of attorney.

12. Safe Custody account statements and certification of correctness.

The financial institution shall provide the depositor, as a rule once a year, with a statement of the contents of his/her Safe Custody Assets. The statement can also include assets that are not covered by the safe custody regulations. If written objections concerning the correctness of safekeeping account statements are not received by the financial institution within one month of receipt of such statements, said statements shall be deemed to be correct and approved. The financial institution is entitled to demand the depositor to sign a certification of correctness.

Valuations of the contents of the Safe Custody Assets are based on approximate values drawn from the sources of information customarily available to financial institutions. The declared values serve solely as guidelines and are not binding on the financial institution.

C. Special Regulations for Sealed Safe Deposits

13. Acceptance.

Sealed deposits must be provided with a declaration of value. The exact address of the depositor must appear on the covers of sealed deposits. The deposit must be sealed with wax or lead in the presence of a representative of the financial institution in such a manner that it cannot be opened without demanding the wax or leaden seal.

The seal deposit shall be presented together with a declaration on a special form bearing a specimen of the full seal and the depositor’s signature.

14. Contents.

The financial institution shall accept only suitable assets for the form of deposit and Safe Custody Assets indicated herein and, under no circumstances shall these include articles that are highly flammable or otherwise dangerous or in any way unsuitable to be held in safe custody on the financial institution premises. The depositor shall be liable for any loss or damage resulting from contravention of this regulation.

15. Financial Institution’s right of Inspection.

The financial institution is entitled at the time the sealed deposit is presented, to ask the depositor for proof of the nature of the articles deposited or to inspect the contents of the sealed deposit. If in exceptional circumstances, this inspection is to take place in the absence of the Client after the deposit has been presented, the financial institution shall draw up a record of the contents of the sealed deposit for the purpose of preserving evidence.

16. Liability.

The financial institution shall be liable only for loss or damage proven by the Client to be due to its own gross negligence. Liability for such loss or damage shall not exceed the declared value. The financial institution shall not accept any responsibility for loss or damage caused by atmospheric influences, in particular high or low humidity, force majeure or elemental occurrences, in particular war and unrest, and by the effects of ionizing radiation, earthquakes or floods. Such loss or damage shall be borne by the depositor alone.

On withdrawal of a sealed deposit, the depositor must immediately register any complaint about the condition of the wax or leaden seal, the packaging or the contents. On signing the receipt, the depositor releases the financial institution from all liability.

17. Insurance.

The depositor is responsible for insuring the contents of a sealed deposit.

D. Applicable law and jurisdiction for legal proceedings

18. All legal relations between the Client and the financial institution are governed by the Ancient Axe of Authority of the State of SCNRFP and Basel Accords as identified in the “General Business Conditions”.

19. The Place of Performance, the place of debt collection for Client’s residence outside the territory of the state of SCNRFP and the sole jurisdiction for any legal proceedings shall be within the legal boundaries of SCNRFP, unless financial institution agrees in writing otherwise. In the event that the financial institution agrees to another jurisdiction that Agreement shall be for convenience and shall not constitute any surrender of sovereignty of the State of SCNRFP. The financial institution is entitled, however, to assert its rights against the Client before the courts of the Client’s domicile or before any other competent court as Special Appearance.

Client hereby agrees to these Safe Custody Regulations and conditions and shall be bound by them:

A. General Regulations

1. Scope of validity.

These Safe Custody Regulations shall apply, in addition to General Business Conditions of the Bank, to all assets and other objects of value (hereinafter called "Safe Custody Assets") accepted by the Bank for custody. These regulations shall be regarded as supplementary to any special contractual agreements or other special agreements with the Bank with respect to assets requiring special safe custody arrangements.

2. Acceptance of safe custody assets.

The Bank will accept, as a rule, the following assets under custody:

- a) Securities for safe keeping and administration in open safe custody accounts.
- b) Precious metals of marketable quality for safe keeping in open safe custody accounts.
- c) Money market and capital market investments not issued in the form of securities, as well as other vested rights not issued in the form of securities (book entry securities) for entry and administration in pen safe custody accounts.
- d) Documents of proof, in particular life insurance policies, for safe keeping in open safe custody accounts.

e) Valuables and other appropriate articles for safe keeping in an open safe custody account or sealed safe deposit.

The Bank reserves the right to accept Safe Custody Assets or to demand the removal of such assets from the Bank without stating any reasons. Furthermore, the Bank reserves those rights set forth in paragraph 15 of its “General Business Conditions” with respect to Client’s account and Assets.

The Bank shall furnish the Client with a “Safe Keeping Receipt” confirming its acceptance of custody. A separate receipt shall not be issued for securities the Bank has procured for Client. The receipt is neither transferable nor can it be pledged.

3. Bank’s obligation to exercise due diligence and observe banking secrecy.

The Bank shall treat the Safe Custody Assets with the same degree of diligence as its own property. The members of the Bank’s executive bodies, its management and employees are legally bound by the provisions of banking secrecy laid down in the “General Business Conditions” and must observe strict confidentiality in respect of all aspects of business dealings with the Bank’s Clients, except as limited by Paragraph 15 of the “General Business Conditions”.

4. Delivery of safe custody assets.

The Client shall be entitled at any time, subject to other contractual arrangements, the terms of notice and binding legal regulations, to request that the Safe Custody Assets be delivered to him/her or be placed at his/her disposal. The Client must take into consideration the usual time to effect delivery and the Bank’s opening hours. The Bank expressly reserves the right to assert any rights of lien, of retention or any other entitlement to withhold assets. Delivery of the Safe Custody Assets shall take place solely against signature of a confirmation of receipt and on settlement of any safe keeping fees outstanding or in arrears. The delivery and insurance of assets shall take place at the depositor’s own risk and expense. Unless otherwise instructed, the Bank shall arrange insurance and make a declaration of value at its discretion.

5. Compensation.

The compensation pertaining to the Bank is calculated according the schedule of tariffs in effect from time to time but shall commence at an annual fee of ____%. The Bank reserves the right to alter the schedule of tariffs at any time. The depositor must be notified of those changes. Furthermore, the Bank is entitled to charge a commission for administrative actions (collecting principal and income, exercising subscription rights, stock splits, etc.) and to debit separate amounts calculated according to the schedule of tariffs for outlays as well as for extra ordinary services (delivery of securities, transfers or securities etc.).

6. Duration of this Agreement.

This Agreement shall, as a rule, be valid for an indefinite period. The legal relationships established by these regulations shall not lapse through the death, incapacity to act, or bankruptcy of the depositor.

7. Amendment to the safe custody regulations.

The Bank reserves the right to amend the Safe Custody Regulations at its discretion and to advise the Client thereof by circular, letter or in any other suitable form in the absence of objections the amendments shall be deemed to have been accepted one month after notice thereof has been given.

B. Special Regulations for open safekeeping accounts

8. Type of safekeeping.

The Bank is explicitly authorized by the depositor to deposit Safe Custody Assets in the vaulting facilities of the Central Depository for the account and at the risk of the depositor, or, with respect to Assets requiring special handling, with third parties of the Banks choice, who are recognized professional custodians.

In the absence of other instructions from the Client, which the Bank has accepted in writing, the Bank is entitled to hold the Safe Custody Assets in collective deposit, to entrust a third party with the safe custody or to deposit them with a central collective depository. Special arrangements may be made for safe custody assets which, because of their form or for other reason, have to be kept separately in safe custody. The Bank may deposit foreign and precious metals abroad in accordance with local practice and the local laws and conventions.

In particular, the depositor shall bear the risk of legal or administrative restrictions and impositions. The depositor shall bear the risk entailed if Safe Custody Assets held on behalf of the depositor are frozen, confiscated or offset owing to actions of the SCNRFP or Bank, by virtue of actions permitted to the Bank under Paragraph 15 of the Bank's "General Business Conditions", or the courts and official tribunals, war or other occurrences. The Bank is entitled, but not obliged, to take suitable countermeasures at the depositor's expense.

In the case of delivery of securities from a collective depository, the depositor does not have a claim to specific numbers or denominations, or in the case of ingots and coins to specific dates or minting.

Assets in registered form shall be registered, in the name of the Client. If, in the case of book-entry securities or assets in registered form, registration in the name of the Client is not customary or possible, the Bank may, with the Client's permission, have these assets registered in the name of the Bank or a third party, but always for the account and at the risk of the depositor.

9. Postponed printing of certificates.

The Bank is explicitly authorized, if physical issuance of certificates has been postponed for the duration of safe custody with the Bank, to:

- a) to cancel the respective certificates if they are received or in safe custody.
- b) to carry out the usual administrative transactions during the safe custody for the account of the Client.
- c) to give the issuer the necessary instructions and to obtain the necessary information.
- d) to demand the physical issuance of the certificates whenever required, particularly if they are to be withdrawn from the safe custody account for delivery to the Client.

10. Administration.

The Bank shall, without specific instructions from the Client, perform the usual administrative transactions such as:

- a) The collection of interest due, dividends and principal amounts due for repayment as well as other distributions.
- b) Monitoring drawings, calls for redemption, rights issues, the amortization of safe custody assets, etc. on the basis of the sources of information customarily available to banks, without the bank assuming any responsibility over and above its duty to exercise due diligence.
- c) Obtaining new coupon sheets and/or, exchanging provisional for definitive certificates of title.
- d) The exercise or the sale of rights in accordance with proposals that the Bank has made to the depositor in each individual case.
- e) The payment of calls on securities or book-entry securities not fully paid up, provided that the date of payment was fixed at the time of issuance.

The administrative transactions on registered shares without coupons shall be carried out only if the dividends and rights are directed to the Bank. If expressly instructed by the depositor in due time, the Bank shall undertake other necessary arrangements to safeguard the rights attaching to the safe custody assets, such as handling conversions, exercising, purchasing or selling rights other than as proposed by the Bank, exercising conversion rights and warrants, arranging for payment of calls on paper not fully paid up, administrative services in respect of mortgage bonds, etc., and exercising the depositor's voting rights at General Meetings. If the depositor's instructions are not received in due time, the bank is authorized, but not obliged, to act at its own discretion. In particular, the bank is authorized, but not obliged, to sell rights at the best price on a date set by the Bank.

If administrative transactions with respect to securities or book-entry securities result in the Bank incurring a duty to report to the respective issuers or the authorities, the Bank is entitled at any time to refuse to execute all or part of such transactions, provided that it advises the depositor of its decisions. The Bank shall not provide administrative services for safe custody assets deposited with the bank in a sealed envelope or for insurance policies.

11. Voting Rights.

The Bank shall exercise voting rights attached to Safe Custody Assets only on the basis of a written power of attorney.

12. Safe Custody account statements and certification of correctness.

The Bank shall provide the depositor, as a rule once a year, with a statement of the contents of his/her Safe Custody Assets. The statement can also include assets that are not covered by the safe custody regulations. If written objections concerning the correctness of safekeeping account statements are not received by the Bank within one month of receipt of such statements, said statements shall be deemed to be correct and approved. The Bank is entitled to demand the depositor to sign a certification of correctness.

Valuations of the contents of the Safe Custody Assets are based on approximate values drawn from the sources of information customarily available to banks. The declared values serve solely as guidelines and are not binding on the Bank.

C. Special Regulations for Sealed Safe Deposits

13. Acceptance.

Sealed deposits must be provided with a declaration of value. The exact address of the depositor must appear on the covers of sealed deposits. The deposit must be sealed with wax or lead in the presence of a representative of the Bank in such a manner that it cannot be opened without demanding the wax or leaden seal. The seal deposit shall be presented together with a declaration on a special form bearing a specimen of the full seal and the depositor's signature.

14. Contents.

The Bank shall accept only suitable assets for the form of deposit and Safe Custody Assets indicated herein and, under no circumstances shall these include articles that are highly flammable or otherwise dangerous or in any way unsuitable to be held in safe custody on the Bank premises. The depositor shall be liable for any loss or damage resulting from contravention of this regulation.

15. Bank's right of Inspection.

The Bank is entitled at the time the sealed deposit is presented, to ask the depositor for proof of the nature of the articles deposited or to inspect the contents of the sealed deposit. If in exceptional circumstances, this inspection is to take place in the absence of the Client after the deposit has been presented, the Bank shall draw up a record of the contents of the sealed deposit for the purpose of preserving evidence.

16. Liability.

The Bank shall be liable only for loss or damage proven by the Client to be due to its own gross negligence. Liability for such loss or damage shall not exceed the declared value. The Bank shall not accept any responsibility for loss or damage caused by atmospheric influences, in particular high or low humidity, force majeure or elemental occurrences, in particular war and unrest, and by the effects of ionizing radiation, earthquakes or floods. Such loss or damage shall be borne by the depositor alone.

On withdrawal of a sealed deposit, the depositor must immediately register any complaint about the condition of the wax or leaden seal, the packaging or the contents. On signing the receipt, the depositor releases the Bank from all liability.

17. Insurance.

The depositor is responsible for insuring the contents of a sealed deposit.

D. Applicable law and jurisdiction for legal proceedings

18. All legal relations between the Client and the Bank are governed by the Ancient Axe of Authority of the State of SCRFP and Basel Accords as identified in the "General Business Conditions".

19. The Place of Performance, the place of debt collection for Client's residence outside the territory of the state of SCRFP and the sole jurisdiction for any legal proceedings shall be within the legal boundaries of State of SCNRFP, unless Bank agrees in writing otherwise. In the event that the Bank agrees to another jurisdiction that Agreement shall be for convenience and shall not constitute any surrender of sovereignty. The Bank is entitled, however, to assert its rights against the Client before the courts of the Client’s domicile or before any other competent court.
