OLH DELIVERS JOY....ON-TIME!

A live audience, filled with parents and grandparents, celebrated the season with the annual OLH Christmas Show on December 19 and workers, while the shepherds were the brown-clad UPS workers. DHL , the service originating in the FarEast, served as the Magi.

20. The cast of singers, actors and dancers from kindergarten through Prep 8 presented the original musical that was a parody on the often overlooked delivery services that have become so prominent during the pandemic.

The angels were the parallel on the FedEx

The one thing that can never be delayed by late delivery is the gift of God's Son, Jesus. In a unique twist, the baby was brought forth from the giant gift box so artistically presented within the context of the Nativity ballet.

SANTA MADE THE ROUNDS AT OLH

After a year of grounded sleighs and limited visits, Santa surprised the primary students with candy canes, gifts and an escort from the Southampton PBA. (The children didn't know it, but this Santa is an OLH grad!)

One week later, the OLH parents prepared a special breakfast fast of bacon, eggs and bagels to welcome Santa. The entire school along with the faculty ate (in two shifts) and were then entertained by the OLH Orchestra who played Sleigh Ride.

MUSICIANS ARE INSTRUMENTAL THIS SEASON

The experienced band members were able to present a brief concert of Christmas music on the day following the show. Gabe, Henry, James, Vincent, Jack and Oliver amazed the audience with their Christmas selections.

Not to be outdone, the Orchestra seized the opportunity to play for the diners at Santa Breakfast.
