

My 10th Birthday

was a celebration for me,
and during the party
all the parents had tea.

Now the party had just begun,
as happy as larks we all had fun!

We ate pizza and party rings
and lots of other tasty things.

After that we played musical chairs
and other games where we worked in pairs.

Everyone sang happy birthday to me;
they were all in perfect harmony.

My mum bought out the oreo cake.

Now everyone was fully awake!

I blew out the candles and made a wish,
then my mum cut the cake and put it in a dish.

I was sad when everyone had to go home,
but my parents told me I'll never be alone.

I remember the party being such a blast
but now I'm older, it's in the past.
