

Quality Volleyball Training and Education

If you have a young athlete that you would like to get started or continue in the game of volleyball, 4 Pillars VolleyJuniors is the perfect place!

VolleyJuniors will incorporate dynamic movements that focus on coordination and strength as well as fun games and an introduction to foundational volleyball skills. The program will provide this at a level appropriate for elementary school aged kids. Training will include a variety of tools: hand-held sized balls to work on throwing mechanics, floor footprints for teaching footwork patterns, and beach balls and VolleyLite balls for volleyball instruction. There will be a challenging and fun game introduced each week that encourages competitiveness in your young athlete and gives you options for games to try at home!

VolleyJuniors is designed for 3rd through 6th grade players. 4 Pillars Volleyball ("4PV") is offering a 6-session series of this program in June. Sessions will be held twice a week. We will offer a second series in August. Players may participate in one or both of the series. Sessions will be held at a small gym in St. John's Church, which is located near Northland Library and McCandless Crossing.

If you have a child, boy or girl, in elementary school looking to play volleyball, we encourage you to sign up quickly as the program is being capped at 15 players.

4PV is a volleyball training program led by one of the most successful and recognized volleyball coaches in Pennsylvania, Coach Heidi Miller. Please read about her and the staff on the 4PV website. At 4PV, we believe that a quality experience is best achieved when high quality, energetic coaches are combined with a set of young athletes who want to compete and have fun learning and growing!

The 4PV model is based on a framework for achievement and growth in sport and preparation for life.
