4PV Coaching Coaches Clinic

Setting the Tone

Great offenses start with a great leader.
In basketball, it's the point guard. In football, it's the quarterback.
In volleyball, it's the setter.

The setter impacts tempo, confidence, rhythm, decision-making, and ultimately the success of the entire team. Yet many coaches struggle with how to properly train the position beyond the basics.

Join 4PV Coaching Coaches for a specialized clinic focused entirely on developing setters and teaching coaches how to build the position.

This clinic will cover:

- Technical training and cues for footwork, positioning of hips and hands, and delivery
- Feedback, drills, and systems used at 4PV
- How to improve consistency
- How to teach decision-making and setter IQ
- Managing offensive flow
- Communication and leadership responsibilities of setters
- Expectations at various ages and levels
- What to identify, encourage, and develop in elite-level setters
- Intangibles that separate good setters from great ones

Whether you coach middle school, high school, or club volleyball, this clinic will give you practical tools and teaching progressions you can immediately apply in your gym.

Great setters do more than deliver the ball. They lead the team.
Come learn how to develop them.
