What is leadership? What is the difference between leadership and management?

What is leadership?

- Leadership: The process whereby leaders and followers work together to achieve a common goal
  - Leadership development: Program that focuses on leader-follower interactions within an organization

What is leadership?

- Followers
  - Influence
  - Change
  - Shared purpose
  - Integrity
  - Relationships
  - Vision
  - Collaboration
  - Development
  - Service

What is leadership?

Emergent leadership:
When others view you as the leader

Attempted leadership:
When you try to influence a follower

Successful leadership:
When you actually influence a follower

Effective leadership:
When you influence a follower and all parties benefit

What is leadership?

- Destructive leaders:
Exhibit behaviors that violate the organization's interests and/or followers' interests

What is the difference between leadership and management?

Leaders

- Create vision and strategy
- Focus on long-term goals
- Facilitate change
- Create alignment

Managers

- Execute vision and strategy
- Focus on short-term goals
- Maintain stability
- Create assignments

What are the trait and personality approaches to leadership?

What is the trait approach?

- Trait approach: Suggests effective leaders possess certain traits that others do not
- But we have not established a consistent relationship between traits and leadership effectiveness!

What is the trait approach?

- Common traits associated with leadership emergence:
  - Intelligence: Verbal, perceptual, and reasoning capabilities
  - Self-confidence: Certainty about competencies and skills
  - Determination: Desire to get the job done
  - Integrity: Honesty and trustworthiness
  - Sociability: Inclination to seek out social relationships

What is the personality approach?

- Personality approach: Suggests different situations call for different personality characteristics

Industry	Government/Military	Student
Emotional stability Extraversion Openness to experience	Emotional stability Extraversion Conscientiousness	Emotional stability Extraversion Openness to experience Conscientiousness Agreeableness

What are the behavioral, skills, and power approaches to leadership?

What is the behavioral approach?

- Behavioral approach: Suggests leaders' behaviors dictate their effectiveness

Task behaviors:

Behaviors that organize and define group activities and roles, clarify expectations, and evaluate performance

Relationship behaviors:

Behaviors that support the group members' interactions, such as those that build mutual trust, respect, and rapport

What is the behavioral approach?

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

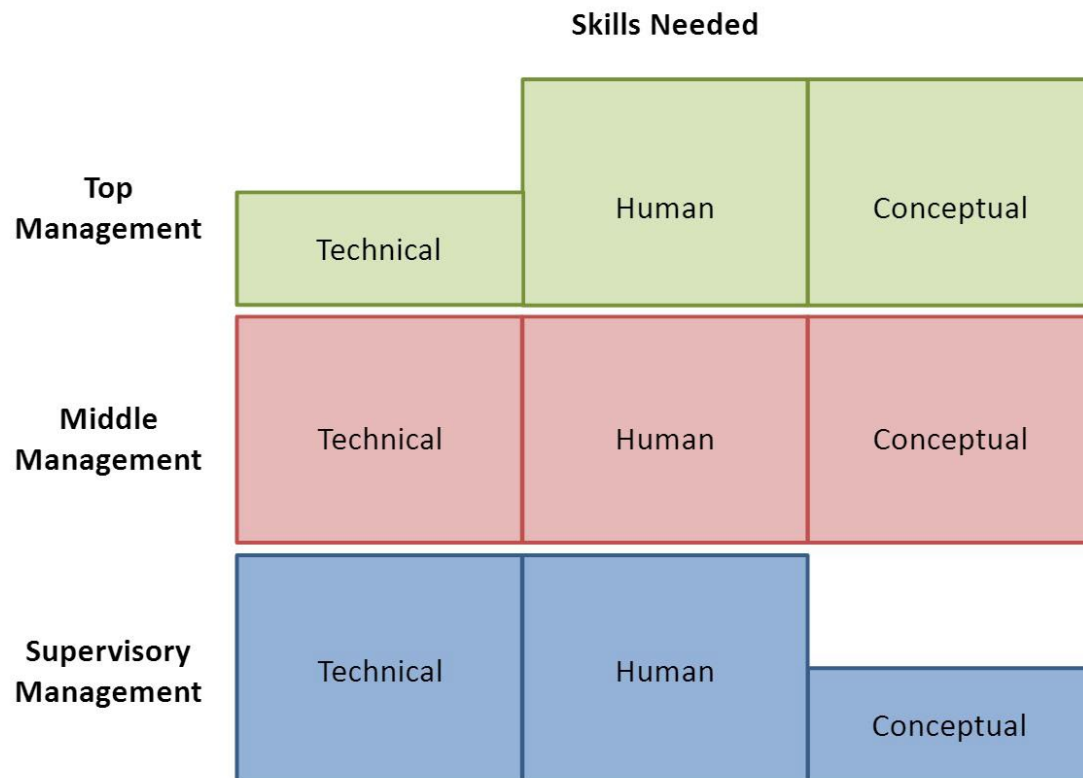

- Initiating structure
  - Concern for achieving organization's goals
- Consideration
  - Concern for followers' needs
- Task-oriented behavior
  - Correlates with performance
- Relations-oriented behavior
  - Correlates with satisfaction, motivation, and leader effectiveness

What is the skills approach?

- Skills approach: Suggests leaders develop specific skills that help them succeed on the job
- Katz (1955) proposed 3 categories:
  - Human skills
  - Technical skills
  - Conceptual skills

What is the skills approach?

What is the power approach?

- Power approach: Suggests leaders wield several types of power to influence their followers

Category	Type	Description	Example
Hard Power	Legitimate	Formal position of influence	President
	Reward	Potential to reward	Customers
	Coercive	Potential to punish	Supervisors
Soft Power	Expert	KSAOs or expertise	Mediator
	Referent	Role model, shared identity	Close friends

What are the contingency approaches to leadership?

What is situational leadership theory?

- Situational leadership theory: Suggests effective leaders adapt their behaviors to match each follower's readiness, or their level of commitment/motivation and competence/ability
- Created by Hersey and Blanchard
  - Matches 4 categories of follower readiness with 4 leadership styles

What is situational leadership theory?

- Step 1 – Determine follower's readiness level
  - Job maturity: Follower's job-related KSAOs
  - Psychological maturity: Follower's self-confidence

	1	2	3	4
Job Maturity	Unable	Unable	Able	Able
Psychological Maturity	Unwilling or Insecure	Willing or Confident	Unwilling or Insecure	Willing or Confident

What is situational leadership theory?

- Step 2 – Identify the recommended leadership style
  - Directing for committed but incompetent followers
  - Coaching for uncommitted and incompetent followers
  - Supporting for uncommitted but competent followers
  - Delegating for committed and competent followers

What is situational leadership theory?

What is the participative approach?

- Participative approach: Suggests effective leaders allow their followers to participate in the decision-making process
- Created by Vroom-Yetton-Jago (1973, 1988)
  - Uses 7 questions to recommend 1 of 5 levels of participation

What is the participative approach?

- Step 1 – Answer 7 diagnostic questions

#1 – Is decision quality important?

#2 – Is team commitment important?

#3 – Do you have enough information to make the decision alone?

#4 – Is the problem structured?

#5 – Would the team support the decision if you made it alone?

#6 – Does the team share the organization's goals?

#7 – Is team conflict over the decision likely?

What is the participative approach?

- Step 2 – Identify the recommended leadership style using the provided chart
  - Decide: Leader makes decision without follower input
  - Consult individually: Individual followers share input
  - Consult group: Group shares input
  - Facilitate: Group makes decision with leader
  - Delegate: Group makes decision without leader

What is the participative approach?

Leadership styles

A1 = Decide

A2 = Consult Individually

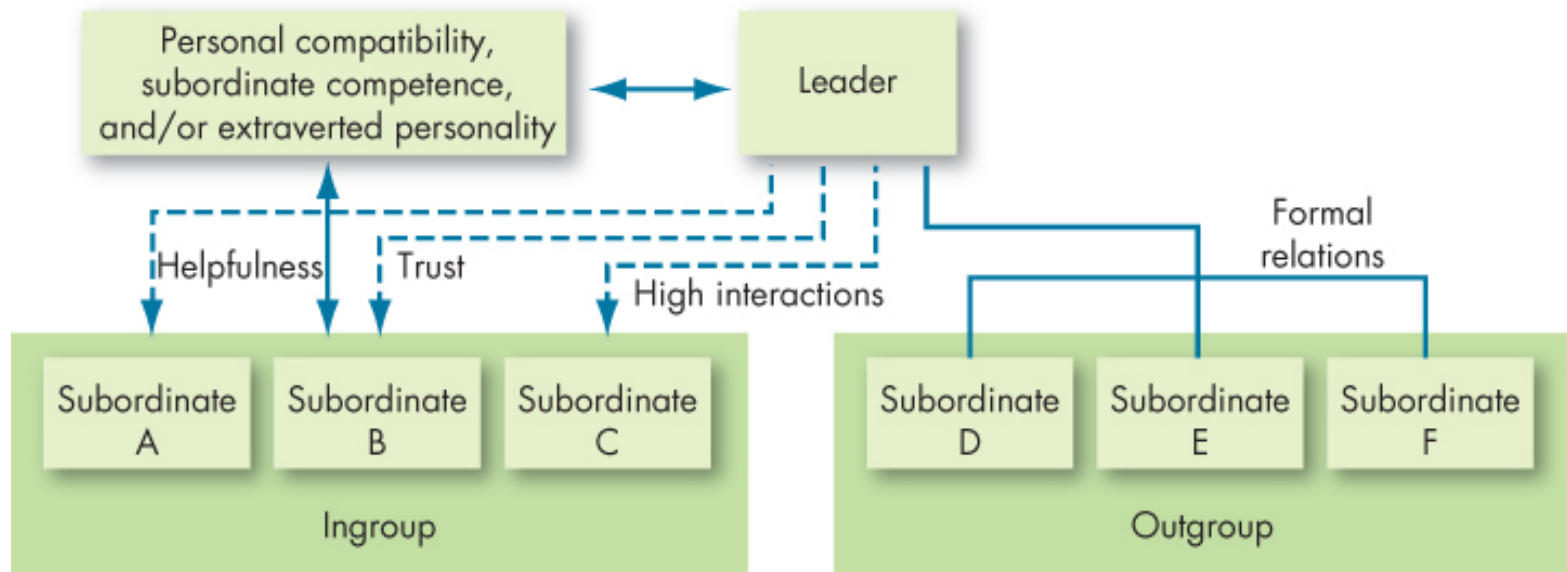

C1 = Consult Group

C2 = Facilitate Group

G2 = Delegate to the Group

What is LMX theory?

- LMX theory: Suggests leadership effectiveness depends on the quality of the “exchanges” between leaders and followers

What is LMX theory?

- In-group members: Enjoy high quality relationships with the leader and high latitude for role negotiation
  - Mutual trust, respect, and influence
  - Perceived as more engaged, and dependable
- Out-group members: Have low quality relationships with the leader and little latitude for role negotiation
  - Formal communication
  - Perceived as fulfilling the minimum requirements

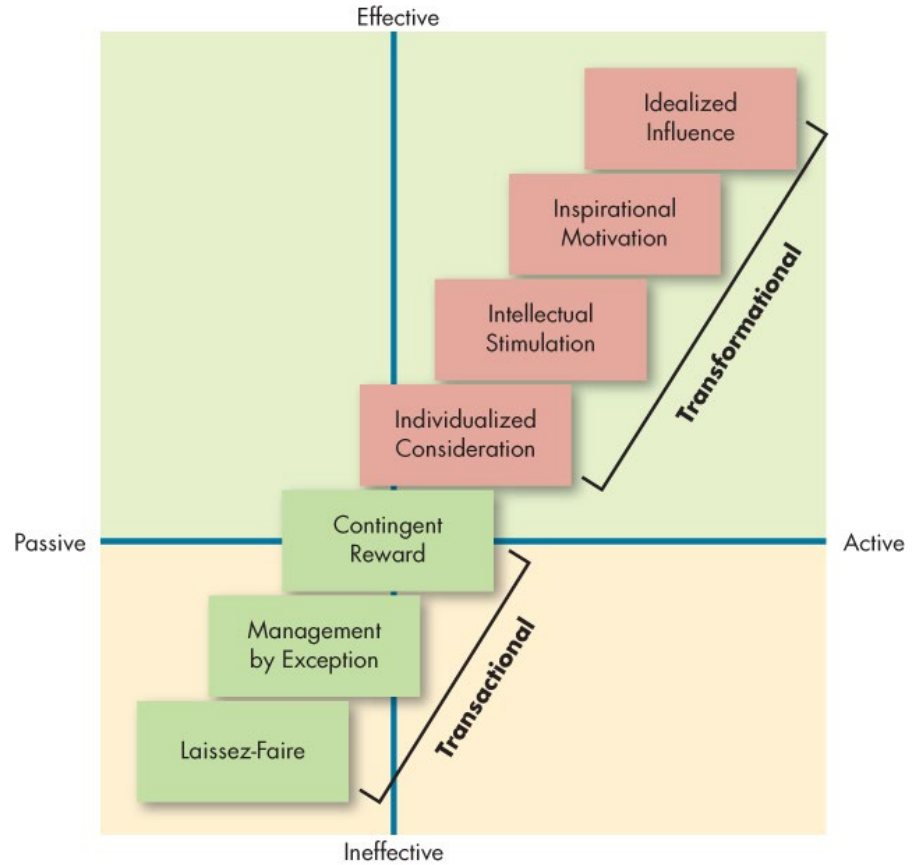

What are transactional and transformational leadership?

What is full-range leadership?

- Full-range of leadership model:
Suggests transformational leadership produces levels of follower effort and performance beyond what transactional leadership alone can produce

What is transactional leadership?

- Transactional leadership: A process whereby leaders use rewards and corrective actions to shape followers' behavior
  - Passive management by exception: Intervene only if standards are not met or mistakes are made
  - Active management by exception: Search for rule deviations and correct undesirable behaviors
  - Contingent reward behaviors: Exchange rewards for effort and high performance

What is transformational leadership?

- Transformational leadership: A process that inspires followers to exceed performance expectations

Idealized Influence	Inspirational Motivation	Intellectual Stimulation	Individualized Consideration
Charisma Trust Role model High morals Respect Purpose	High standards Visionary Symbols Enthusiastic Optimistic Team spirit	Creativity Innovation Critical thinking Challenges Expression Problem solving	One-on-one Supportive Listening Coach Advisor Delegation

What is transformational leadership?

- Increased satisfaction
- Increased motivation
- Increased performance
- Decreased cynicism
- Decreased turnover
- High-quality relationships
- Well-developed networks
- More successful mergers

What is transformational leadership?

- Why does transformational leadership work?
  - Fulfills followers' needs for autonomy, competence, and relatedness
  - Increases followers' intrinsic motivation and self-efficacy
  - Establishes trust between leaders and followers
  - Challenges old ways of thinking
  - Builds consensus among group members

How can we develop our leadership potential?

How can we develop our leadership potential?

Current state of leadership
potential

Desired state of leadership
potential

An illustration of a person in a dark blue suit with an orange tie, jumping horizontally across a gap between two brown cliffs. The person's arms are extended, holding onto the edges of the cliffs. Their head is tilted back, and there are three white teardrop shapes above it, suggesting a leap or a moment of realization. The background is a light blue sky with several white clouds. The cliffs are brown and have a jagged, rocky appearance. The overall scene is a metaphor for bridging the gap between the current state and the desired state of leadership potential.
