DEDICATION

When Death strikes down the innocent and young, for every fragile form from which he lets the panting spirit free, a hundred virtues rise, in shapes of mercy, charity, and love, to walk the world, and bless it.

Charles Dickens

Edward Martin Rigler
1940-1955

FOREWORD

Since the first Sputnik began its orbit around the earth, the American school system has been very much in the spotlight. It has been compared both favorably and unfavorably with the Russian mass production method. We agree with Adlai Stevenson that "keeping up with the Russians would be the worst form of defeatism."

In anything ever attempted, whether it be by an individual, an organization, or a nation, the success or failure of the venture depends on the background of the aspirant.

The extent of formal education cannot be the same for everyone. Anything that is learned, whether it be in high school, college, or in everyday life, will be beneficial to us at one time or another. Our schools teach the math, English, science, and practical arts that we shall need when we assume our positions in this troubled world, but the lessons we receive in understanding, tolerance, respect, and how to live with others are just as important. Here in Carteret High has been laid the foundation. This, plus the further education we shall acquire, will help our country maintain its position of leadership and greatness.

Down through the centuries wise men have voiced their opinions on the value of education. Even though we are living in a very different and complex world, these words are as true today as when they were spoken. For this reason we have culled a few of these for inclusion in our yearbook.

This book is one chapter in the volume of our lives. It represents four of the happiest years we shall ever know. We on the staff have attempted to present an accurate over-all picture of our school, our faculty, our students, and our activities. We hope that in the years to come, the 1958 Loudspeaker will be a frequently used reference book for memories of good times.

Loyal to you we'll ever be;
To you we raise this melody;
Let every voice in glory ring.
All hail, all hail your glorious name,
Dear Carteret High, we love you!
Courage to you, that you may bring
Courage to us in everything.
Hail to your glorious name!*

MEMORIES

*The time has come for us to part,
Now each must go his separate way
With grief and gladness in each heart
There is so little one can say.*

*The memories we all have shared
Are worth much more than even gold,
No gem or jewel can be compared
To happy times we have and hold.*

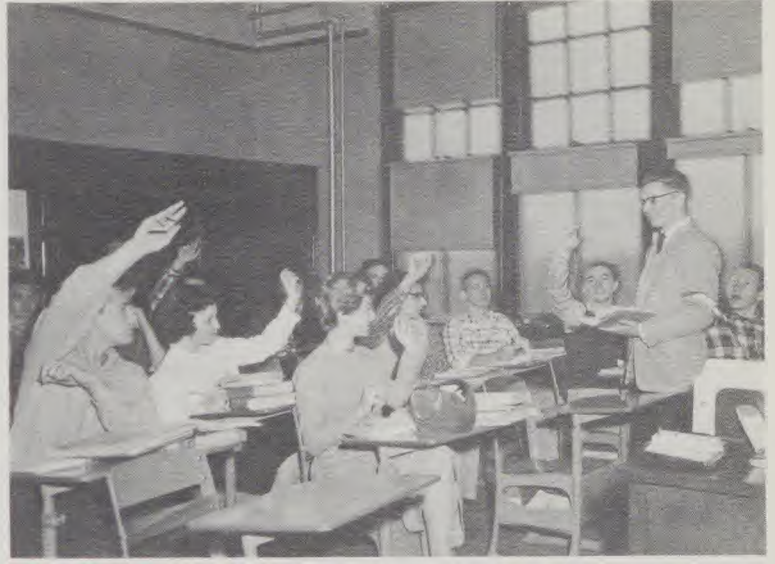

*Our teachers, books, the sports, and friends
In heart and mind will never wane,
The years which one so freely spends
Though short in time, will long remain.*

*The hour has come to face the world,
The task ahead is great and new,
Heed the words of our flag unfurled,
"Facta non Verba," our motto true.*

RICHARD BROWN

"Where were you on the night of February 7?"

"Feeding time in geometry!"

STUDENTS' DAY

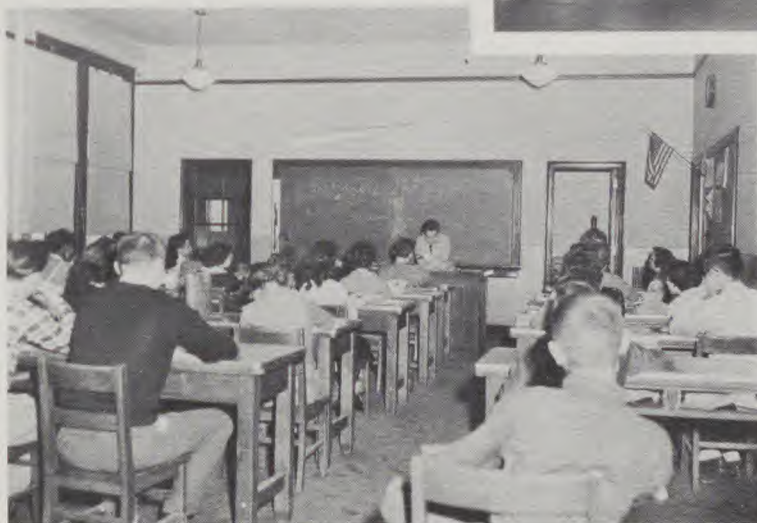

"May I please have everyone's attention?"

"Give me an A, too."

"Dear Sir: In reference to your letter of . . ."

"A moment of silence for the first Vanguard."

"Now let me see — —"

"Everything's okey-dokey, ma'am."

"We're jammed with company, and the shower refuses to cooperate."

I'LL REMEMBER

Along these corridors I shall take a walk
On my last day of school and get to talk
To my friends and teachers too,
To thank them all for what they tried to do.
They taught me to play fair and never abuse
Anything I had been given by God to use,
Always to remember above all,
To live and abide by the golden rule.
