Foreword

The senior class proudly presents the 1959 Loudspeaker. In the following pages we have tried to waken sleeping memories of our four years in Carteret High. As you browse through this book, we hope you will enjoy it as much as we have enjoyed preparing it. If you do, we shall know that our efforts have been truly worthwhile. We are sincerely grateful to Miss Powers and Mr. Bareford without whose unselfish efforts this book would not have been possible.

A Teacher Affects Eternity; He Can Never Tell Where His Influence Stops.

THE EDUCATION OF HENRY ADAMS

SENIORS

Here, at the parting of the ways,
We stand, and toward the future gaze;
Our paths, that side by side for years
Have kept us one in smile or tears,
Have run their course and God's great hand
Leads out in ways none understand,
While echo-like some far-off bell
The words, "Good-by, but not farewell."

—Edith Putnam Panton

CLASS HISTORY

They said it couldn't be done—but we did it!

Four years ago, we, a group of eager, excited, and at times, boisterous students, milled our way through the front doors of C.H.S., a privilege granted only at special times, as we later found out. We were quickly recognized as freshmen, because for some strange reason, we were always getting lost. We didn't feel too bad, however, because our adviser, Mr. Miglecz, also a newcomer, was in the same boat. Both he and Mrs. Gerek welcomed us cordially, at the same time mopping their brows and emitting a heartfelt "Whew"!

Settling down to our studies (a small number actually did), we eventually elected our officers—Sam Semenza, president; Shirley White, vice-president; Charles Woodhull, treasurer; and June Wadiak, secretary.

Conceited as we were (and are), we boasted inordinately about the huge success of our informal dance—second to none (well, maybe a close second to the S.O. kick-off dance). Much to the joy of our advisers, we more than stuffed the treasury; but summer vacation ended all activities and bank deposits until September.

The sophomore year proved to be less hectic than the freshman. Our advisers were still in there pitching with our team, which incidentally consisted of Tony Semenza, manager; Marlene Gombos, coach; Barbara Stone, catcher; and Rodney Bordelon, bat boy. We even had fans clamoring for Tony Semenza's varsity bat. Sam wasn't exactly caught on third, either.

The sophomore year passed away all too soon; but we didn't mind because, starting in September, we would be juniors—upper classmen, at last.

Johnny Sotak really thrilled us all by his terrific portrayal of "Henry" in our junior play, "What a Life."

Eventually, May 16, the long-awaited day arrived—our Junior Prom! The theme of this gala affair was "Stairway to the Stars"; and, believe us, that night everyone was up in the clouds with Walter Schaffhauser, archangel; Bob Maslo, angel; June Wadiak, virtue; and Rose Providenti, seraph. This heavenly constellation hovered over us even through our senior year. By the way, seven good little cherubs—Geraldine Ciko, Georgette Cinege, Mary Ann Hila, Julius Kish, Barbara Nudge, Walter Schaffhauser, and Janet Szczyk—with tuned harps, shining halos, and stiff wings were welcomed into the celestial palace of the National Honor Society. Geraldine Ciko was chosen as delegate to Citizenship Institute at Douglass, while Mary Ann Hila and Walter Schaffhauser were chosen to represent us at Girls' State and Boys' State respectively. Richard Fedorco brought us fame, being named All-County guard.

When we became seniors, we elected Charles Woodhull, president; Lucille Bakos, vice-president; John Sotak, treasurer; and Monita Such, secretary. Our senior play, "Strange Boarders", we considered the best in C.H.S. history. Eleanor Tempalsky shone as Cordelia.

The high spot of this year was our victory over Perth Amboy on Thanksgiving Day.

Measuring of caps and gowns in January delighted us wholeheartedly until we realized that this was the beginning of the end. However, we still weren't too broken up about leaving, because good times were yet in store—in particular the Rye Beach trip. Baccalaureate, a solemn religious ceremony, moved us strangely. Few smiles could be seen amid the tears. We brushed aside the tears, however, to make the most of the dinner dance, our last affair. Commencement day arrived years sooner than expected; but keeping a stiff upper lip, diplomas in hand, we bade a fond adieu to our second home.

Recalling our first day in Carteret High, we realized that we were merely beginning anew, this time in a complex, troubled, but most exciting world.

L'ENVOI

As we leave these ivied halls,
An unrestrained lump we find in our throats.
Four wonderful years we're leaving behind,
But we'll remember.

Our teachers, we thought, were much too strict;
We realize now what friends they are.
Perhaps they think that we'll forget,
But we'll remember.

All the gay dances, especially the Prom,
The many football and basketball games,
Now seem so very unimportant,
But we'll remember.

Our classmates and friends will each go his way
To college, or office, or home of his own.
'Tis really sad to say good-bye—
But we'll remember.

Farewell to C. H. S.

We leave these dear old classrooms,
We leave these cherished halls,
To join the ranks before us—
Onward, for the wide world call!

Though we leave our Alma Mater
In our hearts she will be near;
And forever we'll remember
All the friends that we made here.

As we leave, a twinge of sorrow
Comes into each heart.
Oh, beloved Alma Mater,
From thee in spirit we'll ne'er part.

ROBERT SUHAY

COMMENCEMENT

Farewell, dear Carteret,
We leave with sad regret.
To enter life, a world of toil.
Those rules that you have taught,
Those ideals we have sought,
We found in Carteret High.
Like a wandering sparrow,
Each lonely soul,
Will fly a straight course to his goal.
Ah! Alma Mater dear.
For you we shed a tear.
We leave dear Carteret High.

GAIL HORN

S P O R T S

Dear Carteret High we love you!
Courage to you that you may bring
Courage to us in everything.
Hail to your glorious name!

The staff of The Loudspeaker is to be commended for the diligence and industry which has resulted in this Year Book.

The generous cooperation of individual, industrial and business residents of our community also is worthy of a word of praise, for it indicates clearly an interest in Carteret institutions also are to endure.

It is in this interest that The Carteret Press feels privileged to have some small share in a fine achievement.
