

Pantalette Undoubtedly Here

Diversity of detail is a striking characteristic in the new models. In the morning blouse to wear with the tailored suit it is the brilliant coloring and odd fastening that is the great style change from the preceding season. Made of velvet, satin, faille, georgette crepe or taffeta, it matches the petticoat or its new rival, pantalettes, of the same material, generally a kidlike finished satin. The blouse and pantalettes are now attached to each other. The pantalettes, which are made on masculine trouser line as to width and general shape, are no longer than the short skirt worn over them. The hem of the skirt, undulating or falling in points, partially conceals the pantalettes or delusively gives them the appearance of a tight drop skirt. Sometimes the pantalettes are drawn in like bloomers. More frequently they are edged by bands of fur. The lacy pantalettes of last season of the old-fashioned kind and longer than the skirt are almost never seen now. In the evening gowns the pantalette is confined to the charmeuse drop skirt, which is almost lost to view under the diaphanous outer skirts, long and short, that hang over it. This pantalette drop skirt is pretty because it indicates the long, slender lines of the limbs more than a mere drop skirt would and gives the same appearance without shackling the wearer's movements.

Party Frock of Taffeta

Party gowns may be fashioned in a froth of lace and net, in layers of chiffon or net, or both over a silk foundation. Or they are made of the new and beautiful taffetas. And no matter how airy and unsubstantial they may be, bands of fur are very likely to appear on them. Embroideries of silver thread, the introduction of silver laces, and a use of spangled trimming lends them life and sparkle. When designed for youthful wearers trimmings are to be sparingly used. A lovely model appears in the picture above, made of taffeta. This silk is shown in a new and substantial-looking weave, in all the light colors and in fascinating opalescent effects. Any of them will be suited for development into a gown like that shown here.

The skirt is moderately wide and finished with a heavy cord at the bottom which weights it and preserves a little flare. It is cut so that a bit of draping is introduced at the right side, where a pretty spray of little chiffon roses, set on a long wire (wound with gray-green ribbon), is tacked to the skirt in several places. These roses are in pastel colorings and add a gay, youthful touch that looks as if it might have sprung from the mind of the young wearer. Slippers or high-laced boots of satin are worn with dancing frocks, to match them in color. Those made of silver or gold tissue have the advantage of looking well with a frock of any color. Silk hose matching the slippers complete the details of the costume properly.

Pansies on Hats.
Bright-hued pansies have found a place on many hats in satin, blue, black, cerise and white, as well as the rich pansy shades, and they also figure on evening bodices and sometimes on morning ones.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Accustom children to elegant objects as far as one's means permit. I think one might manage so that every common jug and basin in the house were well molded with such curves as would not offend the Athenian. There is so much in the form of things.—Mary Howitt.

MORE ABOUT CHILD FEEDING.

Simple dessert should be given rarely until after the eighteenth month and then only as a treat and for variety. Pastry should not be given a child until it is ten years of age, says one of our famous child physicians. Candy should never be allowed until after the second year and then but one piece twice a week after the midday dinner. Often children of two do not gain in weight because of too much sameness, not a lack of quantity in the diet. Children should never be allowed to hurry or slight the breakfast, but the noon meal is the one which should be the heartiest and a simple supper of bread and milk, milk toast or some light and easily digested food.

Too much excitement and play will often take away the child's appetite. They should not then be forced to eat, but put to bed earlier as sleep is the best of tonics for an appetite.

For a child from two to three the following foods may be served, at various times, not all at one meal.

Fruits, orange juice, prune juice, pulp of stewed prunes, baked apple, apple juice, apple sauce, stewed apricots, figs, soaked and stewed, scraped raw apple.

Oatmeal, cream of wheat, rice, farina, hominy, all slightly salted, well cooked and served with the top of the milk or thin cream.

Eggs coddled, that is dropped in the shell into boiling water and removed at once from the heat, standing five or six minutes or longer; soft poached eggs.

Meat.—Scraped beef of rare roast, white meat of chicken, center of lamb chop, roast lamb, broiled beef steak, or boiled or broiled fresh fish, all minced fine.

I need not enlarge upon the advantage of money; everything we see and everything we hear puts us in remembrance of it. As the world is, it is sort of duty to be rich, that it may be in one's power to do good.—Lady Montagu.

HOW TO PREPARE RABBITS.

A rabbit should not be hung longer than two or three days unless kept in cold storage. The age of a rabbit may be told by the paw. If there is a little nut in the paw which may be easily broken with the thumb and finger, the rabbit is young; if it has disappeared and the paw resists pressure, the rabbit is too old for anything but a stew.

In dressing a rabbit there is a little secret that will remove the gamy odor which is so objectionable to some. It is to remove the thin membrane which extends from the flanks over the intestines. The strong flavor will be removed and the flesh delightfully sweet. The gall bladder must, of course, be carefully removed.

Roast Rabbit.—Put the rabbit, carefully dressed but whole, into a kettle. Add a quart of water and a pinch of soda and stew until tender. Take from the broth. Mix with the broth to moisten, well-seasoned bread crumbs, stuff the rabbit, lay in a pan, spread with butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake a rich brown. Serve with a brown gravy made from the broth, adding a little browned onion for seasoning.

Barbecued Rabbit.—Open plump young rabbits all the way down the under side, wash and lay flat in a pan of salt and water with a weight to hold them under the water. Wipe dry and slash across the backbone in eight or ten gashes, brush with olive oil and broil before a clear fire, turning often. Lay on a hot dish, season with salt, pepper and plenty of butter, then set in the oven for the butter to soak in. Heat in a small pan two tablespoonsfuls of vinegar, with one of made mustard; brush this over the rabbit while boiling hot. Garnish with parsley or watercress and serve with a currant-jelly sauce. Cook a tablespoonful of onion in a tablespoonful of butter, add one teaspoonful of flour and a half cupful of rabbit stock, season with salt, a teaspoonful of vinegar, a bay leaf, a clove and a tablespoonful of currant jelly. Simmer five minutes and serve.

Ring Weighed a Pound.

One of the largest rings is the one which was presented to President Franklin Pierce in 1852 by some citizens of San Francisco. It weighed one pound. The hoop of the ring is cut into squares, on each of which was shown some scene in the history of California. The bezel, bearing the seal, has engraved upon it the arms of the state of California, surmounted by the stars and stripes of the United States, and the name of Franklin Pierce. This ring was valued at $2,000.—Washington Post.

Marked Liking for Boleros

All at once a liking for little boleros is making itself felt in the specialty shops that deal in waists, and in the departments of the stores that deal in everything women want—or imagine they want. And the supply of small jackets that has sprung into evidence includes those made of lace, of net, of sheer fabrics, of silk and of yarns.

A little jacket of batiste is shown in the picture. It is designed to be worn over a light-colored evening gown or afternoon gown, but for the purpose of bringing out the pattern it is photographed over a dark street dress. It fits the figure rather snugly, with shaped underarm seams, and has a high turn-over collar at the back. A very fine pattern in eyelet embroidery trims the bottom, and a narrow edging of filet lace is stitched on all the edges of the jacket.

Silk muslin, crepe de chine, Georgette crepe, and chiffon, as well as the metal gauzes, suggest themselves for more fanciful boleros. Fine laces run with silver or gold threads that outline the pattern, or the metallic laces, will make lovely little jackets and add new finery by way of variety to the evening or afternoon gown or to the dance frock.

Even an amateur or a beginner in needlework ought to have no trouble in making one of these fascinating accessories of dress. There are only two seams to sew at each side, the shoulder and underarm seam. They are so short that it will not tax the patience to fell them by hand. Hand work is to be recommended for all these small garments and is imperative when the metal laces are used. If you are considering what to make, as an acceptable holiday gift for some friend, the little bolero presents few difficulties and many charms.

Styles Beautiful and Authoritative

The Goddess of Fashion appears to be taking a vacation, or perhaps she has abdicated; at any rate she is issuing few edicts. We do not hear "thou shalt" or "thou shalt not," and are left to do as we please, with a world of new designs in hats and gowns to choose from. They include many beautiful things.

In the early season there was a universal vogue for the black velvet hat. It is a becoming thing, this black velvet hat, but when ninety-nine out of a hundred women wear it it becomes monotonous. The demand has swung away to black hats in plush and velours and to the dark colors that look so well with the metal trimmings and handsome furs and feathers.

Two hats are pictured here which are so good in shape and in design and in every particular that they may be chosen with the comforting conviction that there is nothing better.

One is a moderately wide-brimmed model, with lines lifting a little at the front and a little more at the back. Its small, round crown is concealed by three soft half-plumes mounted over it. They are topped by one of those odd steel ornaments mounted on a stem, which look like nothing on the earth or in the air above it. Perhaps this is a part of their fascination.

A hat of this kind must be developed in materials of excellent quality and will be beautiful in dark-colored velvet with plumes in shades of the same color, or in black.

A pretty turban of plush is shown with a broad bow of wide striped ribbon poised at the back. It appears to be tied over an odd extension of the crown, covered with the plush, which supports it and adds an entirely new feature to the shape. A moire ribbon is used, having a dark and a light stripe. There are many color combinations that will be fine for a copy of this model.

With all this collection of varied styles and influences striving to make themselves felt, the opportunity for the individual who knows what to choose for her own particular style was never so good. In millinery the display of pleasing hats is creditable to the many independent designers who have created them. There is nothing startling in the two hats shown here, and nothing freakish. They represent legitimate types of real millinery, with novelty in the handling or trimmings to further commend them.

Julia Bottomley

Sleeve Models.

The sleeves have a great liberality of choice—some are full to the elbow and then tight to the wrist; but the designers have availed themselves of many models—Greek, Victorian and Moyaen age, not disdaining the amplitude of the bishop sleeves, drawn in to the wrist with a frill toward the hand.

ACTS WAITER TO SEE PRIVATE PLAY

Young San Francisco Preacher Serves Soup So Well Friends Don't Recognize Him.

San Francisco.—"He also sees the play who only serves as waiter." This is a new reading by Rev. Arch Perrin, pastor of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, who in order to see a play acted as a waiter for members of the Family club on their annual outing to their "farm" in the foothills out from Redwood City.

Men he had married and whose children he had christened didn't recognize him. He wore a false mustache and a waiter's jacket, and he dealt soup from the elbow without spilling it and passed unnoticed.

The story has only just leaked out among his parishioners.

The young pastor was very desirous of seeing Martin V. Mehl's forest play, "The Spirit of Youth," presented with music by Case Downing in the new open-air theater of the Family club. He was not a member of the club, and invitations were extended only to out-of-town visitors.

So Father Perrin enlisted with a band of extra waiters for the dinner preceding the presentation of the play, and passed the evening undetected.

Also, he saw the play he went to see—and liked it.

TO RESCUE ON SURFBOARD

Officer of Steamship Carries Line to Save Light Tenders From Starvation.

San Francisco.—Two light tenders at Point San Lucas, the southerly end of Lower California, were saved from leath by starvation recently by L. C. Hansen, first officer of the Pacific Mail steamer Newport.

Hansen said he would take a line ashore. He rode breaker after breaker on a surfboard until he finally was fast up exhausted on the shore. Hansen was unable to move for several minutes and the two lighthouse men were too weak from lack of food to haul on the line that Hansen brought them.

After a rest Hansen was able to leave in the line, which brought a double line from the boat, and to this was attached a series of life buoys with the food made fast to them in watertight cans.

FORMS A "DEVIL'S ROSARY"

New Mexico Snake Killer's "Beads" Are Hundred Rattlers of Reptiles.

Tucumcari, N. M.—One hundred rattlesnakes is the record of C. T. Taylor of Lesbia, who claims to be the champion snake killer of eastern New Mexico. He now has a hundred rattlers on a long string which he calls his "devil's rosary."

Taylor says this is the dangerous season for rattlers, as they have been shedding their skins and are partially blind and very mean.

FLOOD LIFTS COW INTO TREE

Among Other Freakish Stunts in Maryland It Steals Barrel of Vinegar.

Frederick, Md.—Queer freaks were played by a cloudburst which swept over a section of Frederick county.

County Commissioner Frank M. Stevens of Creagerstown lost two cows. He found one of them in the fork of a peach tree seven feet from the ground. Samuel Geisbert of Creagerstown, who thought he had taken every movable object from his cellar, lost a barrel of vinegar.

Accident Reveals Hoard.

Sunbury, Pa.—Missing his horse, Allen Moore, an Augusta farmer, found that he had fallen into an abandoned well. A block and tackle operated by 20 men hauled the animal out, and also an old rusty bucket with a sealed top which had caught in one of the horse's shoes.

When Moore cut the top of the bucket out rolled a stream of silver coins of Spanish mintage of a face value of about $3,000.

BRITISH WOUNDED RETURNING FROM FIRING LINE

This is believed to be one of the first pictures to reach this country in connection with the desperate British drive at Loos. The losses were extremely large on both sides and hundreds of wounded Tommies trudged back to the field hospitals from the firing line after temporary dressing of their wounds. It is thought that these are the first pictures to pass the censor showing the British wounded after the battle.

WAR SPARES NEITHER AGE NOR YOUTH

This photograph, taken recently near the battle line in France, shows an eighty-year-old matron and her two grandchildren, all that remain of a once happy and prosperous family whose home was destroyed by German shells.

DISINFECTING SERBIAN SOLDIERS

SCENE IN ALPINE WARFARE

A dangerous climb made by an Austrian troop close to the frontier in an engagement with the Italians. The photograph shows the hazardous position of one of the wounded Austrians, who is being aided up the mountainside by his comrades above him, while two other members of his troop are below ready to save him should the rope break. Such sights as this are almost a daily occurrence in the Alpine fighting.

Activities of Women.

Women are helping to build trenches in Turkey.

Mrs. Frederick Gardner, prominent in St. Louis society, is now touring the California mountains hunting for bear and deer.

Female students at the Harvard summer school have organized a club in which each member pledges herself not to marry before she is twenty-five and then only to a man who is earning at least $2,000 a year.

Princess White Deer, a Mohawk Indian maiden from the St. Regis reservation, is now in England, where she will marry a Russian officer to whom she has been engaged for more than a year.

"Aunt Betsy" Clark is the oldest person in West Virginia, having passed her one hundred and twelfth milestone. Even at her advanced age she does most of her housework and does not wear glasses nor have any use for a cane.

DIDN'T IMPRESS HIM MUCH
But Listener Was Ready to Admit That He Heard the Sermon Under Difficulties.
A new minister in a rural district who wished to make the acquaintance of the members of his congregation, and also to discover whether they were pleased with his discourses, met an old farmer whose face he recognized as one who had attended the church the previous Sunday, and, stopping him, said:
"Mr. Brown, how did you like my sermon last Sunday?"
"Well, parson," replied the old man, "you see, I didn't have a fair chance to judge. Right in front of me was old Miss Smith and the rest of that gang with their mouths wide open just a swallerin' down all the best of your sermon; 'n' what reached me, parson, was purty poor stuff, purty poor stuff."

Good Angel of the Aviators.
There is a French woman who hides her identity, who for months has been sending generous contributions of money through Le Figaro of Paris to the French army, and most particularly to the aviation corps.
For some time no more money was forthcoming, but a few days ago the Figaro received this letter from her:
"My savings are all gone, and I am grieved to the heart at not being able to help our beloved soldiers any more, especially our aviators. I wish above all things that the airmen should be warmly and comfortably clothed. But, in spite of everything, I have managed to do a little more for them. Please excuse me—it is such a little bit."
Inclosed with the letter was the French woman's check for $5,000.

There was no one on duty at the hour, except the night porter, and he was acting as porter, clerk and general overseer. I registered, and he showed me to a room; but in a few minutes he came back and said:
"Boss, my 'struction is, when a gemman haven't any baggage, to collect in advance."
"Why, I've got baggage, I replied, pointing to the little grip."
"I know, sir, boss," he said; 'but you've stayed too long on that al-ready."

Before he was sworn the presiding magistrate directed that the usual question be put to the fellow. "Do you know the nature of an oath?"
The old colored man shifted himself from one foot to the other before replying. A sly grin crept into his face. "Well, jedge," said he, "I can't say how 'tis wid mos' folks; but, yo' honch, I reckon it's sorter secon' nature wid me."

Presbyterian Church Notes

Sunday School at 10 o'clock in the morning. We are laying plans which we hope will eventually make our school as well organized and graded and our classes as well taught as any class in a day school should be. Bring your children and let them come with some of our boys and girls.

Morning service at 11. The pastor will preach.

Evening service at 7:45. The speaker will be the Rev. J. P. McLean, of Chile, South America. Mr. McLean is in demand as a very able speaker. Last Wednesday he gave an address in Wilmington, Del. We feel that we are privileged to have him with us. Mr. Simpson will assist in the service. Young People's meeting at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. All young people are most cordially invited.

On Thursday evening, November 14th, there will be a meeting of the Ladies' Mission Band at the home of Mrs. Joseph Young, on Emerson street.

Next week we are planning to organize a troop of the Boy Scouts of America—for boys over twelve years of age. It will be in charge of two leaders. We are very glad to announce that Mr. "Cap" Collins, the former leader in town, will be one of these leaders; the other has not yet been chosen. All boys interested please see "Cap" Joe Young, or Mr. Simpson.

On the evening of Tuesday, November 30th, "The White Man's Alaska," an illustrated lecture by Dr. S. Hall Young, who has lived many years in the "North Country." His lecture is known all over the country, and his colored lantern slides reproducing the grandeur of Alaskan scenery and the rigor of Alaskan life are probably the finest in existence. It is a real treat to have him come to Roosevelt. Tickets, 25 cents; children, 15 cents.

Local Football Team Suffers First Defeat

Bill Colgan's football warriors journeyed to Elizabeth Sunday and suffered the first defeat of the season at the hands of the Elizabeth A. C., the score being 6 to 0.
