

MUNICIPAL WATER WORKS IS GIVEN BOOM AT MEETING

MAYOR MULVIHILL DEPLORES SERVICE OF MIDDLESEX WATER COMPANY AND URGES MEMBERS OF THE BOROUGH COUNCIL TO ACTION FOR PLANT.

BELIEVE MOVE IS MOST ESSENTIAL

Borough Fathers Will Make a Tour and Inspection of the Municipal Water Plants in South River, New Brunswick and Perth Amboy—Pressure Needed in East Rahway Section.

That the Borough of Carteret may shortly own and operate its own water works was indicated during the discussion of the water situation by Mayor Mulvihill and the Borough Council at the first February meeting held Monday night. Mayor Mulvihill called the service of the Middlesex Water Company as the worst possible. He said that the company has ignored every request made by the borough, despite the fact that high rates are being charged. He denounced the company following the reading of a report of the Public Utilities Commission in reference to the pressure for East Rahway and Perth Amboy sections. The borough has numerous pleas to the water company for service, but was directed to take up the matter with the utilities commission.

In view of the alarming situation that the citizens of the borough are confronted with, Mayor Mulvihill said the borough should at once consider a plan whereby it could operate its own plant. He referred to the recent report of the borough of South River, where the net profits of the water and electric works pay all borough expenditures and some more. Mayor Mulvihill urged all members of the council to pay a visit to the various plants, obtain whatever information they can in connection with the operation of a municipal water plant and proceed in this direction.

The mayor believed that the taxpayers of the borough would be unanimously behind the project, that the cost of the plant would be probably paid off within five years, and the borough of Carteret too, may have sufficient revenue from this source to do away with the raising of borough taxes.

It was hinted at this point that the Middlesex Water Company is making every attempt to boost its valuations and then unload it on the municipalities who need water, while at the same time is probably entering into a part with the Perth Amboy water department to purchase all the surplus water to obstruct any plan of a municipality to buy water from Perth Amboy.

Following considerable discussion on the water question, the plan of municipal operation and the need of pressure at East Rahway, the borough attorney was instructed to confer with the Rahway water department and determine whether they will be willing to lay pipes to the East Rahway and Boulevard sections of the borough and sell water service to Carteret. It was the opinion of members of the council that the proposition may appeal to Rahway because of the additional revenue it may have from the sale of water.

POOR OVERSEER IS DENOUNCED

MUCH BUSINESS IS CONSIDERED

Recommendation of Chief Harrington Urges Night Roundsmen—$1,739 Collected by the Recorder in Fines.

A series of ordinances and resolutions were passed by the Borough Council at its meeting held Monday night. Ten resolutions dealing with renewal of improvements certificates for borough street improvements were adopted. An ordinance for the laying of curbs and sidewalks on Emerson street from Carteret avenue to Central avenue was passed at the first and second readings.

Joseph Kuntz was granted a permit to operate a bus on the Woodbridge-Carteret line by a resolution passed to that effect.

The report of the overseer of the poor was attacked by Councilman Walter Vonah. He said that Mr. Wilhelm is paying rent and other expenses to many not deserving. Mayor Mulvihill joined the others in denouncing Mr. Wilhelm, the mayor contending that it was a woman's job to look after the poor. Councilman Hercules Ellis charged that Mr. Wilhelm does not work together with the council. After most of the councilmen took a rap at Mr. Wilhelm, it was decided to hail the overseer of the poor before the council at the next meeting.

The Middlesex Water Company asked why their bill of $5,962.25 for hydrant charges is not being paid. The mayor remarked that before payment is made, the bill will be checked up so as to determine whether it is correct.

Chief of Police Henry J. Harrington in his monthly report pointed out the need of a night roundsmen. This recommendation met with the signal approval of the mayor and council. The matter was referred to the police committee for further consideration and report at the next meeting.

The recorder, Thomas L. Slugg, collected a total of $1,739 in fines during the month of January according to his report last night.

Councilman Ellis inquired why the borough physician, Samuel Messinger, is not called in cases of medical attendance. All the departments of the borough will be notified that borough cases where medical aid is required should be taken to him and not private physicians.

In its report, the Carteret Fire Company No. 2 asks for new chains on its truck.

Councilman Ellis reported that Engineer Staubach is ill again. He recommended that the borough physician examine him, to determine the extent of Mr. Staubach's illness.

SCHOOL ELECTION ON NEXT TUESDAY

SIX CANDIDATES ARE IN THE RACE

The Polls Will Open at 3 o'Clock and Will Remain Open for One Hour—Big Vote Expected.

The annual school election of the borough will be held on Tuesday afternoon of next week, for the purpose of electing three school commissioners whose terms expire this year. There will be two polls for the convenience of the voters, one at the Washington school and the other at the Columbus school. The polls at both places will open at 3 o'clock and will remain open for one hour, and as much longer as may be necessary, to enable the legal voters present to cast their ballots.

The terms of Edward J. Heil, Alex Lebowitz and Robert Jeffreys expires in 1925. Mr. Heil is president of the Board of Education, who seeks reelection on his record. Mr. Lebowitz is vice-president and Mr. Jeffrey a member of the board. The Citizens' Club has selected three candidates to oppose them at the election. Their choices are Frank Bareford, Henry Bauman and James J. Dunne.

At the school elections the names of the candidates appear according to the alphabet. Therefore the names are listed as follows: Bareford, Bauman, Dunne, Heil, Jeffreys and Lebowitz.

It is well for the voters to remember to go to the polls next Tuesday, no matter who their choice may be, so as to show that the people have an interest in local school affairs.

MR. SPAWN HONORED BY TELEPHONE CO.

Is Now In Charge of Directory Advertising Sales Work of Company in Perth Amboy and Surrounding Cities.

Announcement was made from division headquarters of the New York Telephone Company in Newark today of the appointment of Theodore Spawn, who has been local commercial manager of the company here since 1910, to a position which places him in charge of the directory advertising sales work of the company in Perth Amboy and surrounding cities, effective February 1.

Through his long residence in Perth Amboy, Mr. Spawn has made many friends here who wish him every success in his new duties. Mr. Spawn's service in the telephone organization covers a period of twenty years, which, with the exception of a few years in Elizabeth, has been spent entirely in this city.

He will be succeeded as local manager by David H. Ford, who has the distinction, not unusual in the telephone ranks, of having begun his career as an office boy. Mr. Ford is twenty-nine years old, and in 1912, at the age of sixteen, his first employment was in the telephone company's Jersey City office. In 1917, he was appointed assistant chief clerk of the Jersey City office. He resigned in 1918 to enter military service and returned to the company in 1919 as chief clerk of the Orange Commercial Office.

In January, 1922, Mr. Ford received another promotion to the chief clerkship of the Staten Island commercial office at Tompkinsville.

Carteret Public Library Will Open Every Day

(with the exception of holidays and Sundays), and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The steam heating system has been put into service and it is the intention of the trustees to convert the room formerly used as a gymnasium into a children's room, and the upstairs room into a reading room. This will be done within the next couple of weeks and will help to relieve the present congested condition.

The library was opened February 1, 1924, just one year ago. 1,280 members are enjoying the privilege of taking out books. The librarian reports there have been circulated for home use 15,546 books in the past year; 313 books being the largest circulation in one day 472 current periodicals have been circulated.

EMIL STREMLAU ON LEGAL POST

Borough Attorney Is Appointed Member of Legislative Committee of State League of Municipalities.

TO AID IN FRAMING BILLS

Prominent Lawyers From Various Parts of State Will Consider Bills Affecting Municipal Affairs.

Borough Attorney Emil Strelau has this week been named a member of the legislative committee of the State League of Municipalities for the consideration of bills effecting municipal legislative interests. The committee is composed of prominent attorneys of the state and will be an important factor for the welfare of the municipalities. The committee, complete follows:

Joseph G. Wolber, Newark; George S. Harris, Montclair; Frank F. Neutze, Camden; Walter C. Ellis, East Orange; Wendell J. Wright, Hackensack; William W. Evans, Hawthorne; Thomas P. Fay, Monmouth Beach; Spaulding Frazer, Newark; Harry R. Cooper, Belmar; Seth H. Ely, Dover; John D. Vasilyk, Garfield; Leighton Calkins, Plainfield; Paul Q. Oliver, Westfield; Alfred J. Grosse, West Orange; Reuben H. Reiffin, West Paterson; Martin P. O'Connor, Roselle Park; Peter Hofstra, Prospect Park; Nicholas O. Berry, Wallington; Howard F. Barrett, Madison; Jay B. Tomlinson, Bordentown, and Emil Strelau, Carteret.

The committee will hold weekly meetings. "Many bills are introduced intended to meet a local condition but which are necessarily general in their form and, therefore, involve other communities in unnecessary expense or difficulties," said the league. "A particular vicious example of this type of bill is the special pension bill. Sometimes legislators, for personal political reasons, will pass bills that infringe upon the legitimate administrative powers of local officials. The committee will endeavor to view all these bills from a broad standpoint of the public interest of the state as a whole."

American Legion Notes of Interest

About thirty-five members of the Legion and Auxiliary attended the reception and dance in the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark. After the banquet where a number of prominent Legion members spoke, the legionnaires finished the evening at a dance in the Hotel Washington.

A large attendance was present at the meeting last night in the Chrome Fire Hall. Various committee reports were received, among them being the committee which appeared at the last meeting of the Borough Council. In view of the fact that the purpose of this committee was not completed, they were instructed to continue their efforts in connection with the Memorial Municipal Building. Among the visitors present were J. Brant of Kearney and Holzer G. Holm, vicecommander of Middlesex County.

RIGHT OF WAY SUIT IN CHANCERY COURT

Ira R. Crouse of Perth Amboy, Lumber Dealer, Loses in Fight—Local Attorneys Represent Parties in Dispute.

Newark, Jan. 29.—One of the most interesting cases involving the right of way over property was tried before Vice Chancellor John Foster in Chancery Chambers, Newark, last week John A. Coan, of South Amboy, former assistant prosecutor of Middlesex County and Emil Strelau, borough attorney of Carteret, represented Ira R. Crouse of Perth Amboy; the defendants, Herman Sloan and Jennie Sloan, wife, were represented by Louis Y. Sosin of Perth Amboy and Maxwell Sosin of Carteret.

The case arose out of the closing up of two entrances leading to the Crouse Building next to Sloan's, who occupies the store as a pharmacy and lives over it; the Crouse building being occupied by the Butler Grocery Company.

Testimony was rendered by many witnesses, including William A. Spencer, a lawyer of Perth Amboy, a witness for Crouse, who stated that he did not remember ever having read a certain paragraph in the warranty deed which he gave to the Sloans. Mr. Spencer at one time owned both parcels of property. He said that he did remember discussing the clause in question between Sloan and his attorney, prior to the signing of the deed. The testimony showed that the deed was left with him for a period of ten days or more. There were other clauses in the deed which were not in dispute.

Part of the opinion delivered by the Vice Chancellor stated (regarding the right to use the two entrances), "That the permission (which Spencer gave to Crouse), was not in writing, it was not for any definite time, and it was not irrevocable and in his deed to Sloan, Spencer expressly authorized Sloan and his heirs to revoke this permission at his pleasure, by closing up or shutting off the stairways. And this permission was in effect revoked by the terms of this conveyance as well as by the transfer of title."

Crouse, who owns the property next to the defendants, has no way of getting to the second floor of his building.

GENIUS PULLS A FLUKE

By HANSELL CRENSHAW

(© by Short Story Pub. Co.)

CHRISTOPHER HARE stood beside the table in his shabby little room and gazed abstractedly at two small vials which he held, one in each hand. On one side of the room was a battered old piano. Both table and piano were littered with manuscript music in varying stages of composition or revision. Hare was tall, spare and prematurely gray, shabbily dressed, but with the face of an artist—a face seamed with care and disappointment yet potential of genuine creative genius.

A light knock came at the door. Hare furtively slipped the vials into his coat pocket, then went to the door and opened it. A motherly sort of woman entered and advanced a few steps.

"I hate to trouble you, Mr. Hare," she said, "but the agent is pressing me, and your room rent is three months overdue. I have a chance to rent this room tomorrow for cash in advance if—"

Hare placed a rickety chair for her and took another himself.

"Sit down a moment, Mrs. Malone," he said, taking a letter from his pocket and handing it to her. "I shall leave you this afternoon and here is a letter to my wife and boy which I want you to mail. Mrs. Malone, I—I haven't even money to buy a stamp!"

"Where are you going?" the woman asked gravely.

Hare did not answer for a space and when he spoke it was with infinite weariness.

"To some strange place," he said. "I came to New York six months ago, thinking that I would get my opera, 'Marianne,' produced. One by one, all the managers have refused it except Sterne, and he wouldn't even see me. Then, as you know, I wrote a comic thing; but it was worthless. I'm not fitted to write trivial stuff. Three weeks ago I sent my 'Marianne' to Sterne through the mail. He hasn't so much as acknowledged it. No doubt the score is lost or destroyed—the score I told and served and dreamed to write! But now I'm done—beaten. He buried his face in his hands.

"Don't be discouraged," said Mrs. Malone, after a pause. "Apply for work in a theater, restaurant, movie. You can live that way till some one comes along capable of appreciating your operas."

"You don't understand," said Christopher Hare, looking up. "I can't read music readily enough to hold a job in New York. Then, too, I don't belong to the union." He sighed wearily.

"Then teach," counseled the woman.

"Who would study under so shabby a master in so shabby a place?" he protested. "Besides, I don't play at all well. I'm no more a pianist than Wagner was. I am a creative artist. No; I advertised for pupils, but none came."

Mrs. Malone rose.

"Try a little longer," she advised him. "I'll not turn you out. You may yet get a hearing. Who can tell?"

"You are a good woman," said the composer, rising, "and I thank you now for all your goodness to me. I can't even pay what money I owe you, much less what gratitude. But this pitiful thing I can do." He handed her a folded paper. "I assign all rights to my manuscripts to you. They are probably not commercially worth the paper they're written on. But if they are worth anything, it will be a great deal."

"No," said Mrs. Malone, laying the paper on the table. "I can't take your manuscripts this way for a mess of pottage. Take them along with you, if you must go. You can send me my money any time."

"Good-by," said Christopher, taking her hand.

"Good-by," said she, "and better luck."

Mrs. Malone went out and closed the door. Hare sat down at the table and produced the two vials. He put them on the table and spoke addressing them.

"Deadly nightshade!" he said, taking up one of the bottles, "you are what I need—enough to kill ten failures."

He put the vial to his lips and drained it. Then he picked up the other bottle.

"And you, juice of the poppy!" he continued, "I need you, too."

He swallowed the contents of this vial, also, and sat staring before him for some seconds.

"Well, I've done it!" he said at length, and fell face down across the table.

A brisk knock came at the door. Christopher made no response and the knock was repeated. Then the door was thrown open and Mrs. Malone burst into the room, holding a letter in her hand. She stopped abruptly when she saw Christopher. Then she ran to him and shook him by the shoulder.

"Mr. Hare—Mr. Hare!" she cried. "Look! A letter from Sterne."

"A letter?" said Christopher, rousing himself.

"Yes—maybe an acceptance," she answered.

"What does he say?" said Christopher, taking the letter and listlessly opening it.

He looked at the letter a moment, then suddenly rose unsteadily to his feet.

"What's this!" he exclaimed, reading from the letter: "Your 'Marianne' a masterpiece—a second 'Madame Butterfly'—inclosed find check on advance royalties in the sum of one thousand—"

He dropped the letter and slowly lowered himself into a chair.

"What have you done?" Mrs. Malone demanding.

"What a fate!" cried Christopher, ignoring her. "Here I am with success and happiness within my very grasp, but doomed to die."

He raised a shaking hand and pointed to the empty vials on the table.

"Maybe something can be done!" said the woman quickly. Then she hurried from the room and down the stairs.

"A masterpiece—a second 'Butterfly'!" Christopher quoted, "yet I shall not live to hear it. Oh, God!"

He sat staring at the letter and check. Presently the door opened and Mrs. Malone entered followed by Dr. Darwin Bernard. Bernard was an intelligent but hard-faced man of fifty. A poorly paid experience in medicine had made him a misanthrope. He put his hat and medicine bag on the table and picked up the vials, reading the labels.

"Laudanum and tincture of belladonna! Enough to kill a dozen fool musicians!"

He raised Christopher's upper eyelid with a finger, then felt his pulse.

"Is there anything to be done?" the musician asked.

"No," said the doctor, picking up his hat and grip.

"You're not going to stand by and let the man die without—"

"There's nothing to be done," said Bernard brusquely.

"Is there no antidote? Must he die?"

"He ought to die," said the physician, putting on his hat and going to the door. "I live below him here, and God knows that any man who makes the noises he does on that old rattle-trap piano night and day does not deserve to live—"

"Monster—beast!" cried the woman.

"But," continued Bernard, ignoring her, "by some diabolic trick of fortune the d-d fool has taken two poisons that are the exact antidotes, the exact antagonists of each other. The belladonna counteracts the opium and the opium counteracts the belladonna!"

"You mean—you mean—" Christopher gasped, appalled.

"I mean that except for a fit or two of vomiting you will not suffer, but will continue to live and make life a continual hell—for all those who must exist within earshot of your damnable efforts at out-DeBussying De-Bussy!"

With this the physician left the room, banging the door behind him. Meantime Christopher Hare stood up and clasped Mrs. Malone's hand, swayed by feeling too strong for speech.

Illumination by Gas Not at First Popular

A commemorative tablet will shortly be unveiled in Paris on an old building of the St. Louis hospital group where the first gas works in the capital were established.

It was in the year 1797 that an engineer, Philippe Lebon, experimented with the practical use of gas derived from the combustion of wood. He called his apparatus "thermolamps." The light produced was not as brilliant as modern illumination gas and the odor was nauseating.

The discovery aroused the ire of oil and candle merchants, who viewed the new method of lighting with considerable alarm. However, Lebon never had the opportunity to perfect his process and reap his reward, for he was assassinated the day of Bonaparte's coronation. He bore a striking resemblance to the first consul, for whom his murderers mistook him. Thus, the first application of his discovery was left to the English.

The new method of lighting was not at first received with enthusiasm. When it was employed for the first time at the opera in 1819 it caused loud protests, the ladies in the audience declaring that it gave them a ghastly appearance, while the corps de ballet was made actually sick.

Some improvements were gradually made, however, and by 1824 several companies had been organized in Paris for the manufacture of gas, which rapidly supplanted lamps.—Kansas City Star.

Tree Brought High Price

Perhaps the highest price ever paid for a single tree was that paid for a pecan from Kosciusko, Miss. It is sixteen years old and its value as timber was negligible, but it was bought by a nurseryman for grafting purposes, because the tree, which has been bearing nine years, produces such large pecans that 25 of them weigh a pound. The nursery company will strip the tree of all grafting parts and use them for improving other stock.

Fully Armored

"Have your children a good school teacher?" asked a motor tourist.

"Yes'm, I reckon so," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "Leastways, she gets converted all over ag'in every time there's a revival, prays like telling the Lord how to run his own business, and is so lean, lank and sharp cornered that no man in his sober senses would try to make a mash on her."—Kansas City Star.

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

THE UPWARD WAY

TO SOME earth is a snare
With pitfalls everywhere,
They lose the spacious skies
As with their downward eyes
They walk in fear lest they Shall stumble on the way.

For me 'tis but the space
Whereon I find my place,
And where my feet shall stand
The while, with outstretched hand,
I reach up to the light
That leads me to the height.

If stumbling I shall fall
I shall not mind at all,
But out of mishap vain
Rise to my feet again,
And careless of my rue
The upward way pursue.

MR. FOX'S SNOWBALL

WHEN Mr. Fox opened the door to his home one morning the snow came tumbling all over him. It had snowed so hard in the night that his house was almost covered up.

Mr. Fox's house stood on the side of a hill and when at last he did make a place big enough for him to get out and look around he found that everything as far as he could see was covered with snow.

The fences between his home and the farm where the plump poultry lived were not to be seen at all.

"If I try to get down to the farm," said Mr. Fox, "I'll sink into the snow and freeze. Now, if I had a sled or even a plank I might slide right over fences and land right up against the barnyard fence."

"Those hens and chickens will be sure to come out some time today, and Mr. Dog won't go far from his warm place behind the kitchen stove today if I know him, and I think I do."

"Talk about a dog's life being a hard one! I never knew of a dog that did not have an easy time of it excepting when they try to catch me." And here Mr. Fox had to stop and laugh before he went on with his planning.

"Now, I have no board or sled," said he, thinking about his breakfast again. "I could roll down the hill, I suppose, but I might strike the top of a wall or something."

Mr. Fox went in the house and put on his cap, which he pulled down all around his head. Then he put on some old gloves and over them his mittens and some long woolen stockings on his feet.

He then came out and sat down in the snow, packing it all around his feet. Then he began to roll about, gathering the snow all over him as he went. And pretty soon nothing but a great big ball of snow was to be seen. Mr. Fox was inside a huge snowball.

Reached the Fence and Peeked Through the Cracks.

Mr. Fox knew he could only roll down the hill; he could not roll up very well. And when the ball was heavy enough it started to roll down. It went along making a path and gathering more snow on its way.

But it did not go in the direction Mr. Fox had intended. Instead of rolling straight to the barnyard, as Mr. Fox had hoped it would, it struck a tree not very far from the farm with a bang, and out tumbled dazed Mr. Fox.

He jumped up and shook himself, but he did not look up in the tree. If he had he might have seen Mr. Crow staring down at him with feathers bristling with anger.

But he didn't see Mr. Crow, and Mr. Crow did not make a sound. Instead, he kept his bright eyes fixed upon Mr. Fox to see what he was up to.

When his head stopped swimming, Mr. Fox made his way toward the barnyard. It was hard work getting through the snow, but at last he reached the fence and peeked through the cracks, his eyes fixed upon the poultry feeding on the other side.

Mr. Crow, of course, made his way easily and swiftly to the barnyard fence. He did not mind traveling when the snow was on the ground.

Mr. Fox did not see him until Mr. Crow's jarring voice cawed loudly just above the cry that tells Mr. Man or Mr. Dog that "a fox is nearby."

Mr. Fox jumped. He tried to run, but the snow was deep and he stumbled and fumbled about trying to get away before Mr. Dog started after him. But Mr. Crow had no intention of letting him off even in that way. He flew right along over him, cawing that he would teach him to bang against his house.

"Snowball, my house again, will you?" he cawed, following right up to Mr. Fox's door. And even when he banged it in Mr. Crow's face he could still hear him cawing outside.

"Now, what had luck sent that snowball rolling against his house? There was no use telling Jimmy Crow it was all an accident," said Mr. Fox, as he trod his toes before the fire. "When Jimmy gets started talking no one can get a word in edgewise."

"Hi-ho-hum," he sighed as he stretched himself. "That snowball idea was a great one if only it had worked out as I planned it. But the idea was good. Yes, sure, it was a clever idea." And Mr. Fox gave his knee a rousing slap to assure himself that this was so.

Mother's Cook Book

Poetry lifts the veil from the hidden beauty of the world, and makes familiar objects be as if they were not familiar.—Shelley.

WHAT TO EAT

WITH a pot of parsley growing in the kitchen window or in the basement, with celery nearly always to be bought at a reasonable price, with a good salad dressing in small quantity always on tap, there will be no trouble to have a few salads at little expense. Apples with celery and a few nuts make a most tasty and well-liked salad; for variety add a stewed prune or two with a sprinkling of peanuts to the apple, or a few dates or raisins. The willing and thoughtful cook will always evolve something worth while from the ordinary foods.

I wonder how many housewives throw away baked potatoes when there are but two or three left? Do you know that a dish of creamed potatoes, enough to serve four amply, can be prepared from two ordinary-sized baked potatoes. Cut them into cubes after removing the skin and add to a nicely seasoned white sauce. Allow the dish to stand over hot water until the potatoes are thoroughly hot and you will find a flavor in this dish of creamed potatoes surpassing the ordinary kind.

A cooked beet or two cut into very small cubes, even if it is pickled beet added to a little chopped onion and salad dressing and served on lettuce makes a very good salad. A few pecan nuts will make it delectable.

If you have a small amount of chopped pickles, corn chowder or chili sauce or a few cucumber oil pickles they all add to a salad. Only a table spoonful of chopped vegetable changes the flavor of ordinary combination into something unusual.

Freshly boiled beets chopped fine and a salad dressing of mayonnaise which has been colored pink from the beet juice added with pecan meats in a salad to remember. Serve on heart leaves of lettuce.

Cooked peas, canned string beans, cabbage, as well as cold meats and fish, may be used in salads.

Sweet pickled watermelon rind or ripe cucumber cut into dice, cheese and peas is a combination unusual but very good. All one needs is a little imagination, a few staple salad foods, for a basis and the making of a salad is easy.

MUNICIPAL WATER WORKS

Mayor Mulvihill sounded the right cord at the council meeting Monday night when he declared that the time has come for the borough to think of building a municipal water plant and abolish the present stress and flurry because of the inadequate, poor and unreasonable service now rendered by a private company. The timely suggestion will bring to mind that a water system properly managed not only gives good water service at low rates but eventually gives a good revenue in which the consumers of the borough would share. This is clearly being demonstrated in South River. This small municipality some ten years ago erected a plant, appointed a good engineer and created a water board. Through the proper management, the water works have shown last year a net profit of $85,000 so that the borough will not even collect taxes for local purposes.

As the mayor said, a plant, if erected could be paid off probably within five years. Much water is being consumed here and it is logical that the project would be remunerative. There is no doubt that everyone in the borough is behind a movement of this sort. If accomplished, citizens of Carteret within a brief period of a few years may also gain enough profit to abandon the borough taxes as has been done in South River.

It is agreed that the water company is absolutely forcing the borough to take steps for a water plant. As Mayor Mulvihill said, the company has ignored every request of Carteret. Whenever service was asked, a letter came back advising the officials to take up the question with the public utilities, which means about the same as "Tell It to Sweeney."

We hope that the council will soon make an inspection of municipal water plants and start negotiations in this direction. It would be a wonderful public service rendered by the borough fathers. And at the same time the water company may abandon its bitter fight for higher rates when it found out that the borough is in earnest and is preparing to build its own water system.

FIGHT TO THE FINISH

The municipalities handled the water rate case before the Board of Public Utility Commissioners in a very able manner and the Board not only did not grant the enormous rates requested by the company, but also took into consideration the most important question of all, service.

Since the Board handed down its decision, the case has been taken completely out of the State by the Middlesex Water Company, ignoring the State Courts and taking the matter before a Master appointed by the United States District Court.

Since that time a representative of the Water company has seen fit to attempt to bulldoze the local Borough Council by saying that the company would get what it was after it had to go to the United States Supreme Court. In one of the recent hearings before the Federal Master at Trenton, the counsel for the water company made a nasty attack upon the municipalities and the Board of Public Utility Commissioners. The people, as consumers and taxpayers, are vitally interested, and under the circumstances the municipalities have nothing else to do but to accept the challenge of the Middlesex Water Company and fight the case to the finish, backing up the Board of Public Utility Commissioners in the event that the case should go higher. It is of genuine concern to these particular municipalities and to the State that the highest court decide if in return for rates paid to any utility that utility is obligated to give adequate service.

LIBRARY PROGRESS

Thanks to the mayor and council, the free public library will now be open daily. Heeding the request made by the trustees of the library for a larger appropriation the council has made it possible to have the library open every day instead of once or twice weekly. The taxpayers surely approve of the act of the borough fathers. The appropriation will be used to a great advantage—it will be used to help the future generation through giving the education they yearn for.

The success of the library since its opening has been a signal one. The number of readers has increased constantly. Of late, it was found, that the rush of borrowers was so great that a paid assistant librarian was needed. The women of the borough headed by Mrs. Charles A. Phillips, Mrs. George A. Dalrymple and others have helped to bring the library to its present point of success.

We hope that the library continues to expand as it is rendering a worth while service.

A Birthday Surprise

November 2nd

Over the hill at sunset,
We follow the winding trail.
It leads to the door of a cottage
Whose walls are bare with age.
Within that humble cottage,
And near the old open gate,
Sits one whose face it wrinkled
By TIME in his endless race.
As the evening shadows deepen,
They outline an old arm chair—
While the glow from the open fireplace
Reveals a face so dear.
And th'rough that open cottage door
With haste I went to greet
The one in storm and sunshine
Had led my youthful feet.
And there around that hearthstone
A debt of love I paid—
As I kiss that dear old Mother
On her eighty-third birthday.
—Rev. Charles Bennett Mitchell.

Milk's Mission

PURE BRED

Time after time it has been shown that undernourished school children improve mentally as well as physically after receiving a suitable milk ration each day. Not only does it bring plumpness and strength to their little bodies, color to their cheeks and sparkle to their eyes—it also revives their power of concentration to such an extent that they learn more and faster and bring home reports that are a source of pride and pleasure. Milk has supplied the elements that Nature meant them to have and has opened up to them that new world that only the strong and vigorous may enter. Surely health, strength and happiness are the birthright of all children.

Who would deny them the blessings that good milk bestows and the safety that pasteurization throws around the liberal use of this greatest of foods? Give the children plenty of Rail & Harbor Pasteurized Milk every day.

Coast University Adopts New System of Exams

Berkeley, Cal.—A new system of examinations has been adopted by Prof. Warner Brown of the psychology department of the University of California.

This department had used the essay form, requiring the student to write at length on several questions. Doctor Brown did not deem this a fair test and so he formed a compilation of tests.

One of the new methods requires the pupil to supply one word to make a sentence complete. In another he must choose among several alternatives. A third consists in giving him a number of statements, and asking him to tell of each whether it is true or false.

According to Doctor Brown, this type of test gives the student more choice of questions, because more ground is covered in less time. He says it exposes knowledge of a subject rather than the mere ability to state things.

"Keep Your Head Cool, Feet Warm," His Words

Leyden, Holland.—There occurred recently the two hundredth anniversary of the death of Dr. Hermann Boerhaave, and Leyden in reiterating for the two hundredth time the famous message he left to his heirs.

The doctor's executors found among his possessions a sealed book entitled "The Deeper Secrets of Medicine." His fame had been such that all Leyden was keenly interested and eager for the promised revelation. The book was sold, unopened, at public auction, for a large sum. It contained in 14 words the doctor's advice to the world: "Keep your head cool and your feet warm. Then you will defy all doctors."

Mystery City Found in Wilds of Sumatra

The Hague, Holland.—A romantic story of the discovery of an ancient unknown and uninhabited fortress city comes from Sumatra, one of the largest islands of the Dutch East Indian archipelago.

According to the Sumatra Post, J. L. Hienstra, a forestry official, journeying in the upper Langkat region, reached a point beyond which the native guides were reluctant to proceed. They talked of a nearby silent city which they had once seen from afar, but never dared approach, as they imagined it to be haunted by evil spirits.

Hienstra, however, pushed on with a small party and eventually reached a sheer wall of rock of great height and some miles long, with natural bastions and inaccessible except at three points, by one of which the explorers entered.

They came upon a veritable maze of intercommunicating alleys, passages, chambers and cave dwellings. In the center of this fortress town was found a large open space with one huge solitary tree. There were inscriptions in strange characters, and remnants of what seemed ancient tombs. Silence brooded over the place, and although traces of wild mountain goats were observed, not a human soul was seen.

Who the ancient rock-dwellers were and why they abandoned their impregnable stronghold remains a mystery.

Chicago.—Rita Vivian Reeves, fourteen months old, died when she swallowed some patent cleaning compound with which her mother, Mrs. Vivian Reeves, was cleaning a dress.

Drastic Examples Made of English Drunkards

At a recent auction sale in London there was sold an "absolutely unique Elizabethan drunkard's cloak, in which drunkards were placed and paraded through the streets."

The drunkard's cloak was essentially a North-Country punishment for drunkards, and was indicted by magistrates during the commonwealth.

The article is thus described in "The History of Intemperance": "The barrel had one lead out and a hole through the other, through which the offender was made to put his head while his hands were drawn through two small holes, one on each side. With this he was compelled to march along the public streets."

No Room for Lafayette on Penn's 1925 Schedule

Pennsylvania has played its last football game with Lafayette for at least several years. This was made known when several members of the Red and Blue football committee said that owing to the plans to play Notre Dame and Brown next fall, there will be no room for Lafayette on the schedule.

With the exception of Joe Laird, who scored the winning touchdown, and Ed Thomas, all the Penn men came out of the hard game against the Eastonians in good shape. Laird played the entire second half with his collar bone badly bruised.

HOW SCHOOL DOLLAR IS SPENT IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Annual Report for 1924 by H. Brewster Willis, County Superintendent of Public Instruction, Shows How Carteret Educational Figures Compare with Other Boroughs.

In a foreword to this report, Mr. Willis says:

Some opinion having been expressed, recently, touching the high cost of maintaining our public schools, it may not be amiss at this time to make a statement of facts as to How Each Dollar of the Public School Money was Expended by the State of New Jersey in 1922-1923, by the County of Middlesex and the Boards of Education of the Cities, Boroughs and Townships of Middlesex County in 1923-1924, based upon a division of expenditures published by the State Department of Education.

Much has been said about the neglect of teaching the eight (so called) fundamental subjects, viz.: reading, spelling, language, and composition, arithmetic, physical training (including health lessons), geography, history (including civics), and penmanship.

It is generally conceded that the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of public school work, in a properly arranged program, are the most fundamental from the viewpoint of citizenship.

From the reports submitted to this office by the Supervising Principals, it appears that 85% of the weekly average teaching time is given to these fundamental subjects in these respective grades of work.

I desire to express my appreciation of the cooperation of the Supervising Principals in securing the necessary, reliable data for these presentations.

H. BREWSTER WILLIS, County Superintendent Public Instruction.

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE Standing of the Teams

Match Tonight Steel Works vs. Harmony S. C. Next Week—Monday Harmony S. C. vs. U. S. M. R. Co.

By winning five games, three from Mex Pet last Friday night and two from the Business Men on Tuesday, the Wheeler Condenser bowlers advanced well into a striking position for the lead in the City Bowling League, this week.

Due to the fact that the Steel Works had not made an appearance on the lanes this week, after they had won three games from the Copper Works in the opening match of the loop schedule, they still hold first place.

In addition to a great deal of interest being created by the outcome of this match, the fans will be on the watch for new records in team and individual scores.

Referee Gives Home Boys Better of Argument in Calling More Fouls on Locals and Less on Amboy—Rahway Wednesday.

Playing a much better brand of basketball than usual, the High School Varsity quintet figured in two very close contests on foreign courts this week, dropping its engagement with the second team of the South Amboy High School on the latter's court Friday evening, by a 14-13 score.

Both battles brought the earnings of the blue and white up to six defeats and two victories. But last Friday game should have been recorded as a triumph inasmuch as the locals were given an unfair dealing by the referee, who insisted on ignoring the foul playing of the home team any paying a great deal of attention to the fouls committed by the locals, who were only given three free shots from the fifteen foot line.

And as to the Vocational School contest, Carteret also had the verdict before ten minutes were played, even though the margin in the scores at end of play was only a matter of one point.

St. Joe Midgets Win

WHAT WILL YOU DO TO LIFE?

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHAT will you do to life, I wonder?— It isn't much that the world requires. You will sometimes fail, you will sometimes blunder.

You will sometimes follow the wrong desires; But, if one coal to the watchman's fires You add that will make the highway brighter, If your heart, your hand, your help, inspires One traveler; makes one burden lighter, It is well you lived, it is well you do, Though little or much life brings to you.

What will you do to life, I wonder?— It isn't much that the world requires.

That we follow on, that we follow under The splendid flag of our splendid sires And, when the arm of the elder fires, We lift the banner and never waver, That the race may be, when the day expires, A little better, a little braver, Not what you have—it is what you do That really matters the most to you.

What will you do to life, I wonder?— It isn't much that the world requires.

When the lightning's dash, when the thunders thunder, Here is the man that the world admires, Not him whom purple and gold attire, Not him who is richer than all the others, But whose successes were signal fires To point the path to his toiling brothers, Both joy and sorrow will come to you; To life I wonder what will you do? THE JOY OF LIVING

THE little New England village of Puritan Crossroads didn't know what to make of Robert Adaire when, one fall after the summer people had left, he stayed on. For Robert Adaire was outside the ken of Puritan Crossroads. He wasn't serious, said the verdict.

That October, Prof. Alden Standish invited the doctor and Reginald Prince II, in to test his cider; and the conversation as it had been doing for a month turned upon the newcomer.

"His good spirits?" said the doctor, "Merely excellent health!" "Personally," put in Professor Standish, "I think he hasn't the brains to worry about anything—he doesn't know-enough to feel sorrow."

"Some Celtic strain, if we knew his ancestry, I imagine," ended the heir of all the Princes.

Then Puritan Crossroads forgot all about Robert Adaire because the influenza reached them. The town was struck very hard, and the thick, foreign settlement down near the Prince mills was a plague spot. The town rolled up its sleeves and gritted its teeth and fell to work with good Puritan spirit. Everyone did his bit—it was a case of noblesse oblige.

Professor Standish was therefore scandalized to find Robert Adaire joking with a dying Portuguese mill hand, whose temperature he was taking. But the workman would have no one near him except Adaire. Then the doctor discovered that Adaire's gaiety was a valuable medicine among his stricken families, and that when Adaire came his patients seemed to think it worth while to try to get well.

So the unscrupulous Robert Adaire was worked night and day until he himself fell ill. Then Reginald Prince, who appreciated the work among his operatives, went to see Adaire. The newcomer to Puritan Crossroads was in the worst throes of the disease. But he welcomed Prince with his usual amused smile.

"This is what I call knowing influenza from the inside," said he. "For days it was nip and tuck. The whole town seemed to have been thaved out by the warmth of his personality. Everyone, sooner or later during the day, came to hear that life was still flickering; and those three old friends—Alden Standish and the doctor and Prince—stayed by Adaire's rickety bedside.

They were talking in undertones. "It's his vitality," said the doctor, "that's so wonderful: he likes to know that he's alive; he wants to feel experience; he doesn't have to have a smooth road."

"He has no ulterior motives," said Professor Standish. "He does a thing because he wants to do it, not because it will get him something else."

But all three of them felt it was Prince who hit the bull's-eye. "Robert Adaire has the habit of joie de vivre," said Prince. And perhaps it was joy of living that pulled Adaire through.

FOOTPRINTING LAST WORD IN ACCURACY

Proves Infallible Means of Identification.

New York.—"Footprinting is my fad," said Mary E. Hamilton, director of the New York policewomen's bureau. "But it is a fad that will last as long as I do. I hope it will last as long as the world." The head of the policewomen of New York made this remark to Ada Patterson, who tells the story in the Police Magazine. Mrs. Hamilton has furnished an apartment to her own home for desperate, unmarried mothers who might otherwise become human waste. Frantic, betrayed girls with the dawn of motherhood in them may ring her doorbell at any hour and find sympathy and a room in the little waiting apartment that is a twin of Mrs. Hamilton's home. Twin in shining neatness and care and livableness. We were talking of these distraught, despairing visitors, of the pallid faces and the midnight ring at the door, when Mrs. Hamilton mentioned footprinting.

"It is the last word in accuracy in the detection of criminals," she said. "Commissioner Richard E. Enright, who is a progressive, forward-looking official, deeply interested in fingerprinting not only for detection, but for personal protection, approves footprinting."

Origin of Footprinting. "It came into the department in a strange way. A beggar was brought in. His hands were gone. His arms were mere stumps. How should we secure means of identification in his case? There were no birthmarks. Comparatively few persons have them. The only thing to do is to take his footprints," said some one. The beggar's foot was smeared with the ink used in fingerprinting. He was told to step upon a sheet of white paper. There was a complete print. By that simple act the perfection of methods of identification had been reached. A criminal may twist his fingers and prevent a perfect print. But the sole of the foot is uncompromising. The footprint is a masterpiece.

"Footprinting has the widest application to the problems of life and the police; for hands may be maimed and manipulated, but the soles do not change. So long as the feet remain, the footprint is an infallible means of identification.

"It solves the problem of the unfortunate stricken suddenly by amnesia or aphasia. If every person were footprinted at birth and records made of the footprints the footprints would answer the sad old question, 'Who am I?'"

Possibilities. "Footprinting would prevent the hospital blunders of mixed-up and missing babies.

"It would make complete and accurate beyond doubt the identification of the dead.

"Potters' field would dwindle to a mere record of poverty rather than mystery. The appalling record of the trial of 250,000 unknown dead a year in New York city would be erased.

"It would have caused Charlie Ross to be found—and Lillian McKenzie." "There would be no more lost children," I asked.

"If lost they would be quickly found," returned Mrs. Hamilton. "And here would be no possibility of mistaken identities. No two footprints are alike and they never change.

"What mother could say with certainty, 'If my child were lost today I would recognize him in 12 years?' the woman who is not sure whether a child is her own or another's is the saddest sight in a world crowded with sad spectacles. Yet it is a common one. Nothing in nature changes so wholly as does a babe that is growing up. A mother's heart may tell her the truth, but she has no sure means of proving it."

Chloroform Fatal Decorah, Iowa.—Mrs. Jesse Smith, Milwaukee, a sufferer from insomnia, is dead here from an overdose of chloroform which she used to induce sleep. Telling her sister, Mrs. Charles Overacker, that she intended to take a nap, Mrs. Smith poured some chloroform into a towel which she pressed to her nostrils. She died ten minutes later.

Probably Flapper Hanover, Pa.—A pack of rats recently invaded the office of John Michael, Railroad street, and ate up $50 worth of chewing gum. The rodents passed up cheese, sweets and pastries on the same counter. Early passersby said they saw rats coming from a sewer grating in an effort to get rid of the gum.

They were talking in undertones. "It's his vitality," said the doctor, "that's so wonderful: he likes to know that he's alive; he wants to feel experience; he doesn't have to have a smooth road."

"He has no ulterior motives," said Professor Standish. "He does a thing because he wants to do it, not because it will get him something else."

But all three of them felt it was Prince who hit the bull's-eye. "Robert Adaire has the habit of joie de vivre," said Prince. And perhaps it was joy of living that pulled Adaire through.

PARIS TO HAVE WORLD EXHIBIT

Erect Buildings for Display of Decorative Arts.

Paris.—A city going up within a city. Such is the sight confronting visitors to Paris when they look over the great buildings being erected between the Champs Elysees and the Esplanade des Invalides to provide shelter for the international exhibition of decorative arts, from April to October, 1925.

Situated on both banks of the Seine, the exhibition grounds will cover an area of 70 acres. It has been found necessary to extend the private stalls across the beautiful bridge of Alexandre III, which serves as a connecting link over the Seine, and the most modern bridge in Paris with houses built upon it will resemble an ancient structure of the days of the Romans or the Middle Ages.

Modernism will be the essential condition upon which articles will be admitted. All copies or genuine antiques will be banished. A special pavilion has been set aside for the exhibits of electrical dynamo and motors.

The industries invited to participate in the exhibition have been divided into five groups: Architecture, furniture, decoration, arts of the theater, street and gardens, and tuition.

Architecture has been subdivided into the following exhibits: Art and industry in stone; art and industry in wood; art and industry in metal; art and industry in ceramics, and art and industry in glass.

Furniture and household necessities will be shown in wood, leather, metal, glass, textile and paper. Under this head will be also exhibited toys, musical instruments and scientific apparatus.

Decoration exhibits will comprise garments, dresses and accessories, perfumery, flowers and jewelry.

Everything pertaining to the theater, street and gardens and tuition will be shown under the last two groups.

All the great perfumery houses in Paris have combined and will occupy the same pavilion.

California to Restore Another Spanish Mission

Oakland, Cal.—Mission San Jose, a picturesque California landmark, 30 miles south of here, is to undergo its first renovation since it was erected by the Spanish padres in 1791.

The mission contains historic records and an ancient graveyard, with monuments bearing the names of some of the men who opened the gates to Western civilization.

After the complete restoration of Carmel mission, in Monterey county, in which the famous padre, Junipero Serra, is buried, San Juan Baptista mission, in San Benito county, was rehabilitated. The San Jose mission is next on the program.

There are 21 Spanish missions in California, separated from one another by about 35 miles—a day's journey in the old times.

The preservation committee is headed by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and Joseph R. Knowland, Oakland publisher.

New Discovery Expected to End Abscessed Teeth

Toronto, Ont.—What is called the greatest advance in dentistry in 100 years is announced from the Royal College of Dentistry here as the result of research work carried on at the University of Toronto and clinical experiments by Toronto dentists.

Briefly, the result of this discovery is expected to be that no longer will there be any danger of abscesses forming at the roots of teeth. The essence of the discovery is the use of copper amalgam as a permanent filling for the root canals of the tooth. Copper amalgam has been used as a filling for teeth before, but not until now was it known to have germicidal effect.

It is stated that when a nerve in a tooth has been destroyed the cavity can be filled with copper amalgam and there will be no danger of an abscess or gathering forming at the root of the tooth.

German Railways Adopt Yankee Efficiency Ways

Dusseldorf.—The German railway administration is introducing American efficiency methods.

The bureaucracy, inherited from Imperial times, is giving place to business methods. Various subordinates, such as divisional chiefs, are being given much wider latitude of decision and their initiative is thus being strengthened.

By way of reducing operating expenses, the administration is negotiating for the acquisition of sawmills, steel works, etc., in which much of the equipment needed is to be made.

The change of spirit is most noticed in connection with advertising methods. A comprehensive scheme has been mapped out for popularizing travel on the railways of the reich through folders, maps, moving-picture films, and travel agencies maintained in foreign centers.

So long as the railway system was merely a department government, there was little done to make active propaganda for the roads. A trained advertising staff is now at work to change this.

Just as soon as the railway administration is on its feet financially, more comfortable cars are to be constructed and put into service.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Rather Dull Week Features In School This Week

Much dullness still prevails in the every day routine in the local High School, as very little happenings, out of the ordinary, have occurred. The various classes continue to hold their meetings with very slim progress made in business matters, social or otherwise, but within a short time some of the students will be happy and others will be somewhat downcast, due to the distribution of reports on the mid-year examinations, held last week. Every effort will be made by the NEWS to have the honor roll appear in this column next week.

Since no data will be given out by the teachers in regards to debates or current event speeches by the pupils, there is very little to write, but the athletic inclined students were busier this week than ever before. Inter-class games on the basketball court were started and in the first contest, the Sophomore eagles trimmed the Freshmen tossers by a 34 to 15 count. At the end of the first quarter the margin between the two teams was three points, with the winners leading the Freshmen. Currie and Armour played the best for the Freshies, while Harry Glass excelled on the winning side. The Misses Stagg and Stepple, who are teachers, were the scorers.

The Varsity quintet traveled to South Amboy last Friday evening to lose out to the second team of the high school there by one point, 14-13, ut on Wednesday afternoon the local boys turned the tables to gain their second victory of the season in another close game, with the Perth Amboy Vocational school at Perth Amboy, by 26-25. The blue and white will probably play a home game on the school court shortly. Next Friday afternoon the team will travel to Cranford to play the varsity outfit of the high school there. The team will probably stack up against the Rahway Reserves at the Franklin school court in Rahway on Wednesday afternoon.

The Athletic Association held an enthusiastic meeting yesterday, in preparation for the coming baseball season, during which the high school is expecting a busy time. A manager was chosen.

Among the classes to hold meetings were the Juniors, yesterday. The Sophomores expect to hold a session on this coming Tuesday afternoon.

Lucky, Once Alley Pup, Guest of $5,000 Dog

New York.—A month ago Lucky was gleaming a precarious living snooping in garbage pails and sleeping in some darkened doorway.

Recently she sat at the right paw of Kiki, a princess in her own right, daughter of Bantam King, a $5,000 bundle of canine perfection. Lucky munched liver and lapped ice cream, the guest of honor at a feast of the social elite of New York's dogdom.

About three weeks ago, Mrs. E. A. Rundquist was walking in Madison avenue. With her was Kiki, dignified, aristocratic.

On the curb stood Lucky, miserable, despondent, shivering. On the other end of the cotton string that encircled her neck was Joey Girojo, six-year-old human fragment, also shivering.

Mrs. Rundquist, wife of a surgeon, has a soft spot for boys and dogs. Joey acquired a new sweater, and Lucky a warm blanket, harness and leash. When it came time for Kiki's annual Christmas party to her aristocratic friends, Lucky was included, and Joey.

Mrs. Rundquist's spacious apartment was thrown open for the occasion and the guests permitted the freedom of the luxurious Persian rugs and brocaded furniture.

Rubber Belts for Girls Arouse Wrath of Doctor

London.—The boyish form and mechanical contrivances to achieve it, resorted to by that indeterminate but presumably large number of English damsels and young matrons to whom cruel destiny has denied the slimmest of physical contour dictated by inexorable fashion, have aroused Sir Harry Edwin Bruce Bruce-Porter to wrathful indignation.

In a recent address at the city of London Y. M. C. A., Sir Bruce denounced as "damnable" the tight-fitting rubber belts which young women are wearing around their hips to create boyish forms. He declared that fashion had conferred a great boon on young girls in doing away with the tight Victorian corset, but it had more than undone its work by reintroducing the rubber girdle, which he maintained would, in all likelihood, produce more serious results than the Victorian harness.

The boyish form, Sir Bruce asserted, with vehemence, was unnatural to women. He exhorted mothers to prevent their daughters from trying to achieve it. The "appalling rubber girdles" he declared, had become a national danger and a danger to the mothers of the future.

Song Helps Sales

Washington.—The United States has plenty of bananas.

Last year, apparently spurred by the popular song, 44,000,000 bunches of bananas were imported, two-fifths of a bunch for every man, woman and child in the republic.

America also bought $28,000,000 worth of nuts abroad. Almonds made up nearly $6,000,000 of this amount.

CHINESE PIRATE KNIGHTLY ROGUE

Is Polite and Considerate of His Victims.

Foochow, China.—With consideration for their victims worthy of Robin Hood, pirates recently took possession of the Chinese steamer Ningshin, ran her into a harbor near Amoy, and proceeded to loot her most systematically, according to a report brought here by William Overholt and family, American missionaries, passengers and witnesses of the occurrence.

The quartermaster bravely refused to turn over his keys to the pirate chief and was killed, but the pirates made up a purse of $300 and entrusted it to another of the ship's officers to be given to the family of the murdered man.

The pirates boarded the ship in Shanghai in the guise of passengers. When nearing Amoy they overpowered the officers and crew, acting with precision and with practically no violence.

They politely warned the Chinese-speaking passengers not to get excited, informing them their object was primarily the seizing of 90,000 pounds of silver bars consigned to the American Oriental bank at Foochow. Nevertheless, it was explained somewhat apologetically, the pirates needed some clothing and would be obliged to accept some from the passengers.

Only the passengers in the private cabins were robbed, the less fortunate ones in the matter of comforts being unmolested. Toward the foreign travelers the pirates were extremely polite. From them they took nothing, evidently under orders from their chief.

Under compulsion the crew piloted the Ningshin into a harbor, where, in a concealed location, appeared a fort suggestive of medieval days. Bots put out from shore in great numbers to take off the treasure.

Many of the wild-looking boatmen attempted to board, but the pirate chief stood them off at the point of a revolver while his followers brought the loot to the ship's side. He explained to the passengers: "If these fellows get on board I can't control them, and they certainly will rob you of everything you have."

As soon as the silver was unloaded into the small boats the captain of the ship was ordered to put to sea, and as the boats dropped astern the pirates fired a salute with their small arms, the chief bowing low and swinging his hat in a wide theatrical gesture.

HEAVY VOTE CAST AT LOCAL ELECTION

A TOTAL OF 1649 CITIZENS GO TO THE SCHOOL POLLS AND CAST BALLOTS—BIGGEST NUMBER OF VOTERS IN THE HISTORY OF THE BOROUGH.

HEIL, JEFFREYS AND LEBOWITZ WIN

Bareford, Bauman and Dunne Run Very Close On Ticket Which Had Nine Candidates in All—All the Appropriations Asked For By the Board of Education Are Carried By Big Majority.

At the school election held Tuesday afternoon, Alex Lebowitz, Edward J. Heil and Robert Jeffreys, present members of the Board of Education, were re-elected for a term of three years. Six other candidates sought the commissioner berths. Lebowitz topped the list of all the candidates. At the Columbus school he polled 437 votes and at the Washington school 314, a total of 751. Mr. Heil was next in line. He polled 412 at the Columbus poll and 337 at the Washington school, a total of 749. Mr. Jeffreys received 412 votes at the Columbus poll and 269 at the Washington poll, a total of 681.

Frank Bareford polled 393 votes at Columbus school and 272 votes at the Washington school, receiving a total of 665. James Dunne got a total of 626, of which 357 he polled at the Columbus school and 269 at the Washington poll. Harry Bauman won 367 votes in the Columbus poll and 252 in the Washington poll, getting a total of 619. John Bartok polled a total of 116 in both polls, John J. Brandon, 81 in both polls and Stanislaw P. Andzejewski got altogether 76 votes.

All the appropriations were carried. The vote at the Columbus school on these questions follows: Current expenses, yes, 242, no, 68; building and repairs, yes, 268 and no, 78; manual training, yes, 266 and no, 74; unexpended balances, yes, 220, no, 80.

At the Washington school: Current expenses, yes, 170; no, 64; building and repairs, yes, 193, no, 59; manual training, yes, 190, no, 59; unexpended balances, yes, 156, no, 64.

There was much interest in the school election this year. Soon before 3 o'clock in the afternoon the workers and voters assembled in front of the polls and the poll clerks were kept busy. Much surprise was shown when it developed that nine candidates were running. It was the belief that only six were on the ticket. The school board explained that the candidates had filed their names in due time and their names were added.

The Washington school poll was counted up before 8 P. M. due to the splendid work of the election board members, for they worked well and swiftly. The counting at Columbus school continued until 10 because of the big vote. The election board here too has worked zealously and untiringly.

When the results of the election was made a rousing reception was given to the candidates.

COMMUNICATED

"There are several ways of defeating the will of a majority of the people in an election. One is by robbing the ballot boxes and the other by trickery and knavery. The first is not unknown in Carteret, and the Democrats used the other last Tuesday to retain their autocratic school board in power.

"By picking dummies and placing their names between those of Bareford, Baumann and Dunne, the candidates of clean and honest government, they have successfully blocked progress in the schools of Carteret for at least another year. The most contemptible thing about the whole affair was the silence of the clerk, in regard to the filing of the dummy petitions. He, by the way, has boasted that he is proud of his connection in the affair.

"Who were the dummies used as catspaws for the Democrats? The first on the ticket whose name is unpronounceable, is a butcher in the employ of Alex. Lebowitz and the third is in the employ of Joseph A. Hermann.

"If Mr. Coughlin and the illegally elected commissioners, especially Mr. Lebowitz, for whom at least a few people still retained a slight degree of respect, who did not believe that he would be party in such knavery, can derive any satisfaction in the result of the election, they are welcome to it.

"But the people will not soon forget how they were tricked. It only strengthens the belief of a good many people that the affairs of the Board of Education are not run properly and should be investigated.

"In closing, I want to say just a few words about clean politics. In the beginning, the Democrats promised to conduct a clean campaign. Yet on the eve of the election, and when it was too late to answer under the guise of the Jefferson Club, they sent out a slanderous letter directed against one of the members of the School Board, Commissioner Bradford. There was a deliberate lie stated in every paragraph of that letter. Of the few men in the Jefferson Club who have intelligence enough to think for themselves, and are capable of writing such a letter, there is not one who would dare to admit the authorship of it.

"They brand as lies the statements in the letter sent out by the representatives of clean government in schools, and yet every figure and statement used was taken from the school records.

"I wonder which of the two possess a 'degenerate' mind, the one who states facts taken from the school audit, or the other who slanders him for having dared reveal the facts. The lowest and most common rascal can howl, swear, and slander, but it takes a man of intelligence and backbone to state the facts to the public as clearly as Commissioner Bradford did, and for which he was so sorely censured and abused by the Democrats.

"Let the Democrats continue to swear, howl and slander and resort to their trickery. That is all they have done for years and is all that can be expected of them.

"But I hope that the Republicans and men like Commissioner Bradford will continue to serve the people and remain representatives of good, clean politics in the Borough of Carteret."

The curtain was lowered yesterday on the final hearing before the Federal Master in the Middlesex water rate case as Mr. Frank H. Sommer, dean of New York University Law School and Associate Counsel for the Commission in this case, left the court room hearers spellbound by the masterful way in which he disposed of the contentions of the water company and the admirable manner in which he answered the vicious attacks of the water company's counsel on the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, the municipalities and the consumers in general.

In contrast to the two day heated tirade of the Middlesex Water Company's president, Mr. Sommer confined his orderly summation to but forty minutes and at no time attempted to deal in personalities, though leaving no doubt in the minds of his hearers what the situation has been and who he believed was responsible.

He not only dealt with the question of service but in a simple way explained the development in New Jersey and the United States of rate making legislation, administration and application and made it clear that the contentions of Mr. Bergen, of the Middlesex Water Company, that the rate should be based upon a re-production new value of this property had no support in law, and in practice would lead to a result that would amount to a confiscation of the consumers properties. At this juncture the commission's associate counsel riddled, too, Mr. Bergen's advice to the Court that his company never really had to go to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners to establish rates.

As soon as Mr. Bergen had completed his general attacks on most everyone connected with the consumers case, Mr. Sommer got under way. He explained to the Master that the service of the Middlesex Water Company has been notoriously unsafe, improper and inadequate for the past thirteen years, causing schools to close, factories to shut down, endangering the lives and health of citizens, and causing destruction of property. Here it was pointed out that it was not sufficient answer for the company to say that the consumers were only charged for the water they used, but that the Middlesex Water Company was obligated to the service when it was required by the consumers.

Among the parting shots at the case the company attempted to set up was the fact that its expert, who was supposed to have examined the property, did not remember whether or not the Rahway standpipe was in use and stated that he believed it was in use despite the fact that it had not been used since 1920; and the further fact that though the company claimed it could not float its bonds it had always been able to do as well as other companies.

Fifteenth Anniversary Week Celebration of the Boy Scouts of America, Most Notable Event

SCOUTS GOING INTO SUMMER CAMP

RADIO WORKS FINE—SCOUT IS HAPPY

SCOUTS AID IN CLEANING-UP CAMPAIGN

SCOUTS IN BRIDGE BUILDING DEMONSTRATION

SCOUT MAKES CAPABLE TRAFFIC POLICEMAN

Week of February 8th, an Epoch in the History of Scouting in this Country, with 21,977 Troops with a Membership of 700,000 Participating in Nation-Wide Observance

THE Boy Scouts of America was founded on February 8, 1910. Its primary purpose was and is, "to foster the character-building and citizenship training of all boys, regardless of race, nationality or creed." To-day, after fourteen years the organization is composed of 586 Councils in all states of the union,* with 21,977 Troops, having a membership of approximately 700,000.

Observances Nation-Wide

Anniversary week always is a gala time in Scouting. The observances are nation-wide. Rallies, hikes, patriotic pilgrimages, Father and Son banquets, services in churches and schools—these are only a few of the events that make every recurring anniversary week a delight to every American youth, be he a Scout or not.

On these annual observances, on February 8th, the Scouts renew their oath to do their duty to God and country, to obey the Scout Law, to help others at all times, and to keep themselves physically strong, mentally awake and morally upright. The slogan of the 1925 celebration, "Once a Scout, Always a Scout," has served to rally under the same banner the 2,000,000 former active members who have outgrown their boyhood, but whose sympathies are and always will be, with the Boy Scouts of America.

Co-operation is General

In all sections of the country, the churches, schools, patriotic societies and individuals, have contributed their best efforts in making the fifteenth anniversary celebration a highly memorable event. About 53 per cent of the 21,977 Troops are sponsored by the Churches of America. Every denomination is represented in the membership. During anniversary week many of the schools are turned over to the Boy Scouts for their various activities, the teachers serving as scout leaders. The Scouts themselves render highly efficient traffic and patrol services and de-rolled in the organization, by started a $10,000,000 fund for the purpose stated, with highly gratifying results. A unique award known as the "Achievement Badge," for boys who are physically handicapped, though mentally progressive, was recently authorized. More than 1,000 medals for life-saving and certificate of heroism, have been awarded to Scouts to date.

Great Progress Last Year

The record of the National Scout office show that last year was one of outstanding progress. In 1924, the Lone Scouts were merged with the Boy Scouts, thereby increasing the membership of the latter organization to the extent of 45,000. To the Scouting curriculum which now numbers seventy vocational subjects, foundry practice, the study of insect life and the making of textiles, were added. Sea-scouting gained great impetus. It features seacraft, and has a membership of 1,240, with seventy ships. Plans for a national sea-scouting training center are progressing favorably. Boy Scout scholarships are now being offered in six colleges and universities.

Big Fund for Enrolling Boys

The National Council, alive to the importance of Scout training for the 5,250,000 boys not yet enrolled in the organization, by started a $10,000,000 fund for the purpose stated, with highly gratifying results. A unique award known as the "Achievement Badge," for boys who are physically handicapped, though mentally progressive, was recently authorized. More than 1,000 medals for life-saving and certificate of heroism, have been awarded to Scouts to date.

The parents of boys throughout the country, who appreciate the value of Scout training, never fail to co-operate with the youths on the occasions of the anniversary observance. Scout Mother Auxiliaries and Father and Son banquets and banquets are the occasions for festive gatherings. Thousands of troops render programs of impressive proportions and never was the spirit more general to make the 1925 celebration, the banner event in the annals of the organization. That their efforts found the hearty response, among all classes, the evidence is abundantly present.

FOREIGN PARASITES HELP AGRICULTURE

Progress Reported in Warfare on Insects.

Washington.—Substantial progress in warfare against a variety of insect pests is described by the bureau of entomology in its annual report for the fiscal year 1924. A number of effective new methods and materials for use against different types of infestation have been developed, and the control of insect pests by the importation and rearing of natural parasites has received considerable attention.

Work designed to prevent the spread of the Japanese beetle has been greatly strengthened. It is said, by increased appropriations. More effective inspection of farm products and nursery stock has been made possible, as well as the broadening research activities. These have resulted in information which may lead to the better utilization of evergreen stock grown in the infested regions of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. In the development of better insecticides and methods of applying them, and in new measures for treating infested soil in nursery beds.

Every effort has been made to secure the maximum number of parasite enemies of the Japanese beetle, and to establish these successfully. In co-operation with the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania and the Federal Horticultural board, the prevention of the spread of the Japanese beetle has been enforced to the fullest extent possible by means of a rigid embargo on a very large class of produce likely to be moved out of the infested areas.

Corn Borer Expands.
The European corn borer has made its appearance on the western end of Long Island, and the infestation in the Ohio area at the western end of Lake Erie has intensified. Progress has been made in the work of importing insect parasites of the corn borer from southern Europe. General control campaigns have been instituted.

One imported parasite is aiding in the control of the alfalfa weevil. Vigorous control efforts by state and federal entomologists are believed to have contributed importantly to the suppression of grasshopper outbreaks in the Dakotas, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Texas and Oklahoma. Extensive investigations have been made in connection with weevils attacking stored products of all kinds, resulting in the recommendation of several better and safer methods of fumigation.

The Mexican bean beetle has continued its rapid spread. It has now almost reached Lake Erie, has been found in West Virginia near Pennsylvania, and has extended its range greatly in the Southeastern states. Attempts to establish a tachnid fly parasite have thus far been unsuccessful, but it is hoped that this can be done eventually.

Extreme cold weather in January, 1924, and a phenomenal drought later, in the states from Alabama westward, resulted in a low emergence of the cotton boll weevil this year. Control measures have been perfected along several lines, including airplane dusting and the maintenance of a supply of calcium arsenate, and the outlook is encouraging.

Bark-beetle control projects in the Pacific coast states and the Rocky mountain region have continued to require much attention.

New Contact Insecticide.

A new contact insecticide, which will in many instances be a suitable substitute for nicotine at a lower cost, has been developed at the Silver Spring (Md.) laboratory. The practical value of pure ethyl acetate as a fumigant for grain at railway terminals has been demonstrated. The substitution of hydrocyanic-acid gas fumigation for sprays and other treatment of hides and skins for the control of the hide beetle has been a complete success. A new formula under investigation at the Orlando (Fla.) station, the so-called kaolin emulsion, has proved to have distinct merit in the control of scale insects affecting citrus fruit trees. A project is under way, involving co-operation with the bureau of public roads and the bureau of standards, to learn the effect of the electrical charging of particles of insecticide dust produced by the airplane used in airplane dusting of cotton fields.

Studies relating to the problems of bee-keeping, such as the diseases of bees, the causes of differences in the colors of honeys and the behavior of bees, as affected by change in meteorological and other factors, have continued at the bee laboratory at Somerset, Md.

Keeps Diary

Emporia, Kan.—Persons who buy diaries the first of each year, keep them a few weeks, then fire of the practice, will take off their hats to W. H. Brooks, Emporia grocer. He has kept a diary for 59 years without missing a day, and January 1 he started his sixtieth journal.

Brooks only writes a few lines a day, but he never lets a day go by without some sort of an entry. He keeps his diaries filed in his desk at the store, and always has them available for looking up events in the town's history.

DORA OF THREE DOT

By FRED TURNER RANNEY

(© by Short Story Pub. Co.)

TIP HARRIS holds four aces and a king; old man Scott holds four kings and an ace, and shortly thereafter Hank Smith, the coroner, holds an inquest. That night Tip sleeps his last long sleep on a marble slab in Smith's undertaking shop and Scott sleeps in his saddle somewhere in the Beartooth mountains. Whereupon, Three Dot, most fickle of burgers, seeks new excitement. Jim Herford always did claim as how the only excuse there was for old man Scott's obscurity in the landscape was his daughter, and Three Dot was plumb unanimous that Dora was excuse 'nough for her dad. Dora run the post office and was that scornful pretty that when you went in to buy one lit old stamp you always bought ten at least. And them big blue eyes of hers was the despair of every cow-puncher from the Big Horn to the Musselshell.

But it was easy seen that the boys in the Angora claps stood no chance 'longside Bob Hackley, the county attorney; and not a bit of cayuse was there in his makeup. We was all gettin' primed for the real hifalutin' hitchin' up, square dances and lots of noise—but you know what the poet fellow says about the cup slippin' from the lip.

Morn' likely things woulda been finer'n frog fuzz at that if Sandy Hawkins, the sheriff, hadn't stopped over. He was ridin' out 'Painted Robe way huntin' horses, night comin' on and him and his pony both petered out, when he sees a little campfire in a coulee. Down he rides and squats 'longside waitin' for the boss to show. And pretty soon the boss shows up heap plenty, for who comes bustin' through the brush, bringin' a pannier of water, but old man Scott himself.

Sandy protests to this day as how he give Scott every chance to make a get-away, tellin' him the horse was lame, couldn't run a lick, and as how he was that night ackered out that if a man did escape he couldn't track him in a foot of snow. But Scott's lonesome for his little gal and says as how he's sick of livin' in the hills like a skinkin' coyote, and figures he'll come in and take hisn.

The minute Sandy brings Scott in and locks him up, Dora is down at the jail with her dad, cryin' on his neck. Then somebody asks what'll Bob Hackley do now, prosecute his gal's dad for murder? But we know'd what he'd do; we know'd he'd come through, because there weren't nothin' of the quitter in Bob. Just the same we was mighty sorry for the kid and speculates to ourselves what we'd do in his boots.

So the old man comes up for trial pretty soon and Three Dot was host to everybody for fifty miles round. Bill Martin's defendin' Scott, but Bill never was no account only to second motions and call square dances, so we all know'd there wasn't goin' to be no easy sleddin' for the old man.

Court opens with old Judge Brown on the bench, settin' up there lookin' wiser'n a tree full of owls, and they brings on old Scott, and Dora is with him. They take seats at the lawyers' table, facin' Bob. After a bit, Bob looks over Dora's way, kinda hopeful-like, but she turns her back and gives him 'bout the coldest shoulder I ever see. We was sorry for 'em both.

Two long, hot days, courtroom packed and stuffy, and it was nip and tuck 'tween the rope and old Scott, him tellin' as how it was self-defense and Tip fired first and all that, but it don't seem to stick worth a cent. Hackley's ridin' him all the time, borin' in like sin, askin' the hardest questions you ever see, and old Bill Martin's settin' there in a trance, just talkin' up room, doin' nothin'.

The Virtue testifies he hears one shot, and only one; Doc Peters shows the bullet he took out of Harris. It's a forty-four; Scott always toted a forty-four. Hackley proves as how Tip's gun, a thirty-eight, is found right 'longside where he fell, with the hammer down on an empty shell for safety, but as how there's five good shells in the gun. Certainly looked like old Scott was nigh the finish of his mortal career.

The third day everything's in but the spoutin'. When court opens Hackley asks that the jury be taken to the place of the killin' so they can say the layout better, and the old judge seem'n it that way, sends the bunch down with the sheriff to look over the spread.

Don't know what happened down there, but in about fifteen minutes back comes the whole pack on the high hope. "Silvertip" Morse, hein' the oldest, stands right up and tells the judge as how they found another bullet in the wall of the shack, a thirty-eight, and as how Tip had a thirty-eight on him when he cashed in.

You could heard a pin drop. Course the judge tells old "Silvertip" as how he'd over-talked hisself considerable, but he don't act much peeved at that. No time at all until the case was in, Hackley seem'n to lose his grip all of a sudden. The jury files out and was soon back again and Scott is free.

Then the crowd surges out like sheep through a chute, takin' old Scott and the judge and the jury down to the Holdup bar. But I stays back in a corner mighty quiet, for Dora is over by the jurybox cryin' and Hackley's fiddlin' with the papers on his table, and somethin' liable to happen. Pretty soon Bob looks up and makes out he's just seen Dora, and he know's all the time she was there. He walks over to her slow and hesitatin'-like and puts out his hand.

"Good-by, Miss Scott; I'm leavin' here tonight," he says in a kinda choky voice. "If you ever need a friend you may depend on me."

Dora didn't say nothin' at first or offer to shake hands. She just dabs at her eyes with her handkerchief and looks up at him kinda wistful-like.

"I followed you down to Tip Harris' shack last night and saw you fire that bullet into the wall," Dora says in a little bit. Hackley turns pale and slinks down like somethin' had hit him on the head. He tries to say somethin' but his mouth just works like he was talkin' and he wasn't makin' a sound.

"I know why you did it," Dora went on. "When you go away I shall go with you, if you want me to, and there won't ever be any good-by for us."

And they never heard me as I tip-toes out, and my boots squeaked somethin' fierce at that.

Danish Scientists Take "Census" of Sea Birds

Statistical observations on birds over the North Atlantic ocean indicate that their number increases steadily toward the north, reaching a maximum in the seas between Norway and Iceland. The minimum is found in mid-ocean at about the latitude of North Carolina and the strait of Gibraltar. The data for this census of sea birds were obtained by Danish scientists during the last four years, with one earlier set of observations some ten years ago. In making their counts they dealt only with birds that spend most of their time at sea, like terns and albatrosses, and excluded shore birds and land birds in passage. One prominent factor in determining the distribution of bird life seems to be the Gulf stream. Where this current crosses the Atlantic, between Newfoundland and Britain, there is a considerable abundance of birds. Southward the number falls abruptly. Between 30 and 40 degrees north latitude less than a tenth as many birds were observed as between 40 and 50 degrees. The number of oceanic birds increased near the land, on both sides of the Atlantic.

No "Nursie" for Billy

Two families lived side by side on the North side. In one family there were several maids, including a nurse maid for the children; in the other family there was only one maid, who was not required to have any care of the children.

A few days ago, little Henry, age four, of the first family, came over to the yard of the other family, where Billy, age four and a half, was playing, and the following conversation took place:

"Billy, come on over and play with me," said Henry.

"I can't," said Billy.

"Why, won't your nurse let you?" said Henry.

Billy replied, "I don't have a nurse, I have a mother."—Indianapolis News.

"Them That Has, Gets"

Four or five men were sitting on the coping which incloses the statehouse lawn. They appeared to be of the army of the unemployed. They sat looking mostly at the sidewalk, perhaps thinking of how to obtain their next meal.

A well-dressed, prosperous-looking young man, walking down the sidewalk, stopped suddenly in front of the little group. He was looking at the sidewalk near the curb. He took two steps, bent over and picked up a 50-cent piece.

While the jobless group looked almost with open mouths, he pocketed the piece he had found under their very eyes and continued on his way.—Indianapolis News.

Powerful Germicide

Three English chemists claim to have discovered a new group of germicides of remarkable power. So intense is their antiseptic action, it is declared, that they will destroy bacteria in certain cases in as weak a form as one part in 20,000,000.

The new antiseptic group is a complicated compound of the rare element tellurium, and was discovered as a result of investigations carried out in the University of Birmingham.

CONSIDER FIBER IN JUDGING TEXTILES

Many Fine Points Should Be Given Consideration.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Color, design or passing fashion should not be the only considerations when purchasing a textile fabric, according to the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. Among the many points that should be given due weight is whether the fiber in the fabric is that which is desired and for which the purchase price is paid. A cheap fiber is not necessarily a poor investment if the purchaser knows what she is getting, and if the material suits her purpose, and if the price is right considering the quality.

Different Fibers.

Cotton may be chosen for its low cost, ease of laundering, coolness and durability; mercerized cotton because it combines durability and beauty with low cost; linen for its absorbent properties, its resistance to soil, its beauty and durability; wool for its warmth; silk for its great beauty and durability; and artificial silk, now being called "rayon" by a large group of manufacturers, for its lower cost and extreme luster.

Mixtures of fibers may be desirable in cases where wearing quality has not been too greatly sacrificed in order to lower cost. Mixtures of wool and cotton may launder better than wool alone, although in some cases the difference in shrinkage of the two fibers is disastrous. It is better to test such union materials by washing or steaming a sample before the purchase is made.

Moreover, there are different grades of cotton, linen and the other kinds of fibers. An exact study would compare structure, breaking strength and many other characteristics of each sample, but length, which is an important factor, can be easily noted. The longer the fiber, the easier it is held in the yarn and the smoother and less easily soiled is the fabric woven from it.

Cotton fiber may be from four-fifths to one-half inch in length and is therefore a short fiber at best.

Wool Fibers Vary.

Wool fibers vary from one to eight inches in length. Regenerated wool is made from scraps from tailor shops, garment factories and the like, and from old materials sold as rags. These are all properly disinfected, cleaned, torn apart and re-spun. Such fiber is likely to be broken and shorter than new wool, although this is not necessarily the case.

Silk is ordinarily a long fiber, but as in the case of the other fibers, the short ones, twisted into spun silk, are used for cheaper fabrics.

Bisons as Screen Stars

Sixteen of the eighty-six surplus bison that were subtracted from the Yellowstone herd this season have gone to California to join the movies. The Yellowstone bison have often been filmed on their native heath, and during the present season performed a leading role in the production of "The Thundering Herd." The contingent now bound for Hollywood will be active in completing this feature. When this has been completed they will be released on Catalina Island, the Philadelphia Record says.

The animals sent out from the park went to municipalities for the most part, but some went to game preserves and forests and a few to private estates. The largest pair shipped went to Pio Ziegfeld.

The bison herd in Yellowstone park started in 1902 with 21 animals, 18 cows from the Allard herd of western Montana and three bulls from the Woodlight herd of Texas. They multiply very rapidly, and the herd numbered 750 on August 1. There were 120 calves last spring and 100 in the spring of 1923.

Peanut Butter Souffle

Good With Tomato Sauce

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

2-3 cupful peanut butter, 1 cupful soft butter, 1 cupful tomato sauce, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1/2 teaspoonful onion juice.

Mix together the first five ingredients, add the well-beaten yolks of the eggs and fold in the stiffly-beaten whites. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish and cook in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes. If desired, water and a little lemon juice may be used instead of the tomato. Serve the souffle with tomato sauce made as follows:

2 tablespoonfuls butter or other fat, 1 cupful tomato juice, 2 tablespoonfuls flour.

Melt the butter, add the flour, and cook for about a minute. Add the tomato juice and salt and stir the sauce until it thickens. Either skim milk or water flavored with tomato catsup may be used instead of the tomato juice in making this sauce, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Lightning is a formidable enemy of mankind and its investigation is, therefore, one of the practical problems of electrical engineering, says Nature Magazine. Fires due to this cause destroy about twenty million dollars' worth of buildings in the United States every year.

The Diard five-backed pheasant is largely gray, varied with black, white and chestnut, with a shining gold back and bronze-red rump, says Nature Magazine. The bird inhabits Siam and French Indo-China. Here it lives in bamboo thickets and jungles.

THE CROSS WORD PUZZLERS

If you introduce some mental test at an evening party, some people will groan audibly, reluctant to set their indolent minds to work.

Some people assert that such mental exercise has little educational value. Knowledge of words is of little use, they insist, until one learns how to handle them well.

Others have so much admiration for words as civilization's most finished and powerful tool, that they like to see people working over them.

Take the simplest word, and ask how that particular combination of vocal sounds and letters ever came to mean certain ideas? Who decided that the four letters, d, e, a, r, stand for sounds meaning affection, while those letters and sounds rearranged spell "read," an entirely different idea?

Who created the 100,000 and more words with which our great dictionaries are bulging? The more you respect them, the more you want to see them kindly handled, and not jostled and bruised by wrong pronunciations and applications.

When a boy is given a fine set of mechanical tools, he first admires and plays with them as if they were mere toys. Thereby he is incited to learn their uses according to the several purposes for which they were intended, until he can cut, hammer, and finish them with skilful touch.

So perhaps it may be with many of our cross word puzzlers here in Carteret. After they have played out their little game, they may feel incited to go on and learn more about these wonderful tools of the higher civilization, so as to use them more deftly for their own advancement and for community progress.

A TRIBUTE

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S tribute to the American newspaper which he delivered at the dinner of the American Society of Newspaper Editors was a sincere recognition of the services which newspapers are giving to the nation as a whole.

This is a tribute so well delivered that there is not a newspaper in the country no matter how humble its circumstances but what is justified in carrying these words of the President upon their editorial page, not boastfully, but as an honest appreciation from him of the sacrifices that they are always making for the good of the community and the nation at large.

ST. JOSEPH'S GOOD WORK

THE REV. FATHER JOHN J. O'CONNOR is certainly proud of his flock. As we read the papers, we note, that almost every organization connected with St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church is constantly active, which clearly shows that the parish has such a group of splendid workers.

St. Joseph's parish should also get credit for its Parent-Teacher Association. Although this is the youngest branch of the church, it shows wonderful progress. The program given by the children last Tuesday was truly brilliant and enjoyed by so many parents who came to attend the affair.

Such fine work stimulates interest. No wonder that all the members of the parish are co-operating in any affair that is sponsored by the church. And it does much to elevate the spirit of the community.

"SUNNY CALIFORNIA" WELL DESERVES ITS NAME

Carteret Resident Describes In Detail Pleasures and Delightful Scenery in Travelling About the Western State and Most Prominent Seashore in That Vicinity.

280 Oak Knoll Ave., Pasadena, Calif. January 29, 1925.

Dear Editor:— I wish to thank you for sending "The Carteret News." I enjoy reading what is going on in my home town even if it is not as beautiful as my present surroundings. Sunny California well deserves its name. The climate is so fine that when I read what is going on in the east it makes me shiver.

Mt. Lowe which is an altitude of over five thousand feet. There is a very fine view of the surrounding country to be seen from this mountain, but there is another higher mountain called Mt. San Antonio nicknamed "Baldy," as its peak is snow capped the year 'round. It rises up above the orange groves. It is beautiful to see the trees laden with golden fruit and the perfume of the blossoms is exotic.

movie actors. They are there all right but the homes are superb. I took a trip to Catalina Island. It is called California's Magic Isle and it has some very unique sights. The Submarine Gardens are particularly so. They are seen from glass bottomed boats and are over fifty feet deep in some places, but you can see bottom at all parts.

In producing a dog drama with a canine hero and villain in England recently, the director had difficulty because the animals having these roles became close friends while the picture was being made.

LARGE REAL ESTATE TITLE PASSES HANDS

David Lehrer, Local Merchant, Pays Over $30,000 For Property On Roosevelt Avenue and Burlington Street.

What is considered to be one of the largest real estate transactions here in the borough of late is that of Max Engelson of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly of this borough, selling the large parcel of property on Roosevelt avenue and Burlington street, known as numbers 72 to 76 Roosevelt avenue.

David Lehrer, a well-to-do local merchant, who conducts a large retail department clothing store on the corner of Hudson street and Roosevelt avenue, is the purchaser. The consideration paid was said to be over $30,000. According to the agreement filed in the office of the county clerk at New Brunswick, title to the property is to pass on or before the first day of March. The property consists of three large stores with an office and dwelling over them. The frontage is over seventy feet and the depth over one hundred feet. Mr. Lehrer contemplates remodeling the buildings within a short time. The entire transaction was consummated in the law offices of Maxwell Sosin, who represented both parties in the deal.

HOUSES GOING UP AT COLONIA HILLS

Fifty New Houses Are To Be Built This Spring at Colonia Hills, N. J., By Mostly New York Commuters.

Fifty new houses will go up this spring at Colonia Hills, New Jersey, where Dr. Fred H. Albee, noted bone specialist, has participated in building a home community town, mostly New York commuters, business and professional people. Forty-five homes have already been built there, financed by the Colonia Hills Community Plan, in cooperation with the Colonia Building & Loan Association, which has its 17th series out already and over $100,000 placed on houses there. Although ground was broken for the first house in this section less than four years ago, it is now a well developed community, with a clubhouse, a school built at a cost of $60,000, with roads graded and thousands of feet of gas, water mains and electric wires. White & Hess, Inc., real estate operators of Woodbridge, will shortly offer for sale a number of lots and bungalows on the new East Hill addition of Colonia Hills, where houses will also be built and financed by the Colonia Hills Plan. A cannon ball of the revolutionary period was found on this property when the roads on it were being opened up.

The history of Fire Company No. 2, since the day of its organization in 1905 until the present time, was reviewed by members of the fire company at a delightful supper Monday night. The firemen held their regular meeting first with a large attendance. Anthony Wilhelm was initiated into membership and at the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. Wilhelm invited all members of the company to the Carteret Inn, where a delicious beefsteak supper was served under the personal supervision of the genial Grohman Brothers.

Very interesting talks were made by James Mullan, John S. Olbricht, William J. Lawlor and others. Fireman Joseph Lloyd urged the men to keep up the good work, for which they have established a reputation.

Hebrew Center Move Started In Borough

A movement has been started by the Congregation of Loving Justice for the erection of a community center in the borough where activities similar to those of a Y. M. H. A. could be conducted. S. B. Friedman, president of the congregation sent out an appeal for contributions to start a building fund.

Mr. Friedman says: "We are very much in need of a centre where the Hebrew residents of the borough could congregate and hear lectures, talks on current topics and hold socials."

The Hebrew center is expected to be located in the heart of the borough so as to make it convenient for those from Chrome and from Carteret to come. Every indication points to the success of the drive, which will be conducted for a time until the necessary money is obtained.

77,572 Shares of Stock Sold By the P. S. Corp.

Final figures in the customer ownership offer of seven per cent cumulative preferred stock of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey show that 77,572 shares of stock were sold to 19,545 subscribers throughout New Jersey. This is more than fifty per cent over the figure of 50,000 shares set as the goal at the beginning of the campaign, October 1. The last day for sales was January 31. There have been six customer ownership campaigns since 1921, and that just ended was the most successful of all. The next highest number of shares sold in any one offer was 60,030 shares to 13,767 subscribers, from December 1922, to April 1923. Altogether about 260,000 shares of stock, seven and eight per cent cumulative preferred, have been sold to customers since 1921.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

NOWADAYS when a man actually says, "I love you," a woman doesn't know whether to accept it as a jest—or a "gesture."

Just about this time of year a wife starts speaking of her husband's lassitude as "brain-fag," and begins calling it by its right name, when he drops the rake and sidles toward the fireplace.

The most pathetic sight on earth is that of a middle-aged married man who has suddenly been seized with the hallucination that he is the romantic ideal of every sixteen-year-old debutante he meets.

Among the men whom a woman has loved there are many degrees of difference; but a man mentally bunches all his past loves together like radishes and tucks them away en masse in the refrigerator of his memory.

Before he selects a motorcar a man spends two or three months looking them over; but he will decide on a wife in two or three minutes after he has met her—and then spend the rest of his life "looking 'em over."

Every flirtation is a fascinating experiment in the laboratory of love, in which the foolish carelessly play with combustibles.

Some people take their culture so seriously that it seems almost like a vulgar display of refinement. (© by Helen Rowland.)

DOUKHOBOR LEADER CALLED GREAT MAN

Peter Veregin Had Implicit Confidence of Followers.

One of the strangest characters in modern history was killed in a mysterious bomb explosion a short time ago aboard a Canadian Pacific train en route between Nelson and Grand Forks, B. C., a writer in the Chicago Journal informs us. He was Peter Veregin, head of the Russian religious sect known as the Doukhobors, or "Spirit Wrestlers." The Canadian police say the bomb was a plot to kill Veregin. Five others met a similar fate.

The figure of Peter Veregin was indeed one of awe-inspiring personality. If ever there was a born leader of men, Peter Veregin was one. He was the seventh leader of the religion. Preceding him was a woman, Lookeria Vassilievna, who succeeded her husband in this capacity. She found and marked Veregin for leadership when he was a mere boy. He belonged to a very wealthy family of the Doukhobor persuasion and he followed her implicitly.

Veregin was given a thorough education and prepared painstakingly to assume this important post, which she passed on to him on her death bed. He sooner had he assumed the leadership than he started a movement of passive resistance to the Russian government's system of compulsory military service, and was exiled to Siberia, where he spent 16 years. In the interim the last Doukhobor had migrated to Canada and it was through them that he was pardoned and allowed to join the Saskatchewan colony, over which he had never relinquished his dominating power.

He was looked upon by the Doukhobors as a reincarnation of Jesus Christ. Whenever he went to a village the people turned out, even in drencing weather and the chill of the northern prairie wind, to prostrate themselves on the ground. He silently received their adoration.

They prayed to him as if to the Creator, and sang hymns of praise to his name. Although Veregin had a wife and family in Russia, he was constantly surrounded by young women, and never traveled without a large number of them in his party.

It was alleged he lived in a polygamous state, as they all professed to be his wives, married, at least, in the strange rites of their church and religion. Witnesses of the worship of Veregin by his fellow Doukhobors declared it to be a nauseating exhibition of idolatry.

A circumstance which did much to bring the Doukhobors into disrepute and created a wrong impression of them in 1900 was an unfortunate "pilgrimage" near Yorkton. On this occasion several hundred of the 7,000 members of the community were induced by a fanatic to abandon their homes and march out into the snows of the prairie on a religious pilgrimage in search of Christ.

Veregin was pronounced the best example of the benevolent despot in the world. He was absolutely devoted to the interest of the Doukhobors, always planning to advance their cause, not enriching himself, exacting implicit obedience and exercising rigid discipline.

He was a big man in every sense of the word. The history and traditions of his people, his own sufferings, his contact with great men, were his education. He inherited the characteristics of his race, among which are strong reasoning, diplomatic skill and subtlety. He was a theoretic ear, possessing not only the genius but the capacity for governing.

It is now 25 years since the first shipment of these idealists arrived in Canada upon invitation of the Dominion government to settle the huge tract of wild land on which homestead rights had been filed in Saskatchewan. Since that time their wealth in land and worldly goods has increased from nothing well beyond the $3,000,000 mark.

SCENE OF BATTLE IS NOW A MUSEUM

The Alamo in Charge of Texas Women.

San Antonio, Texas.—The Alamo—the shrine of Texas liberty—is the best-loved historical building in Texas.

The building now known as the Alamo was the church in the Mission San Antonio de Valero. It stands on the east side of Alamo plaza in the center of San Antonio.

The church was built of stone, and there are evidences that it once had twin towers, though at the time it was besieged by Gen. Santa Anna they had disappeared.

Every one, with the exception of a man named Ross, who made his escape, stepped over the line to Travis.

After the siege the Alamo was in ruins until 1849, when it was partly restored by Maj. Rabbitt, acting quartermaster of the Eighth Military Department.

After the state afterward purchased the Alamo for $20,000. The daughters of the Texas Republic have charge of the relics and mementos within its walls.

OWNS SMALLEST TORAH IN WORLD

Philadelphia Man Found It in Ancient Tomb.

Philadelphia.—A Hebrew Torah, said to be the smallest in the world, is in the possession of Benjamin Braverman, a trainman of this city.

Although it contains only 665 pages and measures less than a quarter of an inch in thickness, the tiny volume is complete with the 38 books of the Torah.

Braverman, who lives at 4903 North Marvline street, said that he found the Torah in its little brass case in the tomb of Ben Kalba Sabbua in an old burial ground about a mile north of Jerusalem while on a boyish ramble more than fifteen years ago.

Ben Kalba Sabbua, according to Jewish records, was a rich and prominent man of Jerusalem who flourished about the year 70. He obtained his name from the fact that any one who came to his home hungry as a dog (kalba) went away satisfied (sabbua).

According to Braverman, the tomb of Ben Kalba was a spot of great interest to members of the Jewish race who made pilgrimages to Jerusalem, and contained many relics of the first century after Christ.

The "smallest Bible" is printed in the Hebrew language in microscopic type which cannot be read with the naked eye.

Not a "movie" star, but a director who is famous in the production end of the game, is Allan Dwan. He was born in Toronto, Canada.

Your Last Name

IS IT BEAN?

ONE of the earliest of Bean families in this country has the distinction of having been of Jersey origin. That is, the progenitor of the family was a native of the Isle of Jersey in the English channel.

William Bean, a companion of Daniel Boone, was the first white settler west of the Alleghenies. He explored with his family in 1788 to make his permanent home in the wilderness.

There are several suggestions as to the origin of this name. The probability is that with this name, as with many others, there were several independent origins in different localities where families of the name sprang up.

Waters.—Quite clearly this is a surname derived from Walter and not from water in the present sense. It has been pointed out that two or three hundred years ago Walter was always pronounced as if spelled water, and the dropping of the silent "w" in the surname would have been a natural development.

Congress to Let Oldest Lighthouse Go to Ruin

Barnegat, N. J.—The lighthouse bureau, United States Department of Commerce, has practically abandoned all idea of restoring historic Barnegat lighthouse on the Jersey coast.

Robert Engle, member of the New Jersey state board of commerce and navigation; W. T. Sherman, engineer of the board, and Steward W. Appleby of Asbury Park, son of Representative T. Frank Appleby, who has shown much interest in the old lighthouse restoration, held a conference with Assistant Secretary of Commerce J. Walton Drake to learn the government's position in regard to the lighthouse and to urge the department to take steps to restore it to first-class condition.

Congress appropriated $100,000 to restore the old lighthouse. Mr. Drake said it would cost $417,000 permanently to restore it, so it was decided to build a steel tower, costing $6,000 instead.

As part of the modern movement to preserve eyesight and promote physical comfort, allied interests have started a "glom and glare" contest among school children, the principal idea being to educate them against reading while facing the sun, staring against glaring lights and reading under poor lighted lights in the home.

Republican Ideals

The government of man by man . . . of the course, ruler body of a nation by its flag and its best men, set up to rule not because they are intrinsically different from the nature which they govern, but because they are its true self—this is the meaning of republican institutions.—Phillips (Book).

HAVE SEASONINGS AND FLAVORINGS HANDY

Celery, Tomatoes, Peppers, Onions, Parsley and Beans Give Good Flavor to a Stew or Soup.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Almost everyone has an emergency shelf or corner in the cupboard, where she keeps extra supplies, such as canned goods, dry groceries and seasonings. Each housekeeper has her own requirements in such supplies, but the reserve should generally include spices, and numerous flavorings for desserts and cakes, and also for meats and gravies. These supplies are not intended to be drawn upon for everyday household use. When taken down for special occasions they should be immediately replaced or replenished.

Many flavorings are used in the preparation of meat dishes. Some of the vegetables used for flavors may be stored or dried, while others must be bought in small quantities as needed. The United States Department of Agriculture suggests that it is convenient to keep on hand such of the following as can be stored without deterioration and to buy frequently those fresh vegetables which give a pleasing variety of flavor:

Onions, carrots, green peppers, parsnips, turnips; mushrooms and tomatoes, fresh, canned or dried; celery tops and parsley, either fresh or dried; sage, savory, thyme, sweet marjoram, bay leaf, garlic, lemon rind, vinegar, capers, pickles, olives, currant jelly, curry powder, cloves, peppercorns, celery seed, meat extract, chili sauce, pepper sauce, or some similar, hot sharp sauce, and some kind of commercial meat sauce.

Suggestions on Using Flavors.

The suggestion is made that the flavor of stews, soups, braised meats and pot roasts is much improved if the vegetables which they contain, such as onion, carrots, green peppers, tomatoes, and others, are fried in a little fat before being cooked with the meat. Onion juice may be extracted by using a lemon squeezer. The seeds should always be removed before green peppers are used. Care should be taken to serve the sweet, not the hot variety, unless the latter are wanted for some special reason. Parsley may be grown in the house all winter. The leaves will keep a long time if stored in a closed jar in a cool place. Parsley, mint and celery tops may be dried, rubbed into bits and kept in airtight jars. Half a bay leaf is sufficient to flavor three quarts of soup. Vinegar, lemon juice and sour jelly, like currant, are often used to flavor the gravy of a meat stew. These flavors combine well with the flavor of browned flour, but not with onions, cabbage or other stronger flavors. Chopped pickles are sometimes added to the gravy served with boiled mutton, to serve the same purpose as capers. They also give a distinctive flavor to sauces for fish. A minute amount of curry powder goes a long way when used in gravy.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Report Cards Distributed, But Honor Roll Not Made Up Yet.

Contrary to proposed plans we are unable to publish the High School Honor Roll in this column this week owing to the shortness of the school activities, caused by the celebration of Abraham Lincoln's birthday throughout the universe; but no doubt the principal will have the roll made up in time for publication in the next issue. However, the reports, regarding individual subjects, were distributed, and it seems that a very few students were below par in their mid-year examinations, according to the bright broad smiles on their faces.

Since this event was such a success as far as the students and their marks are concerned, there was no other affair in the school to equal it. The recently organized Latin Club gave a little entertainment, in the assembly on Monday afternoon, which everyone enjoyed almost as well. Several Latin selections were sung, while a striking poem, "Horatio," was rendered by both Mary Faust and Saul Brown, in a sort of an operetta. This club was organized especially to promote interest among the students of the "dead" language.

At a recent election the club chose the following students for officers: President, Ruth Grohman; vice-president, Saul Brown, and secretary, Edna Bradford.

The Juniors held a meeting last Friday and decided upon a few questions of singular importance. The secretary was requested to get an estimate in regards to the cost of a trip to Washington, D. C., by the entire class, after their graduation from the senior class in 1926. It was proposed by the class to hold candy sales during noon hours, at basketball games, and on any other permissible occasion.

The Junior boys elected Gervase Harrigan class captain, who will head the junior team in the inter-class basketball competition, which is now in the limelight in school athletics. The sophomores will oppose the juniors on the school court next Monday afternoon.

Among the latest developments, the girls have organized an inter-class league, similar to that formed by the boys. The sophomores and juniors will engage in the opening conflict shortly. A committee of four students, Lillian Catri, Hulda Studzke, Gervase Harrigan, and Morris Abrams, was chosen to find out whether or not the Junior class could hold one or two dances at the school auditorium. The school principal will be left to judge the question.

Whenever you commend, add your reasons for doing so; it is this which distinguishes the approbation of a man of sense from the flattery of sycophants and admiration of fools.—Exchange.

"NORTH OF 36" A TRUE SCREENPLAY

"North of 36," by Emerson Hough, depicting all the thrills and hardships of pioneer days on the Texas cattle ranges, has been filmed for Paramount by Irvin Willat, who made the natural-color picture, "Wanderer of the Westland" and other classics.

"North of 36" is a tale of the Texas cattle trail, picturing a country wild, almost lawless, at the period of the story, roughened and disheartened by the recent Civil War. Lois Wilson as Taisie Lockhart, manager of her own vast ranch in Texas, finds herself penniless, with no means of disposing of her herds, her chief asset being the true spirit of the pioneers.

Word comes that way up "north of 36," a market beckons. With her 4,500 cows, 16 cow hands, 19 kinds of rifles and six shooters and 115 cow ponies, Taisie makes the start with all the thrills that the start of the wagon train in Emerson Hough's "The Covered Wagon" evolved.

Through this great panorama one sees groups of ragged sinewy men, the glorious girl at their head, the oxcarts and the sea of long horned cattle accomplishing one of the greatest deeds of pioneer bravery and daring.

Paramount has furnished a notable cast to visualize the story. It includes Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson and Noah Beery in feature roles. The picture will be at the Majestic Theatre, matinee and night, on Wednesday, Feb. 18, and at the Crescent Theatre, matinee and night, on Thursday, Feb. 19. It is colorful page from the history of the United States—a second "Covered Wagon."

National Ideals No nation has ever been able to exist for long which has not fed its ideal life and its aspirations from heaven downward, instead of building its poor aspirations in some useless magnificence that wearily lifts itself from the earth upward.—Phillips Brooks.

EARLY SPRING MILLINERY IN GREATLY VARIED SHAPES

How much hats can do for their wearers and therefore they should be given as much or more time and consideration than anything else. Buy a hat first, and get one that does something for you besides cover your head. If a certain model proves wonderfully becoming be a little extravagant and economize in some other direction.

Only four of the new arrivals are shown in the group of hats pictured, but these are so different from one another in shape that they indicate the diversity there is to choose from. A pretty poke of full silk starts off the group, faced with silk in a lighter color and trimmed with workroom-made silk rose and foliage. Hats like these are shown in varied color combinations. Just below it at the right is a hat of silk and fine straw combined. It is an off-the-face shape of the tricorne variety and has a charming adornment of rings and scrolls made of the braid. To the left another hat of silk reveals a dressier type with fans of metallic lace and a huge silk rose embellishing it. A pretty tailored turban finishes the group, made of black satin piped with white and bearing a rhinestone and pearl ornament at the right side.

Judging from the assemblies of hats now being reviewed by millinery dealers and bought for their establishments, the incoming spring is going to be a go-as-you-please season in shapes. No type has taken a dominant place in the modes, where many styles are represented, but a preference may develop later on. Just now a poke, a tricorne, a turban, an off-the-face or cloche with higher crowns, all claim attention with equal chances of becoming favorites.

A spring hat needs nothing beyond the fact that it is a spring hat, to make it interesting; but Easter arrives fairly early in April this year, so that the choice of new millinery will be pressing for attention very soon. With so much diversity in shapes and such entrancing colors there is no excuse for unflattering headwear. It is amazing how much hats can do for their wearers and therefore they should be given as much or more time and consideration than anything else. Buy a hat first, and get one that does something for you besides cover your head. If a certain model proves wonderfully becoming be a little extravagant and economize in some other direction.

Give 'Em a Chance, Folks

REPORTS show that the high school cagers walloped the St. Mary's high in a fast game on the local court on Monday afternoon...

But nevertheless, the team is gaining strength on the offensive since it has a local court to get some practice sessions in every now and then.

Passaic lost its first game the other night after hanging up a record of 159 straight victories, but this school sure did have some poor teams before the "champion wonders" had started on their rampage in 1919.

The same might happen to the borough boys. We do not mean to say that they will hang up a hundred and fifty straight victories, if they had a good coach, who knew something about the game as well as baseball and football.

We might also add that Rome was not built in a day. So folks don't discourage the boys and perhaps one of these fine seasons you will see the Blue and White travelling along on a rampage similar to that of the Passaic Wonders.

Jimmy Smith, the world's champion bowler, says that he never saw so many freakish positions taken by beginners on the alleys when they are about to deliver the ball.

This struck us pretty funny, but the other night on the local alleys we saw one bowler toss the ball down the lane when there were no pins set up.

They're Helping Sport

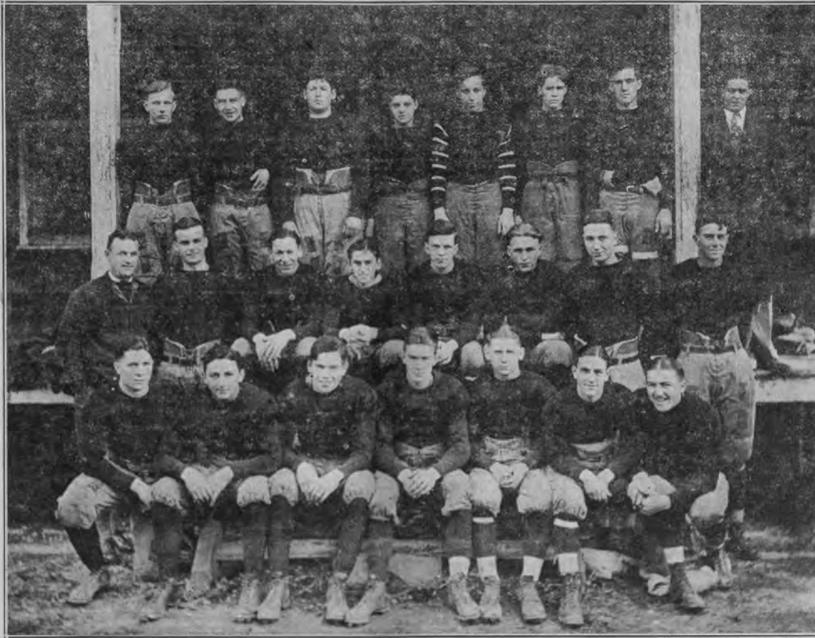

NOW that the local bowling league, which may either be called the Industrial or City Loop, has smeared that ever-showing dullness out of the alley pastime by its appearance here less than a month ago, the Junior pinners are now looking forward to a similar project.

Gibbons Gets Offer to Box Firpo

Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight boxer, announces that he has received an offer to fight Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight, before the National Sporting club at London.

CLASS B STATE FOOTBALL CHAMPIONS

After a great deal of effort we have been able to procure this excellent picture of the New Jersey Class B Football Champions of the Rahway High School.

TEN LOCAL LADS ON TITLE GRID OUTFIT

Did Much To Bring Success to Their School Team

Playing through one of the hardest schedules experienced by any team ever in existence, the Rahway High School gridgers, as you know, were awarded the New Jersey State Class B Championship and received a flock of other awards from various institutions.

form a league in which the teams comprise five men each, but it is their object to get one under way no matter if there are only two men on each club.

This is a fitting attitude for these boys to take, and every man interested in sport should do likewise, that is, help the growth of sport in Carteret!

The Junior pinners will contribute to the borough's athletic success this year with a two-man bowling league in about a week or more. It will be the first of its kind; but with the willingness that these boys display at the present time, they will have very little trouble in realizing their project.

It seems that Nurmi makes new track records here in the United States and his fellow countryman, Willie Ritola, goes ahead to break them. Just last night at Buffalo, Ritola shattered Nurmi's two mile record in the greatest race ever run at this distance, indoors or outdoors, winning in 9.03 4-5.

Ought To Be a Good Match

THE first and second teams of the Harmony Social Club will do battle on the local alleys in what ought to be a good match next Thursday night.

Their meeting should attract a great deal of interest as both teams are "capable" of rocking the timbers for fair scores, thus causing the match to be pretty tight.

its next to the final game of the year.

HAD ALL STATE MAN "Bob" Albisser, giant tackle, was nominated for a position on the second selection for New Jersey's All State eleven, thus giving Rahway additional honors.

The record of the Rahway eleven is one that deserves notice and is one for which the players are responsible and worthy of all the credit that can be given to them.

LOCAL BOYS DO MUCH It is the general opinion that the Rahway eleven gained its notable honors partially through the undying spirit and good work of the Carteret boys on the team.

CARTERET BOYS OUT Charles Ivans and John Calderhead will be the only Carteret boys at the Rahway school next year.

Whether or not Rahway will miss the great work of Carteret boys of the past is a question of much value, since local boys have always been known to be good sportsmen.

The team's record for the 1924 season follows: Rahway 6 Plainfield 18 21 Roselle Park 6 21 Summit 6 7 Orange 10 18 Perth Amboy 0 33 Cranford 3 7 Nutley 6 0 Alumni 0

Bowling in the City Bowling League was of a rather dull character this week, as no previous team or individual records were broken and the weaker teams gave way under the sweeping attack of the stronger clubs.

In winning five games out of six and retaining their lead, the Steel Works bowlers routed the Harmony Social Club pinners for a clean sweep on Friday night and figured in a two-game win over the Macks on Tuesday evening, losing the first tilt by some forty timbers.

The other team to sweep the Harmony boys was that of the United States Metals Refining Co., on Monday night. This match and the other two mentioned above were the only three of the week, since the Mex Pet-Business Men's three games were called off due to the inclement weather Wednesday.

The match should be an interesting one, as the oilers have gotten together a classy quintet of bowlers, while the Business Men boast of being one of the strongest teams in the loop.

In addition to this battle the Wheeler Condenser-Carteret Five squabble ought to be a corker. The Wheeler crew, with "Bill" Weber in a few games.

CARTERET BOYS OUT Charles Ivans and John Calderhead will be the only Carteret boys at the Rahway school next year.

Whether or not Rahway will miss the great work of Carteret boys of the past is a question of much value, since local boys have always been known to be good sportsmen.

The team's record for the 1924 season follows: Rahway 6 Plainfield 18 21 Roselle Park 6 21 Summit 6 7 Orange 10 18 Perth Amboy 0 33 Cranford 3 7 Nutley 6 0 Alumni 0

The other boys substituted now and then. Garber and Clifford being the most frequent trotters from the sidelines into the intense struggles of its lineup, is counting on being the Steel Works' keenest rivals for the leadership, and the Carteret Five no doubt is the sensation of the year with five inexperienced bowlers in its lineup.

ONLY ONE 200 SCORE

When Johnny Koscis, of the Steel Works, toppled the bottles for a 201 score last Friday evening, he proved to be the only pinner to reach the double century mark. But there were a few men who managed to roll in a few scores very near to that count.

High School Cagers

Break Even Again

The local High School cagers broke even in two games this week, beating the St. Marys of Perth Amboy in their only home contest of the season on Monday afternoon by a 30-21 score, but losing out to the fast Rahway Reserves at Rahway on Wednesday night by a count of 25-18.

Carrying out plans prepared several months ago, the State Fish and Game Commission is bringing in 15,000 western rabbits for the restocking of New Jersey hunting grounds. Barely had hunters cleaned and laid away their guns at the close of the upland game and deer hunting seasons than distribution of the cotton-tails was begun under direction of wardens.

The importation of the western rabbits for restocking purposes is especially pleasing at this time, to New Jersey gunners, who say this type of game was scarce in many localities, during the recent hunting season. Spring and summer floods that drowned young rabbits in their nests is believed to be the chief cause of the short supply.

Wardens say the western rabbits are rearing their destination in good condition and with little loss from the long journey in crates. Most of the applications for the rabbits have come from farmers. No rabbits are being placed on posted lands, nor in or near orchards and other cultivated lands, whose owners object to having the game in the vicinity.

1925 BORO BUDGET APPROVED BY ALL

BOROUGH COUNCIL AT MEETING HELD MONDAY NIGHT TRANSACTS MUCH BUSINESS IN RECORD TIME—WILL SOON OUTLINE PAVING PROGRAM FOR YEAR.

TO OFFER $125,000 BOND ISSUE

Mayor Mulvihill Urges Action On Tax Delinquents—Says List Should Be Ready for Next Meeting and Then Advertised—Other Business of Importance Before the Commissioners.

Much was accomplished by the Borough Council at its meeting held Monday within the two-hour duration of the session. The mayor and council accepted an invitation from the Board of Perth Amboy Water Commissioners to discuss the water supply which that city has to offer. The 1925 budget was adopted at the third and final readings without any opposition. A series of eight resolutions for renewals of outstanding improvements were introduced by Councilman Charles A. Phillips and passed. A resolution was also introduced by Councilman Phillips calling for the sale of $125,000 four and half per cent bonds to cover the cost of construction of the memorial hall and the purchase of land. The bill of the water company for hydraulic service, amounting to over $5,000 was paid. The company in a letter to the council wrote "We are short of funds, because of the present low water rates."

Fire Company No. 1 in a communication to the council notified of the nomination of William Dzurilla and Theodore Faulkner, members of the company, to succeed Otto Staubach and Gus Freeman. Company No. 2 notified of the resignation of John P. Donohue from the company because of his removal to Woodbridge and the appointment of his successor, Anthony Wilhelm.

In a letter to the council the U. S. Naval Hospital advised that Henry Staubach was admitted to the hospital on January 24 and it is estimated that it will be necessary for him to remain at least one month. The certification came following the recent remark made by Councilman Hercules Ellis, chairman of the fire and water department, that Staubach be examined by the borough physician.

Bus permits were granted to John Alamassi and John Horvath on resolutions introduced by Councilman Frank Andres.

Engene M. Clark, cashier of the First National Bank, advised that the 4 per cent rate as only valid in 1924. The present rate is 5 per cent. Councilman Phillips advised that the audit is expected to be ready at the next meeting.

In his report, as chairman of the streets, and roads committee, Councilman Andres advised that cinders are badly needed on a number of streets, particularly on Randolph and Emerson streets to make it passable. Action on the improvement will be taken.

Mayor Mulvihill suggested a meeting of the entire council to outline a paving program for 1925.

All poolrooms of the borough will be investigated by Councilman Andres, chairman of the police committee. Borough Clerk H. V. Platt was advised to give Mr. Andres a list of the seventeen places now in operation in the borough.

Councilman Samuel B. Brown reported his activities on the lighting situation of the borough.

A list of tax delinquents will shortly be published, Mayor Mulvihill said, requesting that the list be ready for the next meeting.

COTTONTOWN BAND TO GIVE MINSTREL

"Our States," to be Rendered at St. Joseph's Auditorium Both Matinee and Night on Monday, Feb. 23, Will Be Great Hit.

A CURE FOR THE BLUES

Come and see our minstrel play And laugh your blues away. Our minstrel show, you ought to know, Will go on no matter rain or snow.

After the performance, Sleekman will show The boys the way to play real jazz. And sure you will be dead, From your feet to your head, Unless you respond and go To "Our States Minstrel Show."

—By A Member.

Probably the biggest performance of the winter, "Our States," minstrel and dance, will be rendered by the Cottontown Minstrel Band at the St. Joseph's Parochial School Auditorium both matinee and night on Monday, February 23. An extra large cast will make up the minstrel show, and as you have read above, it will go on no matter whether it rains or snows. The Cottontowners promise a glorious time to everyone who makes their appearance at the minstrel.

A great many of the tickets have been distributed already and it has been planned to give a matinee performance for the kiddies to start at 3.15, in addition to the evening show for the adults. The committee also informed us that the price for the children will be cut considerably so as to induce them to take in the afternoon performance instead of the evening, when the auditorium is expected to be packed to capacity.

Freddie Sleekman will be at the affair in person with his orchestra and the committee says that it is a special treat alone, since Sleekman and his boys are in great demand in the borough.

POLICE BALL DRAWS THROUGH

Dalton's Auditorium, Most Artistically Decorated By Sergeant Dowling, Is Scene of Pretty Affair Last Night.

GOOD MUSIC IS FEATURE

Guests Coming From All Parts of the County Enjoy the Delightful Event of the Carteret Police Officers.

A capacity gathering attended the first annual ball of the Carteret local, Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, held at Dalton's auditorium last night. The committee spared no effort to make the event the most successful of the season. Dalton's hall was truly a picturesque sight, the auditorium having been colorfully decorated by Sergeant Dowling, who spent almost an entire day to complete the job.

In addition to the decorations, the guests enjoyed the fine tunes of the Brunswick Original Five Orchestra which played the latest selections of dance music. There was revelry, mirth and melody, seldom if ever before equaled at any other affair. Refreshments were served.

Mission Band To Hold a Special Meeting

The Ladies' Mission Band of the First Presbyterian Church will hold a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Howard W. Thorn in Atlantic street, next Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Various discussions relating to business will be taken up by the members.

The band wishes to thank those who helped in any way to make their recent bazaar a great success.

Republican Women At At Big Time Tonight

Final arrangements have been completed by the Ladies' Republican Club for their meeting, and social which will be held in Fire House No. 1 tonight. The event from general indication will be a decided success, as a large attendance is expected. Prominent speakers will address the women. Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill will also be in attendance. There will be a short business session. A game of cards will be played. Refreshments will be served.

FRIENDS AND MONEY VANISH

Joseph Bittes of This Borough Tells Police That His Two Companions Stripped Him of $300 in Cash.

NO TRACE IS FOUND

Two Men With Monkeys In Bags Arrested in Staten Island, But Are Finally Released—Deny the Guilt.

Joseph Bittes, of 153 High street, this borough, is still looking for his two friends and the $300 which they are alleged to have stole from him. Bittes came over from Staten Island on the Carteret ferry and told Officer Sheridan that while enjoying a social time with his two friends, one of whom he knew as "Chilly" last Friday afternoon, one of them relieved him of $300 he had in his pockets.

As soon as Bittes reported the theft an alarm was sent out to all parts of Staten Island. A description of the duo was given by Chief of Police Harrigan and as an added identification the Staten Island police were advised that the alleged thieves were walking about the island with two suit cases in their hands.

New Dorp police officers shortly upon receipt of the alarm came upon two suspicious looking individuals. Neither could speak English. They remonstrated because they did not know why they were being taken to the lockup.

When the men reached the New Dorp police headquarters, they tried to explain in some sort of language that they were not thieves, but that they possessed two South African monkeys in their suitcases which they were trying to dispose of. When searched, the men, who were accused of stealing $300 failed to have three nickels in their possession.

Bittes, meanwhile, was advised that his two "friends" were under arrest. He hurried over to New Dorp and told the police that these were not the men wanted. They were then released.

Bittes said that he and two others entered into a pact to leave the borough in quest of work. Each packed up a satchel and took the ferry to Staten Island. When the trio reached the vicinity of New Dorp, they decided to consume some "soft drinks" forgetting that their mission was to seek work. While the drinks were mixed and everything was rosy, Bittes says his money vanished.

Whether Bittes' story of losing the money is correct is somewhat doubtful, for he was somewhat intoxicated as he reached Carteret that night. He took out the pocketbook, in which he claimed he had the money, tore it to pieces and threw it into the stove.

MISSION BAND FAIR SUCCESS

Two-Day Fair of Ladies' Mission Band of the First Presbyterian Church Came to a Close Last Night.

ALL WOMEN WERE KEPT VERY BUSY

Booths Were Artistically Decorated and All Were Well Patronized—Yum-Yum Shop Is Centre of Attraction.

The two-day fair of the Ladies' Mission Band of the First Presbyterian church was wound up last night with considerable success. There were large gatherings on Wednesday and last night. Mrs. H. W. Thorn, chairman of the band, was fully satisfied with the affair this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bloodgood were in charge of the spring well, where the best things were secured with the use of the well bucket. The fancy booth is piloted by Mrs. H. L. Holland, Mrs. Frank Veavans, Mrs. William S. Calderhead and Mrs. Roscoe Levi were at the apron booth. The candy booth was in charge of Mrs. C. B. Mitchell and the girls of the Sunday school.

The handkerchief booth had the most artistic decorations which were planned by Miss Agnes Gunderson. The booth received the admiration of all who attended the affair. It was in charge of Miss Mildred Bareford and Miss Gunderson. Mrs. Daniel Reason and Mrs. L. D. Kelly are chairladies of the household booth. The restaurant, better known as "The Yum, Yum Shop," was supervised by Mrs. P. V. Wardle and Mrs. Joseph Young. There were a group of volunteer workers at each of the booths and co-operated effort made a big success of this year's event.

BUSY POLICE COURT ON MONDAY NIGHT

Port Reading Man Fined $10 for Smoking in Bus—Fines Also Imposed for Speeding and Reckless Driving.

Recorder Thomas L. Slugg had a busy police court session Monday night.

For failure to heed a warning and stop smoking while riding in a Woodbridge-Carteret bus, Albert Delinch, of Port Reading, was fined $10. The driver warned his fare and not until a police officer was called did Delinch stop smoking.

For speeding in the borough, Recorder Slugg fined Charles Vito of 283 Roosevelt avenue, $100. Albert Brook, of Iselin, was fined $20 for reckless driving. Four negroes paid a total of $23 in fines following their arrests as disorderly persons.

Cecil Carcas, who was accused last Friday by Joseph Bittes, of High street, of being one of two companions who stole $300 out of his pockets, was fined $25 while Bittes was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 on charges of disorderly conduct.

Carcas and Bittes fought a battle in the street over the accusation. Cecil not only denied stealing the money but he declared that he loaned money to Bittes to go to New York. Both were arrested following the scuffle on the street.

MAN IS INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Telephone Pole Breaks in Two As Automobile Rams Into It—Walter Pachenko Receives Cut On His Lip.

DRIVER UNABLE TO SHOW LICENSE

Dr. S. Messinger, Borough Physician, Also Declared That He Was Drunk—Police Chief Is Witness of Accident.

Walter Pachenko, of Wayward avenue, this borough, miraculously escaped death when the seven-passenger Studebaker car which he was driving crashed into a pole at the corner of Washington and Roosevelt avenues, breaking the pole in two and wrecking the machine at 8 o'clock Sunday night.

Chief Harrington happened to stand at the corner where the accident occurred. He helped Pachenko out of the ill-fated machine and Dr. S. Messinger, borough physician, was called to give him medical attention. The physician took two stitches to fix the man's wound on the lip. The physician also declared that Pachenko was under the influence of liquor. The driver failed to have a license to operate the car.

Pachenko was arrested. His case was scheduled to come out on Monday night, but was postponed.

Valentine Birthday Party for Ge. Elko

Dancing and games were enjoyed by those present. During the evening a number of songs were sung by a quartette composed of the Elko sisters. Miss Anna Sopka rendered a solo. A delightful supper was served at a late hour. Among the gifts received by Mr. Elko was a birthday cake with lighted candles.

Those present were the Misses Emma Hoffman, Alfred McGuire of Newark; Anna Sofka, Sue, Julia, Anne and Betty Elko, Frank Nye, Jack Sullivan of Newark, Joseph Makara, Charles Verba of New York and Josh and George Elko.

COUNCIL CONFERS WITH AMBOY BOARD

MAYOR MULVIHILL AND OTHER MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL ATTENDING OF WATER COMMISSIONERS AT PERTH AMBOY WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

MAYOR AGAIN DEPLORES SERVICE

Other Municipalities Join Carteret In an Effort to Abate Present Conditions—Perth Amboy Commissioners Offer Large Surplus of Water to the Borough at the Meeting.

Whether or not Carteret should receive her water from the Perth Amboy Water Plant at Runyon in the future instead of dealing with the troublesome Middlesex Water Company, which has been charging exorbitant rates in addition to giving poor service, was the main issue at the session of the Board of Water Commissioners of Perth Amboy at the City Hall in that place last Wednesday night.

COMMERCE STAFF TALKS OF SEWER

Holds First Meeting of New Year at Rooms in 72 Roosevelt Ave. Last Night to Discuss This Question—Agitated in the Past.

CLAIM THAT CREEK HINDERS PROGRESS

Trunk Sewer Would Rid Borough of Unlimited Quantities of Various Sickenening Odors—To Take Matter Up With Council.

One of the matters of singular importance taken into consideration by the Board of Directors of the local Chamber of Commerce at their first session of the new year, last night, boarded on chaos existing in the agitations of the two political parties here for the past few years in regard to the trunk sewer, which would rid the borough of the terrible odors and considerable filth along and in Noe's Creek, running through the central part of the town.

The growth of Carteret is greatly hindered by this menace, it was very clearly pointed out by several speakers, and it was decided that the board would take up the matter with the governing officials without delay. That the borough is greatly in need of a trunk sewer is apparent and until action is taken by the council, Carteret will always keep its name as a place of unlimited quantities of various odors, was also pointed out.

The question of dredging the Rahway River from the Sound to the northern boundary of the borough, ending at Rahway, was reopened for general opinion and discussion. It was brought out that many available factory sites in the northern part of Carteret could be along the Rahway River, should the river be made more navigable for the larger vessels. The matter was left to the committee to investigate the advisability of working out ways and means to take same up with the federal government.

Many applications for membership were acted upon. Factory officials from various parts of the country requested data concerning the borough and how conditions and facilities are here.

B. & L. Directors To Be Guest of Their Attorney

The directors of the Blazing Star Building and Loan Association of this borough have accepted the invitation of their attorney, Maxwell Sosin, to be his guests to a theatre party and formal banquet after.

Arrangements have been made by Mr. Sosin to have the directors witness "The Lounge Lizard" which will play at the Broad Street Theatre in Newark next Monday evening, February 23, and then partake of a dinner which is being specially arranged at one of the best banquet places in Newark.

Those in the party will be William J. Lawlor, Isidore M. Weiss, John C. Sells, Harry Mittleman, Max Greenwald, Isidore Zimmerman, Harry Morecraft, Thomas D. Cheret, Fred F. Simons, Isidore Schwartz, Joseph A. Hermann, Joseph Levy, Alexander Lebowitz and Maxwell Sosin.

An advertisement inserted in The Carteret News will bring quick results.

The governing bodies of both this borough and Woodbridge attended the meeting, voicing their opinions of the situation, but not deciding definitely on what ought to be done.

Nevertheless, it was learned by Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill, who has been working so earnestly ever since the question was brought into public notice some time ago, and Councilman Samuel Brown, Frank Andres, Hercules Ellis, Charles A. Phillips and Walter Vonah and Industrial Secretary Hennessey, and Attorney Emil Stremlau that, if water relations were taken up with the City of Perth Amboy, Carteret could save something like $16,000 a year.

Not alone would Carteret figure in such a saving, for other municipalities north of Perth Amboy were requested to attend Wednesday night's session, and a number of them accepted the invitation, Woodbridge being one of the places and Linden another. The water service given by the water concern has been so annoying that it is not surprising to find these localities willing to make a break for something better, which Perth Amboy positively assures.

Has Great Surplus

While Carteret uses about three and a half million gallons of water a day, Perth Amboy, with a surplus of ten million gallons per day could easily furnish us with a sufficient supply of water at a better rate with better service, it was pointed out at the session. Perth Amboy men stated that if Carteret decided to take Perth Amboy water, everyone here would benefit by the move.

Mention was made of the filter plant to be erected at Runyon, which will make the produce about perfect. The local mayor spoke of the effect of the filter plant and was advised of the better water to be made by this plant, which would be better than we are receiving at the present time.

Produce of 20,000,000 Gallons

The Runyon plant running to capacity would put out twenty million gallons of water each day. The filter system of this plant is expected to be ready for use in July, it was stated by the Perth Amboy officials.

Taking over of the Middlesex Water lines was referred to and it was pointed out that the most important matter to consider in the charge was to make a settlement with the Middlesex Water Company by the powers desirous of making a change. Laying of new mains in the borough is practically out of the question, it was also stated.

Local industries pay twelve cents per hundred feet for water now, while the Amboy concern could sell for nine cents, thus making a saving of about $1,600,000 per year. The retail consumers of both Carteret and Woodbridge would also derive a great benefit.

Those officials representing Woodbridge were Mayor Louis Neuberger and Councilman Jacob Grausam, as well as James Gerity.

Monsted Dance And Revue By Two Pals

The Two Goodtime Pals will surely tender one of the happiest affairs ever given in the borough when they hold their Monster Dance and Revue at Dalton's Auditorium on next Saturday evening, February 28. The Original Brunswick Five will render the music for dancing.

FANCY STITCH IMPARTS CHIC TO SPRINGTIME KNITTED MODES

ZIG-ZAG, shell, lightning, lace—no, this is not the key to a cross-word puzzle—simply a few terms describing some of the novelty stitches which are playing such an important part in spring knitted modes. It is at once obvious, at advance style showings, that many of the newer sweaters are declaring their chic through the medium of fanciful stitch. In the picture an unusual "lightning" stitch, to use a professional term, lends interest to a charming springtime knitted slipper done in jade and white.

With the ultimatum gone forth in the field of things knitted that novelty stitch is to sound a new note in the fashioning of spring garments, behold genius accepting the challenge, setting its machinery to perform wondrous feats in that direction. We see, for instance, in some of the smartest advance sweater models, a lovely shell stitch as exquisitely wrought as if done by hand, yet it is the proud achievement of marvelous machinery. What's the use of patiently knitting and knitting? Why purr and purr and then plain stitch, and then all over again, according to directions, when, after all, machinery outrivals our best efforts? Not even an expert of the knitting needle can attain the exquisite effects which are noted in the latest filmy lace. Knit scarfs and even dresses are now knitted by machine, to look like rare and costly lace. Of course, one expects these delicately wrought knitted dresses, sheer and lovely as they are, to be very expensive. On the contrary, they are really very reasonable. Their coloring is most intriguing, too. Pastel lavenders, orchids, blues and citron shades abound and some of the prettiest are pure white, or white with rainbow borderings.

Speaking of sweaters which make fancy stitch their outstanding attraction, sometimes the effect is emphasized by contrasting a body knitted in novelty stitch, with sleeves and trimmings done in conventional solid stitch. This combining of novelty with plain stitch is especially characteristic of the latest favorite, golf coats.

Hipbands are especially chosen as a vantage point for exploiting the scheme of contrasting fancy and plain stitch. Charming types of this sort stress plain knit blouse sweaters, with hipbands knit in colorful jacquard patterns. Still another decorative touch is added by bordering the ends of an attached scarf to match the fanciful hipband. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

DELICIOUS SOUPS IN FAVOR FOR WINTER

Many Are So Hearty They Form Chief Dish.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Black bean soup, split pea soup, cream of bean or pea soup, and purée of beans and tomatoes are delicious, inexpensive and easy to make. Many of these soups are so hearty they can form the chief dish of a meal, say food specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Soak and cook a pint of peas or beans as usual, but take more water, about two quarts, and cook until very soft. Then put them through a sieve. These mashed beans and peas are ready to be made into all kinds of soups by adding the various seasonings, water and milk, or stock enough to make two quarts. These soups should all have a little flour added to them as a binder to prevent the thick part from settling to the bottom. Mix thoroughly two tablespoonfuls fat with two tablespoonfuls flour, add a little of the hot soup, and stir until it is smooth, then add to the remaining soup, stirring to prevent lumping, and cook for about ten minutes.

Black Bean Soup or Split Pea Soup.
To the pulp from one pint of beans or peas, add enough water or stock to make two quarts. Thicken with flour as directed. Season with salt and pepper. The juice of a lemon and one-half teaspoonful of mustard adds to the flavor.

Purée of Porridge of Beans and Tomatoes.
Instead of milk, tomatoes may be used. Add a cupful of canned tomatoes or three medium-sized tomatoes, which have been cooked for ten minutes and put through a sieve. If the porridge is too thick, add water or stock. Season and add the flour as directed.

Bean or Pea Soup With Meat.
The peas or beans are soaked as usual and cooked with the meat in four quarts of water instead of in two quarts. Use a soup or ham bone, or one-half pound of salt pork or any smoked meat, and cook until the beans are soft. Remove the meat and put the soup through a sieve. Season and thicken. The cooked meat cut in small pieces may be added to the soup. An onion, several stalks of celery, or soup herbs are good with the soup.

Plan to Remove Mildew From Leather Articles

Any leather article is almost certain to mildew if kept in a warm, damp place, such as a cellar, or stable. This mildew probably will not seriously reduce the serviceability of the leather, unless allowed to remain on it too long. If any, however, change the color appreciably, thus injuring the appearance.

The simplest way to prevent mildewing, says the United States Department of Agriculture, is to keep the leather in a well-ventilated, dry, well-lighted place, preferably one exposed to the sunlight. Mildew cannot make much headway in the sunshine. When mildew develops, it should be washed off with soap and warm water, or simply wiped off with a moist cloth, drying the leather well afterwards. These measures are better than the use of preparations to prevent the growth of mildew.

CORNMEAL PUDDINGS GO WELL IN WINTER

Almost Everybody Likes Old-Fashioned Dishes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Hot puddings go well on winter days. Almost everybody likes old-fashioned Indian or cornmeal pudding once in a while, but not every housewife knows how to make it. The United States Department of Agriculture gives the recipe below, and also directions for making two other excellent puddings using cornmeal, which may be either white or yellow.

Indian Pudding.
5 cupfuls milk 1 teaspoonful salt
1-2 cupful corn 1 teaspoonful meal
1/2 cupful molasses 1/2 cupful of raisins if liked

Cook the milk and the meal in a double boiler 20 minutes; add the molasses, raisins, salt and ginger; pour into a hot, buttered pudding dish and bake 2 hours in a slow oven; serve with cream. Vanilla ice cream with this hot pudding is a favorite New England combination.

Corn Meal and Fig Pudding.
1 cupful cornmeal 1 cupful finely chopped figs
1 cupful molasses 1/2 cupful salt
4 cupfuls milk 1 teaspoonful and 2 cupfuls of salt cream

Cook the cornmeal with 4 cupfuls of milk; add the molasses, figs and salt. When the mixture is cool, add the eggs, well-beaten. Pour into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven 3 hours or more. When partly cooked add the remainder of the milk or the cream without stirring the pudding.

Permanganate of Potash Good for Making Stain

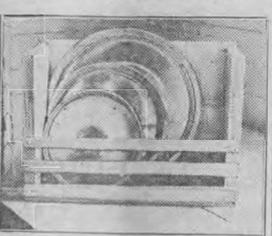

For a pine floor, a good brown stain can be made by dissolving an ounce of permanganate of potash in a quart of warm water. This liquid is violet colored, but when applied to wood, chemical action results and the wood is stained brown.

Another brown stain for either hardwood or softwood is made from 1 1/2 ounces pulverized gilsonite dissolved in a quart of turpentine. Apply either of these stains with a clean brush or a sponge, says the United States Department of Agriculture, taking even strokes parallel with the grain of the wood, and wipe the stained surface at once with a clean, soft cloth or cotton waste. After the stain has dried for at least 24 hours, polish the floor with a soft cloth, and apply another coat if the color is not deep enough, or finish with varnish or wax.

Lids of Various Saucepans Kept in Order.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The detail from a farm kitchen equipment shown in the above picture offers an idea for any kitchen. It is always a problem how to keep the lids of saucepans in a handy way, as they will not hang up; and if they are piled on a shelf or in a closet one is apt to disturb the entire pile to get at the particular lid wanted. A rack like the one shown may be of any length, according to the number of lids to be accommodated, and instead of being portable it may be made as part of the wall or side of a closet or kitchen cabinet. The lid rack illustrated was photographed by the United States Department of Agriculture in a Virginia farm home.

LITTLE FROSTED CAKES ARE EASILY MADE

Various Shapes May Be Used in Making Cakes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The United States Department of Agriculture has tested the cake recipe and frostings given below. This cake, if baked in a shallow pan about 9 inches square, is well adapted to cutting up into small fancy shapes. At least 20 diamond-shaped cakes 1 1/2 inches wide can be cut with little waste from the amount given. Other fancy shapes may, of course, be used. These little cakes may then be entirely covered with white or tinted icing and decorated with bits of candied cherries or cranberries, angelica, jellied grapefruit peel, or tinted watermelon rind preserve, citron, or nuts.

Cooked Frosting.
White of 1 egg 4 tablespoonfuls cold water.
1 cupful sugar 1/2 teaspoonful salt.

Place all in a double boiler and beat with an egg beater until it holds its shape. Add salt and beat until thick enough to spread. Add one-half teaspoonful vanilla or other desired flavoring.

Chocolate frosting can be made in the same way by adding 2 1/2 squares of chocolate, melted, to the sugar mixture when it starts to hold its shape. The frosting is beaten until stiff and then spread. Vanilla may be used or omitted with the chocolate according to taste.

For a caramel icing, half a cupful of sugar should be caramelized or browned in a pan, and an equal amount of boiling water added. Substitute two tablespoonfuls of this sirup in place of two tablespoonfuls of water and continue as in the foundation icing.

Plain Cake.
3 tablespoonfuls 2 1/2 teaspoonfuls fat. baking powder.
1/2 cupful granu- 1 1/2 cupfuls pastry lated sugar. flour.
1 egg. Flavoring as desired.
2-3 cupful milk. 1/2 teaspoonful salt.

The fat may be butter or any good cooking fat or oil. If it is butter or margarine an extra one-half tablespoonful of it should be used. Cream the fat with the sugar; add the eggs well beaten, the milk and flour alternately. Sift the baking powder and salt with one-fourth cupful of the flour, and fold in last, just after adding the flavoring. Bake in a nine-inch square pan, in a moderate oven (about 350 F.) for about 30 minutes, or until the cake is brown.

Uncooked Orange Icing.
2 egg whites, 3 tablespoonfuls beaten stiff orange juice.
3 1/2 cupfuls confectioner's sugar (XXXX) 1/2 teaspoonful salt.
1/2 tablespoonful large rind of 1/2 lemon juice.
1 large orange.

Add the water. Beat the egg whites with an egg beater until stiff. Add three cupfuls of sugar very gradually, beating continuously with a spoon. Add the grated rind and juice of the orange, the lemon juice, and remainder of the sugar. Beat until smooth enough to spread. This amount should cover five sides of over 25 little cakes cut as above described.

Teach Children to Wash Fruits and Vegetables

Children should have fruits, also celery, tomatoes and salads not only to give variety in their school lunches, but especially to supply the vitamins and other food elements necessary for healthy growth, agree nutrition specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. When they eat any of these uncooked foods at home it is probable that the mother has washed the fruit or vegetable properly before serving it. All market produce need washing to remove dirt and dust, bacteria, and sometimes particles of spray residue. The best fruits are usually the best-looking fruits are those from trees which have been properly sprayed while the fruit was in its early stages and sometimes the spray may not have weathered off the fruit before harvest. Children should not be given money to buy their own fruit from hucksters or stands unless there are facilities at school for washing it. They should be drilled in the practice of washing what they eat of these uncooked products, as a matter of ordinary cleanliness.

Milk's Mission

PURE BRED

Time after time it has been shown that undernourished school children improve mentally as well as physically after receiving a suitable milk ration each day. Not only does it bring plumpness and strength to their little bodies, color to their cheeks and sparkle to their eyes—it also revives their power of concentration to such an extent that they learn more and faster and bring home reports that are a source of pride and pleasure. Milk has supplied the elements that Nature meant them to have and has opened up to them that new world that only the strong and vigorous may enter. Surely health, strength and happiness are the birthright of all children.

Who would deny them the blessings that good milk bestows and the safety that pasteurization throws around the liberal use of this greatest of foods? Give the children plenty of Rail & Harbor Pasteurized Milk every day.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

JOHN BALL

JOHN BALL crept out of the doctor's office more dazed than alive. "A year's rest and a dry climate as long as you live," had been the verdict. It meant that he was shut out definitely shelved—at thirty-five. What could a man do with his free will reduced to that extent? John Ball had come across several poor devils, handicapped in one way or another, and he knew what disqualifications meant in the modern race. One acquaintance of his had always thought of as the man with a plucky wife: John Ball had seen business thrown his way as one throws scraps to an animal. Another—a friend—had tried to substitute social gifts for brains, and Ball had watched him gradually slipping, slipping, slipping behind. Then there was the plucky soul who always lost several months a year through illness, and who, when he was working, slaved twice as hard as other men just to keep abreast of the last. It was to the ranks of these, drudging hopelessly with worn-out tools, that John Ball knew he had been relegated.

In the station on his way to his home in the suburbs to break the news to his family, he stopped, through sheer custom, to buy a newspaper. Before the stand, which was as big as any in the station, stood a stocky chap of thirty. The paper man knew Ball's voice and at the familiar "Evening Daily, please," he sang out, "Yes, sir," as pleasantly and instantaneously as ever. When he turned with the right sheet in his hand Ball read, with fresh vision, that "I am blind" sign across his coat. There had been no hesitating, no fumbling, and, on the other hand, a kind of professional pride that was good to see.

In spite of his preoccupation Ball paused for a minute and watched. Someone asked for a paper of the day before and the blind man had to stoop and search with his sensitive fingers through piles done up ready to return to the dealer. But he found unerringly the right one; and then, with the accented motion that avoided mistake, he counted out the correct change. Suddenly John Ball knew that such technique had been learned; that it had taken time and pluck; and that it had met with a success, not relative and in consideration of the circumstances, but absolute and competent. Like another good soldier, this man must have asked "Shall I perform day labor, light denied," and have found his answer in the affirmative. As John Ball turned away he knew that he, too, must acquire the habit of all good workmen of using, and not complaining of, their tools.

Diagnosis

Doctor—You seem to be all run down, Mrs. Peck. Let's see your tongue. Henry Peck—That's right, doctor, you guessed it right off!

IS IT NOYES?

A RECENT authority on surnames tells us that Noyes is one of the names derived from the Old Testament, and that no less a character than Noah is sponsor of this name. The popular form of the name was Noy, from which it is easy to derive Noyes and Noyce.

Some members of the Noyes family, however, have a different theory as to the origin of their name. They trace it to Noyers, a place in France, saying that old forms of the name were Noters, de Notes and de Nouters.

The first of the name in this country were two brothers, Rev. James Noyes, who was born in England in 1602 and his brother Nicholas. They came to this country in 1634 in the Mary and John and the next year settled in Newbury, Mass. Rev. James Noyes was minister there for 20 years. He enjoyed quite a reputation for learning, being something of a Greek scholar, and he wrote a catechism that was widely used in his days.

He is spoken of in old records as "one of the greatest worthies of his age." The house in which Rev. James Noyes lived has often been spoken of as the oldest house in Massachusetts.

Among the descendants of Rev. James Noyes are a goodly number of clergymen and scholars, but it is for its able bankers that the Noyes family is chiefly distinguished.

Rev. James Noyes and his brother, Nicholas, were sons of Rev. William Noyes, rector in Wiltshire, England. It is said that he traced his descent to Normandy and that his name was originally Noye.

Angel—This is probably one of the numerous surnames derived from a shop sign. In medieval times every shop had its sign by which it and its keeper came to be called. Thus, if a cobbler named Thomas hung out a painted sign representing a lamb, he became known as Tom Lamb. Many of the signs were taken from church imagery and the angel was one of these.

The Appleton Family

Mr. Lysander John Appleton Mrs. Lysander John Appleton Miss Daysey Mayme Appleton Master Chauncey Devere Appleton

IT OFTEN happens on a morning when there is extra work at home that Daysey Mayme Appleton is overcome with a desire to Go Forth Into the World, and Do Good, and she usually yields to this noble impulse by hunting up some one who is afflicted with poverty and sickness. Sometimes she takes a tract, and other times she goes empty-handed to cheer the afflicted with her optimism. She recently visited a woman who had suffered the misfortune to fall and break both her arms. Daysey Mayme gazed at the poor creature with both arms in splints, and the tears came to her eyes. But there is no situation too dark for Daysey Mayme to cheer. "You have much to be thankful for," she said to the woman. "You have two good, strong legs left to run to fires."

When Mrs. Lysander John Appleton cleans house, she does the work so thoroughly that articles are lost which are not found in three months. She claims the proud record of once having cleaned the parlor so thoroughly that a glass case of stuffed birds was not found in ten years.

There is a bond of sympathy between Lysander John and his son, Chauncey Devere, born of a desire to satisfy the women-folks, and the failure to do so, which they hardly know exists. They have never in so many words found fault with the women-folks, being timid in their presence, and loyal in their absence. But Mrs. Appleton and Daysey Mayme don't know of this loyalty. "What," they will ask when they see son and father together, "are they conspiring now?"

Daysey Mayme Appleton was recently bragging that she is an experienced traveler, though the neighbors say she was never in a sleeping car but once in her life. "I am so used to travel," said Daysey Mayme, "that I can go into a pulman dressing room and hold possession of it with nineteen women pounding on the door."

Early Evidences of Possession of Genius

"Most of the men who have been great writers, artists and musicians particularly, have shown signs of the development of their genius rather early in life," say Doctors Walsh and Foote in "Safe-guarding Children's Nerves."

"A recent investigation of the subject has shown, for instance, that out of some sixty of the greatest artists of history more than forty of them, that is more than two out of every three, gave definite proof of their genius before they were fifteen. Almost the same thing is true as regards the poets. Goethe was only seven when his talent became manifest, Victor Hugo was even younger and was called in 'enfant sublime, like Pope he lisped in numbers and the numbers came; while Alfred de Musset was under fourteen when he wrote his first verse. Of some sixty poets, thirty-eight displayed their talent before twenty. Of twenty-eight novelists twenty-one had revealed something at least of the genius that was in them before they were twenty."

"It is among musicians particularly that very early manifestations of the bent of their genius have been noted. Out of forty musicians, the details of whose lives have been carefully collated with the idea particularly of bringing out how early their talent was revealed, thirty-eight showed a decided taste and actual talent before they were twenty. Curiously enough the greater the genius of the musician, the earlier his genius manifested itself. Mozart, it will be recalled, was only five when he surprised his music-loving family by his musical powers. All the other great musicians of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth centuries followed this rule. Beethoven, for instance, Mendelssohn, Schubert, Schumann, Auber, Weber and Cherubini had all shown very clearly their talent and taste for music before they were twelve years of age."

New Variety of Apple

By a rare trick of nature there now exists a new variety of apple which has not been given a name. The new variety was accidentally discovered in New Jersey several years ago, when it was found that one tree bore two kinds of apples. The parent tree bears apples of mixed red and green stripes, while the new apple, developed on a single branch, is a deep dark red and has no stripes. Fruit experts studying the new apple declare it to be a most promising variety as well as a big boon to the fruit growers of America. Horticulturists term it the product of a "sport bud." A large nursery company purchased a single branch bearing the new fruit, paying the owner $5,000 for it. Buds from this branch are now being used to develop the new variety, and it is expected to become widely known as one of the leading apples.—Pathfinder Magazine.

New Use for Menthol

An all-American cold cure, based on home-grown menthol, is a possibility held out by the bureau of plant industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Inasmuch as menthol is now imported at a cost of more than $1,000,000 annually, government botanists point out that menthol-bearing mint plants can be made a profitable crop if properly cultivated in regions where the climate is suitable. Experimental plantings in various parts of the United States in the last year have shown that the mint does not produce a high enough percentage of menthol in southern states, but in the cooler and moister northern states its culture can be made to pay.

TAX DELINQUENTS

THE Borough Council will shortly publish its first list of tax delinquents. The list has been in the courses of preparation for some time and should contain a long list of those who have not paid taxes for years. It is the opinion of the borough fathers that delinquents will rush to the collector's office to pay off without waiting for tax sale time. The list, it is expected, will be ready for the next meeting of the council.

THRIFT

WISE investment is a preservative of prosperity. While the revival of industry and business and that is now on, bears all the marks of permanence, it does not discount thrift. The man who invests his earnings wisely establishes a lien on continuing prosperity that enables his movements, which are always to be figured as possibilities, and, to the extent of such investment, clinches his hold on prosperity.

THE CIGAR

THE cigar's one hundred and twenty-fifth birthday is now being celebrated. It was invented in 1799 by some unknown genius in Connecticut. Before then, men smoked only pipes. The inventor did not know what he was starting. There is no way of estimating, but tobacco smoke and nicotine have a decided effect on civilization in the three countries that have passed since Sir Walter Raleigh introduced tobacco to Europe from America.

Rapid progress is being made on the erection of the large shirt manufacturing plant at High street and Washington avenue for Broom & Newman, producers, of New York. The structure is 190 feet long and 75 feet wide. The plant will be completely equipped for cutting the material, manufacturing and shipping of the goods. John Kelly, contractor on the building, said that he expects to have it ready before May 1. The Broom & Newman company now operates its factory in the Mullan building on Roosevelt avenue, where over 100 girls are employed. The company has outgrown its capacity in this place and decided to build a modern plant. More than 200 girls are expected to be employed in the new plant which will be in operation early in May, of this year.

COMMUNICATED

The High School Site

February 18, 1925.

Editor Carteret News,
Carteret, N. J.:

In an attempt made by Commissioner Isadore Schwartz at a recent political meeting to discredit Commissioner Lewis N. Bradford and Theodore A. Bishop of the Board of Education as having opposed the site for the High School before that body, the writer respectfully requests that you print this letter of actual facts.

The real truth is the people at a special meeting of the citizens of this school district voted on the site and cost of the High School on March 27, 1924, which was exactly twelve days prior to Bradford's and Bishop's taking their place on the Board of Education. That date was April 8, 1924.

It is also true the Board of Education has previously invited Commissioners-elect Bradford and Bishop to inspect the sites under consideration, which meant that they would go along with this board, take part in the discussions, but they would have no part or voice in the final selection of a site.

The writer did not and could not conscientiously accept such an invitation and he was not present when the board inspected the various sites.

After the regular meeting last night Mr. Schwartz admitted his error, but whether he would follow an honorable course and publicly admit his mistake, he failed to say. Therefore the writer, through your courtesy, takes this opportunity to truthfully inform the people on this question of which he is familiar but not a party to; a truth Commissioner Schwartz so sadly tried to discredit.

BOY SCOUT ITEMS

Calvin Coolidge Jr. Troop No. 2
Hold Enjoyable Meeting.

In connection with the fifteenth anniversary of the scout movement of America, the scout rally held by the Calvin Coolidge Jr. Troop No. 2, of this borough, on last Friday evening was a very successful one. Music was very ably furnished by the Lattanzio Family Orchestra of Woodbridge, and as this musical entertainment was donated by the Messrs Lattanzio the scoutmaster and all present tender their thanks and appreciation of same.

The parents and friends of the boys of Troop 2 were present as also were a large group from Troop 1 of Carteret.

J. D. Carstang, scout executive, spoke on the origination of scouting in America. Rev. W. B. Mitchell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, spoke on character and reputation and the duties and obligations of scouts. H. W. Thorn of the executive board spoke on troop progress and the parents' duty to make it a success.

The scoutmaster as usual was unanimously elected to be the storyteller of the evening and he had a fresh supply of jokes and stories. Knot tying, first aid and scout yells were very well demonstrated by the boys of both troops.

Refreshments were served and home sweet home was reached by all in a very happy mood.

The Scoutmaster, J. D. Robinson.

Daniel Cook Hurt

Daniel Cook, fifty-one years old, of 75 Union street, this borough, is at the Perth Amboy City Hospital with a fracture of his left leg as a result of a fall on Salem avenue on Wednesday night. He was attended by Dr. Messinger who ordered him sent to the hospital.

Goetz of the Iron Hand

Goetz von Berlichingen, one of the leaders of the peasants, in 1525, lost his right hand in battle and it was replaced by an iron hand. Whence he was called "Goetz of the Iron Hand."

Notice

Due to the fact that I am working for nine dollars per day and Sam Nadel and Charlie Lee are not working at all they are circulating rumors that I am only getting paid six dollars a day instead of nine. All I have to say is that these two men should prove what they say, which they cannot.

Social For Democrats

The Ladies' Democratic Organization has arranged a splendid program for its social and meeting which will be held tonight. There will be cards and refreshments. Mrs. Theodore Pfennig will preside.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Honor Roll Given Out—Numerous Debates Take Place.

The Honor Roll is the most exciting element in school circles this week. Other items of lesser importance include debates, dance and an interclass game. Much excitement was caused by the appearance of the Honor Roll on the bulletin. The results seem more than satisfactory as is shown by the flashing eyes and endless talk of the students in general.

Although the Short Story contest is at its climax, the staff of the "Loudspeaker" expect to have the next issue out by next Wednesday. After much elimination, many still remain in the final lap of the race for the "Loudspeaker" award.

The first of a series of informal dances were held in the High School auditorium Monday afternoon, under the auspices of the Junior Class. The students showed a desire of continuing these dancing hours by the large turnout at the first occasion.

The purpose of the social hour is to provide entertainment for the student body as a whole and to help the fund for the Washington trip, next year.

Music on Monday's occasion was furnished by Miss Sepple and Grace Van Pelt.

The dances will be held regularly hereafter on Mondays from 3.30 to 5.00 P. M.

The Modern History Class held an interesting session Monday morning. The period was occupied by a series of arguments among the students to the character of modern great men.

Theodore Daniels opened the class with a short but effective talk against Mussolini. William Koehke, his opponent, endeavored to uphold the Italian premier in the minds of his fellow classmates.

An interesting feature of the morning was a heated argument about the late Kaiser Wilhelm of the Hohenzollern line. Frank Hermann spoke against his character and Isaac Nadel showed his good points.

Others featured as follows: Joseph Sexton and Samuel Rosenblum spoke for and against De Valera respectively. Jacob Berson made a few remarks against the Russian statesman, Lenin. Louis Carpenter opposed him. Morris Abrams upheld the late English premier, Lloyd George. His opposition was rendered by Joseph Kiraly. The great A. E. F. was here, John J. Pershing, was proclaimed by Emma Christensen. Sophie Ziemba made up her opposition. The Prince of Wales was upheld as a fitting model for the coming generation by Kathleen Mullan. Sophie Szegal attempted to convince the class otherwise.

On Friday the class members are required to prepare speeches on topics of history.

On Wednesday afternoon the Blue and White court squad will try to vanquish the Perth Amboy Vocational trossers for two straight. In the last game the local boys outplayed them in a fast game on the Knights of Columbus court in Amboy.

The Sophomore English Class held an interesting debate Monday afternoon. The question was "Resolved, that the government should or should not control the railroads." Herbert Nannen, Philip Chodosh and Margaret Childs represented the affirmative side which was victorious by a large majority. The negative side had as its representatives Frank Bareford, Grace Van Pelt and William Huber.

DIGNITY KEYNOTE OF AMERICAN LIFE

Revolutionary Period Noted for Serene Beauty.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art of New York city, in opening a new wing devoted exclusively to American interiors and American furnishings and furniture, has made a graphic contribution to that work of Americanization which is one of the pressing needs of the time.

The one quality that was so constant in Americans of the colonial Revolutionary period and which is not so apparent in their descendants, was a kind of serene dignity. It appears in the wainscoting of a Virginia home, in the delicate doorway of a New England "mansion," in the quiet beauty of a Gilbert Stuart canvas, in the lovely productions of the New England and Middle states cabinet-makers.

A dip into the life of Jefferson—with his Greek and Latin authors (in the original tongues) at his side, his taste for French philosophers and statesmen, his never-failing diaries, duty recording the daily progress of his vegetables and plants, as well as the visits of European statesmen, writers and generals, his horseback wanderings amid his neighboring mountains, and all the other innumerable details of a placid and thoughtful country existence—is needed properly to supply the personal side of the architectural and artistic setting which this great museum has so splendidly provided.

President Will Hays of the Motion Picture Producers has flabbergasted the playwrights and novelists by ruling that plays and novels of immoral tendencies must not be filmed. "It is deplorable to see how many plays and novels are immoral nowadays," said President Hays in a Los Angeles interview.

Commercial fishing is not a very sporting proposition and the unfortunate fish does not get much of a chance. Inveigling a fish onto a hook has been the accepted means of catching him since the Stone age.

The marriage fever of the post-war period in Vienna is now followed by a divorce fever. Many couples married rashly and inconsiderately, without having apartments of their own, the husband and wife having to live separately with their respective families.

Dickey was unlike most children and loved his morning bath. One morning his nurse told him to hurry and jump into the tub. Dickey was all smiles until he saw the water in which he was to bathe.

Writer Sees Virtue in Incompatibility

"John and I get on splendidly," said Joan. "We never agree, you see, and by downright arguments about totally impersonal things we find an outlet for all the petty grievances and impatiencies of every-day life."

Thus a married friend of mine, a wife of four years' standing, over whose marriage to a man some years her senior and of completely different habits and tastes wise people had shaken despondent heads, Marjory Swift comments, in the Washington Post.

Is total compatibility so utterly necessary for happily married life as is commonly thought? Rather is it not possible that by their very difference each partner can supply what the other lacks, the combination making a perfect companionship?

My friend's experience leads me to decide that total incompatibility, as recognized by the vast majority, is the most important ingredient for the success of that subtle compound marriage. With it that stimulation which only intelligent disagreement with, and criticism of, one's fundamental views and ideas can supply, will ever be present; the necessity for remaining oneself, for upholding one's own ideals, will ever spur one on a vigorous defense of those ideals.

Thus one would never grow old. Always stimulated, always on the defensive, one's brain would laugh at the passage of the years, would find it impossible, because of its activity, to collect clogging rust.

And think of the joy of living with someone who, day in, day out, will not, cannot, say, "Yes, dear, I quite agree; you are perfectly right." How terribly corroding it must be to experience daily acquiescence, however futile one's ideas!

Killing for Food, and Fun The contrast between the native Indians of the jungle, who kill for food, and the white man, who kills for fun, was brought out strongly by T. Gilbert Pearson, who returned to New York recently from a scientific exploration trip to the Isthmus, the Kansas City Star states.

Mr. Pearson told of the ornithological investigations recently carried on in the jungles of Panama, not far from the home territory of the White Indians, at the instance of President Porras of the Panama government, who wished to know what conservation measures were necessary to protect the birds and animals of the isthmus. The conclusion was reached that the natives, though cruel, were not destructive; they fitted into the natural life of the jungle without upsetting anything.

Grease for Baldness "I had a bit of good fortune recently," said a Detroit photographer. "I was going past a market when I noticed that quite a crowd had gathered around the carcass of a huge black bear suspended from a hook at the door."

Uncle Eben "My ole mule," said Uncle Eben, "balked in de middle of de road, held up a line of drivers an' kicked at de traffic cop. An' I says to myself, 'Mistah Mule, you may have a bad disposition; but you sho' has got courage.'"—Washington Star

Voice From a Fan The latest gramophone has no horn, no tone-arm, and no sound-box. In place of these there is a plated upright diaphragm 14 inches in diameter. At the bottom of this fan is a needle-holder, very like the ordinary one, into which the needle is fitted and set going on the record in the usual way.

Prisons De Luxe There are no fewer than 61 prisons in France where there is only one man under detention. The prisoner leads a life of comfort and comparative luxury. He does a few odd jobs for the head jailer and spends the rest of the day playing cards with the other jailers.

Lucky Landlady Mr. Francis W. Blackwood-Price, of Bray, County Wicklow, Ireland, whose estate is valued at $4,500, left all his money and securities to Mrs. Bessie McSweeney, "for all her great kindness and attention to me during the years I have lived with her, and as a compensation for charging me the same tariff during the period of the war, when prices were high."

LACKING IN FAITH

The prisoner came before the court on a charge of murder. Many distinguished legal lights had assembled to hear the case.

The charge was read out, and the judge, as is usual, asked the man in the dock if he would like to be defended by an attorney.

"No, my lord," came the reply, "this is too serious a matter."

Good as a Scarecrow Said a woman to her neighbor over the suburban garden wall, "I hope my daughter's singing does not annoy you."

"On the contrary," came the sweet reply, "my husband and I appreciate it very much. It keeps the birds away from our berry bushes."

Rather Curious One of those pests known to every one met Florence Flinn hastening from rehearsal.

"You didn't know who I was when I called you up yesterday, did you?" he inquired.

"No," Miss Flinn answered, absently. "Who were you?"

Fond of Fishes A negro was offered a job feeding fish.

"Why, sah, boss, me and sharks ain't friends."

"Why, boy, sharks don't eat black meat."

"Ah, know, but it's just mah luck to meet wid one dat's blind."

Water Called Soup "Another helping of soup, please."

Walter—You appear to like our soup, sir.

"Well, you see, my doctor ordered me to take the hot water cure for indigestion, so I'm obeying his orders."

—Guelph Evening Mercury.

TOO REALISTIC "Did you enjoy the amateur dramatic show last night?"

"Well, I thought it was too realistic."

"Really?"

"Yes, it had on the program, 'One hour is supposed to elapse between the first and second acts,' and it actually did."—Windsor Magazine.

LANGUAGE ON THE LOOSE Good diction is of little use in work, however skilled.

But when profanity turns loose, The audience is thrilled.

Uncle Eben "My ole mule," said Uncle Eben, "balked in de middle of de road, held up a line of drivers an' kicked at de traffic cop. An' I says to myself, 'Mistah Mule, you may have a bad disposition; but you sho' has got courage.'"—Washington Star

TOLD WITH A BANG

George Ade, at a dinner in New York, urged a subtler use of words. "Use words with delicate distinctions. Never write 'vision,' for instance, when 'sight' is what you mean."

"There's no difference between 'sight' and 'vision,'" interrupted an editor.

"No?" said Mr. Ade. "And yet Billy, when you and I passed each other on Broadway yesterday, the girl I was with was a vision, while the one with you was a sight."—Everybody's.

Cause for Distinction "That is the Hon. John Windidly going by," said the landlord of the Puntia Tavern. "He is regarded as one of our most distinguished citizens."

"Ah, yes! And for what is he distinguished?"

"Hanged if I know! Probably for the fact that the cat did not suck his breath when he was a baby."

He Wasn't Afraid "Get out of my way, feller," said the fresh city automobilist to the rough miner, "before I run into you with my sixty-horse motorcar."

"I haint' got no sixty horse," returned the miner, "but I got a 45 (40 right handy here, and let's see you get by it.)"

AMERICAN LEGION HONORS VETERAN

Special Services Held for Camiel Buisse, Who Won Distinguished Service During the World War—Died Last Friday.

Camiel Buisse, thirty-nine years of age, formerly employed at the Warner Chemical Company's plant here, died late Friday of last week. Because of the fact that the deceased held a medal for distinguished service in the war, the Roosevelt Post No. 263, American Legion, held special services at Burns' undertaking establishment on Tuesday night for their departed comrade. Buisse came to this borough only recently and as yet was not a member of the legion.

Funeral services were held for the deceased on Wednesday morning at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church and interment took place in St. James' cemetery, Woodbridge.

The American Legion, Roosevelt Post No. 263, wishes to extend its appreciation to the people who were present Wednesday morning at the funeral services of our departed comrade, Camiel Guysse. In view of the general indifference which prevails, and lack of respect shown to our flag, and to the remains of a mortal defender of that flag when borne through the public streets on occasions like this, it is refreshing to see, and gratifying to know, that there are still some Americans who harbor a genuine spirit of patriotism at all times and not merely on Decoration Day, or the Fourth of July. The American Legion wishes nothing for itself, but for its disabled and departed comrades it demands all the

CARS PASS OVER HIM

Brakeman Had Been Employed
Only a Few Days By Central Railroad—Had Been On Duty
Only Hour Before Accident.

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Harry Paterson, of 324 Bond street, Elizabeth, a brakeman employed by the Central Railroad of New Jersey, who was instantly killed on Monday afternoon within an hour after he began work, when he fell from a freight car to the tracks of the U. S. Metals Refining Company. There were no witnesses to the accident. Ten cars passed over Paterson's body before he was discovered by the engineer, Bernard McDonald, of 77 Fifty-second street, Bayonne. The body was badly mangled.

Patterson had been employed only a few days by the railroad and had been on duty since 2 o'clock. Harry Cook, of Roselle Park, was conductor of the freight train. He reported that Patterson had been walking on top of the train and had apparently started to climb down between two cars, when he slipped and fell beneath the moving train. The body was taken to J. R. Lyman's morgue, where Coroner J. S. Hay, of Perth Amboy, pronounced him dead. The body was then sent to Elizabeth in care of Undertaker Mitchell.

HOLIDAY TIME WITH THE PORTO RICANS

Christmas Offers Pleasures New to Northerners.

A morning dip in the Caribbean sea, freshly gathered oranges and grapefruit for breakfast, eaten in a patio surrounded by the delicious freshness of flowers still wet with dew...

Christmas in Porto Rico is a religious holiday and not a gift day. The real celebration, such as we know, comes in January and is called Three Kings' day.

The guitar and many odd instruments, some of which are of Indian origin, furnish the music. One of the group often sings, improvising words to suit the occasion.

Chicken with rice is a favorite dish, and gandules, a cousin to the bean, is cooked in a highly seasoned sauce.

Another sweet which is given freely to children is made of the sweet potato. The vegetable is first cooked and mashed, then cooked again with sugar and coconut milk.

The very name Caribbean sea spells romance. Stories of Sir Francis Drake and the pirates and buccaners who met in battle here came to our minds as we gazed out over the peaceful waters.

HIS AWKWARD WAY

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

HE WAS rather awkward, he wasn't so polite; He was wrong in company; Oftener than right, His intentions, though, were good.

Many things he didn't know, Things you learn in school; People said he wasn't, though, Anybody's fool.

Though he wasn't very smart, Ev'rybody said, Still he had an honest heart, Had a level head.

Certain people used to smile, Thought him rather rough; But the children all the while Liked him well enough.

When the station agent died, Leaving not a thing, To the widow people tried Sympathy to bring.

I don't know just what was his creed, But I often heard 'Twas religion of the dead Rather than the world.

THE SANDMAN STORY

MR. FOX FOOLS MR. DOG

MR. FOX was cornered—or perhaps it would better explain it to say he was in a fix, for he had been silly enough to run into his den when Mr. Dog was chasing him—a thing he seldom did unless tired or wounded.

Mr. Dog barked loudly and began to make the earth fly; but, fortunately for Mr. Fox, Mr. Dog was a very large creature and could not possibly get through his doorway.

Mr. Dog came out looking very much crestfallen and covered with earth. He gave himself a good shake, and without looking around he trotted off home.

"Foolish," said Mr. Dog to himself as he went along. "I might have known better than to trust that sly fellow. There is no use looking for him today, but I will catch him yet, and when I do, let him look out. That is all I have to say."

"Foolish," said Mr. Dog to himself as he went along. "I might have known better than to trust that sly fellow. There is no use looking for him today, but I will catch him yet, and when I do, let him look out. That is all I have to say."

Mr. Dog barked loudly and began to make the earth fly; but, fortunately for Mr. Fox, Mr. Dog was a very large creature and could not possibly get through his doorway.

Mr. Dog came out looking very much crestfallen and covered with earth. He gave himself a good shake, and without looking around he trotted off home.

"Foolish," said Mr. Dog to himself as he went along. "I might have known better than to trust that sly fellow. There is no use looking for him today, but I will catch him yet, and when I do, let him look out. That is all I have to say."

APOLOGY FOR FEBRUARY

WHEN February comes along And hums her melancholy song A little voice within me sings, "Be patient with her mummurings."

"Tis not her fault that she draws near This sad and solemn time of year, And there be places on this earth Where she's a time of joy and mirth.

And gladness brings, with flowers gay To decorate the cheery way; And if she seems to you to be A thing of winter, blustery,

"Tis but because with your own eyes You chance to view her in that guise, And do not seek her elsewhere In climes more genial and fair."

Milk's Mission

Time after time it has been shown that undernourished school children improve mentally as well as physically after receiving a suitable milk ration each day.

Not only does it bring plumpness and strength to their little bodies, color to their cheeks and sparkle to their eyes—it also revives their power of concentration to such an extent that they learn more and faster and bring home reports that are a source of pride and pleasure.

Milk has supplied the elements that Nature meant them to have and has opened up to them that new world that only the strong and vigorous may enter. Surely health, strength and happiness are the birthright of all children.

Who would deny them the blessings that good milk bestows and the safety that pasteurization throws around the liberal use of this greatest of foods? Give the children plenty of Rail & Harbor Pasteurized Milk every day.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

FOOLISH QUESTIONS

POLLY and Molly at thirty decided that farming would satisfy their souls; so they took agricultural courses and started in on milk.

Above all things Polly and Molly were scientific, and running their farm on a business basis; and they were very serious in their attitude.

Finally she was taken to see the cow stable. She was specially interested in a few-weeks-old calf, and on coming out she asked admiringly if a big pail of milk standing near the separator were all from the calf.

That question seemed to start the dog going. Next she wanted to know what Polly and Molly did when their spring froze over.

A coldness had begun to settle on the party when Faith, who had discovered an old hornet's nest in her attic room, asked if hornets stung in the winter.

That was too much for Polly and Molly, and they told her to try and see.

Faith left a day or so before her visit was up, and her two friends heard nothing further than her bread-and-butter letter from her until the winter was nearly over.

Then they learned that Faith Green was engaged. They were glad for her, but couldn't help wondering what her husband would do with her habit of foolish questions.

Then Polly was asked to spend a week in town.

Faith immediately arranged a party for Polly to meet her fiancé. Faith was obviously happy, and her fiancé obviously in love.

Polly had begun to decide that Faith's pose of the human interrogation point had been shed, when the conversation turned to politics.

Immediately Faith began plunging, and Polly saw a look of controlled disgust come over the face of the young man beside her friend.

Evidently this was an old experience. "How can you tell you're voting for the right man," Faith wanted to know, "when, if your ballot is cast for the defeated candidate, it's wasted?"

That crisis, however, was safely passed, and the group began to discuss marriage. Then Faith turned to the only divorced lady among them and said: "I don't see how one knows a man will make a good husband without being married to him for a while. How did you find out, Mrs. Black?"

When Polly went back to the farm and told Molly about Faith's party, Molly said: "Oh, didn't you know—the engagement has been broken? I heard in a letter just yesterday."

Faith's fiancé had decided that the habit of foolish questions was one that would grow, not decrease, with age.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

THE GREAT-HEARTED

ONLY the great-hearted can be true friends.

All along the shadowed ways of life, the great-hearted are constantly sending out sunlight and cheer, which humans of inferior natures can never know or bestow.

To do good, without having their motives suspected, is their grand intention. They seek no praise.

They move about with a quiet of summer breezes, leaving in their trail the delicious scent of gardens and the peace of tranquil skies.

In the happiness they give to others, they find a gratification rich beyond price. If but once in your life you should be fortunate enough to meet a great-hearted man or woman, the remembrance of it will linger in your mind until the end of your days.

Great hearts often dwell in lowly places. Sometimes they are found in frail bodies poorly clad, but there is about them a radiance of spirit brighter than a thousand stars and clear as the benumbing of the noontday sun.

Great hearts blow to flame the spark that blazes with love; they espouse Truth and Mercy; they sing from morn till night of kindness and good will, when their days are lonely and their tables are bare.

They are neither silent nor neglectful when the ill and the discouraged need succor or sympathy.

Meek or lowly they are the ministering angels from heaven, carrying to the sorrowing "good tidings of great joy."

From idle slumbers, they call youth and point the way to honor and fame; from the valley of gloom, they bid the despondent to look up to the glorious heavens.

They sin as we all sin, but unlike most of us, they are charitable towards all mankind, prayerful, watchful, faithful.

When the chimes in the belfry chant their evening hymns, no souls on earth are more serenely peaceful than the great-hearted; when at the setting sun of their life the streams of light grow dim in the golden west, and the somber shadows fall all about them, no souls on earth are happier than they, or more eager to go.

STYLISTS CONSIDER DRESSES FOR GIRLS FROM SIX TO TEN

ALL the busy little people who spend much of their time housewrecking during their earliest years seem to grow even more busy in the interim between their sixth and tenth years. But much of their time is spent out of doors and clothes are designed for them to stand any amount of wear and tear. Little girls are just as active as little boys and all their play frocks are made of strong materials on roomy and very simple lines, usually hanging straight from the neck and having kimono sleeves. Little time is spent on purely decorative touches for these everyday practical dresses.

But the little miss has other occupations besides romping and must learn to deport herself as she should upon occasions requiring dress-up clothes. Stylists are turning out pretty frocks for her, using crepe de chine, in high colors. They are making these frocks to hang straight from the shoulder, as in the model shown here, or with skirts gathered onto long bodices. Usually a belt or sash of ribbon is worn about the waistline and it may be introduced in the straight-line frock. In the dress pictured ribbon is run through slashes at the front and back. For adornment this pretty dress-up frock has an embroidered design in colored silks. Box plaits and side plaits are used in many ways to give fullness to the skirt portion of straight-line dresses, as when platted godets are set in, or box plaits are introduced from neck to hem, fastened down above the low waistline and falling free in the skirt portion.

Fine colored voile is as much liked as crepe de chine for these dressy frocks, and quaint printed silks must not be overlooked. Batiste and not with lace are always represented among them.

Old-Fashioned Bowl of Bread and Milk Is Good

A good, old-fashioned bowl of bread and milk, says the United States Department of Agriculture, is the very best restorative at the end of a hard day's work. On a cold night the bread may be dropped in hot milk, enough to wet it thoroughly, with just a suspicion of salt for flavor. In England's damp climate bread and milk is the first thought after a long tramp or a day in the open. Almost every brain worker, whether student or professor, doctor, preacher, or business man, knows the refreshing tonic of a steaming bowl of bread and milk. Most children like it, and nothing could be better for them at bedtime or for lunch. When the older ones eat pre-cooked crisp breakfast food, baby may have bread and milk for a change. It is a good emergency supper, too, for the younger ones, when there is not time enough for thorough cooking of wheat or oatmeal cereal.

Good Stock for Soup

There is no reason why the liquor from fresh boiled pork should not be good soup stock if carefully freed from fat. A few drops of lemon juice improves the flavor, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Buckskin Cheaters

Buckskin, from which gloves are made, comes for the most part from Mexico and Brazil. The skins are usually smaller than those of sheep and seldom perfect because of the wounds or thorn scratches. The latter do not weaken the gloves, however, and, in fact, a visible scratch is pretty good proof that a glove is genuine buck and not sheep dressed to imitate buckskin, says the Springfield Republican. The leather is dressed in oil and the color is obtained with colored clay dust. Because of this method of coloring every buckskin glove will dust off or crack the first three or four times it is worn. Buck leather is close fibered, soft after wearing and warm.

Baked Vegetable Omelet or Souffle Good Dish

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Drain cooked vegetables—peas, beans, soy beans, cowpeas, carrots, spinach or any preferred vegetables—to make one cupful of thick vegetable pulp when mashed or put through sieve. Make a thick sauce by blending one-fourth cupful of fat with one-fourth cupful of flour and adding one cupful of liquid, which may be whole or skim milk, cream, meat stock or the water in which vegetables have been cooked. Beat three egg yolks and combine with the sauce and vegetable pulp. Add seasoning of salt, pepper, onion juice and one of the following: Finely chopped parsley, chives, ham, one-eighth teaspoonful curry powder. Bacon used in the making of sauce gives a good flavor. Beat the three egg whites till very stiff, fold into the soufflé mixture and bake in a buttered baking dish in a slow oven until firm. Other vegetables may be served around the soufflé.

Vegetable Chicken Stew

Dress a fowl and cut into joints. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and cook in it one small chopped onion, three sweet red peppers and three sweet green peppers, cut in small cubes; 1 tablespoonful chopped parsley and one bayleaf. Cook for a few minutes to develop flavor. Then add two teaspoonfuls salt, six tomatoes or one large can tomatoes and one-quarter pound ham or two or three slices bacon, chopped fine. Simmer for ten minutes. Place layers of the chicken, vegetable mixture and ham in casserole until all is used. Pour over this one cupful boiling water. Simmer until the chicken is tender, the United States Department of Agriculture recommends.

DESIRABLE SOUPS FOR SCHOOL LUNCHES

Green-Leaf Vegetable Soup Suggested.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Soups that supply a large amount of vitamins are desirable for school lunches, served in the classroom. The United States Department of Agriculture suggests the following recipe, which includes milk undiluted with water, green-leaf vegetables so finely chopped that they need little cooking, and bread crumbs, which absorb the juices of the greens and also serve to thicken the soup. Onion juice or lemon juice is used to improve the flavor and to supply vitamin C.

4 to 8 ounces greens (lettuce, spinach, green cabbage leaves, cress, or young onions with tips)
1 thin slice onion, unless onions are used as the green.
1 quart milk.
2 ounces or 2 large slices of bread, preferably without crusts, or 2 ounces (½ to 1 cupful) of bread crumbs.
1 teaspoonful salt.
1 tablespoonful butter or fat.

Wash and dry the greens, and put them through the food chopper with the bread and onion, using the finest blade. If the greens are cut or torn into small pieces and mixed with the crumbs, the bread is not so likely to form hard masses. A little of the bread should be put through last to push out the greens. Add the chopped greens and bread to the milk, and if practicable let stand a half hour or more to soften the bread. Heat to boiling point and cook for about two minutes. Add the fat and salt. A tablespoonful of lemon juice improves the flavor and somewhat increases the amount of vitamin C.

Old spinach may need to be cooked in a little water before the milk is added. Whenever part milk and part water must be used in making the soup, the greens should be cooked in the water first, but only long enough to soften them. This amount will serve six portions.

Bird Not a Linguist

While employes of the California state board of control were gathering for work at Sacramento recently, a pretty parrot flew into the boardroom through an open window. It perched itself on the back of a chair and steadfastly refused to answer any question, even when solicited with a cracker. Finally George Kelaydis, a Greek restaurant owner, appeared at the capitol to claim the bird, and incidentally revealed that the bird does not understand the English language; it speaks Greek only.

Sunday—Golf Day

Bishop Swint, on his way one beautiful autumn Sunday to preach in Wheeling, swept past golf course after golf course crowded with golf players. Bishop Swint waved his hand towards one of these crowded golf courses and said with a grim smile: "In the millennium, when every day will be Sunday, mankind will get surfeited with golf, and the game will then undoubtedly become extinct."

New Vitamines

Scientists at the University of California are working on two recently discovered vitamins which may prove of great importance in lengthening life and in preventing animal sterility. One is a vitamin discovered in tea. It has been named "bios" and is supposed to have 800 times the life-giving qualities of other similar vitamins previously found in yeast. "Bios" was discovered, it is reported, as a result of observations that tea drinking peoples, including Chinese, Japanese, Irish and English, are longer lived than some other nationalities. The second substance discovered, a flake extracted from wheat, is said to have increased animal fertility to a marked degree. However, the substance is present in such small quantities that only a few flakes were secured from a ton of grain.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

CHILD WELFARE ANNIVERSARY

The Carteret Parent-Teacher Association will celebrate next Tuesday night the twenty-ninth birthday anniversary of child welfare work. It may be said in this connection that in years to come when the history of this age is written by the impartial thinker, who at that distance of time may be able to gain a right perspective and may then be able to see which were the most striking features in social development, it may well turn out that he will point to the birth of the interest in Child Welfare as being among the events of first importance.

So let us take first things first. The world needs better men and women, good as those of the present generation may be. Let us begin with the boys and girls, keeping them in health, sobriety, integrity, virtuous manhood and womanhood of the noblest stamp.

We know, it is the boys and girls of today who make the men and women of tomorrow. The influence of unhealthy environment in childhood indeed, drags at life's larger impulses, hampers and stifles the desire for higher things. The child must develop physically, it must develop mentally, it must develop morally.

The physical effects of a wrongly developed childhood are arrest of growth, puny stunted stature, anemia, thin emaciated limbs, sunken cheeks and hollow eyes. For the arrest of development does not mean mere arrest, but means malformation.

The mental effects are likewise arrest of mental development and this too means not only a stopping short but a development in the wrong direction.

To combat the errors we have a Child Welfare movement. The emancipation of the child from economic servitude is a social reform of the first magnitude. It appeals to every right thinking person.

The Parent-Teacher Associations of the public and parochial schools surely display a real interest in child welfare and they are attuned to a favorable reception of sound and sane social reform generally.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Writer Laughs at Law to Regulate the Sexes

The law and custom may do their best to establish sex equality, but neither can hope to undo the work of a thousand centuries. Whatever statutes may have to say, men always will seem amusing to women and women always will seem queer to men.

When a woman is ill she wishes to be petted; when a man is ill he wishes to be left alone.

When a woman does wrong she can at once persuade herself that she was not to blame; when a man does wrong he condemns himself utterly, even though the greater part of the fault was another's. A woman is most at ease when she has on new garments; a man in new clothes feels hideously conspicuous, says the Baltimore Sun.

A man can kiss another woman and love his wife no less; when a woman enjoys kissing another man her husband is out of the picture.

A woman loves all the time; a man only at intervals.

A man pretends to know more than he does in an effort to impress his wife; a woman pretends to know less than she does to avoid hurt to her husband's vanity.

A man hates but little and shows the little clearly; a woman hates much and contrives to conceal it.

A woman hides her strength; a man hides his weakness.

A man forgives because he can't remember; a woman remembers because she can't forgive.

A woman is religious because she feels the need of a protector; a man is religious because he would co-operate with God.

A man is led by his appetite; woman is led by her curiosity.

Man will not change his mind, because he first must admit that he was wrong; woman changes hers for the sake of expediency even if she knows her first opinion was right.

John Cabot's Reward

Enterprise was lavishly rewarded in the time of Henry VII of England. That monarch, from his own purse, bestowed the great sum of ten pounds sterling on John Cabot for discovering the mainland of North America in 1497.

Used Tub for Baptism

A woman of Aserot, England, recently was granted a separation because her husband, in religious zeal, persisted in baptizing people in the family bathtub.

Heavy Bird Slaughter

More birds are killed in flight every year by rural telephone, telegraph and electric wires and poles and by the domestic cat than by the guns of sportsmen. It is contended by competent authorities.

Seldom Wore Crown

Queen Victoria, who occupied the British throne for nearly 65 years, did not wear her crown more than 20 times during that long period.

No Hypnotic Crimes

Assertions that crimes have been committed by one person at the hypnotic bidding of another must be relegated to the field of pure fiction, according to Doctor Delboeuf, a French physician, who has made a study of the subject of hypnotic influence. Doctor Delboeuf tells of an experiment that seems to be conclusive. He had one man whom he frequently used as a subject, who could readily be persuaded, while in the hypnotic state, that a stick or bottle or any such object was a pistol, and on being commanded would "shoot" any other person with the mock weapon. But when a real revolver, which the subject in his conscious state had always known to be loaded, was placed in his hands, he would not pull the trigger, though he was hypnotized at the time and the weapon was empty. Doctor Delboeuf is of the opinion that naturally moral persons will not perform under the hypnotic state any acts that are inhibited by their conscious moral codes. He believes also, however, that a person of criminal tendencies might commit a crime while hypnotized, since the idea of crime is not repugnant to his conscious mind.

Superb Horsemanship

Riff horsemen, whose achievements in the war with Spain are frequently referred to in the newspapers, are the most daring riders in the world. When in full gallop they will throw their swords and matchlocks in the air, and catch them by the hilts or stocks without drawing rein. Not long ago a war correspondent declared that he had seen a Riff rider thread a needle held by another rider, while racing full tilt across the sand! Cossacks are fond of performing similar spectacular feats. One of their favorite tricks at gymkhanas is to snatch a child from its mother's arms, throw it into the air, catch it, and return it unharmed to its parents. Indian riders of the Great Northwest will dismount while their steeds are galloping, pick up an object on the ground, and remount almost in the same instant.

The Appleton Family

Mr. Lysander John Appleton
Mrs. Lysander John Appleton
Miss Daysey Mayme Appleton
Master Channcy Devere Appleton

DAYSEY MAYME APPLETON at one time had a stroke of rare good luck. When she was entertaining her steady in the parlor health officers called and put the house under quarantine for the smallpox for four weeks. There seemed no possibility that he would get away from a proposal. Daysey Mayme believes she would have landed him if her mother hadn't said so much to him about his soul.

Mrs. Lysander John Appleton is so crazy to have a surgical operation performed on someone in the family, that recently when her young son was taken down with the measles, she suggested to the doctor that he send for a noted surgeon to cut out the spots.

When Daysey Mayme Appleton has her picture taken, she always wears a dress cut low enough to show her ribs and collar bone. "I have to pay the photographer just as much when I don't," she argues.

Mrs. Lysander John Appleton has a silver spoon, which she says, one of her ancestors saved by snuggling in the front of her shirtwaist when she took passage on the ark.

Mrs. Lysander John Appleton has always entertained the opinion that her husband isn't much, but recently when he received a package of garden seeds from the congressman from his district, she began looking at him with renewed interest. He must, she argued, be a man of some influence.

Vitamins Long Active
That vitamins (nutritious substances in food) can remain active in meat after long periods of cold storage has been shown by experiments recently carried out in the chemical laboratory of a New Zealand refrigerating company. Pork, which had been kept for nine years at from 15 to 30 degrees below freezing point, was found to contain vitamin "A," contrary to expectations.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

THE UNBURIED DEAD

THE superstition with regard to delay in the burial of the dead varies somewhat in form in different parts of the country but is found in some phase in all sections. To keep the corpse in the house over Sunday will bring death into the family within a year, is one form. Some of the others are: If the grave is left open over Sunday another death in the family will soon take place. If the grave is left open overnight without the corpse there will be another death in the family within a year. All the different forms of the superstition express the same idea—an apprehension of evil resulting from a dead body left unburied. This is an inheritance of the primitive idea of burial as a means of protection from the dead, an imprisoning of the dead man's ghost so that it could not do harm to the living. Lewis Dayton Burdick in his "Magic and Husbandry" says that primitive man "fearing the malevolent influence of the spirit or ghost of the dead man placed his body beneath a weight of earth and sought to prevent his troublesome reappearance." As long as the body was above ground our far-off ancestors conceived the dead man's spirit as hovering about it and were apprehensive as to that spirit's action. A fear of the spirits of the dead was strongly rooted in the minds of primitive man and exists today in all primitive races who have many rites for propitiating the names of the deceased kin and companions. Our far-off ancestors regarded Mother Earth as "providing a retreat and a resting place for the dead and a protection to the living from harmful spirits."

In connection with this primitive idea of the danger of leaving a dead body unburied Mr. Burdick says: "It is interesting to note that it was one of the laws of the Hebrews that if a man had committed a crime meriting death and had been hanged upon a tree the body must be buried during that day and not suffered to remain all night upon the tree lest the land be defiled." and he thinks that primarily the custom was associated with the fear of harm to the living from the deprecations of the maliciously inclined ghost.

The current superstitions mentioned above are clearly survivals of this idea of primitive man—the idea that safety for the living necessitated a prompt burial of the dead.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

SYLVIA

PERHAPS the most poetic of all feminine names is Sylvia. Its origin dates back to mythological times when there was a deity called Sylvanus, a name derived from Sylvia, meaning wood or forest. Sylvanus was the protector of husbands and their crops. He was generally portrayed as an old man with cypress tree in his hand. Just before the Christian era, Sylvanus became a Roman proper name and indirectly from it is derived the masculine Silivius, through the old legend of the son of Aeneas and Lavinia—born in a wood, and hence called Aeneas Silivius.

Silivius was the name given to a member of the Piccolomini family, who afterward became the pope. Silivius and Sylvia became the favorite names for shepherds and shepherdesses, Sylvia's translation being "living in the wood." From its popularity in the time of pastoral romance, Sylvia became a poetical name for a country maid and had been much used in England as a village Christian name.

Certainly the poets loved to write odes and comments and roundelays to Sylvia whose simple virtues and rustic beauty they exalted in lyrical extravagance. Indeed Sylvia became the class name for rustic maidens, just as "Jane" has been slangily adopted as a synonym for any woman today.

Sylvia, simplest of rustic names, has for her talismanic stone, the simplest of gems, the turquoise. Set in gold, it will protect its wearer either riding or walking, so the legend goes. It is the Persians' national stone and they believe that to see the new moon reflected in its blue gleaming surface is sign of good fortune. Holly is Sylvia's flower, Saturday her lucky day, and 2 her talismanic number.

Through the Glad Eyes of a Woman

By Jane Doe

THE YEAR IN THE BUD

I love January first! In December—how far away appears spring. But on the first day of the new-born year—how near! Just a few more moons, and lo!

"The daffodils begin to peer, With helga the doxy over the dale! Why then comes in the sweet o' the year: For the red blood reigns in the winter's pale."

A GLORIOUS bit of sunshine greeted me this morning. La, la! But it put the thrill of the gay springtide into me—so soft and gentle and magic it was!

The moment Old Sol started cold-shouldering a lot of bad-tempered-looking clouds and beamed on me, all the memories of previous springs crowded in on my mind.

I smelled apple blossom in a Connecticut orchard. I saw the blue skies and red earth of England's Cornwall. I heard birds singing in a bit of woods. I listened once more to a bee-loud glade.

And I remembered there was once a man who said it would give him greater joy to find a buttercup in a field than a golden coin.

Oh, lovely spring! Heavenly season of renewed hope, vigor and faith.

"Oh! thou, who say'st thy love heart ne'er With verdure can again be spread; Oh! thou who mournest them that sleep Low lying in an earthly bed, Look out on the reviving world And see new hopes within thee bud."

And I love also that feeling you get as you hang up the new calendars, and scrap the old, with a "And that's that" and resolve to start life all over again and see if you can't make a better job of it.

You know the feeling, I bet. I like to look back on the years. The green, salad years. The more sophisticated years.

I like to wonder what I shall be like when I'm finished goods. Not that anybody's finished goods until they're dead.

But we can put the "quality mark" on ourselves long before that, can't we?

I don't know how it is with you, but I'm never really comfortable with myself when I indulge in this sort of retro- and introspection, this mental stocktaking.

Well, here's to the year in the bud. A good health to it. And to us. Which comes to the same thing. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Taught Care of Books

Every child in Los Angeles upon entering the third grade is taught how to borrow books from the library and how to take care of books. The children's librarian visits each third-grade room and explains to the pupils the use of the library. Her aim is to arouse an interest in reading and teach the children to care for the books, says School Life. Following this a letter is written to the parents urging their co-operation in the correct use of the library. In addition a leaflet, entitled "How To Borrow Books," is distributed among the library's patrons.

Wasps

Possibly the best known of Fabre's discoveries is of the wasp who stings her prey with exact surgery so as to paralyze but not to kill, and then packs it away with her larvae, who need living food but would be killed by the insect if it were not paralyzed. The mother wasp, who never sees her young, thus makes the most complete and intricate scientific preparations for the safety as well as the nourishment of their early days. Those of us whose minds are not drugged by some mere word, like instinct, must forever stand amazed before such wonders of planning.—Norman Hapgood in Hears's International.

WHAT TO EAT

TASTY biscuits which may be used for tea or breakfast are:

Tea Biscuits.
Sift a pint of flour with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Rub into it with the fingers four tablespoonfuls of butter, mixing it thoroughly. Add enough rich milk or half milk and half cream to make a rather soft dough. Roll out to one-fourth of an inch in thickness, cut into rounds two and one-half inches in diameter. Bake in a hot oven for ten to fifteen minutes. Brush over the tops with milk shortly before taking from the oven. Serve cut in halves.

Cauliflower With Cheese Sauce.
Soften four tablespoonfuls of butter and stir into it four tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of pepper, a dash of cayenne, one-fourth teaspoonful of celery seed. When these are mixed add one-third at a time two cupfuls of chicken or veal stock and stir over the heat until it comes to a boil. Add one-half cupful of grated hard cheese, stir until melted and pour this over a head of boiled cauliflower. Garnish with minced parsley. A head of cabbage may be served in the same way, cutting out the hard center before cooking. Serve on a chop plate and cut into pie-shaped pieces to serve.

Spring Salad.
Take two or three fresh young carrots, put through the meat grinder or chop with a knife in a chopping bowl, add a green onion or two also finely minced, a stalk of celery, and a half dozen minced nuts. Mix with enough good, highly-seasoned salad dressing to moisten and heap on crisp leaves of tender lettuce. This salad with a piece of good bread and a generous spreading of sweet butter will make a meal sufficiently satisfying. The addition of a drink, such as cocoa or milk, will add several hundred calories of food value to the menu.

Windy
Chicago now holds the world's murder record, and Secretary Sawyer of the Anti-Profanity League, discussing in Ware, Mass., the defense that the Windy City has put up, said:

"A windy defense. A defense evocative of the chicken thief who said to his lawyer: 'Put me on the stand. Let me tell my own story. It'll be believed.' 'It'll carry conviction,' the lawyer snorted."

Citizenship of Indians
The law that all children born in the United States become citizens by virtue of such birth does not include Indians. An Indian cannot become a citizen, with the right to vote, unless he severs tribal relations and lives as a white man, satisfying the authorities on Indian affairs that he is entitled to citizenship.

Close Umbrella to Dry It
The idea that a wet umbrella should be left open to dry is all wrong, we are advised by the manufacturers. This stretches the ribs and makes the umbrella bulky. Always stand a wet umbrella downward to enable the moisture to drip away from the ribs.

Camden Man's Amazing Message to Rheumatics
After Suffering Intense Agony for Many Years—He Wants to Tell Others.

Dr. Brigatelli: I simply had to write and tell you what your wonderful Camphorole has done for me. For many years I suffered the tortures of Rheumatism as only those who have it know. The sharp pains were so severe, I could not sleep. Had to get up and rub. It almost drove me crazy. I tried doctor after doctor and all kinds of medicine I was told to take, which only left me worse. I could not bend my knees. I am a steamfitter by trade and had to give up my work. Seeing your advertisement in a paper I thought I would take another chance and told my daughter to get me a package of Camphorole. You can imagine my surprise after using Camphorole. BRINGIN' YOU

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TAIN'T the flow'r I miss so much, 'Tain't the singin' birds an' such, 'Tain't the skies all red an' gold Plumb as full as they kin hold, 'Tain't the mornin', 'tain't the doo— 'Tain't I miss the most is You.

'Tain't the winter, now it's here, Makes the poorest time o' year, 'Tain't the drift across the trail, Nor the north wind, nor the hail; Here's what makes it look so gray— It's because You went away.

So I'm longin' more an' more, Like I never longed before, For the springtime to return, Violet an' grass an' fern; For you said—remember when?— You'd be back in spring again.

That's the reason that I look Ev'ry mornin' by the brook For some young anemone— Watch the grasses, watch the tree, Watch the skies an' ev'rything For the faintest sign o' spring.

For this spring, of all the rest, This will be about the best, Blueer blue an' greener green, Just the best I ever seen— Though it's bringin'—dawn an' doo, Most of all it's bringin' You! (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Interest Cut in Half

The United States court for China, Shanghai, recently held that the legal rate of interest applicable on judgments rendered by the United States court for China was 6 per cent per annum. In the past a rate of 12 per cent has been allowed, in conformity with an old consulate regulation permitting this rate of interest on judgments. The court held, however, that the District of Columbia code provided a legal rate of 6 per cent interest on judgments, that this was the law for the United States court for China, and that in the future only this rate would be permissible.

The law that all children born in the United States become citizens by virtue of such birth does not include Indians. An Indian cannot become a citizen, with the right to vote, unless he severs tribal relations and lives as a white man, satisfying the authorities on Indian affairs that he is entitled to citizenship.

LESLIE WINS ON TECHNICAL K. O.—STEEL WORKS ADVANCING

IS FOULED TWICE IN BAYONNE RING

Consents to Continue After First Foul Blow But Not After Second One

Being fouled twice and lawlessly punched into the land of Nod, Charley Leslie was awarded a technical victory over Mickey Donoghue, of Bayonne, after two minutes and some seconds of milling in the first stanza of a scheduled six-round bout at the Casino ring in Bayonne last Monday evening.

CHARLEY LESLIE

Had Monday night's fracas lasted longer than it did, Charley would have easily defeated Donoghue by a clean cut kayo within three rounds. It was apparent that Leslie was in good condition, and when he consented to go through with the fight after he had been on the receiving end of a foul blow, which was sufficiently important and disgraceful to sportsmanship, was surprising to the rather large gathering at hand for the show.

Whether or not both blows were intentionally struck foully was a question of unlimited discussion at the ringside, but it was plainly seen that the finishing blow was landed with a sole purpose—to escape further punishment handed out by Leslie.

Donoghue was seen down on the canvas only a few seconds after the fight was started and he regained a vertical position, after the referee had clicked off nine counts. It was immediately following this knock-down that Donoghue hit Leslie low on the first occasion, and the bout was halted for a few minutes. Leslie could have claimed the fight right there, but, as he explained to us after the bout, it was his opinion that the first foul punch was not landed purposely by his opponent.

No sooner had the scrap been put into action again when Donoghue was "kissing" the canvas for another long count. On rising he put over his second foul, which paved the way to Leslie's ruin just long enough for Donoghue to follow up and knock him out, with a terrific right to the jaw. When the wallop was landed, Leslie was in a helpless doubling position, unable to defend himself. The referee disqualified Donoghue and Leslie became the winner, although the kayo victim was not conscious of the fact for at least two minutes.

The weights, as announced at the ring, were: Leslie, 148; and Donoghue, 162. In the main bout Jimmy Francis lost to Lou Ferry, of Harrison.

As mentioned above, Charley's opponent could not have stayed the entire distance if he had been lashed; but since Donoghue is credited with having defeated Staten Island's ace, Artie Stanger, it seems that the borough man will not have a very hard time in beating the latter when they meet at Elizabethport next Friday night.

Both were scheduled to appear at Perth Amboy twice, but on each occasion the bout was called off, once by Leslie and lastly by Stenger. Leslie was unable to go through with the event due to a swollen hand, while Stenger's illness was the cause of the recent cancellation.

PETERSON AHEAD IN SINGLES RACE

Crack Steel Works Pinner Leads City League Bowlers with Average of 181.1—Johnny Koscis Second With 179.2.

This week marks the first appearance of the City Bowling League individual averages, which reveal the fact that the Steel Works has two bowlers in the lead. Lew Peterson, with an average of 181.1, holds the pace making position, while Johnny Koscis, his teammate, is a good second with a 179.2 average for twelve games. Joe Adams, of the Carteret Five outfit, and Charley Casaleggi, star pinner of the Business Men combine, both hold the highest score rolled in the league with 226. The following are the averages of every player in the loop, including last Friday's two matches:

TWO DEADLOCKS IN JUNIOR LOOP

Lauter-Thompson and Lehrer-Roth in Top Berth as Result of Victories Over Daniels-Yorke and Kidgula-Stark Saturday.

ROTH AND LEHRER GRAB ALL HONORS

Pile Up Two Highest Team Scores—Roth Nails Pins for 203 and Moe Gets 199 for Two Best Individual Scores.

Table with 4 columns: Club, W., L., Ave., H.S. Lists bowling team standings for Junior Bowling League.

Bowling with increased skill and courage, the aggregations of Fred Lauter-Tom Thompson and Moe Lehrer-Sam Roth each emerged to victory in the first two matches rolled in the Junior Two-man Bowling League on the borough lanes last Saturday afternoon and as a result are now in a deadlock for the leadership. Both teams dropped the opening games to their opponents, Daniels-Yorke and Kidgula-Stark, respectively, but came back all the stronger to gain the verdict in the next two games. The team of Lehrer and Roth took in all the available honors of the day in both average and high scores.

The first three games of the afternoon were not at all as we expected, but all tilts were very close with the exception of the final game, which the winners took by some thirty-five pins. Fred Lauter had high score and best average in this match with 179 and 158.2 respectively, while Ed. Yorke, with a score of 173 and an average of 155, was a good second.

Second Match a Corker

While there were just barely two games of the three hundred calibre in the opening match, the second three battles were easily the best rolled of the afternoon, there being only one game in which the bowlers, Kidgula and Stark, fell to 273.

Sam Roth and Moe Lehrer hit the timbers for the two highest team scores 330 and 246, after losing the first game by eleven pins. Roth's 203 in the middle contest was put into the league records as the best individual score to date, and Lehrer's 199 in the third fracas being the next best. Lehrer had the best individual average of the two matches with 165.2.

It is apparent that the standings of the four teams will always remain about as close as can be anticipated, because all of them are evenly matched. Most of the eight bowlers in this loop are regarded as the classiest in the junior ranks; and before their schedule is brought to a close in April, the pin maulers of the City League will probably be made to take head and put in some better tallies than they are registering at the present time.

It can not be expected that the junior bowlers will outclass the men by averaging around two hundred continuously, but it is their opinion that "something big" will happen tomorrow afternoon when they meet in their regular Saturday matches at 2 o'clock sharp. The leaders will do battle in one match and the trailers will bowl three games. The latter match is most likely to be rolled first.

A clean sweep for either of the tail-enders will put the winning team in a favorable position, probably in a tie for the top rung, if one of the other teams loses but a single game. And to witness these battles another enthused gathering ought to turn out similar to the occurrence last Saturday.

CROSS WORD TEAM AFTER LOOP FLAG

Local Ball Tossers, Under Leadership of Steve Comba, Enter Middlesex County Junior Baseball League Race.

A very strong junior diamond combine, the Cross Word Athletic Club, will be one of the eight entries in the Middlesex County Baseball League next summer, and there are many high hopes for the coming of the championship pennant and a silver loving cup to the local boys, who, in order to realize this important objective, will have to conquer the Port Reading Mohicans, Perth Amboy Orioles, Woodbridge Pirates, Sacred Heart Juniors, Forde Juniors, Camp Raritan Question Marks and the Keasby Feds.

Under the leadership of Steve Comba there appears to be little doubt in the minds of the Cross Worders as to whom the league championship will be directed at the end of the hostilities late in the season. It is their intention not only to win the right to play in the post season series, but to gain the verdict in that feature of the year. The league schedule is to be divided into two halves to allow for such a series, the first and second half winners are to get a banner piece and the final winner a loving cup, presented by Ike Levin, of the Perth Amboy Levin's Sport Shop.

The loop officials, including managers of various clubs and originators of the circuit, were at a busy session at Levin's Sport Shop last Friday night and decided upon some of the most important questions. The schedule was prepared, prizes named above, were officially announced; and each team will enter an eligibility list of fifteen players. There were eleven teams represented at the meeting, but it was only possible to permit eight to enter the loop.

Blue and White Beaten By Vocational Quintet

The Junior High School Varsity basketball team figured in another even break this week, when it defeated the Alumni, graduates of the Rahway High School, on Friday evening, 34 to 22, and lost out to the Perth Amboy Vocational school on Tuesday afternoon by 32 to 25, also on the borough court. The victory on Friday night was somewhat a puzzler, since a majority of the players on the losing team are known as experienced men in the game, being much older and more acquainted with expert tactics.

Roth, with but seven credits, led the Alumni in scoring, while Wexler and Lehrer scored heavily for the winners. Wexler also proved to be high man in the Tuesday contest with three field and one foul goal. It was the Vocational's second triumph over Carteret this season. The scores:

St. Joe Midgets Lose Out In Double Affair

In two games on Saturday afternoon and evening the St. Joseph Midgets were beaten by the Separates at Woodbridge by the score of 46-38 and by the Brighton Juniors at Perth Amboy, 24 to 16. The local midgets were greatly handicapped due to playing on a strange court, but nevertheless they played gamely and were not out of the running until the final few seconds. Sid Currie was heavy scorer for the locals in the first game, while "Landy" Harris took this honor in the evening tilt, although Currie was close at his heels. The scores of both games:

Celtics Score Over Kingston Five 38-36

The Original Celtics, professional basketball team, returned to New York last Sunday evening, after an extensive road trip, and defeated the Kingston five, runners up for the title, by a score of 38 to 36. The meeting marked the sixth between the pair and the victory made the standing three all, the Kingston team having defeated the New Yorkers thrice on their own up-state court.

At half time the score stood at 24 to 13 in favor of the Celtics, but the second session brought out stellar playing by Benny Borgman, one of the greatest players in the game. He scored three goals from the field and six of his nine fouls in the second half. The score:

Match Tonight

Harmony S. C. vs. Carteret Five Next Week—Monday Harmony S. C. vs. Wheelers Tuesday Steel Works vs. Business Men Wednesday Carteret Five vs. U. S. M. R. Co. Friday Macks vs. Mex Pet.

The Business Men, who at the present time appear to be the Steel Works' toughest rivals for the lead in the City Bowling League, fell in the pennant race this week, by a half game and are now within three full games' distant from the top rung; while Wheelers decided that it was not a pleasant experience to lose games and took two out of three from the United States Metals Refiners, tying their opponents for third place, making six and a half contests from the pace-making position.

Other games were featured by only one clean sweep, that being made by the leaders over Mex Pet on Wednesday night. The U. S. Metals bowlers lost two to the Business Men and the Harmony Social Club pinner left the Mex Petters in the cellar by winning two games, the final by three fimbbers, in a double header Friday evening. Wheelers drubbed the Copper Works for two games, Wednesday, and last night the Macks were beaten twice by the Business Men.

Sceally Has High Average

"Buck" Scally smacked the timbers some on Tuesday night, getting a 224 score in one game and an average of 196, which was the best of the week. This good bowling brought "Buck" from third place to the top in the singles race, passing Peterson and Johnny Koscis, who were ahead of him last Friday, as the averages show in another column today. The averages of these three men to date are: Scally, 182; Koscis, 178.1; and Peterson, 178.

Charley Casaleggi, bowling 226 in the first game of the Business Men's match Friday night, equalled the high score mark, held by Adams.

Steel vs. Business Men

While the Steel Works seem to be making an easy time of things up to date, the Business Men claim that the leaders will receive a good dose of their own mauling when both meet on the local drives, next Tuesday night. This match is of no little importance, as a clean sweep for the Business Men will tighten up the race considerably and put them on even terms with the Steelers in first place. One, two, or three wins will

BEISEL'S STARS OUT FOR LOOP ENTRANCE

Will Seek Entrance in Local Twilight Baseball League Next Summer at Loop Session to be Held Shortly.

Troop 2 Scouts Win From Young Yanks

With a few stars from Elizabeth in his lineup, "Bill" Beisel is planning to organize an All Star baseball outfit for the coming campaign and expects to enter this proposed club in the local Twilight Baseball League, which will most likely call a meeting in a few weeks. Beisel claims that he will have an excellent nine and will create quite a disturbance in the borough loop, if the officials of the latter organization permit him to enter his team. One of the rules of the league last year was that "there should be as few out-of-town performers as possible," but there is great hope that Beisel's club will be selected as one of the teams in this year's loop.

If the league does not permit Beisel to bring his team into battle, the local basketball star will perform with his tossers on Brady's oval every Sunday afternoon. Those players, who are to come from Elizabeth are: Novaha, Dolan, LaMonte and Kieran;

PICTURE COST NEAR A MILLION

Frank Lloyd's Production of "The Sea Hawk" a Mammoth Spectacle—At Local Theatres On Wednesday and Thursday.

Continuing its policy of presenting to the local picturegoers the biggest of cinematic productions, the Majestic and Crescent Theatres presents for the first time Frank Lloyd's First National picture "The Sea Hawk," adapted from the best seller by Rafael Sabatini, author of "Sacramouche," and regarded by critics and producers as the greatest sea story ever brought to the silver sheet.

Dealing with a spectacular romance and the piracy of the late sixteenth century English, Spanish and Moors, "The Sea Hawk" is reputed to possess an extraordinary amount of thrilling incidents, red blooded action and tender romance amid many quaint and massive settings and in the hands of the producer of "Ashes of Venice," "Les Miserables," "Black Oxen," and "Madame X," the Sabatini narrative is said to have lost none of its highly entertaining drama, but rather to have been greatly enhanced in its adaptation to the screen.

The transfer of Mr. Sabatini's original epic to the screen has made necessary the expenditure of nearly a million dollars, the building of a fleet of four mammoth sea-craft of the sixteenth century, $85,000 in wardrobe and the use of over a thousand men in some of the brilliant naval combats; yet its previewers state "The Sea Hawk" is bigger than just the investment which has made it possible. Indeed one of the truly great masterpieces of the film, with thrilling action and big situations to make each succeeding reel more fascinating than its predecessor.

Milton Sills plays the dual character of Sir Oliver Tressilian and Sak-el-Bahr, the hawk of the sea, and Enid Bennett is seen as his fiancée, Rosamund Godolphin. Lloyd Hughes assumes a character part for the first time in his meteoric screen career, playing Lionel, Oliver's brother, and Wallace Beery essays the role of Jasper Leigh, a renegade who kidnap Oliver from England and later returns there with him as his faithful lieutenant. Frank Currier, Marc MacDermott, Wallace MacDonald, Mme. Medea Radzina, Kathleen Key, Lionel Belmore, Clyaire du Brey, Fred de Silva, Hector V. Sarno, Bobbie Bolder, Christine Monte, Albert Prisco, Kate Price and Louis Morrisson are others prominent in the big cast.

Putting Nature to Work

Ever since the first man pecked fearfully down into the cauldron of the first volcano and shuddered at its heat it has been a forward-looking dream to harness this power. Some do it.

There is a super-heated, 230-degree spring at Vale, Ore., that could steam locomotives for even crack trains like the Empire State express. Boise, Idaho, is largely heated by natural hot water; in snowy weather one may follow the buried hot water pipes dry-shod all over town, into thousands of homes. The Idaho mountain town of Mackay has two water supplies; a cold spring for summer use, and a piping hot, non-freezing spring to hitch on for winter.

At Klamath Falls, Ore., almost within gunshot of where Captain Jack and his Modocs did such terrible things to the American army, hot springs heat the houses on one of the fine residential hills. The hot water is individual property, like soil fertility or trees; each householder has his own hot well, and he never needs a fire except for cooking.—Charles J. Lisle in Collier's.

NOT WISE PLAN FOR OPPOSITES TO MATE

Writer Takes Issue With Long-Accepted Maxim.

Considering the hands of both husband and wife together is most interesting and most enlightening. I'd say to engaged couples, "Go and have your characters analyzed together." It's good advice and they'd probably adore doing it.

But would they profit thereby? Not if they were really in love, as I told a gentleman who brought me his fiancée to look over. However, let me state right here that that ancient saw about the attraction of opposites may be right as to attraction, but it's all wrong as to suitability. The happiest, most enduring marriages are founded upon likeness. The more alike the better, unless, perhaps, it's a matter of violent temper, when, of course, the companion should have balance and self-control.

Also supersensitiveness and jealousy should never be doubted. Two of these together will make themselves and the angels weep. By all means, let artist marry artist or art lover; and musicians are better mated to the musical, the business woman to the business man.

And, above all, look for a similarity in a sense of humor. Dissimilarity of that all-important sense has ruined more homes than vamps, drink and religious differences put together. How to tell it? Um—that's hard, for it isn't to be found in the lines. Truly adaptable people, who are those with a sense of humor, have the flexible hand, warm in color and warm in its heat quality. The palm is invariably spotted, the flanges of the fingers well proportioned, apt to be a trifle wide at the tips, which are sensitive. People with large bumps of ambition, which bump is right under the first finger, very seldom own that cherished gift. Why, heaven only knows.

That other old saw about "Man's love is of a man's life a thing apart; 'tis woman's whole existence" is all bosh. With many women it is a thing apart, and with innumerable men it is their whole existence.

This Teaches Us

President Coolidge, whose literary taste is excellent, said at a White House luncheon: "I mistrust best sellers, the authors whose names are household words, and whose bank accounts never descend below four figures."

"Look at Poe and Whitman. They stand out above all their contemporaries today, yet Whitman lived in a little wooden shanty in Camden, while Poe lived in a little wooden shanty in Fordham, and they were both behind-hand with the rent."

"This teaches us that genius will out. Even during the genius' life it will out—at the elbows."

Useful to Pie Eaters

The piece of pie is recognized as the appropriate finish of an American luncheon, but for the fellow who carries his noonday meal to his job, the pie feature has been impossible to a great extent because of the inconvenience of transportation. Packed up in the usual lunch receptacle, the pie is always liable to be crushed and its juicy contents squirted out all over the other viands; but there has recently made its appearance a carrier for a piece of pie. It is a wedge-shaped receptacle shaped exactly like a piece of pie. It is made of aluminum so that there is almost no weight to it. The cut of pie is placed in it and the lid pushed down and there you are! safe and sound.

Cooking in Aluminum

Aluminum conducts heat rapidly and stores it up in great quantities, so that after a pan is thoroughly heated any additional heat applied causes overheating. It is best, therefore, to turn down the gas flame one-half after the pan is thoroughly heated.
