

JURY VERDICT IN LOCAL CASE

John Demish, of 22 John Street, Received Verdict for $1,500 Against Central Railroad of New Jersey.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Joseph Schruenger Gets $1,000 Verdict Against Railroad at New Brunswick on Monday.

A jury before Circuit Court Judge Peter F. Daly in New Brunswick on Monday awarded John Demish, of 22 John street, the sum of $1,500 and to Joseph Schruenger the sum of $1,000 for injuries sustained in connection with an accident last August.

Coming toward Carteret, the car, a Dort sedan, driven by Demish, was sideswiped and damaged by a Central Railroad express train coming from Atlantic City at the East Rahway crossing. Neither of the two men heard the warning bells at the crossing, they alleged. Just as they crossed the track Demish noticed the train and swerved his wheel. Both passengers were cut about the face and body with glass. The machine was completely wrecked. Both men felt that they escaped miraculously from being killed.

The local men were represented in the case by County Solicitor Frederick F. Richardson.

The railroad company in contesting the suit claimed that all the bells were in operation and charged that it was the fault of the driver. They claimed that the express train stopped about 2,000 feet away from the crossing because of a bridge signal and when it passed the East Rahway crossing it did not go over ten miles an hour. This however was rebuked by the plaintiff, who said that the train was going at a fast speed.

As a result of the accident, the Borough Council demanded greater safety for motorists and a number of improvements were made.

Endowment Fund for Disabled Vets Endorsed

Roosevelt Post, No. 263, American Legion, held a meeting at their rooms in the Municipal Building last night, to discuss the endowment fund for disabled soldiers. It was decided to start a campaign for this purpose. Members present made donations to start the drive which will be up to the business men and citizens of the borough to make successful. There will also be a dance held on Armistice Night, November 11.

Forty and Eighties At Brilliant Success

Forty and Eighties from here turned out to attend a Forty and Eight meeting Friday, September 25, at Dunellen. A number of men from Roosevelt Post, No. 263, were initiated with others from various sections of the county.

The Carteret men had the honor of doing the initiatory work, which they did in the most satisfactory manner. An excellent entertainment followed, during which sandwiches and coffee were served.

Miss Jane Cook, Miss Anna Timberman and Mrs. Holger Hold, advisory board.

Sayreville Lenopi post received the cup for the largest number of their members in attendance at this session. After the meeting was adjourned refreshments were served and an entertainment was rendered.

The next county meeting will be held on Wednesday night, Oct. 28, at Perth Amboy. The Piscataway session was attended by a large delegation of legionnaires from Carteret, both men and women.

Two Men Are Hurt In Motor Crash

Frank Goronski and Thomas Sinowski, both of 10 Bergen street, sustained severe injuries in an automobile accident at East Rahway on Tuesday afternoon. The car was driven by Mrs. Goronski. A tire blew off and the machine plowed into a pole. The women and two children were unhurt. Her husband however was cut about the lip and sustained a slight wound over his right cheek. Sinowski had his right eye bruised, also his right knee and right shoulder bruised. Officer Sheridan investigated the accident.

Woman Throws Globe, Hits Janitor On Head

When Dan Janitor, of 50 Mercer street, said to have been under the influence of liquor said something complimentary to Mrs. Joseph Ehoauline, of Mercer street, the woman resented and grabbed an electric light globe and struck him on the head. Dan fell to the floor on top of the pieces of the globe and his head was cut. Andrew Hanson, of Perth Amboy, a collector who happened to pass by noticed Dan moaning. He called the police who took him to the Perth Amboy City Hospital. He first received medical attention by Dr. S. Messinger.

COOKE AVENUE IS NEXT TRADE HUB

Amazing Business Development From Washington Avenue to Roosevelt Avenue Due to Resp Rich Harvest for Merchants.

What promises to be one of the busiest shopping centers in the borough of Carteret is expected to develop soon in the vicinity of Cooke and Pershing avenue, where the new borough hall and the post office are situated.

With the plan to build a trunk sewer, the construction of many stores and houses in this district, Cooke avenue is sure to rapidly loom as another Roosevelt avenue. It will not be very long, when brilliantly illuminated at night by the many show windows, Cooke and Pershing will change amazingly within the next two or three years. Those who see the progress of the borough feel that within a brief period of time on Saturday nights, this presently obscure section will assume a carnival aspect with many attractive show windows and throngs of well dressed shoppers.

The newness of everything will be one of the striking features of the coming place. There will be new stores, new single and two-family dwellings all combined to give the section a spotless town environment lacking even in better shopping and residential districts.

It is the general opinion throughout the borough that Cooke and Pershing avenue will climb fast as a trading centre if the voters approve this fall the trunk sewer over Noe's Creek.

TUBERCULOSIS WORK IN COUNTY

Ten People Under Ages of 25 Come to Attention of League

The September report of the Middlesex County Tuberculosis League shows that during the past month ten people suffering with tuberculosis under the ages of twenty-five came to the attention of the league during the month. Eight of these were advanced cases, one of these died before he could be provided with a sanatorium care. Six of them are in sanatoria.

During the past year this county has had an unusually large number of tuberculosis sick young men and women. Most of them were working, often the women were working and trying to support or help support their children. Most of these men and women unfortunately, do not come to the attention of the League until they are advanced cases and in many instances there is little chance for recovery. These boys and girls work hard, they are under a strain, they are out all kinds of weather, they are not properly nourished, and in many cases the normal desire for pleasure causes them to keep late hours.

The weaker ones coming in contact with tuberculosis cannot resist it, they gradually weaken, most of them put up a hard fight and only when they are losing, when they are germ laden do they give in and take the advice of their families and friends to go to a doctor. If they are reached in time a stay at a sanatorium, the length of time depending upon the condition of the individual, perhaps a year, then they return in excellent health ready to resume their former duties. The disease is arrested, and with proper care the disease may never return.

The Middlesex County Tuberculosis League conducts clinics in Perth Amboy, New Brunswick, Milltown, South River, Carteret and Jamesburg. The best tuberculosis specialists of the county and state are in charge of these clinics. Nurses follow up all cases, making arrangements for sanatorium care and watching carefully the health of all the individuals of the family.

The Clue to His Door-Mat

By JAMES F. DWYER

WNCU Service

IT WAS midnight. In Fifth avenue there were few pedestrians, and a fat man in evening dress hurrying northward, attracted attention. Six night birds, who thought his actions mysterious, followed a few paces in the rear.

At Thirty-second street a policeman, looting on the opposite side of the road, straightened himself as he saw the hurrying group coming towards him. Swinging his night stick he crossed over and waited the approach of the little procession.

The law was a trifle astonished. As he stood looking after the leader of the hurrying squad, he was jostled by the inquisitive ones following, and he became annoyed. He grabbed a straw-hatted youth by the shoulder and questioned him.

"What's the matter?" he cried. "Search me," answered the questioned one. "Let me go; I want to see what the ole guy is up to."

The policeman lost his temper. He was being treated with disrespect. A festive citizen was running a fool procession over his beat without giving him the least explanation! So he let go of the youth's shoulder and dashed madly after the man in evening dress.

"Here, what's the game?" he panted. "What sort of a stunt are you up to, anyhow?"

The fat man shook off the grip of the law and ran faster than ever, his outstretched hands circling round each other like the arms of a windmill in a gale.

"Stoop down and I'll tell you," he gasped, as the officer made another effort to restrain him.

"Been doin' that all the way from Twenty-eighth street," gasped the early followers, proud in the possession of that much information. "He's told the cop a joke, an' now the hick-y-welder is hittin' the trail with him."

At Forty-eighth street the policeman met the officer on the adjoining beat, and hooking him by the arm he whispered into his ear as he kept pace with the fat man. The new policeman guffawed loudly, and again the angry crowd looked vainly for the humor that seemed apparent to the two guardians of the peace. The first policeman slackened speed, called out a friendly "Good luck" to the fat man, and then returned to his own beat, while his comrade trotted swiftly in his place.

The fat man swung east, down Fifty-third street, and new recruits joined the procession at every yard. But all thrived vainly for information. Questions put by the newcomers were met with the one answer: "Don't know; look at his hands. Been twisting them round and round all the way from Twenty-eighth street."

Crossing Third avenue the fat man halted suddenly. He knelt down upon the car tracks, and the officer stooped beside him. The crowd pressed round till the swiftly-swung nightstick swept them back. The man in evening dress crawled across the tracks and raked the ground with his fingers.

Presently he leaped to his feet and yelled out excitedly: "It's all right, officer," he cried, and once again his hands started to revolve round each other as he dashed towards the water.

Just here a third policeman was initiated into the mystery that was troubling the crowd, and with a merry laugh he took up a position by the side of the fat man. The crowd cursed collectively. Here was a mystery that had been explained three times to bulky policemen, yet they were kept in ignorance. It wasn't fair. They had a right to know why the man in evening dress was doing the windmill performance with his hands, and why that stunt amused the policeman. Much of their breath was exhausted in strange phrases denouncing the secrecy of the police, but they were determined to see the end.

Near Second avenue a man standing on the sidewalk turned when he heard the noise of the charging squad and contemplated the runners. Then he stepped into the street and crossed over. The fat man chuckled. He whispered to the policeman at his right hand, and the officer dashed ahead. The man in front started to run, but his pursuer overhauled him in a dozen strides, and they rolled on the pavement.

"What's the matter?" gasped the captured one. "Wot are yer scruffin' me for?"

"This gentleman wants his rubber door-mat," murmured the policeman, relieving his captive of the parcel he carried beneath his arm.

"Hully gee!" exclaimed the prisoner, rubbing his eyes and staring round him at the crowd. "Where did yer get the mob, an' how did yer know I had it, anyhow?"

"I had you on a string," explained the fat man, holding up a black thread in the light of the street lamp. "I've caught five men who have tried to steal that mat. It's attached to a thousand yards of strong thread, and as they generally grab it when the streets are quiet, the trail is always clear."

Mother's Cook Book

Ah, what would the world be to us, if the children were no more? We should dread the desert behind us worse than the dark before.

HOT WEATHER DISHES

ON a warm day when hot dishes do not appeal to the palate, it is refreshing to serve some of the cooling jellied dishes.

Chicken is the favorite summer meat and may be prepared in many different ways to vary the sameness.

Chicken in Aspic

Wash and clean a four-pound chicken and put in a kettle with two quarts of water (boiling), one sliced onion, one-half cupful of sliced celery, or one-eighth teaspoonful of celery seed, a sprig or two of parsley, a bit of bay leaf, one small carrot diced, two teaspoonfuls of salt, and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Cook slowly until very tender. Set away to cool; remove the chicken and skim off all the fat from the top of the liquor. Heat the liquor, adding two egg whites and shells to clarify, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of paprika, one-eighth teaspoonful of nutmeg and the juice of half a lemon. Add three tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin which has been soaked in three-quarters of a cupful of cold water; stir until the gelatin is dissolved, then strain through a double cheesecloth. Mold as for any meat loaf, adding asparagus tips, cooked egg, canned pimientos or stuffed olives for color.

A quick aspic may be made with beef extract or bouillon cubes, one teaspoonful to each cup, or one cube.

Attractive jellies may be made of tomato juice. This is nice for fish mold.

Maryland Hors d'Oeuvre

Spread rounds of buttered toast with minced mushrooms stewed in a little butter or cream. On this place a spoonful of diced chicken moistened with white sauce, and top with half a stuffed egg garnished with a whirl of mayonnaise. This makes a nice luncheon dish which may be extended to serve many.

Making a Long Evening

Wife—Next time you spend an evening at the club please let me know if I am to keep breakfast waiting for you.—Klode Hans (Copenhagen).

WHO SAID

"The multitude is always in the wrong."

WHEN Wentworth Dillon, fourth earl of Roscommon, uttered these words, he well knew and appreciated the limited ability of a multitude or mob to make an accurate judgment. He lived at the time Charles II was in power in England, and he saw the multitude first acclaim royalty, in the person of Charles' father, then denounce it and execute their king, to welcome the regime of Oliver Cromwell. And, finally, he saw the multitude turn again to royalty and outdo itself in an attempt to show their affection for the new monarch, Charles II.

Roscommon, as he is best known, was one of the favorites at the court of Charles II, where his learning and brilliant conversational powers won him many staunch friends among the nobles. It is a rather strange thing that this man who was such a friend of the king should at the same time have been described as "the only moral writer" during the reign of Charles.

The reign of this monarch was noted for the dissoluteness and licentiousness of those in control, and how it happened that a man of Roscommon's character, writing as he did, did not offend some of the dissolute courtiers, if not the king himself, is not known. The fact remains, however, that he continued in the good graces of the king and his court until death.

Roscommon is known as a minor poet. He has left little to accord him a high place among the writers of his land, and yet many of his sayings and bits of philosophy, such as that quoted above, have been handed down through the years. He was born in 1633 and died in 1685.

Little of the work of Roscommon has survived. His two best-known efforts, probably, are an "Essay on the Translation of Horace's Art of Poetry,"—Wayne D. McMurray.

Work and Worry

That "laughing philosopher" of old, Democritus, jesting at mankind's anxieties, lived to a great age. We all admit that it is not work but worry that kills. Both of these call for the expenditure of a proportionate amount of nervous energy. Work, however, has a definite aim and termination, the result of which is the feeling of serene satisfaction we all have in work accomplished. On the other hand, worry, having no definite objective, is endless, achieving nothing beyond a prodigious waste of energy, accompanied by actual wear and tear of gray matter and nerves that may in the long run be productive of physical wreckage.—Exchange.

Honey Costs Life

Louisville, Ky.—A hunt for wild honey cost the life of Walter Hall, farmer of New Albany, Ind.

Tying an oily cloth about his head for protection from bees, Hall thrust a torch into a hollow tree to smoke out the bees. He then stuck his head in to see what progress the smoke was making. A draft sent the flame from the torch against his head covering and ignited it. He dropped from the tree as his clothing blazed, and for several minutes his two companions tried to beat out the flames while Hall roared on the ground. His body was seared by the fire. He died in a Louisville hospital.

SHOWS HIS BRAVERY IN FACE OF DEATH

"I Won't Cry," Says Dying Boy, Pinned Under Car.

Jersey City, N. J.—Wadeslaw Kowalski, nine years old, was so busy playing at Grand and Washington streets that he did not see a surface car coming. He ran in front of the vehicle, was knocked down and caught under the forward trucks and dragged more than a hundred feet.

Fire truck No. 1, in command of Capt. Joseph Fox, came on the run. The firemen put jacks under the car and began to raise it off the boy's body. Wadeslaw was still conscious and as the trolley slowly began to rise he asked Captain Fox:

"Will you get me out of there in no time," said Captain Fox.

"All right, mister, I won't cry," said Wadeslaw, and a moment later a fireman lifted him in his arms and carried him to the curb. An ambulance with a doctor was on its way, but before it reached there the boy died in the arms of the fireman, after the last rites of the Catholic church had been administered.

Cat Jumped to Fame

In the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, there is a stuffed cat labeled: "This cat on September 23, 1880, jumped from the top of the Washington monument and lived." The monument at that time was not completed and the cat jumped from a height of about 100 feet, alighted on all fours, lay on the ground for a few minutes and then got up and walked away. The jump was witnessed by quite a few persons who were dismayed when a dog pounced upon the cat a few seconds after it started to walk away and killed it.

Among the NOTABLES

LAFAYETTE

LAFAYETTE'S birthday should, and will rank in the hearts of Americans along with the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. For we have owed a debt to Lafayette and France for our freedom, which we have never forgotten and which we are just beginning to repay. Pershing, at the tomb of this great Frenchman, said simply, "Lafayette, we are here" and expressed the feeling of all America.

Marie Joseph Paul Yves Roch Gilbert Du Motier, Marquis de Lafayette, was born in Auvergne, France, September 6, 1757. At thirteen he was left an orphan with a princely fortune; at sixteen he married a young girl from one of the country's most noted families; at nineteen, he wanted to help America fight for freedom.

He came to America first with a few comrades, enlisted as a volunteer without pay, but was made a major general. He proved his value as a commander at once. He was obliged to return to France for six months, really as a champion of America at the court of Louis XVI. He returned, used his own money to provide for his men, and took a distinguished part all through our Revolution.

His history, after that, is almost the history of France. He worked for the liberty of his own country, but tried to stop the frenzy of the revolting people who threw French politics into such a chaotic state towards the end of the century. He even suffered five years' imprisonment, in spite of America's pleas for him. After alternate periods of political activity and of quiet, he died in Paris, in 1834.

Rites of Pagan Days

Not everybody knows that every time he or she writes down the name of the day of the week, the name of a Pagan god or goddess is being perpetuated. When England passed under the sway of the Norsemen the people largely adopted the Norse system of gods, fitting them in to the nearest corresponding planet or deity of the Roman calendar. So the Day of Mars—the Roman god of war—turned into Tiu's daeg or day—Tiu being the Norse god of war; the Day of Mercury into Woden's daeg, Jupiter's day into Thor's day, and the Day of Venus into the Day of Freya, the Norse goddess of love, corresponding with Venus. Whether Saturn's day remained as it was or turned into the Day of Saeter, we don't know for certain. But the Sun's day and the Moon's day are obvious.

Bible Stops Dagger

A Bible in her kimono, just above the heart, saved the life of a young Japanese Salvation Army girl, when a man she had refused to marry attacked her with a dagger. She fell to the ground after the thrust of the knife which was stopped by the Bible, and the man, believing her dead, killed himself with the weapon.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received at the Council Chamber, Borough Hall, Carteret, New Jersey, on Monday evening, October 5, 1925, at 8 o'clock P. M., by the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Carteret, for the construction of sidewalks and curbs on both sides of the following streets: Leick Avenue, between Randolph and Noe Street; Lowell Street, between Washington Avenue and Noe's Creek; Louis Street, between Washington Avenue and its Westerly Terminus; Heald Street, between Randolph Street and its Westerly Terminus; in the Borough of Carteret, according to plans and specifications prepared by Oliver F. Mitchell, Borough Engineer. Plans and specifications and form of bid may be had at the office of the Borough Engineer, Room 401, Raritan Building, Perth Amboy, New Jersey, or from Harvey V.O. Platt, Borough Clerk, on deposit of Five ($5) Dollars.

Bids must be made out on the standard proposal form in the manner designated therein and required by the specifications, must be accompanied by a statement from a surety company stating that they will furnish the contractor, should he be successful, with a bond in the amount of one hundred per centum of the bid; also with a certified check of not less than ten per centum of the amount of bid, drawn to the order of Charles A. Brady, Borough Collector, and be delivered at the place and hour above mentioned.

The Borough Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids should they deem it for the best interests of the Borough of Carteret so to do.

By order of the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Carteret.
H. V. O. PLATT,
Borough Clerk.

THE LAST MAN'S CLUB

By ROBERT M. CLUTCH

THE Property of the Last Man.

Emotion choked the voice of the old man as he slowly spelled the words from the age-worn label which still clung raggidly to a bottle covered with the dust of many years.

How sad and how different from the joyous occasion which marked their organization this night sixty-four years before!

He recalled how they had gathered around at the midnight hour, raised their glasses high in the air and had drunk to him.

He recalled them all, the whole thirty-eight, beginning with active young manhood and ending with decrepit old age.

Another lapse of time, than a second went, then a third. One had mysteriously disappeared, one had been murdered, two were drowned, three killed on the railroad, and one had cheated the aims of the club by taking his own life.

The roll of the living grew smaller and that of the dead larger as year after year the survivors met.

He listened reverently until the last lingering echo died out. Then he broke the seal of the bottle. With trembling hand he raised the glass to the tapering neck and inclined the bottle so that the crimson liquid bubbled out.

Then, in a voice trembling with emotion, he called aloud the first man's name. It was the voice of friendship ringing out across nearly three generations of time—the voice of the Last Man toasting the first.

The second man's name was called out in the same quivering voice, the glass inclined toward another vacant chair, then the third and fourth.

Then, in a voice trembling with emotion, he called aloud the first man's name. It was the voice of friendship ringing out across nearly three generations of time—the voice of the Last Man toasting the first.

He stopped and strained his eyes. "Why—why, there's Joe. Poor old Joe. See, Joe, I'm toasting your memory. Your memory, Joe. I'm the—"

He stopped and began to sing a song in a low, cracked voice. It was a strange old song, one musty with the flavor of olden days, with queer rhymings and funny sayings.

The bottle was more than half emptied now, but still the old man kept at his solemn task. Now they were all toasted. Thirty-eight times had he raised the glass in the air, thirty-eight times had he stepped of the old wine to their memory, thirty-eight times had he called their names one by one.

A sense of sadness crept over him. He sat down in his chair wearily, and uttered a long-drawn sigh as his head dropped slowly on his bosom.

A wild chorus, a confusion of familiar sounds, and a few bars of an old song awakened him. He jumped up, blinked in the light, and looked around him.

Great Wall of China Longer Than Supposed

It is one of the Seven Wonders of the World, medieval Europe wrote poems about it, and the Great Lexicographer, friend to Miss Pinkham in the days before Becky Sharp threw the dictionary to the signet that it was worth a visit.

It fell to Sir Aurel Stein of the British museum to put an end to the myth of Kia-Ju-kwan by finding hundreds of miles of wall beyond it in the desert, older and more romantic still, built of bundles of reeds and poplar branches anchored to driven posts.

Their Duty to Watch for Strayed Travelers

The official title of a small group of young men who watch for lost travelers in the mountain passes of Switzerland during the winter is "Soldiers of the Snow."

Horror of Horrors

She was charming and she knew it. What's more, she knew that the whole car full of north-bound passengers knew it, too.

Right in His Line

A story is told of an Irishman who ran the elevator at the old Palmer house, Toronto. One morning he came down to the main floor, carelessly leaving the pit open—a man came along and fell down, hurting himself severely.

Flower Cultivation

The ancient Egyptians, Greeks, Assyrians, Romans and Chinese cultivated flowers for use and pleasure and propagated many plants. One of the most ancient examples of cultivated plants is a drawing representing figs, found in the Pyramid of Gizeh, in Egypt.

His Feelings Aroused

Husbands wrathful with their mothers-in-law sometimes resort to unusual expedients to vent their emotions. Such a one, after a word battle with his wife's mother in which he was worsted, betook himself to his club.

Bare-Headed

Robert had accompanied his mother and father to church. On the seat in front of them sat a woman holding a tiny "bald-headed" baby.

Presidents' Married Lives

The Presidents of the United States who lived a married life of 50 years or more were John Adams and John Quincy Adams. The former was married in 1764 and Mrs. Adams died in 1818.

The Law's Delay

The longest lawsuit I have ever heard of is one that was started in the Ninth century—and it is still going on! It crops up periodically in the republic of Andorra, in the Pyrenees, and relates to some property referred to in a contract drawn up over 1,000 years ago.

What the Adoption of the New Jersey Library Laws Mean to the Carteret Public Library

THE Carteret Free Public Library, formerly a subscription library, would be solely dependent on subscriptions, contributions and proceeds of entertainments arranged for its benefit, had not the present Borough Council voluntarily appropriated sufficient funds for its maintenance.

The adoption of the state laws guarantees an appropriation of from one third to one mill for every dollar's worth of assessable property in the borough, so that the library will be owned by the people, and so with an income that is certain the Board of Trustees will be more able to make plans for the future and more economically administer the affairs of the library.

The library is not a charity, neither should it be regarded as a luxury but rather as a necessity and should be maintained in the same manner as the schools, parks and other public necessities are maintained through the tax levy.

Where all contribute the burden is not felt. Permanency is desired for such an institution, and many valuable government, state and other publications may be obtained without cost, a privilege not always granted to subscription libraries.

The library is incorporated, and the use of the old Y. M. C. A. building has been given the Association by the Industrial Realty Company for library purposes only, with the further agreement that should the library prove to be successful and a permanent institution the property will be deeded to the corporation.

Upon the adoption of the state laws the board of trustees will consist of the Mayor and the Superintendent of Public Instruction as ex-officio members, and five citizens to be appointed by the Mayor and with the consent of the Council. These trustees shall be appointed for one, two, three, four and five years respectively, and the term of one of them shall expire each year and a reappointment made accordingly.

The use which has been made of the library since its opening should warrant its establishment as a permanent institution.

The Barn Dance Custom

THE "Ye Olde New England Barn Dance," which will be held at St. Joseph's Parochial School on Saturday, October 31, recalls that some customs and institutions pass away so swiftly and completely that a succeeding generation can scarcely realize to what extent such a custom was once prevalent and how much it meant to the generation that came before.

The boys and girls, men and women today cannot appreciate how much the pastime known as "The Barn Dance" meant to the people who are now along in years. The diversion is not to be compared to what is now known as "dancing" or better ball room dancing; the old time affairs were not so strenuous and energetic as this latter day form of leg-exercise.

The barn dance is passing out, gone is this custom.

To Starve Mosquitoes

A NEW method of exterminating mosquitoes by starvation is being successfully tried in New Jersey, according to reports. If this method wins, Carteret will surely be the first to apply it.

"When mosquitoes are in the wrigler or larval stage," says Dr. Rodolfs of the State Agricultural Experiment Station, "they have jaws and feed on bacteria and other minute forms of vegetable or animal life. By putting chemicals in ponds or creeks this food matter is destroyed and the young starve to death before they have grown their stinging bills. The quantity of chemicals is so small that it will not injure fish or plant life.

Happiness Contest

WHO is the happiest person in Carteret? There have been beauty, popularity, Venus, movie and other contests, why not a happiness contest? Succumbing to the long distance fad, why not a happiness marathon with the dance, piano, pie and other marathonic successors to the all-Greek sport.

Thefts Betray Man as Boss Planned Reward

New York.—On the eve of retiring, and giving his fur business into the hands of employees, Max Cohen, president of M. Cohen & Brothers, furriers, discovered that the man who was to take over control of the business, John Dingfelder, had been robbing him for five years. The theft had so weakened the company, Cohen said, that he had to postpone his retirement indefinitely.

Dingfelder had worked for him 30 years, he said, starting at $4 a week and slowly increasing his salary until it attained $9,000 annually plus bonuses. Cohen told his story in General Sessions court, where Dingfelder was arraigned for robbery and was sentenced to from six months to three years in the penitentiary. Max Ackerman, a fellow employee, arraigned as Dingfelder's accomplice, received a similar sentence.

VETERAN OPERATED ON FORTY TIMES

Surgeons Restore Sight and Are Rebuilding Body.

New York.—Frank Hasselberger was preparing the other day for his forty-first operation in the last seven years. Army surgeons, determined to put Hasselberger together again so that he looks and feels as he did before he was torn almost to pieces in France seven years ago, will operate on him again at the Walter Reed hospital in Washington.

Hasselberger enlisted in the regular army and was one of the first men sent to France. On September 23, 1918, the section of trench in which he was stationed was bombed by German airplanes and he was taken to a first aid station half blinded and apparently dead. There was a piece of steel in almost every square inch of his body.

The Walter Reed hospital surgeons decided to reconstruct what was left of Hasselberger's body. They restored his sight completely and then devoted themselves to skin grafting operations and plastic surgery on his body. Forty operations over a period of seven years were performed on all parts of his body.

Hasselberger, while unable to move about freely, sees perfectly and he has hope.

"After a couple of dozen more operations," he said, "they figure they'll be able to start work in earnest on me."

Mary Bought Everything, Then Fiance Left Town

Milwaukee.—A broken-hearted woman came to the police station. With difficulty she choked back the tears so that she might make a missing report. Mingled with the sadness at the loss of her fiance was the chagrin of a woman scorned.

The broken-hearted woman is Mary Collins, a widow. She is twenty-five and the mother of two boys, Frank, eight, and William, three.

The missing man is Anton Bostynak. He is twenty-three.

Mary and Anton were to have been married this week. Mary got the marriage license two weeks ago. She had rented a flat at 715 Sixth avenue and furnished it with her own money. She had purchased an engagement and wedding ring.

Then he disappeared leaving a note telling her he'd rather cut off his right arm than marry her.

Man Who Stole Elephants Freed After Two Years

McAlester, Okla.—"Elephant Red" Kole, believed to be the only man in the United States who ever served time for stealing a herd of elephants, was released from the state penitentiary here Saturday when his two-year term expired.

The circus with which Kole traveled experienced financial difficulties. The partners agreed to separate and each took a share of the animals and equipment. Kole went with one of them and a short time later decided to steal back the elephants. They were driven to a point 18 miles away from where they were quartered when officers arrested Kole and returned the animals.

Dog to Die for Chewing U. S. Flags Over Graves

Stamford, Conn.—Arnold Kurth, dog warden, has in his kennels a mongrel found guilty of repeated attacks on the American flag. The dog was caught as a result of complaints that flags over the graves of soldiers and sailors in Woodland cemetery had been chewed to rags.

Kurth passed several days watching at the cemetery and caught the mongrel after it had chewed a flag. The animal will be killed.

Has Six Fingers

Richmond, Va.—William A. Toler, Bertillon expert of the local police department, was confronted recently with the problem of finger printing William Heath, a negro with six fingers on each hand, who was arrested on a charge of robbing a local jewelry store where he was porter. Mr. Toler said no method has been worked out for such cases.

Try It and Be Convinced

Play Rehearsals Tax Patience and Temper

Rehearsals are trying periods. Everybody seems to be wearing his nerves outside his skin. The question whether the actor should take three steps to the right and pause with his left hand on the back of a chair, center, before proposing to the heroine or whether he should do it from the hearthrug, with his left elbow on the mantelpiece, may threaten the friendship of a lifetime.

The author wants him to do it from the hearthrug—is convinced that from there and there only can he convey to the heroine the depth and sincerity of his passion. The producer is positive that a true gentleman would walk around the top of the table and do it from behind a chair. The actor comes to the rescue. He "feels" he can do it only from the left-hand bottom corner of the table.

"Oh, well, if you feel as strongly about it as all that, my dear boy," says the producer, "that ends it. It's you who've got to play the part."

"Do you know," says the author, "I think he's right. It does seem to come better from there."

The rehearsal proceeds. Five minutes later the argument whether a father would naturally curse his child before or after she has taken off her hat provides a new crisis.—Jerome K. Jerome, in Harper's Magazine.

Totem Poles Figure in Religious Belief

The western and northern Indians have no monopoly on the ornamental totem, according to those who have made a study of the subject. Totemism appears in kindred forms all over the world. Savage tribes all apparently possess a set of beliefs and practices, mythological, religious, artistic, ceremonial and economic, that grow from their attitude toward animals, plants and inanimate objects. These beliefs and practices govern their mode of life and give rise to their forms of worship. This idea still lingers with the Alaskan Indians in the significance the totem has in regard to their family and the family myths and superstitions. These Indians believe they are descended from some bird, fish, least or other object, and take this as their symbol. The emblem chosen is carved or painted on all belongings, and is regarded as the visible being who has to do with their welfare, and carries with it certain obligations. Those with the same crest, for instance, cannot intermarry. Christianity is in some places leading to abolition of the totem.—Nature Magazine.

Boy Runs Away From Home on Skates to Escape Uncle

Waterloo, N. Y.—Arthur Davis, thirteen years old, colored, of Chicago, tired of alleged ill treatment at the hands of an uncle in New York, where his parents had left him, alternately roller-skated, walked and rode as far west toward home as Geneva. He was picked up by State Trooper C. L. Fletcher of Waterloo and turned over to the county agent, Miss Eva McCleary, who has communicated with Chicago.

Davis had a pair of roller skates, overalls and $1.50 in money. He said he had earned money en route working for farmers and was saving it to pay his fare home from Buffalo. When he could not catch a ride and reached a good stretch of road he roller-skated.

Lengthy Nickname

The noted Scotch publisher, James Dalrymple, friend of Sir Walter Scott, was so pompous and dignified and so given to the use of long words, that Scott dubbed him "Aldiborontiphosophorio," after Henry Clay's character.

What Shall I Do With My Hard Earned Money?

There is one safe answer—open a savings account in our bank.

The practice of hiding money in the proverbial "old sock" is neither safe nor sane, for you are taking all kinds of chances of loss through fire or theft. Furthermore, hoarded money earns no interest. Accumulating an interest bearing fund is good business.

We want to help you in your financial problems. No bank is more safe than the Carteret Trust Co. We pay you 4% interest on your savings.

Have you considered the miracle of the kernel of corn? You plant a grain of corn and in 100 days you get a corn stalk weighing 2500 times as much as the original seed. You can burn that corn stalk and get light and heat. Our clothes, our food, the wood in our houses are all nothing but the result of the sunshine of bygone years. All our oil and coal are just the sun's bank account, its energy stored away for us to use.

For nineteen years this bank has been storing up experience for you to use. We have seen that when a dollar sowed in the Saving Department of the First National Bank at 4% interest will in a few years store away energy enough in this bank to give us light and heat, food and clothing in our homes while we are going down the other side of lift, which was nothing but the result of the sunshine of bygone years.

Wardens to Report Water Pollutions

State fish and game wardens will cooperate with the newly created Sanitary and Economic Water Commission in preparing a complete survey of the conditions of the waters of New Jersey as respecting pollution. Every stream and lake, bay and ocean shore will be inspected and information concerning every source and character of pollution will be available, when the survey is nished, for the use of the new commission in its water-purification campaign.

The program of the new Sanitary and Economic Water Commission promises comprehensive results. This board was created by the Legislature at the request of many interests, including municipal water supply officials, seashore resort mayors and chambers of commerce agriculturists and sportsmen, who contended that some official body should be definitely charged with checking widespread despoiling of public waters, with its menace to life and property interests and its destruction of fish life.

The new commission is composed of representatives of those state departments and boards directly or indirectly interested in the subject of water pollution. Commissioner Geo. C. Warren, Jr., of Summit, who represents the Fish and Game Commission on the new board has procured the assistance of the New Jersey wardens in making the primary survey of water conditions. Every warden has been furnished with a questionnaire, answers to which will cover conditions in his county in detail.

No Dry Cell for Him

Sim Updike was taken into court the other day as the result of having a slight mixup with a clerk in the Cash Food store. It seems they were arguing over a baseball game and the clerk hit Sim with a 10-cent bag of salt he happened to have in his hand. Sim countered with a B-battery he was taking back to a radio store on account of its being run down. The judge said this was the clearest case of assault and battery that had ever come before him, and that both parties seemed equally guilty. Sim pleaded, however, that as the battery was discharged he should also be discharged, and the judge saw the logic of it and let him off.

YOUR Last Name

IS IT MILTON?

THE American Miltons have the satisfaction of believing that they are collateral descendants of John Milton, the immortal author of "Paradise Lost." At least such may be their claim if they are descended from the Milton family early established at Halifax, N. C.

The tradition is that the ancestor of these Miltons was Judge Christopher Milton, a brother of the poet. A descendant of his was John Milton, who was born in England and came to the United States in 1734, settling in North Carolina.

His son, John Milton, born in Halifax county, North Carolina, in 1740, was secretary of state of Georgia after the Revolution, and received two votes from the Georgia electors for first President of the United States. He married Hannah Spencer and by her had a son, Homer Virgil Milton, an officer in the War of 1812. He was known as General Milton.

General Milton had a son John Milton, born in 1807, who was governor of Florida. Governor Milton had a son, William Henry Milton, a distinguished jurist, and his son, William Hall, born in 1864, was a distinguished surveyor general.

Ohio Man Wears Girl's Clothes for 25 Years

Warren, Ohio.—Twenty-five years in existence as a girl ended for Leona Peters of Martins Ferry when she became George Myers, a full fledged man.

Ten days ago the girl-man came to Warren dressed in a man's clothes for the first time and went to work. About the same time another youth, Clarence Myers, and a girl sixteen years old disappeared from Martins Ferry. The girl's father traced them and came to reclaim his daughter. He also found the second Martins Ferry youth. He recognized him as a lifelong resident of the latter city, where he had always posed as a girl, Leona Peters.

According to police George Myers' mother was disappointed at the time of his birth that a daughter had not come to her and had dressed him as a girl. He retained this costume, until he came to Warren, doing electrical work at Martins Ferry in feminine attire. He decided to quit wearing dresses by leaving the old home town.

Jealous Dog Kills Baby, Goes on Hunger Strike

Berlin.—A dog, jealous of the attention which its woman owner showed to an adopted baby, bit the child to death. The dog then went on a hunger strike, which is attributed to remorse. The victim was Fell Blumenthan, taken from an orphanage by Mrs. Anna Soldt. The foster mother left the house for a moment, leaving the baby on a couch in the living room and the dog in the kitchen. When she returned she found the baby dead, badly bitten in the back of the head. The dog, sulking in the back of the kitchen, refused to move.

Mosquito Bites Kill Man Trapped Hours in a Bog

New York.—Mosquitoes are believed to have caused one death and possibly a second in Hackensack river swamp, near Rutherford, N. J.

Herman Worm, while berry-picking, stepped into a bog. A friend Herman Roehrs, tried to pull him out, but was hours in getting him to high ground. Meantime, big mosquitoes and little mosquitoes had bitten him, and he succumbed. Roehrs is now in a serious condition also from mosquito bites.

A third man is missing and is believed to have fallen into the same bog amid the mosquitoes.

New York.—George J. Purdy of Granite Springs, near Croton, suffered a dislocated shoulder and three fractured ribs when a bull attacked him but was routed by his collie which answered his call for help.

Purdy was leading the bull, which weighs 2,300 pounds. Suddenly the bull rushed at him and pinned him to the ground. He shouted for help. The dog jumped repeatedly at the bull's head, according to Purdy, until the bull retreated.

WHIRLWIND WORKER FLEES FIANCEE

Courts and Wins Girl in Day, Then Vanishes.

Boston.—David came, conquered and then left. And now, his bride-to-be and lots of others are seeking him.

David, who gave his last name as Rubin, a smooth, dapper individual, who said that he came from Miami where he owned a bank, and, with Rockefeller and Bryan, most of the real estate in Florida, was a fast worker. He met a girl in the morning, was engaged to her by noon, "bought" a house for her by afternoon, and had left with her jewelry and her mother's money by the next morning.

During Rubin's week in Boston, he cashed a neat bundle of checks, all on the bank which he "owned" in Miami, among a host of admiring and newly-acquired acquaintances. They total into thousands.

He "bought" a tailor shop and a lot of sewing machines. A sewing machine man cashed $850 of his checks. He gave a real estate man a check for $1,500 on a $21,000 house; he had his girl's mother cash another check for $80 just to buy a few Havana cigars to celebrate his engagement.

And then, leaving his girl waiting in a hotel parlor in New York, where he had taken her to be married, he vanished.

GHASTLY RITES OF VODOO AT GATES OF PARIS

Sacrifice to Serpent Made by Blacks Described by Frenchman.

The other day Marcel Nedaud, the well-known authority on French agriculture and economy and a pioneer in aviation war action, told in Le Petit Journal of a voodoo gathering near Paris which he attended as a favored spectator. He said:

"All the transplanted African races were represented. A pure negro sat next to a quadroon; not far from them was a Congolese woman, holding a whimpering baby in her arms. Welling up from them all was an atmosphere heavy with animality, of morbid and uprooted human beings who had broken all ties with nature and were attached to their native soil only by the bond of a criminal mystery.

"Gradually the agglomeration took shape. A circle formed in the clearing. Two men brought in a sort of cage, which they placed near the center and put some burning sticks to one side of it.

Beginning of Ceremony.
"A gong sounded near me. The circle closed in. The blacks now knelt instead of squatting. A tall old man, clothed in a white mantle, beneath which his polished shoes could be seen, stationed himself between the cage and the fire. He stood motionless for some minutes, his white locks in striking contrast with his dusky face.

He intoned a Vague Rhythm.

Then he intoned a vague rhythm, interrupted by various bust contortions. "With arms extended in supplication and heads lifted imploringly, the listeners repeated at intervals the old man's litanies.

"The priest turned to the priestesses. They held out to him little children, whose eyes now rolled with fright.

"The priestesses seemed to implore the high priest to choose among their sons. He selected one boy, and placed him before the cage. In the child's arms he put a very small kid, which was bleating. An assistant brought in a tub, already half-full of a brownish liquid.

Promise of Rum to Come.
"Rum," my companion murmured. He was already licking his lips.

"There was a last invocation, followed by a series of whistlings. A big serpent came out of the cage. A drum was beaten near him.

"The old man straightened up and brandished a knife over the child's head. I was about to make an outcry. The blade, glittering in the rays from the fire, sank into the kid's throat. The blood dripped in the tub. A deep rattle rose from a hundred anguished breasts.

"The knife descended from the throat to the chest, which it tore open. The priest seized the heart, which he stuck on a long needle and offered to the moon. He threw the liver to the serpent, which slowly swallowed it.

"His majesty the devil is satisfied," my neighbor clucked.

The circle broke up and rushed for the bucket. Black faces plunged into it and reappeared coated with blood and alcohol. Then they began to dance. Under the impulsive moon it seemed to excite all the latent, savage instincts of the hot countries. Sometimes a dancer fell down exhausted. The others kicked him with their feet. Invoking the satan-king, the ancient serpent, who, satiated with food, dancing and cries, no longer extended from his cage anything but his little head, watching with cold eyes the leaps and bounds of his faithful from beyond the seas—the Initiates of Gobi, the Voodooists.

"And all this happened in May, 1925, less than ten kilometers away from Paris."

Death Follows Dare
Pawtucket, R. I.—Albert Holland, fourteen, when dared by two of his companions to climb the tower of the New England Power company at Quinville, touched a live wire and was so severely burned that his clothing almost fell from his body. He was rushed to a hospital, but died.

French Golden Epoch
The golden era of French literature occurred in the reign of Louis XIV, famous for the splendor of his court and his disregard for his people. Cornelle, Racine, Moliere, La Fontaine and Bossuet adorned "his epoch."

Uses Dynamite to Make Suicide Sure

Winemucca, Nev.—Jack Allan, a hard-rock miner, blew himself to bits with dynamite in a downtown hotel here.

The blast was heard throughout the business section and caused a panic in the hotel, which was badly damaged.

Allan had just been discharged from a hospital, where he had been ill for months. He engaged a room, undressed, fired a fuse to the dynamite charge and then lay down on the bed, with the explosive beneath him.

"LORD ORDERED IT," IS FANATIC'S PLEA

Homeless Man Makes Sacrifice of Right Hand.

Cincinnati.—Imbued with the belief that he should carry out the Biblical injunction, "If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off," a man giving the name of Thomas Thomson, forty-eight years old and homeless, made the sacrifice. He cut off his hand and part of his arm by allowing a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train to run over him.

"The Lord told me to do it," was his explanation in the General hospital.

Persons who saw the man before and after the accident thought he had been injured when trying to steal a ride.

Thomson held his dismembered arm in his left hand as he was carried to the hospital. He said little about himself. He had $1.10 in his pockets. He told police he had a brother, John Thomson, living in Indianapolis.

Small Girls Survive Parents' Tragic Deaths

Petersburg, Alaska.—Two girls, five and three years, respectively, told federal authorities here that a moving boat, on which they were passengers, was the scene of a spectacular murder and suicide, which left them at sea adrift and alone in the craft.

The principals in the tragedy were Tom Rise and his wife. After Rise killed the woman, he threw her overboard and then jumped over the side himself.

As if guided by a providential hand, the vessel beached itself and the two little girls crawled off the ship when the tide went out and walked to a cannery, three miles up the beach near here.

The five-year-old child was adopted and said her foster parents had been drinking before the fatal fight took place.

Gets "Thank You" for Returning Lost $14,000

Marked Tree, Ark.—Everett Davis, a resident of Marked Tree, received "thank you" as a reward for returning to a messenger $14,000 in cash which he found in a road near here. Davis noticed a leather brief case fall from an automobile a short distance ahead of a machine he was driving. He recovered the case and chased the driver of the car from which he had seen it fall for about two miles before overtaking him. The man in the machine said he was a deputy sheriff from Memphis, and told Davis the case contained a $14,000 payroll which he was delivering to Etowah, Ark.

Six Held Prisoners by "Confidence Men"

Tampa, Fla.—Six persons, members of two families, were held prisoners for 12 days in a room in the Latin quarter by confidence men, police have discovered. The gang, during the 12 days, extorted more than $2,000 from relatives of the two families. The relatives live in Massachusetts. One of the six prisoners was a seven-week-old baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Germano Scorra and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Santos and their two children arrived in Tampa in search of homes, police said.

The Carteret News will be sent to you by mail for one year for $1.50.

LIFE STREAM BUYS BREAD FOR FAMILY

Man Close to Death After Repeated Cuppings.

Montreal.—After eight times selling his blood to buy bread for his starving family, a worker of this city has been referred to the Family Welfare association by the hospital, which found him too weak to give another transfusion.

For each pint of blood drawn from the veins of his arms he received $20. With each dose he would stagger home and turn the money over to his wife to stock the larder, then he would go to bed for a few hours before going out to work. It is computed by doctors that he sold about six quarts of blood. With the money thus secured he supported himself, wife, four young children, a widowed sister-in-law and her baby.

Fight Duel to Death in Street of Chicago

Chicago.—A pistol duel over a woman, who watched helplessly, resulted in the death of Edward Olson, the woman's ex-convict husband, and probably fatal injuries to her friend, George Kane.

The shooting, which followed a drinking party at the Olson apartment, occurred in a parked automobile. The two men were in the front seat, with Mrs. Olson behind.

Edward Olson was a real estate dealer, and had objected frequently to his wife's relations with Kane.

George Kane, who lies near death in a hospital, was identified as John ("Red") Flennery, alleged robber whom police have been seeking for months in connection with a murder.

End Loveless Lives in Crater's Depths

Tokyo.—When a young woman in Japan passes the marriageable age without having acquired a husband, it is tragedy.

Recently three Japanese women who believed they were on the verge of spinsterhood went to the Asama volcano and, bidding farewell to the world of unappreciative men, leaped to death in the flaming crater. They were Takeji Kobayashi, twenty-five; Shika Sema, twenty-four, and Kiyo Maruyama, twenty-three.

Police investigation disclosed that they had become dependent at the prospect of loveless lives.

Pay-as-You-Leave Cars Are Popular With Women

Oakland, Cal.—The Key System Transit company here has adopted a pay-as-you-leave plan on its local cars to avoid congestion in downtown streets. Passengers are requested to find seats or standing room quickly when they enter and to hand over their fares on leaving.

The method is proving popular with women passengers, especially those burdened with parcels and children.

The new system is being used only on outbound cars, passengers on inbound cars continuing to pay as they enter.

Craving for Notoriety Inspired Boy Vandals

St. Peter, Minn.—A craving to see a "headline" story in the newspapers was the reason given for the desecration of the Kasota (Minn.) cemetery, near here, by two brothers, fourteen and twelve years old, one of whom admitted the vandalism here.

The elder boy not only confessed to tipping over 28 gravestones, but he also admitted setting fire to a country schoolhouse last fall, and to a number of petty thefts committed over a period of a year, officers said.

Jealous Wife Throws Acid in Rival's Face

Norfolk, Va.—Waning love on the part of her husband and his alleged infatuation for a nineteen-year-old girl caused Mrs. Harry Zehm to throw a vial of carbolic acid into the face of her alleged rival, Miss Katherine Thorne.

Between sobs the wife told of the gradual waning of her husband's love and her efforts to persuade the younger girl to keep away from him.

Ease You Have Never Known Before

Ever tried to back in and out of a crowded curb with balloon tires and the ordinary steering gear?

It may be one of an easy "daily dozen" for a Dempsey or a Zbyszko—but it is no joke for the average citizen.

With Moon's new multi-leverage steering gear even a young girl can park with one hand.

And she'll love the immediate sure soft response of Moon's 4-wheel hydraulic brakes. It is literally like sinking your foot into an air cushion.

We want you to try it just once. Find out how Moon's new steering invention makes balloon tire driving 100% luxury.

Ease is merely one of the high spots of the new advance-engineered Moon. Body, motor and chassis are far in advance of current practice.

If you want better looks, better performance than you've ever known before, treat yourself to a new hour of ease in a new Moon.

The result will surprise you — and the price.

The Locomotive Engineer

The economical handling of coal in the big storage yards that surround the electric and gas plants of PUBLIC SERVICE Electric and Gas Company, is a necessity to efficient plant operation.

At Essex Station, 100,000 tons of coal are kept on hand; at Marion some 75,000 tons, while the plans for the completed Kearny Station call for a storage capacity of 365,000 tons.

The Locomotive Engineer operates the yard engines that move that part of this supply which is not at once transferred from barge or car to station bunkers.

He belongs to one of the many different classes of workers whose services are essential to the proper functioning of the organization which supplies light, heat and power to PUBLIC SERVICE customers.

Andres now present.

Permission was granted Max Greenwald to dig down Salem Avenue for sewer in the road—to replace same in good condition, he to furnish bond for damages, if any, on motion by Lyman and Andres—carried.

Attorney Jacoby was heard on fence partly burned near garbage dump.

The Council decided that $50.00 was more than enough to pay for the same.

Mr. Sosin appeared for sidewalks and curbs on Harris Street—was brought up. The Council decided that there was not enough frontage to warrant such work at the present time.

The Clerk was instructed to so notify Mr. Sosin on motion by Lyman & Phillips—carried.

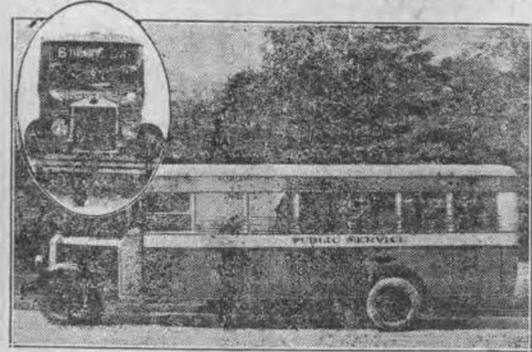

Motion by Ellis and Lyman to adjourn was carried.

H. V. O. PLATT, Borough Clerk.

PUBLIC SERVICE TO MANUFACTURE IMPROVED BUSES FOR OWN USE

Public Service Transportation Company has just put into service in its Essex Division Bus "B 1,000" designed by its own experts and built in its own shops.

If the results of actual service operation prove as satisfactory as have the extended preliminary tests of the new bus the company will begin the building of buses on a quantity basis, and provide its own bus equipment, as Public Service Railway Company builds the street cars it uses.

Bus "B 1,000" was designed in the light of the experience that the transportation company has gained through the operation of some 800 buses over some 500 miles of route. It embodies the ideas of both mechanical and operating officers who have combined to produce a vehicle suited to the company's service conditions and of which one of the outstanding characteristics shall be dependability.

A Buva six-cylinder motor, Parish frame, Huck axles, Fuller transmission and a body designed by the company's engineers were used in the construction.

Rattan covered seats for twenty-seven passengers, with cross seats in the rear and longitudinal seats surrounding a well in front are provided, experience showing that with this arrangement long distance riders will move to the rear, leaving the front part of the bus for those who ride shorter distances.

Doors are operated mechanically from the driver's seat and while the present bus has but one front door, others to be manufactured will have two, one for entrance and for exit. An emergency door in the rear at the center meets the specifications of various cities and the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners.

The interior is finished in white and mahogany, with eight ceiling lights that give ample illumination and in all interior arrangements the comfort of passengers has been kept in mind.

From the mechanical standpoint, ruggedness and strength of construction stand out prominently. This is especially true as to what is technically known as the "rear" of the bus—the rear axles, differential housings, brake drum and other mechanism.

Failure of bus mechanism is much more frequent than failure of street car mechanism and is one of the chief causes of interruptions to schedule. The designers of "B 1,000" started out to secure dependability, and every part of the bus was planned with this idea in mind. The "rear" is larger, stronger and better than that of any bus now in service, every bit of mechanism having been chosen in the light of actual bus operating conditions.

The preliminary tests of "B 1,000" have been unusually thorough. Before the body was placed in position, ten tons of concrete blocks were loaded on a temporary platform and the bus was sent out on the road. With only such interruptions as were occasioned by the bringing in of the bus to the shops for minor adjustments, it was driven continuously for 12,000 miles. Three shifts of operators were used and day and night the bus covered good roads and rough roads all over New Jersey, trips being made into Warren and other outlying counties.

The result of this test was satisfactory and has aroused the enthusiasm of M. R. Boylan, vice president in charge of operation, who says:

"We believe that by building buses of the "B 1,000" type in our own shops, we will be able to improve the dependability of service, make bus maintenance easier and reduce its cost and at the same time lower the investment charge for new equipment."

"I am convinced that our riders will not only be fully satisfied by the character of the new bus but will be greatly benefited by the improvement in service it will make possible."

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT By F. A. WALKER

BIASED MINDS

TO AN incredible degree, our beliefs are greatly influenced by our feelings and wishes. By bringing together ideas and dwelling on them under the sway of strong feelings, the mind tends naturally to believe in the corresponding realities.

This is seen in the strength of belief associated with the wild dreams of youth. To keep these airy visions constantly before the mind without testing them in practice, sooner or later is sure to cause a bias or prejudice which in turn brings about dangerous likings or likings to the detriment of the intellectual forces.

To exercise the senses and let them have undisturbed freedom is the best way to accumulate the richest store of clear impressions, without which no man or woman in his or her calling or profession can hope to attain any degree of distinction.

To become biased and "set" in ideas is to become warped and imprisoned in a vicious circle from which, as the years advance, there is but little likelihood of escaping.

The simple process of thinking clearly, accepting facts as they present themselves and weighing the accumulated evidence thus gathered on scales whose weights are true, is the only method by which the young or the old can expect to achieve and attain.

If you will study the bright intellects of the past, the minds which have left their shining monuments in the world, you will find that they reached their exalted places by clear reasoning, and a cheerful willingness to listen to words of counsel from others.

There was in them no desire to declare their superiority, for they were ever anxious to avoid the ruts and drive steadily up the hills with free reins and open minds untrammelled by prejudice and bias, those terrible destroyers of success, lying in wait at the cross roads for the foolish, the obstinate and the self-conceited.

30 Candidates Report for High School Football Practice--Leaguers Triumph

BOYS RECEIVE COACHING AID

Four Men, Herman Gerke, Bill Hagen, Joe Wiseman and Andrew, Bodnar, Old Grid Fans, Volunteer Services to Eleven.

NEED CONSENT YET

Supervising Principal of Schools Is to Give Verdict Whether There Will Be a Team in a Few Days—O. K. Most Likely.

Encouraging work is taking place in football here. Due to the enthusiasm of four men, Herman Gerke, Bill Hagen, Joe Wiseman and Andy Bodnar, all gridiron followers, a varsity eleven will represent the local high school this fall for the first time in sport history.

A request has been given the supervisor to permit the boys to have a football team. It is most likely that the petition will be granted, since the local school has been known for having unusual spirit in all sports, especially in the New Brunswick field day meets, in which the grammar school always entered.

THIRTY CANDIDATES REPORT

Thirty boys reported for the first practice at Brady's Field Monday evening at 5:30. The elementary steps and rules of the game have been taught them by the four above mentioned coaches.

Their willingness and fondness of the game is a vital factor in the success of this team. It is an almost truthful fact now that the team is a success already.

LIGHT WORK NOW

Only light work will be indulged in this week, with the prospects of the first scrimmage coming probably tomorrow afternoon or later.

It is remarkable how these candidates show such pep. They report for practice practically on time, at 5:30, some not even taking the time to have supper, while others check up at home and run out immediately with a half loaf of bread in their hands which they much heartily on their way to practice.

BOYS DETERMINED

The boys are determined to have a team and with the aid of others they will have their desires realized. Four men have already joined their ranks, volunteering to give their coaching services.

LYNCH TO SCRAP SAM KAUFMANN

To Swap Blows With Harlem Batter for Six Rounds at Stapleton on Columbus Day.

Boxers are again rising to the limelight with their hooks and cross shots to the button. Several fighters under the direction of Dave Lynch are busy training for engagements which are scheduled to take place within a very short time.

Dick Lynch heads the list with the anticipation of scoring a victory over Sammy Kaufmann, of New York City, in a six rounder at Stapleton, S. I., Columbus Day, October 12. Sammy is a hard hitter and in his two previous battles at the Stapleton arena he scored knockouts.

Lynch is doing quite a bit of hard training for this bout. He is accompanied by several other scrappers, also. Frankie Tucker, a promising youth of the Port Reading Athletic Club, is one of the trainers, who is to meet Frankie Carman, of Perth Amboy, at Ed Poulson's show at Amboy next Tuesday night.

Kid Phillips, formerly of Porto Rico, weighing about 126 pounds, is also getting ready for a meeting with Willie Davis, a Somerville lad, in a six rounder at Highland Park, Tuesday, October 13th. Joe O'Dowd, another local man, 170 pounds, is also booked to fight on the same night at the same arena, having as his opponent Babe Mathews, of Bound Brook.

O'Dowd fought the first fight in his career a short time ago at Perth Amboy and lost in one round to Chizmadia. His stage fright lost for him more than anything else.

WHIRLWINDS WIN

Light Juniors Romp Off With 24-0 Victory in Opener.

Displaying a running attack of sterling character, the Whirlwinds, a light junior football eleven, defeated the Harrington Stars in their opening game of the season at the Columbus School grounds, Wednesday afternoon, by a score of 24 to 0. The Stars played a neat game, but were powerless against the winners, whose scoring attack was the strongest in the second period.

All Woodcock Hunters Alert for Fall Sport

New Jersey sportsmen who consider woodcock hunting one of the most alluring of game thrills have taken out special licenses preparatory to the opening, yesterday, of the season for this migratory bird.

Hunting of woodcock without the special license and killing of upland game during the period for which the special license is required are heavily penalized by game laws.

Charlie Leslie, 148 pounds, a local scrapper of much ring ability and skill, will swing into action again, Tuesday night, at Ed Poulson's show in Perth Amboy against Farmer Sullivan. His opponent is an old timer with much experience behind his years.

Leslie is down to condition and should give the Farmer a good battle. He has been taking part in numerous engagements during the last two months at Long Branch and other places. In one of his seashore bouts he defeated George Scott, of Bayonne, with whom he expects a rematch.

He is also a manager, having reined of two youths in his hands. One of these is Charlie Comba, who squares off with opponents in flyweight ranks. Comba may fight Joey Toth at the next show in Perth Amboy.

Billy Urbanski, according to official figures, batted .272 for Jersey City in the just recently completed International League pennant race, in which the club finished seventh to the winning Baltimore Oriole machine.

Urbanski went to Jersey City from the sandlots of this region, after the International schedule was more than half completed at a time when the Jersey City nine was in a terrific losing slump, dropping all the way from second place to seventh, out of which it was unable to move to the end of the campaign.

It is likely that he will remain with Jersey City to play short during the 1926 season. Lou Malone, the regular for this position is expected to be unfit, that is with the same speed and skill possessed by Urbanski, for next year, due to many tough breaks and injuries attained by him this season.

LOSERS RALLY LATE

Also Go On Spree in End, But Are Short a Run—Sabo and Karaszewski Feature Triumph With Timely Performances.

By Eddie Ekroy

Last Sunday was "King Brady Day." The Leaguers played a benefit game for the veteran catcher and drew a rather large gate receipt in conquering the Rahway Stars, a team composed of tossers hailing from Rahway and neighboring districts.

Probably the battle will not be the final in the Leaguers' 1925 history, for, if the Field Club succeeds in arranging a game with Edouard Migliffier Mack, the Leaguers' pilot, another and a more interesting game will wind up the season for the Mack crew.

Sunday's game was good, nevertheless, and every man on the local nine had to play at his best to nose out the visitors. The playing of Carteret men was bad at times, but the final punch of three tallies in the eighth inning upset the Rahway performers and they were unable to attain their balance again.

RAHWAY FIGHTS GAMELY

Rahway fought to the end, making it appear as though they would reach their feet again, but the outfielding of Butternut Karaszewski prevented victory from being snatched out of the hands of the locals. Butternut raced all ground center grabbing in hard fly balls, which were being carried extensively by the puzzling wind.

After Karaszewski started the scoring in the first with a home run wallop to left-center, his favorite driving place, Rahway tied the score in the third inning on Leschick's boot of Smith's grounder and successive singles by Dametsch and Hasbrouck.

Willie and Jimmie were indulging in a bout of boasting. "My dad is a policeman!" proclaimed Willie. His friend laughed in scorn. "What of it?" he demanded. "Why, that's nothing. You listen to what I can tell you. Last night my dad was arrested by your dad for speeding!"

double killing after nabbing one of these. His playing kept Rahway in the running until the end, not to say anything of his hit.

VISITORS FORGE AHEAD

The visitors forged into the front by knocking in a counter in the fifth frame on another error by Leschick and Donovan's scratch single to Sabo—a bad bounder. Carteret overtook the Stars in the next inning. Mickey Dzurilla singled and scored on Sabo's smashing single to left. Sabo starred with the willow for the locals, getting three hits, all singles, in four times at bat. Dzurilla got two.

With the count even at two runs apiece, the Leaguers landed upon Rusty Donovan's curves in the eighth inning and belted for a trio of runs over the dish which proved to be just enough to win. Leschick, who wasn't having much success in the game, walked, stole second and scored when Dzurilla shot a single to direct left. Sabo countered him with another one-try swat and scored himself after Smith pulled in Sullivan's long sacrifice fly in deep left field.

Rahway got two in the ninth on Coppola's double and two errors, but Donovan was left stranded on first base with the tying run while watching Karaszewski make the final two putouts in catching flies of Dametsch and Hasbrouck.

Makes Night Driving SAFE

The Controllable Beam on the Better Buick

Light driving strain, the blind insecurity when you dim to keep clear out of the eyes of an approaching driver—both have been eliminated by the Controllable Beam Headlight, a feature of the Buick Buick.

Best time visibility every inch of the way! Light light all the time! A simple control on the steering wheel lowers the beam when you near another car.

And this is only one of many 1926 improvements which Buick engineering has given to the Buick Buick. 75 horsepower and more; DuPont in Duco finish; Triple Seal Valve-in-Head engine; light-pedal pressure clutch; approved mechanical 4-wheel brakes; and many other exclusive advancements now make the Buick Buick the better car to own and drive.

CLOSE BIDDING FOR WORK HERE

Bids Received for Improvement Work Monday Night--Water Situation Also Discussed.

Bids for street improvements were received, the water situation of the borough was discussed and other borough matters were taken up at the busy session of the borough council held last Monday night. A total of eighteen bids were received for the sidewalks and curbs on Lowell street, Louis street, Heald street and Leick avenue. William C. Smith was lowest on Lowell, Louis and Heald street and the United Construction was low on the Leick avenue job.

The complete table of bids are as follows:

Leick avenue: United Construction and Supply Company, $2,177.57; Hermann Construction Company, $2,293.24; William C. Smith, $2,213.15; John Glendening, $2,257.95; Charles Horvath, $2,321.35.

Lowell street: William C. Smith, $4,681.60; United Construction and Supply Company, $4,685.78; Hermann Construction Company, $4,860.32; John Glendening, $4,914.50; Charles Horvath, $4,989.50.

Louis street: William C. Smith, $6,128.59; United Construction and Supply Company, $6,186.05; John Glendening, $6,281.98; Charles Horvath, $6,281.98; Charles Horvath, $6,633.35.

Heald street: William C. Smith, $3,362.45; United Construction and Supply Company, $3,413.08; John Glendening, $3,493.19; Charles Horvath, $3,665.75.

The bids were referred to the street and road committee and engineer, awards to be made on another occasion.

An ordinance by Councilman Frank Andres, calling for widening of Washington avenue, was passed at the first and second readings.

Councilman Hercules Ellis, chairman of the fire and water committee reported that the hydrants and equipment are now installed. He informed the council that a test of the pumper will be held on tomorrow afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock.

The Middlesex Water Company is absolutely broke, it has not paid its current bills for two months for lack of cash in the treasury and has no funds to make any extensions or lay new water lines, Ambrose Mundy, superintendent of the water company, told the borough council in the course of a spirited debate with Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill which lasted over one hour.

The mayor asked Mr. Mundy whether the company would consider making a few extensions on streets where new houses are being erected, a matter of a few hundred feet. "We would rather deal with the company than go to the utilities commission," Mayor Mulvihill assured him.

Mr. Mundy replied that at the present moment the company could not consider making any extensions or building new lines because of lack of money. "We cannot raise any money since we have not sufficient revenue on our capital. Our hands are tied."

Asked by the mayor for a suggestion, Mr. Mundy said that the best

STRUCK BY AUTO; DIES OF INJURIES

Edward Woodson, Colored, Succumbs at Hospital to Fatal Injuries Received Saturday When Struck by an Automobile.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Car Crashes Into Pole, When Man Tries to Avoid Hitting Bicycle Rider--Toth in Accident at Port Reading.

As the result of injuries received on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the corner of Roosevelt and Central avenues, when he was struck by an unidentified automobile, Edward Woodson, forty-five, colored, employed at the plant of the Liebig Fertilizer Works, died at the Perth Amboy City hospital on Tuesday morning. He was suffering from a fracture of the skull and fracture of the left leg.

Woodson was found by a pedestrian, who reported it to the local police. Officer Peter Javilak was assigned to the case, but before he had reached the spot where the colored man was lying in a pool of blood, the informant had gone. The police immediately set trail for the car, but was unable so far to locate the driver.

Crashes Into Pole

In an effort to avoid striking a boy on a bicycle, Harry Murman, of 333 Union street, Elizabeth, crashed his car into a telegraph pole at the corner of Washington avenue and Louis street. The man was attended by Dr. J. Wantoch for cuts on two of his fingers, cut on arm, which required four stitches. Motorcycle Officer Andres investigated. Murman was on his way home when he noticed two boys on bicycles. As his car approached, the boys separated and one of the bicycles almost landed in the path of the car.

Hits Bicycle Rider

While driving along Woodbridge avenue near Sixth street, Port Reading, Michael Toth, of 28 Edmond street, this borough, struck Martin Zeltzer, fifteen, of Port Reading, Tuesday morning. The boy was knocked down from his bicycle. He was given first aid by Dr. S. Messinger and removed to the Perth Amboy City hospital. He had severe lacerations over his face.

Judgment Stands in $10,000.00 Award

Thenton, Oct. 7.—In the Supreme Court, Parker and Black, the case Court in Trenton before Justice of Elisava Mawnis by Peter Mawnis her next friend against Sophie Olah, the Supreme Court dismissed the motion to vacate the judgment obtained by Mawnis against Olah. Attorney Francis A. Monaghan who was associated with Ira J. Katchen of the law firm of Meisterman and Katchen of Newark represented the Olahs in Trenton.

The case was tried a few years ago in the Supreme Court when Mawnis sued Olah for damages alleged to have been received by the child of Mawnis through the negligence of Olah and her son. Judgment of $10,000.00 was awarded to Mawnis by the court. Attorney Maxwell Sosin represented Mawnis the plaintiff in the case. Attorneys Francis A. Monaghan and Ira J. Katchen tried to have the judgment vacated but the Supreme Court refused to do so.

Nellie McNeill Dies

Funeral services were held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church for Nellie McNeill, forty-two years of age, who died on Tuesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. John D. Robinson, 41 Chrome avenue, this borough. Interment took place at St. James cemetery, Woodbridge.

The deceased is survived besides her sister by three nieces, Lillian, Catherine and Edna.

Card of Thanks

We, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere thanks to all our relatives, friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness shown us in our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved sister and aunt, Minnie McNeill, and especially the Rev. Father O'Connor and the Sisters, the bearers and all those who sent the beautiful floral tributes; the ladies of the Carteret Republican Club and all those who attended the funeral.

[Signed] Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Robinson and daughters, Lillian, Katherine and Edna.

BOARD GIVES ELECTION DATA

Today is Last Day for Filing Vacancies for Nominations of Candidates Named by Direct Petition.

ELECTION ON NOV. 3

Out of Town Voters Can Mail Ballots Provided They Make Applications Before the 20th of October.

With election day less than a month away, the Middlesex County Board of Elections is notifying voters who will be out of town on November 3 that they may have their ballots mailed to them, provided they make application to the board on or before October 20 and are properly registered.

The last registration day for the voters in Carteret is October 13. Voters who did not appear at the polls in the primary election and who failed to register on June 2 or June 16, will be unable to cast a ballot in the gubernatorial contest unless they register on Tuesday, October 13.

A week's grace, however is allowed by law for those voters who may have been ill or out of town on October 13. They may be registered by filing affidavits with the Carteret Board of Election in or before October 20.

The calendar of election events for the next month in the Borough of Carteret are as follows:

Today--Last day for filing vacancies for nominations of candidates, named by direct petition or certificate.

Oct. 13--Third and last registration day in Carteret, between 1 and 9 P. M.

Oct. 20--Last day to make applications with the Middlesex County Board of Elections for appointment of challengers for the general election.

Oct. 20--Last day for voters who have been absent or ill to file affidavit of registration.

Oct. 20--Last day for absentee voters to apply to Board of Elections for right to vote by mail.

Oct. 29 and 30--County Board of Elections will sit from 1 to 9 P. M. at the County Court House, for the purpose of revising and correcting registry lists.

Oct. 30 and 31--Campaign managers must file election statements.

Nov. 2--Carteret clerks deliver ballots, ballot boxes and keys to boards of registry and elections.

Nov. 3--General election, polls opening at 6 A. M. and closing at 7 P. M.

Republican Club Open House Tomorrow Night

On Saturday evening the Roosevelt Republican Club will hold open house for the men, in their new home at 23 Washington avenue, from 7 P. M. until midnight. All are invited. Refreshments will be served and good music will be in attendance. Banner raising, entertainment, etc. Come out and join the crowd, the campaign is now on.

SEN. WHITNEY HERE TUESDAY

Accompanied By United States Senator Walter E. Edge in Tour of Entire County--Big Delegation Looked For.

ARRIVES 7 O'CLOCK

Mayor Mulvihill, Councilman Andres, Mrs. Drake Head of Reception Committee of Candidates.

Senator Arthur Whitney, Republican gubernatorial candidate, speak in this borough on Monday, Oct. 12, and a committee composed of Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill, Councilman Frank Andres, Mrs. John H. Nevill and Mrs. Carrie A. Drake have been appointed by the county campaign committee to arrange for the local reception, according to an announcement made by the Republican county committee. According to the schedule prepared for the tour, the party should arrive here at 7 P. M.

In his visit to Carteret, Mr. Whitney will be accompanied by United States Senator Walter E. Edge, who will also speak. Steward Appleby, congressional candidate and Freeholders Clarence M. Haight and Louis J. Belloff and assembly candidates, Thomas L. Hanson, Douglas Hicks and Wilton T. Applegate, all of whom have been selected as the parties for the respective races will also participate and speak at the various meetings.

A band will precede the 100 car caravan which will take the swing around the county and at each stop a musical program will be rendered. All voters, irrespective of party affiliations are cordially and urgently requested to attend and hear the platform of the candidates.

The day's activities will be concluded at New Brunswick and Perth Amboy, where old time rallies with red fire and music will be held. The Y. M. H. A. hall on Kirkpatrick street, New Brunswick, and the High School Auditorium, State street, Perth Amboy, have been secured for the evening meetings which will open promptly at 8 o'clock.

In addition to all of the Republican candidates whose names will appear on the ballot, Senator Edge, Former Judge Robert Carey of Hudson County and Former Judge Harold B. Wells of Burlington county, will speak at both night meetings.

The automobiles which will make the swing around the county will assemble at Dunellen at 9:30 in the morning, where a half hour will be spent.

Chamber of Commerce Will Meet Tonight

The Carteret Chamber of Commerce will meet this evening in their offices at 72 Roosevelt avenue for the purpose of going over some important matters which they feel should be brought before the people of the borough as well as to act on new applications for membership.

T. A. Clark of the National Chamber of Commerce is scheduled to be present to address the members and a smoker will follow in the evening.

The committee on activities plan to give an outline at this meeting for the coming events during the winter. Joseph A. Hermann is president of the local body and Maxwell Sosin is secretary.

To Offer Tomorrow Carteret Terrace

Louis B. Nagy, of 75 Roosevelt avenue, this borough, exclusive sales agent for West Carteret Terrace, will offer beginning tomorrow and continuing until Monday, 281 lots situated in the most desirable location. The Terrace is the highest and most central located property in Greater Carteret and offers the most wonderful opportunity to buyers, dwellers, builders and investors. It is situated within a stone's throw of the railroad station. No similar opportunity will be offered to the people of this vicinity. General indications point to a quick sale of all the lots, as has been the case with the Hagaman Heights tract.

Euchre Planned

The Harmony Social Club will hold its third annual euchre and dance at Dalton's auditorium on Monday night, November 2. The prizes are now on display in the show window of the clubhouse on Roosevelt avenue.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. A. Dunn and family wish to express their sincere gratitude for the kindness and sympathy tendered them during their recent bereavement by friends and relatives. The Fire Company No. 1 is especially thanked.

—Mrs. A. Dunn and Family.

MISS IDA DAVIS WEDS A. BONNER

Pretty Wedding Held at St. Joseph's Church Tuesday Morning--Reception Follows.

MR. BISHOP WEDS ELIZABETH GIRL

Elaborate Church Ceremony Is Held at St. Mary's Church in Elizabeth on Wednesday--Many Carteret Guests There.

Miss Genevieve Marie duFrane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. duFrane, of 335 Vine street, Elizabeth, became the bride of Theodore A. Bishop, son of Mrs. John A. Bishop, at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in St. Mary's church, Elizabeth. Rev. J. H. Byrne officiated in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Thompson, of Newark, as maid of honor, the Misses Geraldine Ebbesson, of New York, and Helen Bishop, a sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids, and Miss Mary Tory, of Madison, a cousin of the bride, as flower girl. Norman V. duFrane, a brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Robert Thomas and the bridegroom's brother, John Bishop.

The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with chintilly lace. She wore a court train of satin and a tulle veil also trimmed with chintilly lace and caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Thompson wore a dress of leg-horn color crepe de chine trimmed with black velvet ribbons. Her picture hat, slippers and hose matched her dress. She carried orchid chrysanthemums. Miss Ebbesson had a dress of shell pink. She carried yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Bishop was attired in turquoise blue, carrying pink chrysanthemums. The flower girl wore apple green crepe de chine and carried a hat of pink roses.

The wedding march was played by William Spada. Miss Elsie M. Eller sang "Ave Maria." Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop sailed yesterday for a wedding trip to Florida. They will reside at 120 Lincoln avenue.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Bishop was employed as private secretary in the New York office of the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Bishop is the youngest member of the Carteret Board of Education. He is clerk of the Board of Health and is active in Republican politics. He holds a government position in New York City.

Foresters To Hold Euchre and Dance

Final arrangements have been completed for the euchre and dance which the Carteret Court, No. 48, Foresters of America, will hold in the German Lutheran hall on Saturday night, Oct. 17. Many handsome prizes will be awarded.

Miss Ida Davis, popular teacher of the borough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, of 47 Lafayette street, became the bride of A. J. Bonner, son of Mrs. Kathryn Bonner, of 21 Atlantic street, at a brilliant wedding which took place at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church on Tuesday morning. Rev. Father John R. O'Connor, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. She was given away by her brother Frank. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with autumn foliage and cut flowers.

Following the ceremony relatives of the couple received their guests at the church door. A wedding dinner for the members and families of the bridal party was held at the Davis home, which was prettily decorated. The bride's gown was of white embroidered bridal satin and her tulle veil was arranged in cap fashion. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Miss Mary J. Donohue, the bridesmaid, wore a dress of rose orchid satin, a gold lace hat and slippers to match. Leo J. Bonner was the best man.

Rev. Father O'Connor gave special permission for a sister of the convent to play the organ at the wedding. This was probably due to the fact that the bride was at one time the organist of the church. A splendid musical program was rendered by the choir at the ceremony.

The couple left on an extended wedding trip. On return they will live in their own home on Longfellow street.

The invited guests were: Mrs. Catherine Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. S. Culp, Leo Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. John Buckley, Mrs. Mary Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peck, Benjamin Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. William Harrington and family, Miss Fannie Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Byrne and family, Frank Tierney, Mr. and Mrs. Tighe, Miss Fannie Denlea, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Davis, Frank Davis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kelly and family, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sheridan, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. William Compton and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Whittall and family, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sheridan, Jr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received at the Council Chamber, Borough Hall, Carteret, New Jersey, on Monday evening, October 19, 1925, at 8 o'clock P. M., by the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Carteret, for the construction of sidewalks and curbs on Wheeler Avenue, between Randolph Street and Roosevelt Avenue, in the Borough of Carteret, according to plans and specifications prepared by Oliver F. Mitchell, Borough Engineer. Plans and specifications and form of bid may be had at the office of the Borough Engineer, Room 401 Raritan Building, Perth Amboy, New Jersey, or from Harvey V. Platt, Borough Clerk, on deposit of Five ($5) Dollars.

Bids must be made out on the standard proposal form in the manner designated therein and required by the specifications, must be accompanied by a statement from a surety company stating that they will furnish the contractor, should he be successful, with a bond in the amount of one hundred per centum of the bid; also with a certified check of not less than ten per centum of the amount of the bid, drawn to the order of Charles A. Brady, Borough Collector, and be delivered at the place and hour above mentioned.

The Borough Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids should they deem it for the best interests of the Borough of Carteret so to do.

By Order of the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Carteret.
HARVEY V. PLATT,
Borough Clerk.

Empress of Japan Takes Care of Own Silkworms

Tokyo.—The empress is as much devoted to sericulture as are the numerous women of Japan's rural districts. There is a special cocoonery constructed in the palace compound and, since the beginning of the spring, the empress has personally busied herself with taking care of the silk worms and feeding them on mulberry leaves.

The transfer of the matured silk worms to the cocoon beds of the royal cocoonery will be made shortly and it is estimated that the cocoon yield this year will be no less than 50 bushels. By order of her majesty the cocoons will be taken to the Tokyo silk reeling school to be converted into silk thread. When this is done the silk skeins will be sent to the higher technological school at Kyoto to be carefully woven into habutae. It is said that the emperor now wears a kimono woven from this habutae cloth which came from her majesty's cocoonery.

Let's Do It

WHAT is the cause of the East Rahway stagation?

This question was well answered at the meeting of the Borough Council on Monday during the extended discussion of the water situation. East Rahway is not progressing, because of lack of water and gas and other needed improvements. It is therefore the general accord that this important section of our borough will not begin to build up until the necessary improvements are at hand, the chief of which are water and gas.

Mayor Mulvihill, aside from telling a representative of the water company, what the people of the borough think about the company, also hit the right keynote, when he suggested and authorized the street and road committee and the fire and water committee to look into a plan to bring water to East Rahway. The cost of building water mains to that section is estimated at $14,000, a small amount enough, for, East Rahway has a large area and will make such an investment worth while.

The project, as the mayor outlined, could be easily accomplished. The borough would build the mains and issue bonds, as it does for other improvements. Those who will begin to build their homes in that section will have to make their own connections from the principal water main. The water company which will furnish the water service will undoubtedly make more than sufficient revenue to pay off the borough the cost of the pipes and on top give the borough a percentage for all water sold to consumers.

The plan is now being worked in Woodbridge. The company having refused to lay water mains, the township proceeded to do it on its own accord. This is exactly what Carteret should go ahead and do, instead of falling on the knees of the heads of the water company and praying for extensions of new pipes.

East Rahway has every reason to develop rapidly. It has a railroad station along the main line of the Central Railroad to the shore and New York. With new houses going up, the railroad officials would make more stops at this junction. Aside from railroad transportation, East Rahway has its fast line and excellent bus service between Rahway, Carteret and Perth Amboy.

East Rahway is bound to become the splendid residential section of Carteret, if improvements are made and building activity starts there. The center of Carteret is built up solidly. It is difficult to purchase residential plots at reasonable figures. It stands to reason therefore that East Rahway building movement will meet with ready response.

Final Registration Day

VOTERS of Carteret, men and women, should not lose sight of the fact that Tuesday of next week, October 13, is the last and only registration day. If they are not already registered, and do not personally attend to the enrollment on that day they cannot vote on election day.

There are thousands of voters of both parties in the county who are not registered; and hundreds of these hail from the precincts of this borough. A house-to-house canvas was made and it is evident that the canvassers did not locate every single voter. The ones who were overlooked should enroll Tuesday.

This is one of the most important elections that has taken place in years in this State. A governor will be elected. It will be decided whether the Democrats or Republicans will control the State. Voters of both parties here are deeply interested—at least, should be deeply interested. Local choices will be made in addition.

The June primaries caused the present slump in enrollment. The voters were not interested in any extent in a primary election at that time of the year. They neither registered for it, nor went to the polls on primary day. The result is that a large percentage of voters in this district are not qualified to vote unless they go to the enrollment places next Tuesday and have their names put on the registry lists.

Injured at Local Plant

Martin Tumchick, twenty-five, of 311 Grove avenue, Woodbridge, sustained burns on his back and arms last Friday afternoon while at work in the plant of the Wheeler Condenser & Engineering Company. He was taken to the Rahway hospital.

Dance Tomorrow

St. Demetrius Ukrainian-Catholic church, of 645 Roosevelt avenue, will hold its annual dance at the Greek Catholic Hall tomorrow night. The event will begin at 6 o'clock. The Harmony Club will furnish the dance music for the evening.

way would be to bring the matter before the Public Utilities Commission. Mr. Mundy then continued to stand fast on his assertion that the company is flat broke.

The superintendent said that the company would make extensions and lay pipes if the consumer or the borough would purchase funds to finance the work.

Building Inspector John H. Nevill suggested that the council authorize the inspector of the Board of Health to take up this water question with the State Board of Health. He believed that the state body could force the company to lay pipes. He believed that the borough has an ordinance against the use of water wells. On motion of Councilman John J. Lyman, the clerk was authorized to communicate with the state board and secure an opinion.

Health Inspector Frank Born thought that there was no ordinance against using well water, particularly if the well is not condemned. He said the lack of water lines in hampering the progress of the borough. The inspector presented a bottle of water with a heavy sediment. The health inspector was authorized to analyze the water. At the suggestion of Councilman Andres, the firemen will flush the fire hydrants at regular periods.

Mayor Mulvihill suggested that the borough lay its own water main to East Rahway. The cost was estimated at $14,000. The consumers would have to tap in their own connection. The work would be paid through assessment, a similar procedure being done in Woodbridge. The mayor recommended that the street and road committee and the fire committee get together and outline a plan for bringing water to East Rahway under the new suggestion.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Husband or wife dies. They leave no will. The State divides what is left according to law. They will not divide your money the way you wish it divided. The State takes a long time to settle your affairs. Your children or your wife may suffer. Have a lawyer draw up your will now. That's good business.

Do not make a friend the executor of your will; your friend won't thank you. Your friend has a business of his own to handle. The Carteret Trust Company is organized and equipped to give you the benefit of a collective experience and facilities that the individual does not possess. Make the Carteret Trust Company executor-trustee of your estate.

Your wife or husband may marry when you are gone. What about your children? They may never get a penny of what you leave. Set up a trust fund for them with the Carteret Trust Company.

HELD AT WINDOW, THREE-YEAR-OLD SEES FATHER DIE

Baby's Farewell to Parent Pathetic Aftermath of World War.

Indianapolis.—The death of a World war veteran in the government tuberculosis hospital in the hills of Kentucky, as described from personal observation by Mrs. Jane Williams, was declared by national headquarters of the American Legion here to be typical of 15 that occur in the United States every day.

It is for such disabled veterans, their widows and orphans, that the Legion and leading citizens are now raising the national American Legion endowment fund.

Mrs. Williams' story of the death is in part as follows:

"The best excuse for my story is that it is true, every word of it. At the little hotel where I was living in the town near the big government hospital in the Kentucky hills, I first met Julie, a pale wisp of babyhood, three years old, and Julie's mother, Julie's mother, one of the 'hospital widows' at the hotel, was the type of wife whose husband calls her 'Babe.' She was a clinging little creature, pretty and so dependent, with but two great points of interest in her life—Julie and Buddy. Buddy was Julie's father who lay in the hospital.

Plans to See Baby.

"You know, or possibly you don't know, that children are never permitted in the tuberculosis hospitals. They may be brought to see their fathers in the recreation hall but never in the wards. That made it hard for Buddy, who was a bed patient. Babe came to see him twice every day when she could find some one to care for Julie, but his longing to see Julie was a physical pain that grew stronger as his poor, burned-out body grew weaker.

"One day he decided to slip to the recreation hall to see Julie just for a few minutes. So we took her there, all dressed up and pink with excitement at the prospect of seeing her daddy. When he came in, the bill breezes whipping his bathrobe around his thin legs, I knew his visit with Julie would cost him several months of his life. We four were alone in the hall and the instant his eager eyes rested on Babe with Julie in her arms, I turned away. You can't decently look at a man's bare heart when his weakness keeps him from covering it up.

Selfish to Give Up Fight.

"Buddy would have been glad to give up the fight for himself.

"But there was Julie and Babe—'Can't do it sister,' he whispered to me one day after a frightful hemorrhage, 'can't sneak off like a quitter an leave Babe to fight it out alone. I'll get well yet.'

"One midnight the message came for me to get a taxi and bring Julie out to the hospital. I knew what that meant. Buddy was refusing to die without seeing his baby. It was pouring down rain; the wind was blowing; Julie was frightened and so was I. It seemed so useless to take her out there, because under no circumstances would she be permitted in the ward, even in a case like this.

"We arrived about two o'clock. A Red Cross worker met me and said they had rolled Buddy's bed over against the window and we could hold Julie up for him to see. The Red Cross woman held the baby while I went into the dimly lighted ward and tiptoed to the screen that surrounded Buddy's bed. His eyes flared open when he saw me and he tried desperately hard to smile.

"Julie! he gasped, his eyes begging for her.

"The nurse turned his head toward the window gently and switched on a bright light. A sob shook Buddy's frame, tears blotted out his sight of Julie's face.

"Oh, Babe,' he whispered between gasps, 'I hate to leave you—like this Dirty trick. You're—such—a kid.' "A fit of coughing stopped him. It was all over."

DARK TRAGEDY END OF "PUPPY LOVE" ROMANCE

Youth Confesses He Killed Sweetheart Because She Asked Him To.

Garden City, S. D.—A wilting romance of "puppy love" recently turned to stark tragedy here. The charred body of pretty seventeen-year-old Byrle Healy now rests in the grave and her confessed murderer, William Meeks, twenty-one years old, is serving a sentence of life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

"I killed her because she wanted me to," Meeks wrote in a signed confession, according to Prosecuting Attorney Hans Hanson.

Hours of grilling broke down the boy, not quite twenty-one, and he sobbed out a story of love and folly, fear and tragedy.

Pretty little Byrle Healy, seventeen, had captivated him. She was one of four pretty daughters of a highly respected Garden City family. They fell in love. She was true to him, and he was true to her.

Their love led them beyond the bounds of wisdom, and at long ago Byrle and William faced the first tragedy of their lives.

Disgrace Is Feared.

Resolved not to bring disgrace upon her family, Byrle decided that death was sweeter than the life she faced. She pleaded with William to end it all. One Sunday night William drove her into the country five miles north of here. They drove into a pasture near a strawstack.

"Father will kill you if you do not kill me," Byrle told William, according to his story to the county attorney. Meeks said he was reluctant. Her pleadings unmoved him, he said.

In the confession Meeks signed he said he finally struck her over the head with a fire iron. As she crumpled to the ground he wound her scarf tightly around her neck. Then he hid her body in the strawstack.

Driving to Bradley, William took another girl to a picture show. After he had taken her home he drove back to the strawstack and touched a match to it, his alleged confession said.

On Monday Sheriff E. P. Sly started a search for the missing girl. Meeks, her sweetheart, joined the searching party. He led them to the burned strawstack. Nothing was found there.

The strange actions of the boy aroused the sheriff's suspicions and he questioned him. Later the body of the girl, burned beyond recognition, was found in the straw ashes.

TEXAS MAN NEAR HORRIBLE DEATH FROM ALLIGATOR

Seized by Reptile While Wading in Pool at Picnic Party.

Houston, Texas.—Dunk Campbell, fifty-two, had an encounter with a 12-foot alligator and as the result Campbell is at St. Joseph's infirmary suffering from a badly mangled right leg and foot and a mangled left foot.

The encounter occurred in a pool near Big Cypress creek, about twenty-five miles north of Houston, Texas, on the Bammel road, Mr. Campbell being attacked by the 'gator when he waded barefooted into the pool to catch some minnows. He waded into the water shoulders deep when he felt something grab his right knee and leg.

He began to fight to release himself and pulled the alligator high enough to see what it was. He attempted to kick it loose with his left foot and the alligator snapped at that, biting it almost through.

Companions to Rescue.

His companions heard his screams and went to his rescue. His head was almost under water, but they seized his arms and succeeded in wrenching him free and taking him to shore.

Attempted to Kick It Loose.

where an ambulance was called and he was brought to a hospital.

An examination of Campbell's wounds at the hospital showed that his right knee, ankle and heel had been badly bitten and that his left foot was almost bitten through.

Mr. Campbell, with A. J. Cook, S. E. Ahlbeck and two small girls, one his daughter, had gone out to Big Cypress creek to fish. Campbell left the party to go over to the pool to catch some minnows for bait and within a few minutes after his departure other members of the party heard his screams. Hurrying over to the pool they saw Campbell disappear from sight and when he came to the surface the second time the two men in the party grabbed Campbell by one of his arms and pulled him out of the water.

Dynamite Kills Reptile.

Campbell said that he never did see the alligator but that he could tell it was a 'gator when his foot came in contact with him.

Later in the afternoon a party went out to the pool where Campbell was bitten to get the alligator. A charge of dynamite dislodged the 'gator, and he was brought out on the bank of the pool dead.

Currency Paper Expensive

The Treasury department says the government pays 5 1/2 cents per pound for 100 per cent linen paper on which currency is engraved. There are 12 1/2 pounds to a thousand sheets, which are 8 1/2 by 13 1/2 inches. Four bills are made from one sheet.

Ease You Have Never Known Before

Ever tried to back in and out of a crowded curb with balloon tires and the ordinary steering gear?

It may be one of an easy "daily dozen" for a Dempsey or a Zbyszko—but it is no joke for the average citizen.

With Moon's new multi-leverage steering gear even a young girl can park with one hand.

And she'll love the immediate sure soft response of Moon's 4-wheel hydraulic brakes. It is literally like sinking your foot into an air cushion.

We want you to try it just once. Find out how Moon's new steering invention makes balloon tire driving 100% luxury.

Ease is merely one of the high spots of the new advance-engineered Moon. Body, motor and chassis are far in advance of current practice.

If you want better looks, better performance than you've ever known before, treat yourself to a new hour of ease in a new Moon.

The result will surprise you—and the price.

the Finest of Job Printing

IS THAT YOUR BEST?

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

IS THAT your best? Whatever task is yours, your duty is to ask yourself the question—this the test of every job—"Is that my best?"

For nothing less than that will do. No job is finished, work is through, no task is done beyond a doubt, until you fully work it out—

Until your study fails to find One bolt to tighten, knot to bind, One word to change, one sum to prove, One weed to pull, one rock remove.

So many only fairly well—Make what they make, sell what they sell—Do fairly well the thing they're at And stop and let it go at that.

They might have sung a better song, Or made a corner doubly strong, Or wiped a joint or set an ad A little better than they had

Some other time—but were content With yesterday's accomplishment, Yet yesterday is but to show New things to do, new roads to go.

It isn't just the chief you cheat When leaving something incomplete; We must move upward—none the hill Will climb by always standing still.

The one you cheat the most is you: Because the better job you do The better job you always can— The better job the better man.

For men are made of better stuff Than those content with "good enough"; And so, my boy, make this the test Of every job: "Is this my best?"

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

COMFORT AND HAPPINESS

AS THE days round out into years, and the years begin to fall about us like ripened fruit, we give, without knowing why, more serious thought to comfort and happiness.

The dream of content when the cheeks are faded, when the hair is silvered and the strength of the bone and the blood is slowly ebbing away, is the common dream of mankind this world over.

In early life, it spreads out before us like a glorious vision, then it wanes and narrows, causing us to wonder what we have done with all the precious time of the past, ticked away right under our eyes by the friendly family clock, still ticking and faithfully performing its monotonous duty.

We have worshiped gold and found it but a mocker.

We have bowed down to Momus, and after wearing out our souls and bodies, have turned away with aching, vacant hearts, disappointed with experiences which have brought us little more than a vial of bitterness.

We have flirted with fickle Fame and been rebuffed. And so all through the heated chase we have been bruised, hurt and undergone at various stages of our careers a fatty degeneration of our moral being, never quite sure of our standing, or our prospect of comfort and happiness in the gray evening haze settling now on purple hills.

In all that concerns art, intellect, position and human existence itself, the thing to do in order to find the average measure of comfort and happiness is to keep in the right channel.

This is the secret of comfort and happiness, worth more to him or her who will accept and practice it than the wealth of the Indies.

Many Lakes in Park

In Glacier National park, located in Montana, there are 250 lakes in a district of 1,500 square miles, an area about the size of Rhode Island. One of the largest of these is Lake St. Mary, which is about ten miles long. Trout are found in practically all of them.

Community Building

Every Citizen Owes Duty to Community

It is a duty of great importance for every citizen of city or town to give his unlimited aid in improving his community. Rosabelle Houston writes, in Crit.

A well-appearing city not only voices the lives and characters of a mass, but of separate individuals. Every citizen should make it his duty to not only improve his own surroundings, but to improve those of his neighbor by suggestion and helpful aid.

By experience many people have found that beauty and order draw out the best in them and make them aspire to do higher, more noble deeds. A mean, narrow mind cannot long exist in a location where beauty, order and peace are a law and a religion. The far-seeing, thinking parent should see that the growing minds of the home, from babyhood, receive the benefits derived from order and cleanliness. If all the parents of our country would only endeavor to set an example of cleanliness and neatness before the eyes of their children, the school and social organizations would not be confronted with the problems that they are today.

Ethical Bandits Beat Pal Who Fires on Victim

New York.—For violating the ethics code of holdup men, as alleged, by unnecessarily shooting at an unresisting victim and thus risking a possible charge of murder, William Rents, twenty-one, bears the marks of a severe beating administered by his two alleged confederates, who escaped.

Samuel Burger, taxi driver, was hauled by three men who, after driving to several places, was ordered to halt. Rents, he says, alighted and held a gun against his breast while the others searched him, taking $12.

"As I drove off," said Burger, "two shots were fired at me, the bullets whistling past my head. Looking back, I saw the other men pounce on the gunman, knock the gun from his hand and proceed to kick and beat him. He put up a fight, and I stepped on the gas and ran around the corner for a cop."

Rescuers Drown

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Three men were drowned in the Monongahela river, one a suicide and the others his would-be rescuers. Edward and Langston Mitchell, negroes, met death when they attempted to save Joseph H. Waters, an attorney, white, who had jumped from a bridge within sight of scores of pedestrians. Joseph Duffy, who went to the aid of the brothers, was rescued by onlookers.

Bolt Toys With Man

Great Falls, Mont.—When William Black, thirty-eight, a truck driver, was struck by lightning in the old fields near here, the bolt performed some freak things.

It broke his watch chain, welded together two silver dollars in his pocket, tore off both trouser legs and shoes and burned his hair.

He was unconscious for two hours, but will recover, physicians say.

Farmer, 90, Stabs Bandit and Rout 2 Companions

Jackson, Mich.—Following an attempt to hold up Zora R. McGonegal, ninety-year-old farmer, and his son, Zora R. McGonegal, Jr., at their home near here, one man is believed to be dying of stab wounds in a Kalamazoo hospital and two companions have made a complete confession to Kalamazoo officers, in which they told of their rout by the aged man.

Charles Hickok, twenty-three, is the wounded man and Raymond Clark, twenty-three, and Karl Slesedet, twenty-five, are the pair held in the Kalamazoo county jail. All three live in Kalamazoo.

According to Sheriff Borden, Clark and Slesedet confessed they bound and gagged the junior McGonegal in a barn and then visited the house, tying up the old man. McGonegal senior managed to cut his bonds and then engaged in a hand-to-hand battle with two of the men, while the third waited in an automobile near by. The non-agenarian used a saw case with an eight-inch blade.

Burn Ex-Officials

Berlin.—Two former ministers of the Stambullnak government in Bulgaria are reported to have been burned alive in the cells of the city prison in Sofia, according to persistent rumors from that city. Opponents of the government claim that the prison was purposely set afire to get rid of two dangerous political foes, Cyril Pavloff and Peter Janoff. Four assassinations are reported within the last few days.

Put Their Locomotive Through Wall of Fire

Bellingham, Wash.—A crew of men were forced to drive a locomotive through a solid wall of fire and over four wooden bridges, one of which was ablaze, to save themselves from death when the Lyman Lumber company plant, 20 miles south of here, was destroyed by a forest fire.

After most of the men had been released the locomotive crew returned in an effort to save the burning bridge, but it had already collapsed.

Three girls employed in the cook house of the company stuck to their jobs, providing food for fire-fighters until all hope of saving the camp had been given up.

Youths in Fatal Fall Down Abandoned Mine

Pleasantville, Iowa.—Three youths were overcome and fell to their deaths in an abandoned coal mine near here.

Ildos Koons, twelve, was overcome by gas while climbing down a ladder and fell. His older brother, Milburn, nineteen, summoned to the mine by companions of Ildos, also was overcome and followed his brother in a fatal fall.

Donald Hodgson, seventeen, was overcome and fell, too, in a future attempt to rescue the other boys. The bodies were recovered by means of grappling hooks.

SPARRING AIDS IN LYNCH CAMP

Frankie Tucker, Kid Phillips, Joey O'Dowd Go Through Fast Sessions With Welterweight Flash Regularly.

AFTER KAUFMANN

Training Will Soon End—Lynch About Prepared for Heavy Jewish Sluggoer of Harlem Districts—Bout Monday.

By Old Scrapper

In the training camp of Dick Lynch, sparring partners are helping to condition the welterweight flash for his coming bout with Sammy Kaufmann, of New York City, at the Thompson stadium, Stapleton, S. I., next Monday evening, Columbus Day.

The local mauler is expecting something in the way of trouble from the Harlem boy, who has won two successive bouts at Stapleton in recent dates by knockouts. Kaufmann, no doubt, packs a mean punch and is as quick as a flash of lightning.

Kaufmann, on the other hand, may also be ready for trouble from Lynch, who has a mean reputation for sending his opponents dizzily to the canvas. Dick has not been fighting much during the last few months, having started his winter campaign two or three weeks ago in an Elizabeth ring against Joe Harris, but he will be in a fit condition to face the Jewish slugger, Manager Dave explains.

LESLIE ON SHORT END OF FAST TILT

Lozes On Points to Johnny (Kid) Sullivan, Veteran, of Perth Amboy—Local Man Knocked Down Without Count in Fourth

Johnny (Kid) Sullivan, 152 pounds, a veteran having many years of boxing experience out-pointed Charley Leslie in a fast six rounder at Perth Amboy Tuesday evening. Sullivan played a majority of his punches in Leslie's kidney sections and in this manner gained many of his winning points.

The margin of victory was not very wide, however, for Leslie always took care of himself wisely and dealt out considerable banging himself. The local man started well but finished up weakly, losing in the last three stanzas what he had gained earlier in the scrap. Charley went to the floor in the fourth round after taking one on the jaw, but the referee did not have time to make a single count.

Leslie also weighed 152 pounds. Willie Beetle, 134 pounds, of Trenton, scored over Frankie Schuman, 132 pounds, of Paterson, in eight rounds. Sailor Andrews, 165, of Maurer, defeated Jack Dillon, 161, of Boston, in another eight.

TUCKER K.O. ARTIST

Puts Frankie Carman Out of Action in Three Rounds.

Frankie Tucker, of the Port Reading Athletic Club, under the management of Dave Lynch, scored an impressive victory in three rounds over Frankie Carman of Perth Amboy in slow town, Tuesday night. Ed Poulson put on the shows, in which Tucker appeared, in fine fashion and the large attendance enjoyed the evening's performances, especially that of Tucker.

Frankie tore into his opponent in a vicious manner at the start of the melee and administered so much punishment to Carman that the boxing officials and Referee McGuire decided to stop the affair in favor of Tucker in the third stanza. The Port battler weighed in at 138 pounds, while his opponent scaled 140 even.

TUNING UP

Kid Phillips and Joey O'Dowd Prepare for Highland Bouts.

Kid Phillips and Joey O'Dowd, two local boxers, are getting into shape for their coming bouts at Highland Park, next Tuesday night.

Phillips, formerly of Porto Rico, weighing about 126 pounds, will take on Willie Davis, of Somerville, for six rounds or less. Davis is a lad who is hard to beat, being noted for aggressiveness and ability to remain in a standing position.

O'Dowd, scaling 170 pounds, mixes with Babe Mathews, of Bound Brook, for another six stanzas. O'Dowd is a new comer, showing much promise. He fought his first bout at Perth Amboy a short time ago and lost in one round, being defeated due to stage fright more than anything else.

Rahway Varsity Tames Roselle Gridders 20-0

Spectacular broken field running and brilliant team leadership by quarterback Nick Coppola featured Rahway High School's opening contest of the season against Roselle, whom they defeated by a 20 to 0 score, at Rahway, on Saturday afternoon. About 2,000 persons witnessed the game.

Coppola did notable work in running back punts and enabling his team to get within striking distance of the enemy goal. One of his runs covered fifty-five yards of territory. Buck Harrington and Charley Evans played with the winners.

The lineup:

RAHWAY (20)	ROSELLE (0)

Battin Loses Opener To East Siders, 18-0

Battin High, of Elizabeth, continued its losing streak of 1924 by dropping its opening contest of the season to East Side, of Newark, at Warinsco Park, last Saturday. The score was 18 to 0. The Betsetown lads went through the entire last season without scoring a victory.

Score by periods:
East Side 0 6 6 6—18

Whirlwinds Win, 12-0

Philadelphia Got Jack Quinn on Waiver Route

Recently the Boston Red Sox asked for waivers on the veteran spitball pitcher, Jack Quinn. The two leading clubs, Washington and Philadelphia, refused to waive. Since the club with the lowest standing has the right to the player, he went to Philadelphia, as Washington was in the lead when waivers were asked. He went from a poor fallender to a near champion with pennant chances. At the time waivers were requested on Quinn he had won more games than any other Boston pitcher, seven. The collapse of the Red Sox, however, has convinced the owners and Manager Foli that the club must be rebuilt with youngsters. For that reason, Quinn, despite his good showing, did not fit in with plans of the club.

Two Pitchers Give One Pass to Two Batters

Two batters received from two pitchers one base on balls in the eighth inning of a recent game in Washington between the Yanks and Senators. It was thus wise: With one down and one on, Steve O'Neill was sent to pinch hit for Shocker. He drew two white pitches from Raether, whereupon Manager Harris derrickd Dutch and called in Marberry. Marberry, being the pitcher to finish this act of generosity, was charged with the issuance of the free pass, though he was really only 50 per cent responsible for it.

ONE-BASE HITS

(By JACK SIMPSON.)

Interference on the Base Lines. Base runners must always run behind infielders fielding batted balls on the base lines. If the runner collides with the fielder accidentally or intentionally, he is out for interference and all runners must return to the bases they just left and no bases can be run other than those forced to do so by the batter becoming a base runner.

If an infielder knocks a batted ball down and in pursuing it the base runner collides with the infielder, the base runner hasn't interfered and no penalty is given. In short, the base runner must avoid an infielder in making a play at all times.

On the other hand, a baseman cannot interfere with a base runner while the latter is running around the bases. The penalty for such an interference is that one extra base is awarded the runner interfered with. Also a baseman cannot block a base runner off a base unless he has the ball in his possession and waiting for the runner.

A catcher commits a balk and an interference if he pushes the batter out of his box to receive a legal pitch on which a base runner is stealing home. The batter is awarded first base on account of the interference and the base runner on third is allowed to score on the catcher's balk.

SENATOR ARTHUR WHITNEY AT REPUBLICAN MEETING

DENOUNCES HAGUE, WHO HE SAYS IS TRYING TO TAMMANYIZE MIDDLESEX COUNTY—PLEADS FOR PROPER LAW ENFORCEMENT THROUGHOUT STATE.

STEWART APPLEBY MAKES ADDRESS

State, County and Local Candidates Also Address Large Gathering of Republicans at Dalton's Auditorium Monday Night—Councilman Frank Andres Presided at the Session.

Speaking at the Republican rally in Dalton's auditorium on Monday night before a large audience, Senator Arthur Whitney, Republican candidate for governor, said that he wanted to make a business contract with the people of the state whereby it will be possible to have tax reduction in the state as well as in the nation.

"I was surprised," the senator said, "to read of Hague's invasion of Middlesex County for the purpose of dictating a policy and designating a leader. The thinking Democrats of the county should smite him for even making suggestions to their leaders, let alone tolerate his entrance into the county.

The governor has unlimited powers, Senator Whitney said, among them the appointment of forty-eight judges and prosecutors. Appointments should be made which will be a credit to the state in its law enforcement, he continued. "Only one man has suffered the death penalty for murder in Hudson county during the past ten years. This is a campaign of decency against the policies of a man whose motives the majority of Democrats do not understand. It is a campaign against 'Hagueism.'"

Senator Morgan F. Larson, the first speaker of the evening, said that the Republicans have in Senator Whitney a man who has been chosen by the Republican voters of the state, not a candidate who was handed to them, such as A. Harry Moore, who was placed in nomination by Frank Hague, the Hudson county boss. Mr. Larson told of Senator Whitney's accomplishments and business ability, assuring the voters that he would give New Jersey an administration of economy similar to that which President Coolidge is giving the nation.

The other speakers of the evening included Stewart Appleby, candidate for congressman, Freeholders Clarence M. Haight and Dr. Louis J. Bell-off, Assemblymen Thomas L. Hanson, Wilton T. Applegate and Douglas M. Hicks; also Councilmen Charles A. Phillips and John J. Lyman.

FALL ON STEPS FATAL TO MAN

John Illar, of 49 Charles Street Trips and Slides Down Steps—Fractures Skull and Dies Following Day.

While visiting a boarding house at 11 Hudson street, this borough, John Illar, of 49 Charles street, employed for sixteen years at the plant of Liebig's Fertilizer Works, fell down the steps and fractured his skull on Monday. The man was found in an unconscious condition in the hallway and removed to the Perth Amboy City hospital after getting medical attention from Dr. Messinger. His identity was not known.

Illar died on Tuesday morning and his body was brought back to the borough on Tuesday afternoon. It was later identified as that of Illar. The cause of his fall, the police could not learn. The victim was unconscious from the time he was found until he died. Every effort to save him was made by the hospital attendants.

Funeral services were held yesterday from his home, followed by services in the Hungarian Reformed church. Interment took place in the Presbyterian cemetery at Woodbridge.

Father and Son Are Operated On

Motorcycle Officer George Sheridan of Roosevelt avenue was admitted to the Rahway Hospital on Wednesday morning and he underwent a successful operation for the removal of tonsils. On the same morning his son, Master George, also had his tonsils removed. Both are doing fine.

SCHOOL BOARD AT MEETING TUESDAY

Night School Classes Are Inaugurated By Commissioners—Also Foreign Born Classes—Other Business Transacted.

A busy meeting was held by the Board of Education on Tuesday night. Edward J. Heil presided. Present at the session were: Commissioners Coughlin, Jeffreys, Schwartz and Brown. Public night school classes will be conducted by the board during the winter season. Three nights a week will be devoted to night school studies, which consists of reading, penmanship, spelling, elementary, mathematics, history and civics. Commercial classes will also be maintained in typewriting, stenography and bookkeeping. The classes are open to people of all ages and those who expect to attend will have to register on Monday, Tuesday, or Thursday night of next week.

The commissioners have also authorized the opening of the night school for foreign born residents. There will be sixty four sessions of two hours each.

In a communication to the board, the Parent-Teacher Association requested the use of the auditorium of the new high school, for the holding of session here. It was explained that the county council is holding its meetings at various schools and the county and that the local association will extend the council an invitation to hold its next session in Carteret.

The Board has permitted the students of the high school to form a baseball team to be known as the Carteret High School Baseball team. The players will be coached by a former pupil free of charge.

ZIMMERMAN CHOSEN HEAD OF SYNAGOGUE

Local Painting Contractor Elected President Unanimously by Congregation Last Sunday Evening—Also Heads Hebrew School.

Last Sunday evening at the close of the Jewish holidays, the Congregation of Loving Justice held a very large and enthusiastic annual meeting. Plans were adopted for the new year work after which the election of officers took place.

Isidore Zimmerman, local painting contractor and realtor, was unanimously chosen president of the Congregation for the ensuing year. Because of his good and faithful work done during the previous year, this honor was bestowed upon him. The other officers are Jacob Daniels, vice president; School Commissioner Frank Brown, financial secretary; Jacob Weiss, recording secretary; Thomas Shapiro, treasurer, and Louis Minsky, guard.

Not only were the members satisfied with honoring Mr. Zimmerman with the presidency of the Congregation, but they also elected him president of the Carteret Hebrew School (Talma Torah). The Hebrew school has at present three large classes and plans are being worked out to have five. Among the subjects being taught are Jewish history, Hebrew, and other educational subjects.

UNIQUE DANCE FOR ST. JOSEPH CHURCH

Ye Olde Fashioned New England Barn Dance Will Be Held by Hold Name Society on Saturday Night, October 31st.

The committee who are working zealously to make "Ye Olde New England Barn Dance" a success on Saturday, Oct. 31, are as follows: Rev. J. J. O'Connor, James Owens, George Morgan, Joseph Kennedy, Frank Koeppel, Thomas Toland, William Conran, Jervine Nevill, John H. Nevill, Donald MacDonnell.

It is the aim of the committee to give everyone who attends a chance to have a good time. The Roselle Melody Boys will furnish the music, which will consist largely of old time melodies and of course some ate music also. The refreshments will consist of sweet cider, pumpkin pie and old fashioned doughnuts which of course will be homemade. There will also be an old fashioned cake walk, the winners to be presented with a very large, finely decorated cake.

Tickets have been sent through the mail to all members of the parish, young and old, as the older folks are to enjoy themselves as well as the young at this affair. So let them put on their "Old gray bonnets with the blue ribbon on it," and come along and have a good old time, as in days of yore.

Tickets will be fifty cents each which will meet everybody's purse.

"Trade Old Air For New Air Through The Open Window"

The New Jersey Tuberculosis League and the Middlesex County Tuberculosis League are conducting an open air week opening Monday, October 19th.

At this time of the year people are rather apt to forget that fresh air is one of the main essentials in the producing good health. It may be a cure for tuberculosis but it is also a preventative.

Open windows bring good health; the studies of the New York Commission on Ventilation have shown that a room temperature in excess of 68 degrees Fahrenheit is dangerous. An excess of heat leads to a diminishing of energy. When sleeping rooms and living rooms are overheated in the winter the liability to diseases of the nose, throat, such as colds, influenza is enormously increased. Studies of 5,000 school children in New York showed that 70 per cent more colds, sore throats and similar conditions occurred in rooms that were even slightly overheated. People who use outdoor sleeping porches or work and sleep with wide, open windows seldom catch colds.

In the sleeping rooms use plenty of fresh air and plenty of covers. The temperature should be kept as near that of the outdoor air as possible. The stimulating effect of cold moving air upon the face and passages of the nose and throat is of inestimable value in promoting around slumber and building up the power to resist disease.

Keep one window open at the bottom for good air to come in and the same window, or another, open at the top for bad air to fly out.

It is well to remember this seasonal quotation of Florence Nightingale: "Night air is the only air there is to breathe at night."

N. Y. Bargain Store To Open New Store

The New York Bargain Store is soon to open their new establishment on the corner of Roosevelt avenue and Pershing avenue (up the Hill), with the same courteous service and quality merchandise at the most reasonable prices, that has marked the rapid growth of this store.

Mr. Greenberg is the pioneer of the establishment of better stores in Carteret, which are badly needed here to induce the shopper to buy in Carteret.

Show Pictures

Interesting motion pictures showing how to prevent fires were exhibited at the local theatres on Tuesday under the auspices of the Carteret Fire Company No. 1. There were large attendances at the matinee and evening performances. The pictures were of unusual educational character.

ELSMORE PARK UNDER DEVELOPMENT ON ROAD FROM CARTERET TO RAHWAY

E. B. Butler of New York City is now in Charge of Development for United Land Development Company, Inc.

Elsmore Park is situated on the highway leading from Carteret to Rahway, Hazelwood avenue as it intersects Hart Street is about the center of the property. This is one of the most desirable homesite developments accessible to Carteret and Rahway. There are lots to suit the Elsmore Park acceptable to New York City. Much improvement has already been done, some sidewalks already laid and E. B. Butler of New York City who now has charge of this development for the United Land Development Company, Inc., of New York City, has begun a thorough clean-up of the entire property and he expects to do much improvement in a general way at this time at Elsmore Park. An office is now maintained upon fancy and the pocketbook of hundreds of different fancies. If the open spaces appeal to one they will find homesites on this development to meet their every need; if one desires shady lawns they will find the most beautiful and well developed lawns at the property at Hazelwood avenue and Hart street—telephone connections are in and salesmen will be maintained upon the grounds every day in the week. Already a large number of persons living in Carteret, Rahway, Elizabeth, Newark and New York City have purchased lots in this modern addition either for homesites or as an investment.

It is stated by Mr. Butler that it is his belief that lots in this location will double in value in the near future. Rahway street cars run within two blocks of this addition and buses from Carteret to Rahway pass through this property making stops at the United Land Development Company's office, this location being within the 10 cent fare limit from Carteret. The remarkably low price placed upon these lots will give hundreds of Carteret residents an opportunity to own a home who have heretofore been unable to purchase

Department Drops 2,013 Employees in Two Years

Washington.—The Department of the Interior is operating with 2,013 fewer permanent employees than two years ago. This is a decrease of 14 per cent, and is exclusive of 2,225 former employees transferred from the patent office and the bureau of mines to the Department of Commerce. The reduction was brought about largely by release of emergency employees provided by congress, but found to be unnecessary and by leaving vacancies, as they occurred, unfilled. This made it possible to make promotions to fill vacancies in the upper grades, leaving those in the lower positions unfilled. The result has been improved service, it is said, through retaining the more experienced help and a stimulus through recognition of efficiency. Of department employees at this time, 12,234 are in regular positions, and 4,000 are temporary or seasonal.

Raid Jail Garden

Lawrence, Mass.—Depredations of potato thieves raiding the gardens of the county jail have become so serious that George M. Banting, warden at the institution, appealed to the police. In some instances the thieves have scaled the jail fence to dig up the potatoes.

Jerseyman Among Five Who Receive McCarter Medals for Saving Lives

OF five men who received McCarter Medals Wednesday of this week at the convention of the American Gas Association in Atlantic City, one is a Jerseyman. William H. Browne, of 314 Hobson Street, Newark, a street foreman in the Front Street gas distribution department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company at Newark. The McCarter Medal is an award by President Thomas N. McCarter to employees of gas companies throughout the country who by the prone pressure method of resuscitation save the lives of those who become victims of gas asphyxiation. Mr. McCarter presented the medals in person.

WILLIAM H. BROWNE

Browne resuscitated his helper, James Johnston, of 314 Jersey Street, Harrison, who, while overhauling a district gas regulator in a manhole at Fourth Street and Harrison Avenue, Harrison, May 8, was overcome. With the assistance of Traffic Officer Joseph Brady of Harrison, Browne got the unconscious man to the street and immediately applied the prone pressure and revived him. Johnston was then removed to a hospital from which he was later discharged.

Fish That Flirts

Fish that climb trees, monkeys that brush their teeth after meals, and birds that sleep upside down are among the strange creatures discovered in the Malay peninsula by Carveth Wells, an explorer. Another freak of our part of the world is a fish that flirts. It is the only swimming animal known to have a real wink.

Thirty Years' Average Age in New York State

Albany, N. Y.—The average age of the people of New York state is thirty years and three months, as compared with an average of twenty-four years and six months in 1840. Health News, the publication of the state department of health, says: Although the average age has increased, figures show that expectation of life at birth in the last twenty years has been increased from forty-five years and seven months for men and forty-nine years and two months for women to fifty-two years and eight months and fifty-five years and eight months, respectively.

Records available to the department extend back only to 1901 in the case of expectation of life at birth date, but it was pointed out that in twenty years from 1901 to 1920 the number of years a newborn baby was expected to live was increased seven years and three months for males and six years and five months for females. Immigration and the advance in preventive and curative medicine are credited as having exerted the greatest influence on the age composition of the state.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received at the Council Chamber, Borough Hall, Carteret, New Jersey, on Monday evening, October 19, 1915, at 8 o'clock P. M., by the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Carteret, for the construction of sidewalks and curbs on Wheeler Avenue, between Randolph Street and Roosevelt Avenue, in the Borough of Carteret, according to plans and specifications prepared by Oliver F. Mitchell, Borough Engineer. Plans and specifications and form of bid may be had at the office of the Borough Engineer, Room 401 Raritan Building, Perth Amboy, New Jersey, or from Harvey V. O. Platt, Borough Clerk, on deposit of Five ($5) Dollars.

Bids must be made out on the standard proposal form in the manner designated therein and required by the specifications, must be accompanied by a statement from a surety company stating that they will furnish the contractor, should he be successful, with a bond in the amount of one hundred per centum of the bid; also with a certified check of not less than ten per centum of the amount of the bid, drawn to the order of Charles A. Brady, Borough Collector, and be delivered at the place and hour above mentioned.

The Borough Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids should they deem it for the best interests of the Borough of Carteret so to do. By Order of the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Carteret.

Evening Study

THE opening of the evening classes for the study of shorthand, typewriting and bookkeeping, in addition to the regular classes for foreign born students, is a worthy contribution to the borough, by the members of the Board of Education. Undoubtedly many of the young and old citizens will grasp an opportunity that is truly worth while.

Many men and women are now employed daily in local plants and have probably no opportunity to qualify themselves to higher positions, because they spend the day at work. The new class of the school board will help those ambitious persons to get themselves a bit higher in their respective work.

Many foreigners who reside here should also avail themselves of the chance to study English. We have a large population of men and women who need the study, who need to know the language of their country so that they may understand their neighbor, their foreman or their boss, or even their own children.

Tough Steak a Myth? Tests So Indicate

Washington.—Meat eaters who have gained the impression that some of the beef put before them is more suitable for the manufacture of automobile tires than it is for human consumption apparently have been misled by their own temperaments.

They were disillusioned by bureau of standards experts who have just completed tests requested by the Department of Agriculture to determine just how tough beef can be so standards might be fixed on the basis of resistance to mastication.

Using machines designed for measuring resistance of fibers to various stresses, the experts found even the toughest piece of meat supplied by the department too delicate to have any valuable indication of strength sufficient for use except as a table decoration. With this much established, H. L. Whitmore, head of the bureau's mechanical section, said that the task of fixing standard toughness for beef would be continued with more delicate machinery than has hitherto been utilized.

Heavy Registration Reported In Borough

A total of 2,965 votes of the borough have registered here for the selection to be held this fall in the five districts. This is only about 150 short of the 1924 presidential election. The highest vote will be cast at the Nathan Hale school poll, since over 700 voters were registered in that district.

FIND RICH GOLD DEPOSIT IN IDAHO

Juncture of Three Rivers Yields Great Wealth.

Pocatello, Idaho.—At a desolate point at the juncture of Clark, Butte and Jefferson counties in northeastern Idaho, where three rivers sink into the sands of the Snake river basin, a gold placer which is expected to be as rich as that of the Boise basin of early days has been discovered.

Announcement from Dubois confirmed the discovery, and with the movement just started claims are being rapidly staked out.

The three streams—Big Lost river, Little Lost river and Birch creek—have in ancient times and up until the advent of irrigation in the early eighties, virtually merged their waters and disappeared in the sands on the same square mile of desert.

For nearly fifty years these mysterious rivers have been the despair of geologists, engineers and gold seekers because they gave but niggardly indication of the gold values that geologists insisted must be present.

D. T. Murphy, a Dubois civil engineer, some time ago set out to locate the deposit. Concluding that the three torrential streams carried values, but moved too fast to deposit them, the search rapidly led to the sinks, where the theory was verified.

Besides gold and indications of platinum, gems of the corundum family of which emeralds and rubies are typical, have been found.

FAMOUS VIOLIN FOUND IN VAULT

Thuringia Gets "Strad" After Long Litigation.

Weimar.—A famous Stradivarius violin, mute for years in a safe-deposit vault, recently passed definitely into the possession of the Thuringian government, which had been bequeathed the instrument but was later sued for its recovery by heirs of the donor. The litigation continued many years.

Fabulous offers made for the Stradivarius led the heirs to start suit on the strength of a clause in the will of the donor, Concertmaster Koempel of the Weimar Court theater, that they should have an option on the purchase of the violin whenever it was offered for sale. The heirs rejected one compromise made by a lower court and appealed to the Supreme court, which refused their claim.

Herr Koempel, who was the favorite pupil of Ludwig Spohr, had first given his beloved instrument to the Thuringian Asylum for the Blind, a government institution, but now it has been entrusted to the care of Professor Reitz, present concertmaster of the German National theater of Weimar.

Mummified Woman Is Puzzle to Italians

Naples.—A striking example of the mummification of a human body by natural processes has been discovered at Vatolla, in the province of Salerno, with the exhumation of the body of a local resident, Rosa Scarpa, who died in 1912. The body was found to be in a perfect state of preservation; even her clothing were in a sort of petrified condition, but retained their original colors.

Thinking the mummification process might have been due to peculiar chemical qualities of the soil, the authorities ordered the opening of an adjacent grave, but the corpse in the latter grave had completely decomposed. This, therefore, led to the belief among devout natives that a miracle had been wrought.

Plan $3,000,000 Copy of Solomon's Temple

Philadelphia.—Something of the glories of a civilization long past will be presented in minute and historical accuracy for visitors at Philadelphia sesquicentennial exposition next year when plans furthered by Mayor Kendrick's presentation of 60 acres of the exposition site to John Wesley Kelchner of New York are completed. The plan contemplates the construction of an elaborate replica of King Solomon's temple and citadel at a cost of $3,000,000.

The plan centers about a tower, which will rise 240 feet. The house of the forest of Lebanon, the palaces of the king and queen, the molten sea and the tower of David will be parts of the exhibit.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS SAYS:

"Everyone is probably familiar with the fact that our government in its legislative matters, has had a two party system; both in Congress and the respective state legislature. Parties to a large extent, are responsible for legislation, and the decision of their judgment is decided upon by the people on election day. A bill is introduced into a law making body by an individual member; it is then referred to a committee, composed of several men belonging to both parties. If in the judgment of the majority of the committee, the bill is worthy it is reported out from that committee and the passage of such bill is up to the law making body, where it originates. The bill having been presented to the law making body, speeches are made for and against the measure, and said measure, if it passes, generally has the distinction of being a party measure. The bill is then presented to the other legislative body, and if passed there, can be rejected by the Governor of the state legislature, or by the President of the United States by his veto, and then has to be reintroduced.

"Tax reduction by national legislation is a party measure and the Republican Party as presented by President Coolidge favors tax reduction legislation. As a candidate of the Republican Party from this district for Congress, I have consistently advocated tax reduction by legislation for the past six months, and if I am elected to the vacant seat in Congress, left vacant by the death of my late father, I would introduce a bill to exempt income taxes up to ten thousand dollars, and believe this can be accomplished, as last year a substantial reduction was made in income taxes by legislation.

"Our income tax law is a measure of the opposite party; having been advocated and having been signed by Democratic President. Now, as the result of our prosperity under the leadership of President Coolidge we have been able to increase our income, through prosperity until it has reached a position, where the income can be reduced, derived through personal income tax. The function of government was never to make bookkeepers of individuals, and every year a different form of tax return is compiled, and so like license plates of last year, the forms are useless. As a business man and a banker, it would be much better to have a form which would read, I did not have an income of ten thousand dollars, and so it is not necessary for me to file a return, and having this printed on a card and signed before a Notary. This will do away with an army of clerks in Washington as well as other places, and the income that will be collected, can be collected at a minimum cost.

"Tobacco pays 14% of the entire money raised from taxation in the United States by stamps. The cost of collecting this tax is practically nihil. It has always been satisfactory, and is paid by the purchaser. The nuisance tax of $10.00 on each taxicab, comprising one of the six taxes paid by the owner of an important vehicle of transportation should be abolished, as it is my belief it costs considerably more to collect than the revenue derived as well as the inconvenience to the tax payer.

"Coolidge always has been the issue in this campaign and always will be. My slogan is supporting the President with efficiency and economy and it is up to the voters of this District to determine whether or not President Coolidge will be supported by a Republican Congressman in sympathy with his program or one of the opposite party. I trust a vote of confidence will be given the Administration as this is the first Congressional election in the state of New Jersey held since last year and the decision of the voters of this District will be watched throughout the nation. I trust on November 3rd this decision will be reached by a majority of the people going to the polls and would appreciate your support of my candidacy."

Supporting President with economy and efficiency.

Miami, Florida

To Our Clients and Friends:

We have been very fortunate in securing for sale a very choice subdivision known as DIXIE HEIGHTS GARDENS located in the vicinity of Miami, Florida.

Before offering this subdivision we made a rigid investigation of the profit possibilities of this property. We feel confident all lots in this subdivision will make very substantial profits for the buyer in the near future.

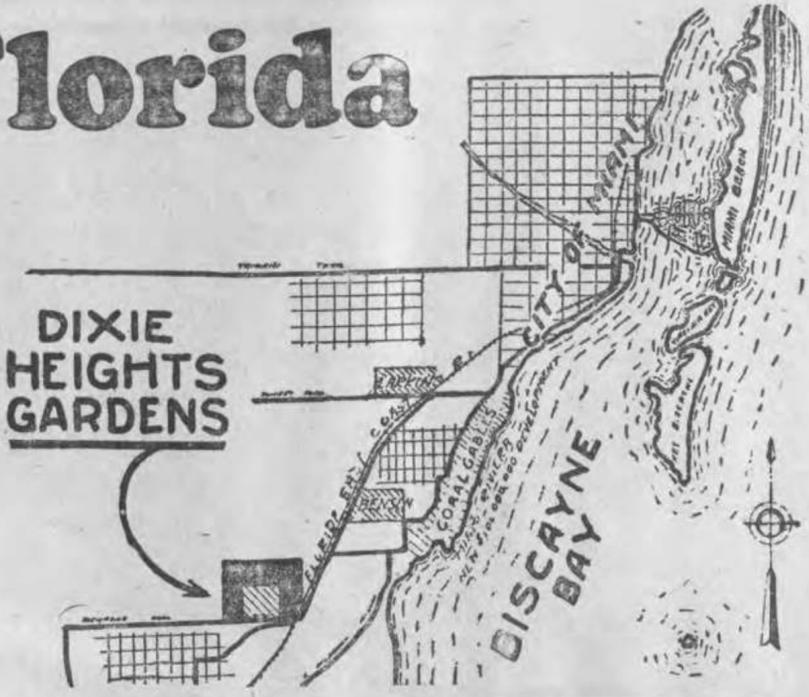

Dixie Heights Gardens

Five minutes auto drive to Coral Gables Miami Riviera one hundred million dollar development.

Five minutes auto drive to sea shore.

On the main line of Florida East Coast Railroad and the famous Dixie Highway.

An unusual opportunity in the purchase of lots so close to Greater Miami and the one hundred million dollar Coral Gables Miami Riviera Development.

Lots $300. and up
Prices subject to advance without notice.
Terms one-third down--balance in ten equal monthly payments--no interest charges.

A Message to the Conservative Investor

Although the tales of Florida real estate profits read, in many cases, like the wildest fiction, it is nevertheless a fact that they are, almost without exception, true in every detail as is evidenced by such articles as by Felix Isman in Saturday Evening Post of August 22nd, 1915. It is generally conceded as well that the profit field has hardly been scratched and that 1926 will mark the advent of even more unheard of earnings than ever before, due to the prodigious development projects now, not under consideration, but actually under way.

That of Coral Gables, Miami Riviera, is by far the largest in process, totalling $100,000,000 and since this development is only five minutes ride from Dixie Heights Gardens, it can readily be seen what effect it will have on property valuations. It is only logical to foresee that those who buy Dixie Heights Garden lots at their present low prices will, as the Coral Gables, Miami Riviera, development progresses, find their properties rapidly advancing in value to almost any number of times their initial cost, as has happened countless times to the Greater Miami locality and is happening every day now.

We urge our clients and friends to call at our office at the earliest possible moment, as these lots will go very quickly at the unusually low prices offered.

TONAWANDA INDIAN WOMAN BRISK AT 116

Mrs. Nancy Miller Older Than City of Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Smoking a clay pipe and weaving many colored baskets in a tiny workshop on the Tonawanda Indian reservation, 25 miles from here, may be found any day the woman who is older than Buffalo. She is Mrs. Nancy Miller, nee Black Squirrel. If being born on the banks of Buffalo creek makes her a citizen, then she is Buffalo's oldest native. Nancy Miller is one hundred sixteen years old, says the Buffalo Express.

Born in 1800, Mrs. Miller's memory goes back to when she was three years old and her father, John Black Squirrel, left to fight in the War of 1812. She was six years old when he returned three years later. Both incidents stand out in her memory of those early days.

It was during this aged squaw's childhood that the shadow of the man of destiny spread over the Old world. While Mrs. Miller, a papoose, was being toted on her mother's back through the winding trails of the Buffalo creek reservation Napoleon was at the height of his power and glory and reigned over all Europe. She was a little girl of six years when he met his crushing defeat at the Battle of Waterloo in 1815.

Mrs. Miller speaks only her native Iroquois tongue. Through an interpreter, Chief Nicodemus Billy, she chatted freely with an Express reporter.

Buffalo, a Trading Post. She remembers little of Buffalo—in effect there is little to remember. The Buffalo of her childhood did not aspire even to the low standards of the present one-horse burg. It was but a small trading post, a little clearing cut in the midst of a dense forest, and narrow Indian trails were the only streets.

In 1838, in accordance with the terms of the treaty made that year, the Indians agreed to the sale of the Buffalo Creek reservation, and the Black Squirrels with all their kinsfolk were virtually turned out of their homes and forced to depart, like refugees in face of advancing enemy troops.

"I remember long lines of Indians carrying blankets on their backs winding slowly down all the trails leading out of Buffalo," said the centenarian. "Some went to Cattaraugus, some to Allegany and others, including our family, to the Tonawanda reservation."

In 1842 a compromise treaty gave the Cattaraugus and the Allegany reservations to the Senecas. The Tonawanda band purchased in 1858 the reservation near Akron for $20 an acre—"land that we previously sold to the whites for half a cent an acre" commented one-hundred-and-sixteen-year-old Mrs. Miller.

Though now in her one hundred and seventeenth year, Mrs. Miller could pass as a squaw in her nineties. She goes barefooted in summer and takes a daily walk of four or five miles about the reservation. While attending the Batavia fair a few years ago she went up in an airplane and since then has been an enthusiastic aviatrix. She's still talking about her ride with the "great engine bird."

Always Smoked. And here's a good argument for devotees of the weed: Mrs. Miller has smoked tobacco back as far as she can remember. And she's one hundred and sixteen years old! "Some days when I don't want to smoke I know something is wrong and I lie down," she said.

Mrs. Miller is the oldest living Seneca Indian and perhaps the oldest living person in the United States today. She has two daughters, the elder being sixty-five years, twenty grandchildren and fully thirty great-grandchildren. She has two great-great-grandchildren, Irving and Doris Sundown, four and six weeks old, respectively. All live on the reservation.

Frequently one sees in the papers pictures of four generations. It usually takes a family reunion or a golden wedding to bring together such a group to pose for a picture—but on the Indian reservation a reporter stopped at Mrs. Miller's home and in less than a minute gathered a group for a four-generation picture. He was told that if he could wait half an hour one of the Sundown children could be brought over and thus make a five-generation photo.

Mrs. Miller has lived so long that living on and on has got to be a habit with her. She is healthy and spry and does fine basket work without the use of glasses. Money interests her just like it does a monkey in a zoo. Buy one of her baskets and pay her, then watch the huddled old lady sit in her chair and count and recount her coins.

Suit Lasts 23 Years. Westport, Md.—Wearing one suit of clothes 23 years is the record of J. R. Will, a farmer of Swanton, Garrett county, Md. He appeared in a clothing store here, where the purchase was made in April, 1902, and was presented with a new coat and vest for the old.

One Arrest a Year. Los Angeles.—One arrest a year for the last five years is the record made by the police department at Lake Arrowhead. The village jail is dusty and cobwebby. A movement has been started by the Lake Arrowhead Canoe club to use the jail as its headquarters.

16,000 GERMANS FIGHT FOR FRANCE

Help Former Foes Battle the Rifians.

Paris.—Once enemies at arms, 16,000 Germans—exactly half the total strength of the French Foreign legion—are in Morocco fighting the battle of France against the rebellious Moorish tribesmen.

Applications from former German soldiers to be permitted to lend their aid to their former enemies in the warfare against the Rifians are coming in such numbers that it is impossible for the French ministry of war to accept all of them.

The Foreign legion, to which the Germans are attached, has been in the thickest of the fight since Abd-el-Krim, the Moroccan war lord, began his offensive, and French officers assert that the Germans have given a good account of themselves. They battle in the manner of the trained soldiers they are, and it is said that the percentage of desertions of them to the enemy ranks is not larger than that among the other nationalities represented in the legion.

Two Boys, Digging, Reveal Old Ruins

Washington.—An interesting ruin of a prehistoric building has recently been discovered in New Mexico, near the Gran Quivira National monument in the south central portion of the state. Word has just been received at the Department of the Interior that two boys of the neighborhood, seeing a slight elevation of the ground at this point, became curious and started digging into it.

After digging down about eight inches the top of a wall was reached, made of rocks. The rock extended about twelve inches, and from there on down the wall was of adobe. Excavations were followed only to a distance of about three feet.

It is estimated that the walls of the newly discovered building will measure about one hundred and fifty-nine feet from north to south and about ninety feet from east to west. In the course of their digging the boys brought to light some pottery and food bones.

The Gran Quivira National monument was reserved by Presidential proclamation in 1906 to preserve one of the most important of the early Spanish mission ruins in the Southwest. Ruins of ancient pueblo dwellings are also contained within the monument boundaries.

Water Power Increased 10 Per Cent in Year

Washington.—An increase of over 10 per cent during the last year in the number of horsepower developed in waterways of the United States is noted by the geological survey in a report showing the developed and undeveloped waterpower of the nation. Water wheels installed in plants of 100 horsepower or more had a capacity of 10,038,855 horsepower, an increase of 931,000 over the power developed last year, the survey's report showed. Of this increase 930,000 horsepower, or 99 per cent, was in public utility power plants and 12,000 horsepower, or 1 per cent, in manufacturing plants.

In New York State there were 528 plants in operation on March 1, 1925, with a total capacity in horsepower of 1,713,561. Of these plants 350 were public utility and municipal units, while 178 were manufacturing plants. Of the potential water-power resources of the country the survey's report showed that New York has 4,010,000 horsepower available 90 per cent of the time and 4,900,000 available 50 per cent of the time.

Mirror Superstition. Among the ancients mirrors were regarded as divine instruments and used as objects of divination; hence the breaking of a mirror was believed to bring misfortune upon the individual.

Unfortunate Poet. Richard Lovelace, the poet whose fame rests on his beautiful lyrics, "To Althea From Prison" and "To Lucasta, on Going to the Wars," spent many years in prison and died in poverty in London's slums.

This Is Worry. Worrying has been defined as "thinking a lot of things that are not so about something that probably will never happen."—Crusader.

"HEAVISIDE LAYER" THEORY IS PROVED

May Open Way to Great Strides in Radio.

Washington.—Existence of a "ceiling" over the earth, which exerts a strong influence on radio communication, has been established by the naval research laboratory, in association with the department of terrestrial magnetism of the Carnegie Institution, it was announced by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur.

Experiments have confirmed the long-disputed theory advanced several years ago by the late Sir Oliver Heaviside of an ionized region in the higher levels of the earth's atmosphere. It was announced. Observations indicated that the plane of maximum density, or ceiling, lies at a varying distance above the earth's surface, rising and falling as atmospheric conditions vary.

Importance to Radio. Behind this purely scientific announcement is news of vast importance to radio development, both commercial and broadcast. It means:

"That the short-wave transmission field now may be opened with, in the near future, mathematical certainty as to what may be expected in transmission and reception.

"That, within a brief time, the commercial radio field will expand tremendously, with moderate power, cheap short-wave stations supplanting present high-power ones with prohibitive erection costs.

"That transmission and reception of broadcast programs will undergo important changes.

"That fading, the bugaboo that has ruined many a fine evening, is well on the way of being overcome.

The condition is further explained as follows:

"This layer acts as a deflecting surface to electro-magnetic waves. Results obtained are based on an analysis of the phenomenon known as 'skip distance,' checked by a simple mechanical device by means of which the effective distance of the deflecting layers may be actually measured.

In seeking to account for this, a theory was developed at the research laboratory that there was a relation between the earth's magnetic field, frequency of waves used, skip distances observed and height of the layer. This relation could be and was worked out mathematically.

"Joint experiments with the Carnegie Institution of Washington approached solution of the problem from a different angle, demonstrating definitely the existence of two waves, one of them arriving by way of the earth and the other by way of the layer.

"The knowledge gained will play an important part in further advancing the radio art."

Few Babies Arrive in Far North Town

Longyear City, Spitzbergen.—Bird life is prolific enough in these lonely latitudes, but a visit from the stork is a sufficiently rare event to set all the wireless apparatus in the archipelago humming.

A baby born here enjoys the unique privilege of being baptized in the most northerly church on earth (78 degrees, 18 minutes north latitude) and it was the good fortune of an Associated Press reporter to witness the christening ceremony of Baby Elgurd, first-born son of a mining engineer of the Great Norwegian Coal company.

The little wooden Lutheran Church was crowded to capacity with the entire female population of the village, hardly more than 40 all told, all in their Sunday best, and young Sigurd marked his disapproval of the proceedings in the way infants have all over the world. He was much more amiable at home, where celebrations were kept up until the small hours in a dense atmosphere of tobacco smoke and an improvised one-man jazz band.

"He will be a regular Norwegian," his mother said as Sigurd was finally borne off to bed amid loud protests.

Ease You Have Never Known Before

Ever tried to back in and out of a crowded curb with balloon tires and the ordinary steering gear?

It may be one of an easy "daily dozen" for a Dempsey or a Zbyszko—but it is no joke for the average citizen.

With Moon's new multi-leverage steering gear even a young girl can park with one hand.

And she'll love the immediate sure soft response of Moon's 4-wheel hydraulic brakes. It is literally like sinking your foot into an air cushion.

We want you to try it just once. Find out how Moon's new steering invention makes balloon tire driving 100% luxury.

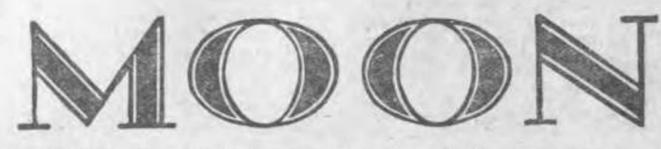

Ease is merely one of the high spots of the new advance-engineered Moon. Body, motor and chassis are far in advance of current practice.

If you want better looks, better performance than you've ever known before, treat yourself to a new hour of ease in a new Moon.

The result will surprise you — and the price.

PUBLIC SERVICE Men and Women

The Gas House Foreman

On those days in Fall and Spring before furnace fires are lit, or after they are out for the season, and dropping mercury sends people to their gas heaters for warmth, "send out" from PUBLIC SERVICE Electric and Gas Company's plants, will increase millions of cubic feet in a single period of twenty-four hours.

And The Gas House Foreman is there to see that the supply meets the demand—that holders are filled and pressures maintained.

He is a veteran in the service and the right hand man of the Plant Engineer and he knows the business of gas making from the coal pile to the main.

In the roster of those who faithfully serve the public in the public utility field, the name of The Gas House Foreman is near the top.

CANDIDATES AGAIN TAKE UP PRACTICE

Boys Go Through Lively Scrimmage Drills During Week In Preparation for Contests—Have Arranged for Tilt With Woodbridge Eleven

By EDDIE EKROY

High School football will gain its first footing in town this fall due to unusual events that have been occurring in the lives of about twenty lads since the present gridiron season was ushered in three weeks ago. A small group consisting of various classes: seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen, has been skimming all this while to organize Carteret's first high school gridiron outfit, and at this time conditions look very favorable for the little band.

INTENSE ENTHUSIASM

The fever for the game has gripped this bunch with such intensity and fervor that the likes of their actions has not been seen very often in very many places. They have not attempted violence or methods of destruction, but they have been showing unusual interest in the art of carrying the wind-puffed pigskin to touchdowns. And their eagerness to touch an eleven is characterized by one strong determined object that is set to conquer and to obtain its desires.

The entire squad of candidates put a request before the supervising principal of the local schools asking to be given permission to organize. This took place several days ago and when the answer was not given hurriedly the whole troop was in a state of melancholy. But when the official O.K. was granted by the supervisor, the same group, which was downcast and troubled, went through a decided change and busily the candidates went back to work all this week to shape out their proposed machine, which will swing into action very shortly.

Workouts This Week

Scrimmages featured this week's workouts in preparation for the brief campaign which will follow. Coaches Bill Hagen, Andy Bodnar and Joe Wiseman put their charges through stiff drills, giving instructions in carrying the ball, recovering it when fumbled, taking out opponents and forming a stonewall interference, and tackling, as well as numerous other important phases of the game.

It is believed that a varsity, or first team, will be picked soon. At present it is unknown who will make positions on this team, for a mighty good squad is out and there will probably not be any such thing as regulars. Everyone will have to fight to hold to his berth.

A rumor is fast spreading among athletes stating that the supervising principal will give the team her hearty support and attempt to secure uniforms for the players, which, if true, is mighty encouraging. The lads have been planning ways in which they will be able to borrow clothes, but supplied uniforms will prove much more advantageous and give the outfit a better appearance.

Thanksgiving Day Game

The opening game will be played probably next Saturday, or even during the coming week. A holiday tilt, that should attract interest, has already been arranged with Woodbridge on Thanksgiving Day. The place of battle has not yet been announced. Right here we are predicting a Carteret victory, for we know what kind of stuff the Blue and White eleven is made of. "Tear 'em to pieces boys," will follow the team to every contest.

We also hope that the team will receive the backing of every member of the student body, including many other grid fans whose school days have been ended.

Board Also In Favor

The supervising principal put the matter of the High School having a football eleven before the members of the Board of Education at their regular meeting Tuesday night. Miss Hermann asked that the Board grant the boys a team. On motion by Commissioner Jefferies the request was granted.

Further discussion took place in reference to athletics in the school. Commissioner Coughlin suggested the appointment of a paid football coach, since it was his motive to help put the borough up on an even scale with other sport places, who have had the experience of putting out cracker-jack elevens in years past. Miss Hermann also spoke in favor of a paid coach.

The men who are coaching the boys at this time should be given credit for their fine work that they are doing. In less than two weeks time the training through which the candidates have gone under their supervision has brought about a decided change among the whole squad.

Louis Gross, former athletic star at the University of Minnesota, has received an offer to become assistant varsity line coach at the University of Kentucky.

Raymond Bates Buker, American representative in the Paris Olympic games and famous mile runner, a few days ago received a degree in theology.

AMBOYS WIN ANNUAL SERIES

Pacers Trim Field Club Tossers By 2-0 In Final of Three-Game Series at Perth Amboy, Sunday Before Poor Crowd.

STARS IN LINEUPS

Veteran Twirler Holds Locals to Three Hits; Samson Tops the Mound for Carteret—Only One Runner Gets as Far as Third.

With interest almost at a standstill, the Carteret Field Club and the Perth Amboy Pacers played the third and final game of their annual series at Perth Amboy, Sunday afternoon, before a slim gathering that was held down by the cold wintry weather. The temperature was not at all ideal for such a contest, but the twirlers gave a fine exhibition, both featuring in the tightest duel of the series which ended with Carteret on the short end of a 2-0 tally.

Dutch Schesler, an old timer who has seen much service in fast company, was responsible for the Pacers' triumph, for the local clubbers could not solve his delivery. Ace Samson topped the pitching peak for Carteret and turned in a crack performance, being in good form. His only bad inning was the first, in which the Amboys countered their brace of tallies.

Schesler did not have any poor frames and the Field Club could not get any more than one runner as far as third base. The veteran's wildness allowed this to happen, when, after two were retired in the opening frame he walked three successive batters. The next man was an out and nothing resulted as far as scoring was concerned.

Score Runs In First

Samson got into a similar fix in his half of the same inning, but was unable to get out of it. He walked Regan at the start, but struck out Shriner. Old Jack Martin cracked out a two-base swat and Regan skipped all the way to third. A double steal followed with Regan sliding safely into home and Martin pilfering third. Martin scored when Zalari poked a single to right.

Carteret had Andy Dametsch back in the lineup again playing at short in place of Johnny Leshick who did not perform. Eddie Kelly took up duties at second base for Joey Elko, who was also out of the battle, while Kiggle Coplan, Elizabeth real estate merchant, showed up at first. Kiggle got a double from Schesler for one of the three local safeties.

It was Perth Amboy's second straight victory. Carteret captured the opening tilt by a single run with both teams scoring heavily. The second game was featured by a near riot and an Amboy win by another one-run margin.

Invading Frenchmen Win Golf Tourney From Swiss

For the first time in its history, Switzerland recently was the host to an invading French golf team. The French won the three-day team event over the Lauzanne links by a wide margin, but the Swiss showed that they are advancing rapidly at the sport and within a short time may take their place among the front rank of European golfers. The three days of play were divided into a medal play round of 18 holes, one at match play over 36 holes, and another at medal play over 18.

Efforts are being made to have the Franco-Swiss encounter an annual affair and officials of the two countries have brought the plans for such an arrangement before the national organizations of the countries. It is likely that the event next year will be held in France, probably at St. Cloud, the French stated before leaving Switzerland.

SOCCER ELEVEN IN EASY TALLY

Local Machine Shows Old Time Form to Conquer Hungarian Catholic Club Team by a Big Margin in One-sided Game.

BILL ELLIOTT STAR

Counters Goal in First Half and Four More in Rapid Succession in Second Period—To Play Latin Sport Club Here Sunday.

The Carteret Soccer Football Club went on an unusual scoring rampage in its contest with the local Hungarian Catholic Club even at Brady's Field, Sunday afternoon. The final score of the one-sided tilt was 11-1. Nothing much was done in the first half which was pretty even, but in the final few minutes, the winners opened up and by showing their old time form booted nine goals between the posts. The score at the end of the first half was 2-1.

Elliott starred for the winners in the second period by making four counters in rapid succession. Patricia, Russell, Donnelly and Bruce scored the remaining goals in that chapter. The following men played with the winning club: Moss, Sloan, Patricia, Elliott, Donnelly, Milligan, Russell, Bruce, Taggett and O'Donnell.

The Latin Sport Club team will face the Carteret eleven at Brady's Field next Sunday afternoon. The Latins are also from the borough, having their playing field at the old Liebig ball grounds. Other dates on the locals' schedule are open. The manager claims that Carteret is being dodged by other teams in this section, especially representatives of Perth Amboy.

MACK SLUGGER HAS COMFORTABLE LEAD

Maces Pellet For Average of .466 in Rapid Rise to Top—Was a Cast-off of Champion Tiger Nine in Previous Year—Other Records

Bill Biesel, hard-hitting first sacker of the Champion Stars, led the willow wielders in the Carteret Twilight League race during the recently closed season with an average of .466 for fifteen games. It was the second time that the batting crown fell upon the head of a member of a championship club; Curly Sullivan maced the pellet for .491 for the Tigers in 1924.

A CAST OFF

This year's leader rose to fame within a single season, being an early-season cast off of the Tigers in 1924. Biesel played one game with the Junglers in that campaign and was released outright due to his poor showing both in the field and at bat. He fumbled two of the five chances that he received and fanned once in two times up.

He signed with the Stars at the start of this year's race and a decided improvement was noticed in his play. He was one of the best fielding first basemen in the league and, as far as his batting is concerned, he was the best.

RACE CLOSE ALL SEASON

The fight for the crown was a bitter and close one. When the race entered its fourteenth week, it appeared as though the title would rest on either Bill Dzurilla or Phil Wardle. Both sluggers were hitting at a neck and neck pace and it was not likely that anyone would beat them out.

Both fell off, however, and when the final week was reached Wardle finished one notch ahead of the veteran Dzurilla; but they were both four and five strides to the bad. Ernie Sabo, the Cadillac third baseman, ended his season with an average of .450, being sixteen percentage points in back of Biesel. Curley Sullivan, the winner of the previous year, and Johnny Leshick came next in line, while Wardle and Dzurilla followed.

HOME RUN FEEL CONTAGIOUS

The season was marked by unusual long-distance hitting. The sluggers started off at a merry pace and continued it until the end, knocking a total of sixty homers for the season. Individual honors went to Dzurilla, who belted out nine four-base swats. Bill Casey and Johnny Dzurilla were tied for second place with five each. The crown went to Sullivan a whole year before with the big twirler getting only three. The total for the whole league that campaign was seventeen.

John Leshick tore off three records by being at bat the most number of times, 71, by scoring the most number of runs, 28, and by collecting the highest total of safe singles, which amounted to 31. Sabo hit ten two-baggers, getting the honors in that respect; Dzurilla, the home run king, connected solidly for a half dozen triples; Sullivan, Coughlin and Balerich tied with two apiece in hitting sacrifices; Harrigan wrested the strikeout record from Balerich by fanning eighteen times, Balerich taking the title in 1924 with 25; and the latter jumped up a notch this year to capture honors in luring opposing twirlers to offer complimentary tickets to first base.

The batting averages follow:

AN ORDINANCE TO WIDEN WASHINGTON AVENUE, BETWEEN EMERSON STREET AND LOUIS STREET IN THE BOROUGH OF CARTERET.

Be It Ordained by the Council of the Borough of Carteret: 1. Washington Avenue as now laid out between Emerson Street and Louis Street shall be widened and opened in said Borough from approximately Forty (40) feet to Forty-six (46) feet as shown on a map or profile thereof made August 1925 by Oliver F. Mitchell, Borough Engineer.

2. The Council hereby determines that it is necessary for the widening and extending of said street to take the following described lands and real estate:

TRACT No. 1: BEGINNING at the corner formed by the intersection of the Northerly line of Washington Avenue with the Westerly line of Emerson Street as now laid out; running thence (1) Westerly, along the Northerly line of Washington Avenue as now laid out and crossing Lowell, Longfellow and Whittier Streets, Two Hundred and Sixty (260) feet more or less to the Southwest corner of lands of Paul Mitro, Two and fifty-five hundredths (2.55) feet more or less to a point in the Northerly line of said Washington Avenue as proposed; thence (3) Easterly, along the Northerly line of Washington Avenue as proposed to be widened and crossing Whittier, Longfellow and Lowell Streets, Six Hundred and Nine (609) feet more or less to the said Westerly line of Emerson Street; and thence (4) Southerly, along the Westerly line of Emerson Street, sixty five hundredths (.65) feet more or less to the point or place of Beginning.

TRACT No. 2: BEGINNING at the corner formed by the intersection of the Southerly line of Washington Avenue with the Westerly line of Emerson Street as said Washington Avenue is now laid out, said point being also the Northeast corner of lands of the United States Metals Refining Co.; running thence (1) Westerly, along the Southerly line of Washington Avenue as now laid out and crossing Lowell, Longfellow, Whittier and Linden and Cypress Streets, Thirteen Hundred and Seventy (1370) feet more or less to the corner formed by the intersection of the Southwesterly line of Louis Street and Washington Avenue as now laid out; thence (2) Southerly, at right angles to Washington Avenue, Two and seventy hundredths (2.70) feet to the said Northerly line of Washington Avenue as proposed to be widened; thence (3) Easterly, along the Southerly line of Washington Avenue, as proposed to be widened One Thousand Three Hundred and Seventy (1370) feet more or less to the said Westerly line of Emerson Street; and thence (4) Northerly, along the Westerly line of Emerson Street, Five and seven hundredths (5.07) feet more or less to a point or place of Beginning.

The above descriptions are taken from map made by Oliver F. Mitchell, Borough Engineer, and on file in the Clerk's Office of the Borough of Carteret.

3. The Borough Council hereby desires to take and appropriate for the purpose of widening said public street or road, such lands and real estate as may be necessary therefor, upon making compensation to the owners by purchase thereof at a price to be agreed upon, and if an agreement as to compensation cannot be made, by the payment of damages according to law.

4. The damage resulting from widening said street or road shall be duly ascertained and paid, and the benefits therefrom duly assessed upon the property affected thereby.

5. The sum of Three Thousand ($3,000) Dollars is hereby appropriated towards the costs thereof in anticipation of awards, damages and assessments to be fixed by the commissioners of assessment for the cost thereof.

Introduced October 5, 1925. Passed on first reading and second reading October 5, 1925.

HARVEY VO. PLATT, Borough Clerk.

Ross Stores to Celebrate 6th Anniversary

The Ross Stores next week will celebrate the sixth anniversary of their entrance into the State, opening a store in Jersey City in 1919 and since have added store in almost every town and city in New Jersey. The complete chain of Ross Stores have formed a buying and selling organization that has proven its success by their large growth.

URGE ADOPTION OF STATE LAW

Carteret Public Library Points Out Benefits To Be Derived If the Borough Votes Favorably On This Subject.

ISSUE A STATEMENT

Library Will Then Be Owned By the People With an Income That Is Certain—To Appoint Citizens as Trustees.

The Carteret Free Public Library issued today a statement on "What the adoption of the New Jersey Library Laws Means to the Library." It says:

"The Carteret Free Public Library, formerly a subscription library, would be solely dependent on subscriptions, contributions and proceeds of entertainments arranged for its benefit, had not the present borough council voluntarily appropriated sufficient funds for its maintenance.

"The adoption of the state laws guarantees an appropriation of from one third to one mill for every dollar of assessable property in the borough, so that the library will be owned by the people, and with an income that is certain the Board of Trustees will be more able to make plans for the future and more economically administer its affairs.

"The library is not a charity, neither should it be regarded as a luxury, but rather as a necessity and it should be maintained in the same manner as the schools, parks and other public necessities are maintained through the tax levy. Where all contribute, the burden is not felt. Upon the adoption of the state laws the Board of Trustees will consist of the mayor and the superintendent of Public Instruction as ex-officio members and five citizens to be appointed by the mayor. These trustees will be appointed for one, two, three, four and five years respectively, and the term of one of them shall expire each year and a reappointment made accordingly."

SEEK CITIZENS IN FUND DRIVE

Residents of the Borough Are Urged by Legion to Attend Meeting Next Monday Night at Borough Hall.

Final plans for a campaign to raise a sum of money for the endowment fund for disabled men and the veterans' orphans will be made at a meeting of the endowment committee of the Roosevelt Post No. 263, American Legion in the veteran's rooms of the new Memorial Municipal Building on Monday night, October 26. Commander Fred Ruckriegel has issued an appeal to all the citizens of the borough to attend this meeting, in view of the fact that a citizens committee will be formed to work with the endowment fund committee to raise the necessary quota.

Speaking on the drive, which will probably begin November 9, Commander Ruckriegel says: "America's duty to the disabled and the war orphan is near. Of America's whole-hearted intent to meet that duty there can be no doubt. The American Legion accepts the responsibility for a task after a full demonstration of its peculiar fitness both of the heart and of the hand.

"The great life work of the American Legion for the disabled and the children for which it requires an endowment backing of five million dollars, would be necessary, right and just if it were to cost five hundred million. If it is neglected it will throw back upon the government or upon the public or private resources a vastly greater cost. The legion, with its special duty for its comrades, would do the job at any cost. The legion, with its special duty to its comrades, would do the job at any cost. Finding it practical to sustain this nation-wide program on the income of a relatively small endowment, it asks for the prompt provisions of that endowment during the coming few weeks."

Fined $300

Frank Nagy, saloonkeeper of 59 Roosevelt avenue, this borough, pleaded guilty to illegally possessing liquor on June 21, of last year, before Judge Runyon at Newark on Monday and was fined $300.

American Legion to Meet

The American legion will hold a special meeting on Thursday, Oct. 29. The Middlesex County Legionaires will hold a county meeting in Perth Amboy on Wednesday, Oct. 28. Buses will leave for Amboy at 7.30 P. M. at Fire House No. 2.

Back From Vacation

Mayor and Mrs. Thomas J. Mulvihill have returned from their two weeks' stay in Bermuda.

Local Court Cases Tried at Amboy

In the Perth Amboy District Court last Monday, the case of Adam Garber versus B. Levy, of this borough, judgment for possession of the premises were given Adam Garber.

Suit was also brought for rent and Judge Charles C. Hommann, gave the plaintiff a judgment for $200 against the defendant Levy. The case was tried in court all morning and among witnesses heard was Sam Brown of Hudson street. Attorney Maxwell Sosin represented Mr. Garber and the defendants were represented by Harry Golenbock of the firm of Wight, Wight & Golenbock of Perth Amboy.

LOCAL RESIDENT WINS COURT SUIT

Supreme Court Sustains Middlesex County Jury in Awarding $1,120 to May Wojnarowski of This Borough.

The action of the Middlesex Circuit Court jury in allowing May Wojnarowski, of this borough the sum of $1,120 against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was sustained by the Supreme Court at Trenton this week. Her husband Mikolas insured with the company for $1,000 April 14, 1922 and died December 8, 1922. The company refused to pay the policy on the ground that it had been secured by fraud. The contention was that in his application he had answered questions untruthfully, particularly as to his health and whether he had a doctor in two years. Wojnarowski died of consumption and the company contended he denied he had been suffering with it and also stated he had not had a doctor within two years. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company said that a physician had attended the man within this period. It said he had falsely stated that he was employed by Benjamin Moore Company of this borough at the time of taking the policy.

The widow sued for $3,000 and the jury gave her the amount mentioned above. This was carried to the Supreme Court on the ground that the jury was ruled by passion and prejudice, that the evidence did not warrant the verdict and that the judge erred in not directing a verdict for the company.

In the decision the Supreme Court said that there was doubt whether the husband had ever been asked the questions and if so, whether he understood their purport, being Polish.

MORE YOUNG MEN WANTED BY ARMY

United States Army Recruiting Station Is Seeking New Enlisted Men For Various Grades of Service.

18 TO 35 YEARS

Sergeant Stephen Colgan Is In Charge of Recruiting Office at the Post Office Building in Perth Amboy.

"The Army needs more young and able men and a hitch in the army is just what a young man needs," Sergeant Colgan, of the army recruiting station at the post office in Perth Amboy said today to the Carteret News in quest of getting men from this borough and adjacent vicinity.

The recruiting sergeant says: "If you have a moment to spare I believe we can spend it agreeably. In the first place you are over 18 and you are not over 35. Say you are about 21 or 22. You are out of school or college and you have come to that point where it is either to settle down or drift. You are young, healthy, ambitious and anxious to improve yourself, or in other words to 'get along.' Work is plentiful, jobs and positions are open to you.

Nathaniel Jacoby Asks a Few Questions Pertaining to the Way the Mayor and Council Conduct the Borough's Affairs

You all know the most international character the woman who runs to Mrs. Smith pretending to be her best friend, shoots an earful of gossip about Mrs. Jones. She gets Mrs. Smith all riled up against Mrs. Jones; and then Mrs. Smith tells this woman what she thinks about Mrs. Jones for saying this and that about her. Then this woman rushes to Mrs. Jones and shoots two earsful of what Mrs. Smith had said, and gets Mrs. Jones riled up against Mrs. Smith. Then she goes out and hides behind an apple tree and enjoys the great clash taking place between Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones over their back yard fence. This scandalizer is the exact comparison of some of our Democratic opponents, especially one who poses as a press agent.

Some time ago we find this press agent, through the medium of the Carteret Press, deriding Mayor Mulvihill before the public for having ordered a certain medicine show out of town. In his editorial, he chides the Mayor and Republican administration for having chased the medicine show out of town. He tells the public that the Mayor and his administration had no right of depriving it and its children of a good, wholesome, free show which was doing nobody any harm. In the same editorial he again chides the Mayor before the business people telling the business people that the Mayor had no right leaving the medicine show into town and depriving the business people of so much business. In other words, he chides the Mayor both coming and going. It was wrong for letting the medicine show into town, the Mayor was wrong again for chasing them out. He takes no position one way or the other. Right is not right and wrong is not wrong with him. It simply depends to whom he is speaking. Right is wrong and wrong is right. If he is speaking to the people of the Borough, then wrong is right. If he is speaking to the business people of the Borough, then right is wrong. Dear Public, do you see this comparison? Do you see how this press agent is like the scandalizer running between Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones? This press agent takes no stand whatsoever other than to stir up trouble.

When you analyze the whole medicine show situation, if it was wrong for the Mayor to permit the medicine show into town, he had the right of chasing them out. If this press agent and his Democratic colleagues recognize that it was wrong for the Mayor to let the show in town, their stand should be to chase it out. However, if they thought that the Mayor did the right thing in permitting the show into town, their stand should be that it was wrong for chasing them out. It is either one or the other. It is right or wrong; and their position should be one or the other; that it is right or it is wrong. Why should they stir up the business people in town proclaiming that the Mayor is to blame that the medicine show is in town and on the other hand stir up the public proclaiming that the Mayor is to blame for chasing them out. Is the public going to listen to a Hocus-Pocus Grinder such as this press agent pretends to be? Personally, I take this stand, that there is a Borough Ordinance prohibiting the selling of quack medicines to the people in the Borough. This Borough Ordinance is based on the State Law which prohibits the same practice. To permit the medicine show to operate was against the Borough law and legally this show had no right to be in town. Again it was not very beneficial to the health and to the pockets of the people who were lured to this show by its cheap entertainment. And let me say this to the business people of the Borough, that a strong ally of the Democratic party headed a petition to keep the medicine show in town after the Mayor and Council exercised their jurisdiction in driving it out. Total disrespect to law and order was shown and the public was stirred up to nothing less than riot because the Mayor exercised what was the law and therefore his duty to exercise. For a few days the town was nothing short of anarchy. A total disrespect for the Mayor and Council, for law and order, was exhibited all on account of a cheap medicine show that it is being operated by one who was taking money out of pockets of the people of this Borough. This same ally of the Democratic party heads the Board of Education and it is surprising that he should believe that it is more conducive to the health, happiness and welfare of the children of this Borough that they attend this medicine show night after night, not one night but a dozen nights and stand out in the wet grass and in the cold till eleven or twelve o'clock, at night rather than have their school lessons prepared, get to bed early, get up fresh and early in the morning and go to a clean, wholesome school, capable and efficient to get full advantage of their studies. More than one-half of the money spent by this Borough goes to our schools and perhaps this same man believes that it would be more economical to close-up our schools and substitute in its place medicine shows which to him might perhaps be more constructive to the children of our Borough. So much for our medicine shows.

Now this same press agent does the Jones-Smith stunt once more in an editorial with regards to the liquor question in town. He chides the administration for having attempted to enforce the Federal law prohibiting the sale of liquor. He tells you that the saloon-keepers in town were fined locally instead of by the Federal Agents. In other words, he is trying to create in the minds of the saloon-keepers that they were wronged by these raids instituted by the Borough Officials. Then he turns around and tries to create a disturbance in the public mind that the officials were again wrong in permitting the saloon owners to be open. As I have said, that it all depends to whom he is speaking. When he speaks to the saloon-keepers, the officials are wronged by raiding them and enforcing the law and it would be right to leave them open and to disregard the law and not raid them. In other words, the administration is blamed for upholding the law. When he speaks to the people, the administration is wrong for not raiding the saloon-keepers and the administration is blamed for not enforcing the law. There is no manly, definite stand taken whatsoever by this Hocus-Pocus Grinder. In plain words, he is insulting the intelligence of the people of this Borough with his Jones-Smith gossip, thinking all the time that he can get away with it. But I sincerely believe the people of this Borough are intelligent enough to realize that the Republican administration is doing the best that can be done and that it is far better for fines to be collected in this town for liquor violations since this town is the one that must bear all burdens and responsibility for liquor violations committed therein. Besides the money so collected always in the Borough Treasury as a benefit and enjoyment for our local tax-payers.

Undoubtedly the Democratic slogan will again be the word "Taxes." You will hear high taxes and low taxes, high taxes under the Republican administration and low taxes under the Democratic administration yelled to the roof tops. They will tell you that when they were in power, taxes are high. They will not, however, tell you that in comparison with other cities in proportion to population the taxes paid in Carteret is nil, comparatively nothing, compared with the taxes paid in other cities with only one exception and that is South River. They will not tell you that the reason taxes were low in Carteret under their administration was because of less improvements given to the people of the Borough, less schools to maintain and the cost of the material at that time was low, all that they will shout at you is how they built roads and that taxes were low. Outside of roads, Inter-Ocean Oil Tanks and Mexican Petroleum Oil Tanks, what improvements did the Democratic party give this Borough in their sixteen years of administration. Suggest the erection of Inter-Ocean Oil Tanks and Mexican Petroleum Oil Tanks on the best part of our town was in no way conducive in the raising of our taxes. The Republicans will admit. Republicans will also admit that taxes are higher today than they were during the Democratic administration. But the question is why. Would it have been otherwise under the Democratic administration? Would taxes be low today were the Democrats in power? Let us analyze and face the facts and see for ourselves the answer to this question.

An analysis of the property tax according to the Audit for 1924 shows that property was assessed for $437,000, of which $176,000, was assessed for school purposes as against $125,000, for local purposes. In other words, property was taxed for $50,000 more for school purposes than what property was taxed for running the rest of the entire Borough. A further analysis shows that the school disbursements up to December 31, 1924, was anticipated as being $246,907.51 whereas the anticipated disbursement by the Borough from January 31, 1924 to December 31, 1924 was $186,788. In other words, the anticipated school disbursements was $60,119.51 more actually spent by the schools than by the Borough and when you figure since Dec. 31, 1924 the building of a new high-school, the maintenance of a new high school, the purchase of a public play-ground and the maintenance of a public play-ground, you can judge for yourselves whether taxes are going to go up or down and whose to blame—is the school board a Republican Board?

The truth of the matter is simply this as far as the campaign end of it is concerned. It is all right for Hocus-Pocus Grinder to run to industry and shout that it is all wrong for the people to receive such high wages. It is also all right for him then to turn around and run to the people and shout that it is all wrong for industry to charge so much for material. Why doesn't he tell the truth and say as I have shown you here that the reason for high wages is the high cost of living and that neither industry nor labor is to blame. Thus it is with the question of higher taxes.

Now Dear Public, the point I am getting at is this: When will party men, whether Democrats or Republicans, stop trying to hoodwink the public? When will politicians stop mudslinging and petty interference all for the sake of politics and at the expense and detriment of the people. When will this nonsense cease? The time is ripe for politicians of both parties to recognize the fact that the voters have become intelligent and that their intelligence is growing every day. Old Time politics has become a thing of the past with the voters. Clear cut issues; intelligent argument for or against good economics or governmental principles is what the public wants to listen to and needs to-day. To advocate this and oppose that thing all for the sake of politics without a thought as to the detriment or benefit of the people is not only an insult but a crime committed against them. Whether before election or after, whether Democrats or Republicans, let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and help make this Borough a bigger and better place to live in. I'm for Phillips and Lyman for one reason; I believe of the four candidates these two are best fitted to lead us in the accomplishment of this common purpose.

NATHANIEL JACOBY.

Big Event Tomorrow

General indications point to a big success of the euchre and dance which the Hyacinth Grove No. 25, Woodmen's Circle will hold tomorrow night. A large number of prizes will be awarded to the winners. There will be a social and refreshments will be served.

Red, Watery Eyes

You will be astonished at the quick results from simple camphor, witch-hazel, hydrastis, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. One small bottle Lavoptik helps any case sore, red or watery eyes. Eye cup free. Brown's Pharmacy, 576 Roosevelt Avenue.—Adv.

WELCOMED HOME BY HEBREW LADIES AID

Mrs. Max Glass Tendered Reception Tuesday Evening at Her Home on Roosevelt Avenue—Home From Europe.

Mrs. Max Glass of Roosevelt Avenue was tendered a welcome home reception at her home on Tuesday evening by the Hebrew Ladies' Aid Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass have just returned from an extended trip abroad and their many friends gathered to welcome them. After the surprise had been affected and refreshments served, Mr. and Mrs. Glass entertained their friends by telling of the interesting trip they had, having visited Europe, Egypt and Palestine. Both were greatly impressed by the rapid development of the Holy Land.

The commemorative of the event the Ladies' Aid society presented Mrs. Glass with a beautiful gift. Mr. and Mrs. Glass thanked their friends feelingly for the honor shown them.

The guests departed at a late hour after spending an enjoyable evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Max Glass, Mr. and Mrs. C. Segal, Mr. and Mrs. Leo R. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. Segal, Miss R. Glass, Mrs. S. B. Brown, Mrs. H. Berson, Mrs. I. Brown, Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. J. Blaukopf, Mrs. H. Chinchin, Mrs. L. Chodosh, Mrs. N. Chodosh, Mrs. Daniels, Miss J. Deber, Mrs. H. IMPROVEMENTS ARE ORDERED

M. A. Hermann, Inc., Gets Contracts for Curbs and Sidewalks on Wheeler Avenue—Is Low Bidder.

COUNCIL MEETING

William C. Smith is Awarded Three Contracts and United Construction and Supply Gets Sidewalk Job.

Much business was transacted by the borough council at its meeting on Monday night. Bids for the construction of sidewalks and curbs on Wheeler avenue from Randolph street to Roosevelt avenue were received. M. A. Hermann, Inc., was the lowest bidder with a proposal of $3,370.40. The contract was awarded to the Hermann concern, following the introduction of a resolution by Councilman Frank Andres. The other bidders were: William C. Smith, $4,380.90, and United Construction and Supply Company, $3,467.40.

The council also awarded contracts for other street improvements, bids for which were received on Monday night, October 5.

William C. Smith was awarded the jobs for sidewalks and curbs on Heald street for $3,362.45; Louis street, $6,128.69; Lowell street, $4,681.60. The United Construction and Supply Company was given the contract for sidewalks and curbs on Leick avenue for $2,177.57.

The ordinance calling for the widening of Washington avenue was passed at the third and final reading. A resolution was offered by Councilman Charles A. Phillips and approved by the Borough Council authorizing the issuance of a note for $11,000 in anticipation of 1925 taxes. On motion of Councilman Samuel Brown, the street and roads committee will investigate the complaint of a McKinley avenue citizen that his yard and cellar is being swamped with water.

An adjourned meeting will be held on Monday night, October 26.

DEMOCRATS HEAR A. HARRY MOORE

Democratic Candidate for Governor Gets Ovation at Two Open Air Meetings Wednesday Night—Others Also Speak.

Two big rallies by Democratic candidates were held in the borough on Wednesday night. One was held in Chrome and the other in Carteret. A. Harry Moore, Democratic candidate for governor, made his personal appeal to the voters of the borough. Although he touched briefly upon the issues existing between himself and his Republican opponent, it was evident that he came to Carteret to introduce himself to a people who have heard much of Moore but did not hear him.

The Moore caravan arrived in Chrome shortly after 6 o'clock. William J. Lawlor acted as chairman. He introduced William D'Zurilla and Edward Coughlin, candidates for councilmen, also Assistant Prosecutor John E. Toolan, Klemmer Kaltelsen, candidates for freeholder and a group of others. Former Mayor Joseph A. Hermann, introduced Mr. Moore to the audience.

A repetition of the meeting took place on the hill near the fire house. Here Francis A. Monaghan introduced the speakers.

On his county tour, many prominent Democrats joined the caravan. Former Mayor Joseph A. Hermann was in the party. At the luncheon in the Pines hotel, there were seen Mrs. Theodore Pfennig, Mrs. John W. Adams and Mrs. Fred Simons.

A large group of Democrats attended the big meeting held in Perth Amboy later in the evening.

To Hold Ball

The annual ball of St. John's Baptist Society, Greko Catholic Assembly, No. 75, will be held at St. Elias' auditorium on Saturday night, October 31.

Arrange For Dance

The Young People's Society will hold its third annual dance at the German Lutheran Hall on Saturday night. Good music has been engaged for the occasion.

Joseph P. Day Has Four New Jersey Auctions

Beginning with the sale Saturday afternoon of 310 business and residential lots on Springwood Road and the proposed Parkway Boulevard, at Mountainside, adjoining Westfield, by Joseph P. Day, the same auctioneer has three other New Jersey sales scheduled to be held on Oct. 31st and on Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 3 at Port Reading.

The Port Reading sale, which is to be held for the Estate of Richard R. Vernon, by order of the Central Union Trust Co. of New York, Trustee, is the most important auction sale held in New Jersey since Mr. Day sold the large property at Perth Amboy at the approach to the new Victory Bridge, by order of the Perth Amboy Trust Co., Trustee.

The Port Reading sale involves the disposal of 400 lots on and near Woodbridge avenue, which is the main highway between Carteret and Perth Amboy. The Central R. R. of N. J. and the Port Reading R. R. pass the property. About 80 of the lots to be sold are in a separate tract, on Bluff Road, just north of Woodbridge avenue.

THE HAUNTED PESOS

By FREDERICK F. MOORE

(© by Short Story Pub. Co.)

TWO thousand Filipinos were standing in line before the window of the paymaster of the army transport service, waiting to get their wages for the week, in bright new silver pesos.

"I hope," said Felipe Lopez, a cargo checker, "that none of my pesos will have the mark of blood on them. It is bad enough to work six days in the hot sun for twenty pesos, but after you get them it is worse to have the ghost of a miser running through your house trying to take them away from you, and probably kill you in the bargain."

Francisco Bassa, a laborer, who was next to Lopez in the line, shivered and rolled a cigarette to steady his nerves.

"What is this about the haunted pesos?" he asked.

"What?" exclaimed Felipe, "have you not heard? All the Filipinos know the story. Have you not heard of the American miser who saved his silver pesos until he had a room full of them in a house in Paco? And how he was robbed and killed, and cursed the robber with his dying breath, and swore that every peso would have a drop of blood on it and that he would haunt every man who kept or used the money? Everybody knows of the story."

The natives near Felipe drew up to him with terror in their faces and asked about this awful story of the haunted pesos, for Filipinos are very superstitious and believe in ghosts and bad omens and evil eyes and curses.

"It is a very simple tale," said Felipe, when they pressed him to tell them about the haunted pesos. "There was an American who saved all the pesos he earned as a government engineer. He had his house half full of them out in Paco. It is the house where Ledesma, the Filipino patriot, lived before the war with the Americans, and you all know it. It has a yard and tall iron fence around it and no one lives there now, for the spirit of the miser haunts it. He has been seen walking through the grounds by night and no one dares go near it."

"Some American soldiers killed him and took the money. They cut his throat with a saber. As he was lying on the floor, dying, they filled sacks with the pesos. He cursed them as he was lying in his blood, and said that whoever should have a peso of his would be haunted. 'You will bring these pesos back here,' he told them, 'and throw them into my yard by night. I will haunt you until you do it and then I will strangle you in your beds as you sleep. And any man who shall have one of these pesos and use it for his benefit in any way will have my curse, and unless he comes and throws the pesos into my yard, I will haunt him as long as he lives, and will strangle him and his wife and children. These pesos shall be known by a spot of my blood over the eagle. Sometimes it will not be there and sometimes it will be seen. When that spot of blood comes over the eagle on the peso, it is a warning, and unless it is thrown into my yard by night I will kill the man who keeps it or gives it in trade for goods for his household or food or drink for himself and children. This curse I put upon all who shall handle my pesos, and then he died, spitting blood at the robbers, which fell on the silver coins."

"Last week," continued Felipe, "I found two pesos in my pocket with the spot of blood on them. It was not there when I got the money, but the blood spots came out while it was in my pocket. I knew it was the miser's curse and warning, so that night I went to Paco and threw them into the yard of the house where the miser lived. They are there now, and whoever wants them may get them, unless the ghost of the miser has taken them away. I know better than to use the money—I want no bony fingers at my throat in the night—I want to wake up in the morning. So you may save your lives and the lives of your wives and children if you heed my counsel. If you find some day that you have a haunted peso, I would advise you to throw it back to the miser."

"The robbers were all killed. The three of them were found dead, one after the other, and on their throats were the red marks where the fingers of the miser's ghost had strangled them, and their tongues were hanging out and their faces were blue and their eyes staring, as if they could see the spirit of the man they robbed. It all came to pass as he said it would. A Filipino was found last week in a town in Cavite, strangled in his bed. No one knew who had killed him. But a friend of mine told me that a peso with a spot of blood on it was found in his room. I said nothing, but of course it was a haunted peso, and that is why he died. Perhaps he did not know of the curse. But I do, and if I ever find another peso with the blood on it, I know where it will go. You may do as you choose, but I love my life too well to sell it for a peso."

The paymaster wondered why every man who was paid that day examined his pesos carefully before leaving the window. He supposed there were counterfeiters in circulation and that the laborers were afraid of getting bad coins.

Francisco Bassa, the man who had asked Felipe to tell him the story of the haunted pesos, looked at his money the next morning, and was horrified to discover that two of his pesos had the fatal blood spots.

He called his wife and in terror they both agreed that they were possessed of haunted pesos, and that they would hurl them into the yard of the Paco house as soon as it became dark. The two pesos were sadly needed, it was true, but what were two pesos, if throwing them back to the miser would protect them from his curse?

So after his day's work loading and unloading ships, Francisco went to Paco, shivering with fear, and imagining that every palm tree along Calle Real concealed the spirit of the miser, and that the terrible ghostly fingers were reaching for his throat.

There seemed to be a great many Filipinos hurrying along Calle Real. They all went by the Ledesma house in the darkness and then started back the way they had come from Manila.

Francisco furtively threw his pesos over the fence and went back to the city with the others. When he had come to the Luneta, where the band was playing, he met Pascual Romero, who also worked for the government unloading steamers.

"Where have you been, Pascual?" he asked.

"I have been in Paco," replied Pascual. "Let us walk around and hear the band play. How is your wife's brother doing with his fish store?"

"Good," replied Francisco, but his mind was not on the fish store.

"I found two haunted pesos in my purse this morning," said Francisco, his fingers trembling as he lit a cigarette.

"You were lucky," said Pascual; "I had the misfortune to find that I had four. I threw them back to the miser and glad I am that I did so. Have you kept yours?"

"Mother of God, no! I cast the accursed things away. Does a man risk his life for two pesos?"

"Others have found the blood spots on their money, I am told. There is no mistaking them. The spots show over the eagle. They are spots of dried blood and there can be no doubt that they are the miser's coins."

For three months the two thousand Filipinos employed by the government in the transport service found haunted pesos, and every week they journeyed to Paco by night and threw the coins into the yard of the Ledesma house. Then they found no more and came to the conclusion that the spirit of the dead miser had his own again and was at peace. They were well pleased, for they found their wages were being depleted by the tribute to the ghost of the pesos.

But no one had been strangled. So the story told by Felipe Lopez had warned all the natives of Manila and had doubtless saved many lives.

It is a pity that some of the facts bearing directly on the haunted pesos must in justice be told to those who have followed the tale thus far.

Some weeks before Felipe Lopez told his story, a chemist employed in the government laboratory at Manila was sharing a room with a man from Connecticut. The latter was employed in the Philippine treasury and made up the money for the various government bureaus, including the transport service, which was used to pay salaries.

The man from Connecticut was a typical New England Yankee, with the nasal twang common to that region, and he had the reputation of being very shrewd.

The chemist one night gave him a peso which had a dark red spot on it. "It does not show at once," exclaimed the chemist, "but the spot comes out in a day or two, and lasts for a couple of weeks, when it fades again. Looks like a spot of blood, doesn't it?" "Yes," said the Connecticut man, and smoked several cigars in silence. Then he went and had a long talk with an intelligent native named Felipe Lopez, who was a cargo checker for the army transport service.

About the time the Filipinos got no more haunted pesos in their wages, a government chemist and an employee of the treasury resigned and took passage for the United States on a steamer. Both of them had plenty of money.

Felipe Lopez owns a moving-picture theater in Manila and no more checks cargoes for the transport service while the sun is hot, for twenty pesos a week.

Any man who thinks he would not fear the spirit of the miser and would like to go to the house in Paco and gather up the haunted pesos, need not take the trouble, for the ghost got the money which was thrown into the yard of the Ledesma residence. At least, the money is not there now, according to several Filipinos.

One Goat Brings $775

At a goat sale in San Angelo, Texas, recently one registered Angora buck sold for $775. The sale was the first of its kind in the country, attracting 2,000 persons from all the western states. The sale was made the occasion of a big outing in the woods nearby and nearly all the visitors camped out.

Among the NOTABLES

JOHN LOCKE

IN GREAT contrast to the undemocratic teachings of the German philosophers, are the gentler and far more liberal ideas of the great English thinkers.

There is Locke, for instance, the great English philosopher, born almost a century and a half before Hegel. He was born in Somersetshire, August 29, 1632. He studied at Oxford, and developed a fondness for politics, theology, medicine and philosophy and studied all of these. Thus he fitted himself to look at subjects from a mental, an abstract, a physical and a religious point of view—certainly taking a comprehensive attitude.

A discussion among some friends, one day, concerning the human mind, led to the beginnings of his "Essay Concerning Human Understanding," which was not compiled, however, until twenty years of work had gone into it. Troubled times in politics sent Locke and other liberal thinkers to take refuge in Holland. He was well in his fifties before he returned to England, where he received all of $150 for his copyrights on the great "Essay." He wrote, later, the "Reasonableness of Christianity," and died in 1704, in "sincere communication with the whole church of Christ by whatever names Christ's followers call themselves."

The whole sum of his teachings was universal toleration, freedom of thought and action, almost opposite to the preachings of the German thinkers.

Severe on Vagrants

Punishment of vagrants was severe in the Middle ages. In England, in 1572, they were jailed, their ears bored, and upon a second conviction were sentenced to death. Milder laws were enacted later.

THINGS FOR WINTER

WHEN the cucumbers are just finger size try this recipe:
Company Sweet Pickles.

Take one pound each of candied cherries and layer raisins left in clusters two or three on a stem, six dozen of the Tiny Tim cucumbers. Put a quart of the best cider vinegar into a porcelain-lined kettle, add one pound of granulated sugar and boil to a sirup with two teaspoonfuls each of white pepper and nutmeg, one teaspoonful of mace and one-half teaspoonful of ground cloves. Bring the sirup to a boil, then add the cherries; when they are plump remove them with a skimmer and add the raisins. As soon as the raisins are plump, skim them out and add the cucumbers. Boil two minutes, they should be tender but not soft. Fill glass jars with cucumbers in layers, with the cherries and raisins. Pour over the sirup boiling hot and seal.

Mushroom Catsup.

Wipe the freshly-gathered mushrooms, if perfectly clean they are much better if not washed. Put in layers in a stone jar, sprinkling each layer with salt. Cover with a folded cloth and keep in a warm place twenty-four hours. Put into a colander to drain off the salt, and dash over cold water to rinse. Put the mushrooms through a coarse sieve and to every quart of liquor add an ounce of pepper corns and simmer for thirty minutes. Add one-fourth ounce of whole allspice, one-half ounce of sliced ginger root, one dozen whole cloves, three blades of mace and cook fifteen minutes. Put into small bottles, cork and dip corks in hot paraffin.

Pepper Jam.

Wash and remove seeds from six sweet red peppers. Put through a food chopper, sprinkle with salt and let stand three hours. Drain, rinse in cold water and put into a saucepan. Add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of vinegar and boil all together until of the consistency of jam. Pour into glasses. When cool cover with paraffin.

Speaker's Handicap

Two countrymen homeward bound from the picnic were discussing the patriotic oration that had been the big event of the day. "Not such a bad speech," said one. "No," agreed the other. "Not so bad. But the speaker would have done better if he hadn't worn a collared collar. He couldn't melt it down!"

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

WISHING ON LOAD OF HAY

THE custom of wishing when a load of hay passes is common in the rural districts all over the country. It is a survival from that ancient nature worship which manifested itself in various cults and myths having to do with the spirit of vegetation, the personification of the "kindly fruits of the earth" as the embodiment of a god.

The growing crop is Osiris, Adonis or Balder alive and the harvested crop is the same gods temporarily dead. At the gathering of all crops—the killing of the god—the ancients were accustomed to practice solemn rites, many of which in a maimed form, exist among us today as popular superstitions. A load of hay is a gathered crop—it is the body of Balder which is passing, and a wish upon a load of hay is an appeal to the spirit of that god for a fulfillment of the wish.

Those who are inclined to question the survival of ancient religions in fragmentary form under the guise of current superstitions should consider that, without considering the significance of the fact at all, we still call five days of the week by the names of heathen gods and two after the moon goddess and the sun god respectively; while of the months four are dedicated to heathen gods or goddesses, one perpetuates a very ancient heathen festival, and two are dedicated to deified Roman emperors. Which, it must be acknowledged, is a rather striking example of the survival in our daily lives today of fragments from ancient cults and mythologies.

TRADE MARK REG.

... "And better than the car I discarded which cost me almost twice as much," says the same delighted owner!

... "beauty such as has never before been seen in a popular-priced automobile"... "a symphony in color"... "to ride in the ordinary Six, then to experience the luxury and comfort of this one, is like comparing a day-coach to a Pullman"... "this, indeed, is a real automobile"... "as fine a specimen of engineering as I have ever seen"... these are but a few of the sentiments expressed by present owners and they represent the opinions of others by the thousands!...

"The Handsomest Car on the Street"—one owner calls it

... a spectacularly beautiful color-combination... base of body a rich Peacock blue—upper structure two beautifully blended tones of grey—gleaming jet-black top trim—a fine gold line running all around the body-belt adds a still further note of richness... Beauty in general effect—beauty in details—beauty in color-harmony—from every viewpoint of good taste and good appearance this big Overland Six will excite your admiration as it has that of every man or woman who ever has seen it!

Inside, "a Superb Specimen of Quality Upholstery, Luxurious Equipment"—

... the interior of this car is upholstered in rich Baker Velour throughout, beautiful in sheen and texture, soft and cool to the touch—dust-proof, moth-proof, extremely long-wearing... Deep extra-comfortable cushionings... pitch of seats ensures a driving-and-riding comfort you have associated only with the finest automobiles... Generous seat-room for 5 passengers.

"All My Friends Remark Upon its Delightful Roominess"—

... Thus another owner speaks—and why shouldn't the wonderful spaciousness of this big comfortable car cause comment!... An extra inside area of 16½ cubic feet—the equivalent of the amount of space ordinarily occupied by 1½ more people... Consider what all that extra roominess means to the comfort and enjoyment of yourself and your passengers... Comfortable riding. No cramping, no crowding.

"An Engineering Masterpiece"—so an internationally famous engineer describes it

... In every sense the power-plant of this big Six is a positive wonder. It is a simple statement of fact that never before under the hood of an automobile have six cylinders lived and worked together more harmoniously or more effectively. Power enough for your every need—lightning getaway—unbeatable stamina—the lowest gas and oil consumption you've ever known in a six-cylinder automobile... The finely balanced crankshaft is drilled for positive force-feed lubrication at all speeds. Engine, clutch and transmission are a unit, all completely enclosed for protection against mud and dirt... "Everything about this car suggests bigness, quality, richness, fineness"—this is the expressed impression of owner after owner—To the best of our knowledge and belief, no better materials, no greater care, no broader engineering experience have ever been before concentrated on the production of an automobile.

Come—See This Master-Car

Examine it from the outside in, from the inside out. Scrutinize it completely, thoroughly, from head-lamp to tail-lamp. Bring all the facts you are able to gather about any Six selling under $1000. Then compare. Only in this way can you form any adequate idea of the conspicuously greater value that is yours in this De Luxe Overland Six Sedan AT ONLY $1095—f. o. b. factory.

Buy Now—Pay as Suits You

Only a small amount down—for the balance, 52 weeks or more. No red tape. No embarrassment. Your present car applied as part payment. Step in and find out how quickly and pleasantly you can dispose of the few arrangements.

The Lutheran Hall

THE erection of the auditorium on Roosevelt Avenue by the German Evangelical Lutheran Church is surely a fine contribution to the needs of the borough.

The Lutheran Hall offers much. It is splendidly constructed and is equipped fully for an entertainment, dance, show or dinner.

Borough In Fine Shape

LACK of sensational news in the borough, such raids on liquor houses, disorderly establishments, moonshine factories, would indicate that Carteret is in a splendid shape.

The blue coats are pleading this year for a small increase in their pay and their request undoubtedly should meet with the approval of all the voters of the borough.

Number Your Houses

HOW often has the grocer delivered your medicine to a neighbor? How often has the butcher delivered your meat to another house?

In Carteret, these mistakes happen often. And the cause may be attributed to the owners of the property. Many houses, business shops, establishments and residences have no number on the house.

Wandering through McKinley Avenue, or Hudson Street or Pershing Avenue or any street or avenue on the hill, one will note that houses after houses hold no numbers.

Every property owner throughout the borough would do well to remedy this ghastly condition. The cost is truly small and well worth while.

A movement to see that every house has a proper number would be a worth while affair.

Undernourished Children Are Being Given Special Care in Middlesex County.

EVERYWHERE, whether in the rural districts, or in the cities, we always find in our schools, large numbers of children who are underweight.

These children can by proper care be built up in a period of six months or a year; they can return to the schools much healthier and brighter.

Middlesex County is doing through the Tuberculosis League and the Board of Freeholders a splendid piece of "Child Health" work.

This county always has a large number of undernourished children in Farmingdale. These children are usually from families where there has been a tuberculosis patient.

James Woods Morrison

Popular "Jimmy" Morrison, prominent in the "movies," was born at Mattoon, Ill. After a liberal arts education at the University of Chicago, he entered upon a stock and vaudeville career which led him straight to the screen.

WHO SAID "Man is to man either god or a wolf."

RESIDERIUS ERASMUS, the author of the above quotation, was born at Rotterdam, Holland, in the year 1467.

Erasmus had been left an orphan at an early age, and the efforts of his guardians were largely responsible for his entering a monastery and swearing he would become a priest.

In the year 1492—the year that Columbus first set foot on the shores of the new world—Erasmus left his home in Holland and, with the permission of the bishop of Chambery, who was in charge of the monastery where the lad was living, traveled to Paris.

Erasmus was easily one of the most notable scholars of his day and to him can be given much credit for the reviving of scholarship in that age.

FORD BREAKS ALL RECORDS AGAIN

200,000 Cars Produced Monthly To Fill Demand For Improved Models—Ford Employees Exceed 178,000.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 19.—The Ford Motor Company reached the highest production peak in the records of the company Friday when 8,165 cars and trucks went off the assembly lines of domestic branches. Friday's record, however, is expected to be short lived, for production will reach 8,500 daily before the end of the month, making possible a total of approximately 200,000 for October, the greatest in Ford history.

This information was contained in a statement issued at the company's general offices here Saturday afternoon, which details the remarkable industrial accomplishment effected in producing the improved Ford cars and which at the same time definitely dispels all factitious rumors regarding Ford production circulated since the new cars were announced.

"Less than sixty days after discontinuing its former style passenger cars the Ford Motor Company has brought the improved types into normal production in all its assembly plants throughout the United States," it was stated.

"The former type passenger cars went out of production in August during which month 4,616 passenger cars were produced.

"Because of the many changes and improvements made in Ford bodies it was necessary to rearrange departments in all assembly plants, install considerable equipment, and lengthen paint ovens to permit longer baking and an increase in the number of coats of paint given the cars. This was accomplished and production started in the plants early in September.

Output of the improved cars increased rapidly and for the week ending September 19 the production total showed 22,377 cars and trucks.

"Since that time output has been growing steadily. During the last few weeks the company has been shipping through its branches to dealers more than 7,000 cars and trucks a day, the shipments increasing to the record reached Friday, October 16, when 8,165 cars and trucks were produced. This output will be increased to 8,500 a day before the end of the month. Production for October will run close to 200,000, a new high record.

"These figures assure the public that cars will be forthcoming in such large quantities from now on that deliveries can be made to customers without any great delay.

"Preparations for bringing in the new cars, which entailed the changing to all steel bodies, were begun months back, but the actual work of placing cars in production and bringing the output to the normal average accomplished within sixty days.

of more than 7,000 a day has all been "Aside from the engineering work, the task of producing the improved cars involved in part, the preparation of tools for 8,291 new operations necessitating more than 3 million hours of work by expert toolmakers, complete changes of whole departments, the installation of 1,074 new machines in the Highland Park and River Rouge plants and in other manufacturing units, the designing and making of 903 new and different small tools totaling 75,800 pieces and the educating of thousands of men in making new automobile parts.

"The increase in production together with constantly expanding activities has brought employment in the Ford organization in the United States to a new high figure. At present the number of those employed exceeds 178,000."

Sea "Flowers"

Although sea anemones are called "flowers of the sea," through their resemblance to flowers, they are actually animals, possessing both a mouth and a stomach. They are found on rocks, but do not grow out of them, being merely attached to the rocks by suction.

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs

A SUGGESTION

IF YOU would fill the passing day with cheer
Spread far and wide the good news that you hear
Upon your neighbor's virtues smiling dwell,
And if some bit of gossip you must tell
Let it be of some kindness he has done,
Or of some honor high that he has won;
And ere the day shall pass into the night
You'll find the flying minutes all delight.
And when the sunset glows out in the west
And you shall come into the vales of rest,
Faith, Hope and Cheer will be your comrades on
The highways leading to the golden dawn.

Pump Gives Gasoline; Garage Finds Out Why

Robinson, Ind.—Citizens of this city thought they had struck a real bonanza here when a visitor to the town pump discovered that the erstwhile reliable well was producing no water, but gasoline.

Excitement reigned when the discovery became known and several motorists filled their tanks free of charge. They found the motor fuel as good as that obtained at a filling station. Later a nearby garage, which thought it had plenty of gasoline on hand, found its storage tank empty. The tank had sprung a leak and 500 gallons of gasoline had followed a crevice in the earth to the town well.

Marvelous Memory

Two little cousins, Jenae and Kate, were disputing about which was the older of the two, when Jenae settled the argument by exclaiming: "Why, Katie, I just know I'm older than you, 'cause I 'member 'stinctly going over to your house and saying, 'Hello, Aunt Sarah, where's Katy?' and Aunt Sarah said, 'Why, Katie isn't borned yet.'"

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

HANDS UNAFRAID

WHAT the world needs most, and which it cannot live except in limited numbers are capable, willing hands unafraid to perform hard work in the face of complex difficulties.

And with these hands it needs sturdy backs, nimble feet and willing hearts, loyal to themselves and to others.

To feed, clothe and satisfy himself, man must constantly exert himself. This is the price he is compelled to pay for life.

If man fails to sow he cannot hope to reap.

And, likewise, if he stubbornly refuses to use and train his hands in the direction toward which they naturally incline, the likelihood is that he will go through the world at the tail end of the procession, blaming others for his failure when the fault really lies with his timid hands.

No two hands are cast in exactly the same mold.

Each hand has an individuality, and a peculiar ability and aptitude of its own, just as has the brain, the controlling force which directs the hand.

The world wants hands detached from lusts and superstitions, distinguished in moments of excitement to double up into bony fists.

It wants hands with sensitive fingers and specialized knowledge, competent to perform accurately the work entrusted to them, whether they grip machinery, pound the typewriter, push the carpet-sweeper, embroider a dainty tapestry or play the piano.

If you will consider the cause of the rise or the fall of nations, you will find that it resulted mainly from the good or evil works of hands.

An industrious community shows its handwork in neatly painted houses, shaded streets and a general air of prosperity and contentment. Where the shacks are, where misery and crime sulk in the shadows, the hands of men are idle.

At the root of all discontent lie dormant hands, responsible for most of the human failures and sorrows. Whatever work your hands are capable of doing, do it with all your might.

Give no heed to the jibes of idlers, but remember always that by the hands which are unafraid of grime, determined to do, and to do nobly, great cities are built, fortunes are made and humble names lifted to fame and graven on monuments which shall endure for ages and become an inspiration to those who are yet unborn.

YOUR Last Name

IS IT MONTGOMERY?

THERE is an interesting phase of the origin of names exemplified by Montgomery. To begin with there was in France a man named Gomerie. His was an old Teutonic name, Gomerth, from Goma. This Gomerie lived on a hill which was therefore called Mont Gomerie. This is a place near Lisieux in Normandy and a family of French counts, because they lived near this hill, were given the title of the counts of Montgomery. Roger de Montgomerie was a kinsman of William the Conqueror and went with him to England where he led the center of his army at Hastings.

From this Roger de Montgomerie the town and shire of Montgomery in Wales took their names and from them several men in turn took the name of Montgomery. In a great many cases the name was given to a place and the place in turn gave its name to a good many men who lived near it, but perhaps the facts can be more clearly traced in this case than in most instances. John Montgomery, who was a member of the Continental congress, was born in the north of Ireland in 1722. He came to the new world for a rather unusual reason—because he inherited a small fortune. Many first settlers came over to mend their fortune, but John came to spend his. He settled in Carlisle, Pa., and was a captain in the expedition against the Indians under Gen. John Forbes in 1758. The family has been distinguished by pioneers, missionaries, soldiers and naval officers.

SHIRLEY—This name has been traced to the old English first name Senallit that also gave Sewell. However, as a surname Shirley was adopted from the manor of Shirley in Derbyshire. The family was well established in the reign of Edward III.

HELLER AND HELLIER—Apparently there is little or no connection between these two names. Heller is from the old English helleir, meaning one who covers. It had the significance of thatcher or tiler, and it is therefore an occupational name akin to Tyler, Slater, Shingler, etc. Helze is a variation of the same name. Heller, however, is a German name, the first of the family here having been Christopher Heller, who was born near Worms, Germany, in 1688. He was one of the many Palatinates who came to this country in Colonial times. He was the founder of Hellertown, Pa. The Hellers lived in Nuremberg, Bavaria, in the Twelfth century.

What's in a Name?

The old name for the dandelion was "dent-de-lion"—lion's tooth. Its curling petals are perfect lions' teeth in silhouette. The modern corrupted name carries nothing of the old meaning.

Ricardo Cortez, well known as a "movie" actor, was born September 19, 1889, in Vienna. He is five feet eight inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. He has black hair and brown eyes. Before becoming a motion-picture actor he had played minor parts with stock companies.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY THE PINK THINGUMMY

"OH, DEAR, Aesop!" complained Mrs. Dumkopf. "I ordered a blue thingummy and they went, and sent me up a pink one, and thingummies aren't supposed to be exchangeable and I suppose I'll have a terrible time getting a blue one for it."

"You won't if you go about it as a man would—as I would, for instance," said Mr. Dumkopf vigorously. "I would simply walk up to the proper official, briefly explain, and demand a blue thingummy in exchange."

Ice Over U. S., Warmth in Arctic Are Foreseen

London.—The United States, Europe, South America and other sites of modern civilization will be buried under glaciers within a measurable number of years. A new civilization living under a pleasant climate in the present Arctic and Antarctic regions will replace us.

This startling scientific prophecy was made at the opening session of the British Association of Scientists at Southampton by Prof. E. W. Perks, Toronto geologist. Professor Perks also said earthquakes showed the earth's crust had not attained rigidity, which would bring annihilation of the earth if the bottled-up heat inside the globe broke out.

BOUND TO RAILS, ESCAPES DEATH AS TRAINS PASS

Boy Victim of Bandits Describes His Sensations While Lying Helpless.

Mexico City.—Few youths of fourteen have gone through such a nerve-racking experience as Cesar Castro, student here, and lived to tell the tale. His escape from death, tied between railroad rails while a train passed over him, has all the earmarks of a film thriller, the only difference being it was real.

Young Castro, on his way to school one morning, was waylaid by robbers who whisked him off in an automobile chloroforming him at the same time. They relieved him of a gold watch, and when he regained consciousness several hours later he found himself bound, gagged and helplessly tied on the railroad tracks leading into Mexico city. He struggled in vain.

Lost Consciousness. The boy's story indicates what must have been his feelings when the first of the several trains that were to run over him came along about 11 o'clock

"I Considered I Was Dead."

In the morning. It was a freight train, Castro says: "I considered I was dead as I heard the terrible noise of the approaching train. You have no idea what it is like to feel the approach of what you think is certain death."

Castro added he closed his eyes, prayed to God, and instinctively "made himself as small as possible," then lost consciousness. He regained it some time later. The train had gone over him without so much as tearing the clothes on his slender body. In the afternoon two more trains came along. Castro explained later that "although I was afraid, the morning experience made matters much easier for me, for I realized that if I made myself as small as I could the other trains would go by without touching me."

Each time the trains approached the boy lost consciousness, but he came to in time to prepare for the next train. He was found at 6 o'clock in the evening quite by chance and he was numb and unable to move.

'Gold-Paved' Highway for Nevada Motorists

Reno, Nev.—A highway paved with gold really exists in the state of Nevada. An analysis of the gravel being used in paving the highway between Ruth and Ely, eastern Nevada towns, shows that the building material contains flour and flake gold. The gold is not present in quantities to make it a paying mining investment, so the construction company is applying it to the road.

ENGAGE IN ACTIVE DRILLS THIS WEEK

Encounter Crack New Brunswick High School Team in First Contest of Campaign Here in Two Weeks—Everyone to Get Chance.

Stiff practice sessions marked this week's training of the High School Varsity football candidates. The coaches sent the squad through very hard drills in preparation for the opening conflict with the New Brunswick High School warriors at Brady's field, Saturday afternoon, October 31st.

A CHANCE FOR ALL

The squad seems to be in near perfect condition for this battle, after they have had experienced several weeks of hard training. The coaches have made it known that every man of any value who is out for the team will be given an opportunity to strut his stuff against the County Seaters. No injuries of serious calibre have marred the practices yet. Two or three boys were put out of drills for short intervals, but the following still remain: Armour, Lehrer, Cowalsky, Hermann and Rosenblum, backs; Ellis, Patocnig, Rubel, Yarczeki and Lynch, ends; Joe Sexton, Nadel, Hoffer, Carpenter, Daniels, Henry Viater, Chodask, and Bareford, tackles and guards; and Wexler and Harris, centers.

New Clothing Procured

New head guards, shoulder pads, jerseys and stockings were purchased for the eleven by the Athletic Association. The guards and pads have already been distributed, while the jerseys and stockings will be given out probably this evening. The jerseys are blue with a large white number in the back, while the stockings are also blue with a three inch white band circling the center.

Cheer leaders were elected to help the team followers in using their vocal organs. New cheerers will be made and used. Grace Van Pelt, Blanche Brown, Morris Abrams and Joseph Gaydos were the four chosen for the positions. Much enthusiasm prevails among the student body; there is little doubt that the cheering will come through strongly. Everyone also realizes that the team needs support.

More Games On List

Other games have been put on the schedule. Milburn will be encountered at their home gridiron on Friday afternoon, November 6, in the next contest. Union will come here Tuesday, November 24 for a tussle. Union won its first game in four years last Saturday against Woodbridge. A rumor was circulating about that a game was already arranged with Woodbridge, too, for Thanksgiving Day. The booking manager, Jack Berson, stated that the Woodbridge officials have not agreed on the meeting and that the tilt is still pending. A possibility that the Pingry School second team will be played also exists. The latter outfit is small, but possesses experience to a certain degree.

Battin Scores After Losing Twelve in Row

After playing twelve consecutive contests, covering two seasons, without a victory, the Battin High School football eleven registered a 12-0 win over Chattle High School at Long Branch, Saturday afternoon. Coach Walter Gardell changed the Battin lineup considerably for this contest. Lanza and Maslow, the latter making his first appearance for Battin this season, scored the two touchdowns. The score by periods:

Morguers Take Credit For Union's First Win

The Woodbridge High School football followers received a discouraging setback in watching their home high school team lose to Union at Woodbridge by a score of 16 to 13 Friday. The two teams were evenly matched, but no credit is added to Woodbridge's showing since their opponents did not score a triumph in four seasons.

Broken Axle Halts Lynch Bout Tuesday

A broken axle prevented Dick Lynch, and his manager, from getting at the Thompson stadium, Tuesday night, in time for his bout with Sammy Kaufman, of New York City. The local boxer tried to reach the ring before starting time, but his efforts were in vain and the bout did not take place. Kaufman was also absent when starting time was on hand for the bout. In two weeks Dick fights in New Haven, Conn.

The Blue Birds and the Crows won matches in the Harmony Social Club Bowling League this week. The Blue Birds walloped the Robins unmercifully last night in the three games, bowling over the 600 mark in all contests, setting an early season record for the loop.

Steve Chamra was individual star of the engagement, bowling the highest score to date, incidentally getting two of the highest last night. He rolled 182 in the first tilt and 231 in the second, falling to 153 in the final.

The Crows jumped into second place in the team standings—two games behind the Birds—as a result of their two game victory over the Sparrows, Tuesday evening. Only one total score went over the 600 mark. Rabbit O'Donnell and Roman Cowalsky were high men with scores of 179 and 172 respectively.

COURT LOVERS SOON TREATED

Former Kingstons, Only Rivals of Original Celtics Last Season, to Play for Perth Amboy in Metropolitan Basketball League.

MORGENWECK MGR.

Collegepoint Sportsman Causes Transfer—To Lead Outfit in Battle With Dodgers of Brooklyn Tomorrow Evening.

Basketball lovers of Carteret will have the opportunity to witness some sterling court battles of real importance during the present indoor season. Frank Morgenweck, of Collegepoint, Long Island, who has been connected with professional ball for twenty years, has made it possible that Perth Amboy be represented in the Metropolitan Basketball League by the former Kingstons, who had the distinction of being the only threatening contenders last year for the world's professional title held by the Original Celtics.

HANK THOMAS

Mr. Morgenweck is a great basketball fan, being in the game for quite some time. He has promoted important title series and is a veteran at giving the fans a real team. The Kingstons, who were under his leadership, were the best tilters in the country and often extended the Celtics before losing to them by close margins in specially arranged title series.

Kingston Out of Way
The reason for the Kingstons coming to Perth Amboy lies in the fact that Kingston is too much out of the way of the metropolitan district. It was a difficult task to arrange contests. Mr. Morgenweck said himself, "I represented Kingston, N. Y., for the last twelve years, but the long trips have been too much for me. Since the league managers also protested about having to take such long trips to play their games with my outfit, I have been trying to locate in this vicinity in order to remain an active participant in Metropolitan games. Hank Thomas, who played with my team a few times last season, has been after men to locate here, so I managed to do so."

"To run a league team is an expensive proposition and to make it a success I want to influence the entire county of fans to come out and see our games. I don't want to make it just a Perth Amboy affair, but rather a community affair with Carteret included," Mr. Morgenweck stated.

Lose Tuneup, 31-27

A majority of the games will be played on Saturday nights and dancing will also take part during the intervals and after the games. Last Saturday night the club played a tune-up tilt with the Renaissance five of New York City in preparation for tomorrow night's opening league game with the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Amboyans lost to the colored team by a 31-27 score.

Charley Powers and Harry Riconda, two of the best tilters in the game today, will play with the Amboyans, but they did not appear in last week's game. Powers was ill and Riconda had not returned from the coast yet. He will be back for tomorrow.

STEPPIN' OUT NOW

JOHNNY BRUSKIE

Who rides his first six-day bike race at Chicago next week, teaming up with Jack Costello, of East Orange, who is also a novice in the business.

BRUSKIE RACES IN FIRST 6-DAY EVENT

To Team Up With Jack Costello, of East Orange, in Six-Day Grind That Starts at 9 o'Clock This Sunday Night—New Experience.

At 9 o'clock Sunday night fourteen bike teams will start on the six-day grind in Chicago. Special sprints will take place on the card Saturday before the big event starts.

Johnny Bruskie, of the borough, and Jack Costello, of East Orange, will ride together against one of the best list of opponents ever entered in a six-day race. Both are confident of making a good showing, although they are not exactly sure of winning the laurels.

It will be the first event of this kind in which the two cyclists will ride and the newness of things will handicap them in their contest with the veterans. Several other new comers are breaking into the business with Bruskie and Costello.

Good Riders to Start

The list of teams follows: Fred Spencer, Plainfield, N. J., and Bobby Walthour, Arlington, N. J. Reggie McNamara, Newark, and Frane Gorgetti, Italy. Gaetano Belloni, Italy, and Alphonse Goosens, Belgium. Harry Horan, South Orange and Harry Horner, Australia. Carl Stockholm and Ernest Koehler, Chicago. Eddie Madden, Newark, and William Hanley, San Francisco. Tom Bello, and Louis Benesatto, Italy. William Spencer, Newark, and Anthony Beckman, Secaucus, N. J. George Wambst and Charles Lacquebay, France. Paul Croley, Brooklyn and Charley Winter, New York. Richard Schneider, Newark, and Otto Petri, Germany. John Bruskie, Carteret and Jack Costello, East Orange. "Mickey" Walsh and Francis Allen, Chicago. Chester Blaszak and Jimmy Servicek, Chicago.

Buck Scally, whose season last year was cut short by illness, is back again as strong as ever. The other boys on the outfit are confident of carrying off the main honors at the end with the veteran bowler in the lineup. Bill Dzurilla, another crack shot, Ed Dolan, member of the Champion Steel Works outfit in the City League last year, Rabbit O'Donnell and George Burns comprise the murderers row, while Edwin Casey is the manager in chief, main gazabo in promoting the league, etc.

Tonight the boys roll against the Woodbridge morguers on the Argonne alleys in Perth Amboy in a match that will find the leader, since both teams are tied at present. The Woodbridge men have no home alleys and bowl their games at the Argonne lanes.

Knights Capture Two From Westfield Team

With a two-game victory over Westfield Knights, Carteret started the Knights of Columbus Bowling League at the local alleys Friday. Dzurilla and Scally were high average men for Carteret with 177.1 and 174.2, respectively. Koehler was high for the losers. The scores:

Bruce Places Two Nice Shots Between Posts To Give Champions Victory Over Townsfoe—Big Tilt Here With Workers.

The Carteret Soccer Football Club gained an impressive verdict in its title contest with the Latin Sports Club booters, also of the borough, at Brady's Field, Sunday. The final score was 2-1, Bruce making the two shots for the champions. Several hundred fans stood on the sidelines to witness the thrilling battle.

GAME HARD FOUGHT

Harrington and Ivans Star in 52-0 Victory Over Perth Amboy—Team Prepares for Orange Warriors.

The playing of Buck Harrington and Charley Ivans featured Rahway High School's 52-0 victory over Perth Amboy in the Slow Town, Friday afternoon. The contest was uninteresting from start to finish, being so one-sided that it may have been merely called a meeting, not a contest. None of the large throng of Rahway rooters had occasion to witness the Perth Amboy gridders give the winners anything like a battle. It was all Rahway throughout.

Nick Coppola, the Rahway field general, scored four touchdowns, while Harrington and Doty tallied one each. Coppola was easily the outstanding backfield star with Ivans playing a sterling game at tackle. Both the Carteret lads figured prominently in the victory. Harrington gained considerable ground with his line plunging and straight regular formation plays, while Ivans was the main light in the Rahway line.

Play Orange Tomorrow

The game was perhaps a good workout, or even better, a test for the Rahway lunks, for the pace at which the scarlet eleven set in rolling up the score was a very dizzy one. It put the boys in trim for their big battle at Orange tomorrow. No one was injured and Rahway is expected to take the measure of the husky Class A team which was the only outfit that registered a victory against them during the 1924 season.

Louis Crowell and Andrew Thompson will return to the lineup, after resting during the Perth Amboy tussle. Their return will add considerably to Rahway's strength. Many Carteret molskin followers will take in the game, which should be an interesting one all the way.

Visitors Finally Score

Shortly afterward the visitors managed to make their lone counter, which could not have been averted by Goaltender Overholt. The shot was high and could not have been stopped.

This coming Sunday afternoon will find the Carteret outfit opposing the strong Workers of Perth Amboy. The game will be staged on Brady's grid and a large gathering is expected, since the county championship is involved. The locals trounced the Workers here last season and took the title; now the Amboyans are back again to reclaim it. They boast of a good outfit and are confident of regaining the prize.

The Hungarian Social Club eleven will form the opposition in the following Sunday's game at the local field and the Portuguese S. C. is also booked for a hard struggle, which will take place November 8.

Carteret's lineup was composed of the following: Overholt, Moss, Donnelly, Sloan, Bruce, Makwinaki, Kilmer, Elliott, Herman and O'Donnell.

Birds Cause Trouble

Where an electrical transmission line runs through country in which oak trees grow, there is trouble. Woodpeckers drill hundreds of holes in a single pole and into each hole they drive an acorn. When the acorns are wet by rain they swell, starting cracks in the pole which catch water and cause the pole to rot. Thousands of dollars damage is done in this way and so far no remedy has been forthcoming.

Food Without Acid

The following foods contain no acid: Oatmeal, cream of wheat, potatoes, green vegetables such as cauliflower, cabbage, onions, beets, carrots, spinach, asparagus, etc., white bread, butter, milk and cream, eggs and simple puddings, such as rice pudding, chocolate pudding, bread and custard puddings.

Better BUICK Closed Cars

Extra sturdiness is an outstanding feature of Buick motor cars. Buick closed cars demonstrate this most strikingly in cross-country travel.

Town or country, good roads or bad, it's all the same to a Buick. You can go anywhere any car can go and do it much easier because of the famous, 75 horsepower, Buick Valve-in-Head engine.

You can travel long distances in more comfort because of the deep, wide, luxurious seats the extra head and leg room, and full cantilever rear springs. And Buick's ball bearing, worm and nut steering mechanism removes all driving strain. This is the most efficient and most expensive steering gear so far perfected.

Better Buick closed models are now on display. Your attention is particularly directed to the 4-door and 2-door Finest Body Sedans at "Coach" prices!

PUBLIC SERVICE Men and Women The Armature Winder To maintain the base schedule of PUBLIC SERVICE Railway Company requires some 1,100 cars. In addition 300 more are in service during the rush hours. To keep these cars and their equipment in good running order requires a big force of trained mechanics among whom the Armature Winder has an important place. The armature—an essential part of the motor—has a varying life and on as large a system as that of PUBLIC SERVICE Railway their renewal is a never ending job. Last year more than 1,200 motors were rebuilt. The Armature Winder is usually a veteran—in the Newark Shops the average term of service of men in this group is more than fifteen years—and he well typifies the small army of men whom street car riders never see but who are essential to good service.

REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION ACCOMPLISHED A GREAT DEAL

Memorial Building, Library, Street Improvements, Noe's Cheek and Health Matters Were Some of the Borough Affairs That Were Brought to Realization by Present Republican Administration.

REPUBLICANS GIVE REVIEW OF WORK

Say That the Greatest Accomplishment of the Present Administration During Past Year Was the Completion of the Handsome Borough Hall.

In a statement issued by the local Republican organizations, the following accomplishments were made by the Republican administration during the year:

The accomplishments of the Borough Council for the past few years under the Republican Administration are so well known that seems hardly necessary to refer to them. But there are a few special matters and accomplishments that deserve particular mention at this time.

Memorial Building

The greatest accomplishment of the present Administration during the past year was the completion of the handsome Borough Hall, which will be an enduring monument to the progressiveness of the first Republican administration. It signifies real progress in the affairs of the borough. All of the Municipal Departments are now housed under one roof, and are open all day for the transaction of business. It is no longer necessary to go to a half dozen places for information concerning borough affairs, as all of the records are now kept in fire-proof vaults where they are always available and can be preserved for all times, the cost of the building, grounds and equipment was very low when compared to similar structures in other municipalities.

Library

The Carteret Free Public Library has received encouragement and all assistance possible—financial and otherwise—from the Republican administration. It has filled a long felt want and has been successful far beyond the dreams of its early sponsors. It is being run efficiently and economically by a trained librarian. A visit to this institution at any time in the day or night will convince the most skeptical of its necessity in the Borough.

The library, however, has been severely handicapped for lack of sufficient funds to properly carry on its work and to expand with the growth of the borough. In order to promote its growth, the people will be asked this year to vote to adopt the provision of the State Library Laws. If the vote is favorable, the library will become a 100% borough institution, and will be maintained as other departments are.

Mr. Phillips as Vice-President of the Library Association has given every effort to assure the success of this institution, and he and the rest of the Council are heartily in favor of the adoption of the referendum to make the Library a strictly Borough enterprise.

Street Improvements

As in the past two years, the property owners, through the agency of the Council, have caused a large number of streets to be improved with pavements, sidewalks and curbs, and sewers. At the rate of progress in this direction it will be only a few years when every street in Carteret will have sidewalks and curbs. All this is directly due to the benefit of competitive bidding. No longer is it possible for one man to get all of the contracts. On some of the improvements the Council received as high as eight bids with differences in prices between high and low bidders of as much as $3,000 and $4,000. Naturally the property owners received the benefit of those prices through competitive bidding.

Pavements were constructed on McKinley avenue, Emerson street and Lincoln avenue, adding greatly to the net work of permanent streets now in the borough.

Sidewalks and curbs were constructed on Union, Holly, Lowell, Torsall, Emerson, Louis, Heald and Randolph streets, and McKinley, Leick, Wheeler and Washington avenues.

Sewers were constructed in Randolph and Catherine streets.

The completion of Roosevelt avenue sidewalks to the ferry and the widening of and construction of sidewalks and curbs on Washington avenue were the most notable achievements accomplished during the year. That these improvements were also necessities was apparent to everybody. Considerable difficulties were at first experienced with the property owners on Washington avenue in connection with its widening, but fortunately all disputes were ironed out and the property owners all showed a true spirit of co-operation, to the end that this improvement would be realized this year. The Washington avenue improvement was particularly important owing to the opening of the new high school in a few weeks.

Other Improvements

Since the Republicans have been at the head of the borough government a free postal delivery has been established; lights have been placed in the Boulevard section; the houses have been numbered; shade trees have been planted on most of the streets and they have been taken care of every year to stimulate their growth. This has added greatly to the appearance of our streets; 20 new fire hydrants were installed this year to provide greater fire protection; through the efforts of Mayor Mulvihill the fast line trolley now stops at Roosevelt avenue, East Rahway; warning signals have been placed at all railroad crossings; shelters have been demanded for the comfort of the traveling public and will soon be erected; and safety traffic beacons have been erected on all important street intersections.

East Rahway Water

The Council has done everything in its power to compel the water company to extend its water mains to this fast growing section of Carteret, and also the Boulevard section; but without success. The Public Utilities Commission of New Jersey has jurisdiction over matters of this kind, and a petition was presented to that body, asking for relief for residents in that section. The Commission sent one of its engineers to investigate the conditions, and he reported that the expenditure on the part of the Water Company was not warranted. The Council pledges itself to have the water extended to the Boulevard section and East Rahway next year as a general improvement, if the Water Company still refuses to do the work.

The water rate case has occupied the time of the courts for almost three years now, and through the action of Carteret and the other municipalities, in energetically fighting the case have prevented the Mid-

COUNCIL WANTS NEW BUS LINE

Will Urge Transportation Company to Have its Coaches Pass Through Carteret on Route to and From the City.

GOOD SERVICE

Councilman Ellis Brought Matter Up at Monday Night's Session of the Commissioners—Splendid, Says Mayor Mulvihill.

In an effort to provide the borough with transportation facilities between here and New York City, the mayor and council at the special meeting held on Monday night, decided to request the Metropolitan Interstate Coach Company, of New Haven, Conn., to route its Pierce-Arrow De Luxe Pullman coaches running between Perth Amboy and New York through Carteret.

Councilman Hercules Ellis in bringing the matter up, said that the municipality is in need of better transportation and that the coach line would be the first to run from Carteret to New York City. Borough Clerk H. V. Platt was directed to write to B. Schulz, president of the company, inviting him to attend the meeting of the council on Nov. 9.

Councilman Frank Andres said that residents of the north-western section of the borough complain about the poor voltage of the electric lights. The clerk was authorized to write to the Public Service in this direction. Mr. Andres also suggested that passengers waiting at the East Rahway crossing and the terminal at the Carteret Inn should be provided with adequate waiting rooms by the Public Service Railway Company, operators of the trolley lines.

Mr. Andres declared that passengers have to wait for the trolley in all weather seasons, without having any place where to wait in comfort. The clerk will also write for action.

The council will hold a hearing on November 16 on assessments on Union street, sidewalks and curbs; Harris street and Catherine street sewer and Randolph street curb.

On a resolution introduced by Mr. Andres, the bus permit of Antonio Carbo was transferred to Alex and Frank Montecalvo.

Mayor Mulvihill presided. Present were Councilmen Andres, Brown, Ellis, Lyman, Phillips and Vonah.

Fund Drive for American Legion

The local post of the American Legion is preparing for a drive to take place within the next two weeks to raise money for the endowment fund for disabled men and the orphans of veterans. This is a national movement and the drive will take place all over the country at the same time. The goal is $5,000,000, the money of which is to be used to build hospitals for the care of the injured veterans, and asylums for the minor orphans of deceased soldiers.

A citizen's committee has been appointed to take charge of the drive and full particulars will be given next week. The local post will be glad to have the assistance of all of the residents in Carteret for this humane work.

Druid Ball To Be Held Tomorrow

Final arrangements have been made for the annual ball of the United Ancient Order of Druids which will be held at Dalton's auditorium tomorrow night. A large attendance is expected. A splendid orchestra will furnish the music.

The committee includes Henry Gerke, Frederick Gerke, Otto Eifert, Curt Hoffman, Gustav Zabel and others.

Local Bankers At Big Annual Session

The recent banquet of the Middlesex County Bankers' Association held at the Pines Hotel in Metuchen had a splendid representation from Carteret.

The First National Bank had J. Levenson, Herman Shapiro, Francis A. Monaghan, George A. Dalrymple and Eugene M. Clark. The Trust Company was represented by Emil Stremmler, Charles A. Conrad and Thomas G. Kenyon.

Children's Book Week at Carteret Library

Children's Book Week will be observed at the Carteret Public Library, November 8 to 14. It has become, in six years, a national annual campaign which thousands of communities use to stimulate interest in boys and girls books. Throughout this year Book Week inspires a growing consciousness of the importance of children's books, of their influence in character development and in the building of citizenship, and of the contribution they can make to the happiness of the individual throughout life.

Many new books are being purchased for the boys and girls department and will be ready for circulation during children's book week. Boys' and girls' book lists recommending about thirty annotated titles, and card miniatures by Jesse Willcox Smith will be given free.

The librarian has also arranged special story hours for the younger children during the week.

HOW YOU MAY EARN HEALTH AND WEALTH

National Tuberculosis League and State and Local Organizations to Hold Health Play Contest For High Schools.

Two hundred and twenty-five dollars in prizes are being offered by the National Tuberculosis League and the State Local Organizations. Last year this contest was so successful, so many clever and wholesome plays were produced by High Schools all over the country that the National Tuberculosis Association decided to again repeat the contest. The first prize is one hundred dollars in cash for the school, in addition to this there are seven other cash prizes ranging from ten to fifty dollars.

Last year's prize play was a musical comedy called "Clean Up." This dealt with real people, contained a great deal of humor, sentiment, a health message and entertainment. Plays that are symbolic with characters such as "Sleep" and "Milk" have been over-done, are trite and lack interest. It is suggested that schools devise real characters and real situations.

A pamphlet has been issued suggesting plots, from whom in your own county plots may be secured, the kind of plays wanted, something on the construction and technique of a play and the conditions of entrance. Many classes may work together in putting on this play. In one school each department took a part, this included the arts, typing, English, electrical, engineering, physical training and music.

Any teacher or student who is interested in entering this contest may secure information from the Middlesex County Tuberculosis League, 175 Smith street, Perth Amboy. They will be glad to give you all the rules of the contest and assist you with ideas for plots and health material. The National Judges are Dr. J. Mace Andres, of Boston University, Dr. Hughes Mearns of the New York University, and Dr. Winslow of Yale. A local board of judges from each state will decide which plays are to be entered into the national contest.

Big Barn Dance Tomorrow Evening

Everything is in readiness for the "Ye Olde New England Barn Dance" which will be held at the parochial school auditorium tomorrow night under the auspices of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's church. The auditorium is being decorated today with autumn foliage, corn stalks, pumpkins, etc.

The guests will be attired in farmer fashion, wearing no masks. Old fashioned dances, cake walks, etc., will be the feature. A splendid orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. A large attendance is expected, according to the advance ticket sale.

Sylvester Gunkel Sick

Sylvester Gunkel, assistant treasurer of the Carteret Trust Company, is confined to his home for the last two weeks with a serious case of quinsy sore throat. Mr. Kenyon informed the News reported that Mr. Gunkel is improving and that he expects him at his duties in about another week.

Card of Thanks

We, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere thanks to all our many sympathizers and to those who contributed floral pieces in the recent bereavement of our dear husband and father.

(Signed) Mrs. Stephen Nemish.

NEW BUS LINE FOR CARTERET

AWAIT ACTION

Metropolitan Interstate Coach Company Urged By the Commissioners to Run Their Buses via Carteret.

There is a possibility that Carteret may have within a short time a through express coach line to New York if the Metropolitan Interstate Coach Company will comply with the request of the residents of the borough. The line is now running from Perth Amboy through Rahway avenue, Rahway, Elizabeth, Newark and New York. Trips are made every two hours. The coaches are Pierce-Arrow De Luxe vehicles, each holding twenty-six Pullman seats. It is the most comfortable coach on the market.

Bernard Schultz, president of the company, while a visitor at the New Packer House, Perth Amboy, yesterday, said that he has been approached by people who live in Carteret to have his coaches pass through their town. If this is done, the running time would be a few minutes longer between Perth Amboy and New York. It is understood however that the plan is under consideration by the company, which is located at New Haven, Conn. The company operates a fleet of coaches through New England.

The coaches leave from the New Packer House. The first stop is made at Woodbridge, hence at the Cross Keys Inn in Rahway, on to Elizabeth and through Newark to New York City. The Martinique Hotel at Broadway and 32nd street is the terminal for the coaches in New York.

On Auto Trip to Florida; Given Royal Sendoff

Miss Nellie Sexton of Roosevelt avenue, accompanied by her nephew, Frank Mullins of East Orange, N. J., left Carteret last Wednesday morning for an extended trip by motor to Miami, Florida.

Miss Sexton intends to visit different points of interest on her way south, and expects to invest in some real estate.

Carteret Lions Club Hold Weekly Meeting

The Carteret Lions Club held their weekly meeting at the Carteret Inn last Tuesday at which time many out-of-town Lions were present.

The Free Public Library question was gone into thoroughly and fully discussed from all angles. Secretary-Treasurer Maxwell Sosin, was authorized to state that "The Lions Club of Carteret unanimously go on record favoring the library proposition that will be submitted to the voters next Tuesday."

Harmony Social Club to Have Euchre-Dance

An unusually large number of prizes will be awarded at the euchre and dance of the Harmony Social Club, which will be held at Dalton's auditorium next Monday night. Some of the prizes are now on display in the show windows of the clubhouse. Harmony Five will furnish the dance music.

The committee is headed by John Boos, Edward Walsh, Herman Gerke, Joseph Makoski, Roman Cawolsky, Gordon McLeod, Frank Davis, Edward Skeffington and August Medetz. Aiding are Robert O'Donnell, Robert Chandra, Albert Whittall, Andrew Chandra, Oscar Brown, Ormond McLeod, George Sweda, William Shrimp, Richard Donovan, Harry Mann, Joseph Hasek, George Benajulock, John Elko, Joseph Harko, Jerry Bartok, Joseph Weisman, Andrew Bodnar, Herbert Sullivan, Frank Andrews, Joseph Shinga, Henry Stauch, Thomas Misdom, William D'Zurilla, John D'Zurilla, John Bruskie, Jack Johnson, Marshall Harris, Henry Harris, Andrew Dobrowich, Roy Zimmer, Carl Morris, John Masculin, James Lulick, Bert McNeill, Joseph Love, Hugh Shanley, Sal Coker, Daniel Kasin, Robert Bishop, Steven Grego and Joseph Zack.

CHICKEN SUPPER IS MUCH ENJOYED

More Than 300 Guests Eat Delicious Meal Prepared by Ladies' Mission Band of Presbyterian Church Wednesday.

The chicken supper held under the auspices of the Ladies' Mission Band of the First Presbyterian church on Wednesday night was a signal success, for over 300 guests were served between 5:30 and 8 o'clock with a menu fit for a king. It was most deliciously prepared under the personal supervision of the members of the band. Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Mitchell aided the committee.

Among the ladies who helped to make the affair the brilliant success it deserved were Mrs. R. Miller, Mrs. Howard Thorn, Mrs. F. M. Eggert, Mrs. King, Mrs. E. Levi, Mrs. H. Holland, Mrs. W. Morrow, Mrs. C. Doody, Mrs. Wallace Van Pelt, Misses Grace Van Pelt, M. Jomo, A. Gundersen, Mildred Bareford, E. Morris, E. Miles, Miss Thorn, Miss Catherine Richards, M. Slugg, A. Kolbe, F. Eggert, Mrs. D. Reason, Mrs. J. Young, Mrs. H. Young, Mrs. W. S. Calderhead, Mrs. J. Kosak, Mrs. F. Bevins, Mrs. Penny and Mrs. Tucker, of Elizabeth.

The Young People's Society of the church will hold a Hallowe'en party in the social room of the church tonight. M. B. Huber is general chairman. The room has already been decorated in most artistic fashion with Hallowe'en colors.

SUBWAY HERE?

Talk of Connecting Borough with New York Subway.

What is known to be a very large undertaking concerning the New York subway is being talked about in this borough daily.

Attorney Maxwell Sosin, local representative of the Carteret Chamber of Commerce, could not give definite details of the plans this morning but he did state that the Chamber of Commerce is pushing the proposition through certain channels to have the new subway, which will connect New York city with Staten Island come to Carteret too, thereby giving Carteret a direct route to the metropolis in very short time.

The idea, Mr. Sosin said, was to get representatives from all parts of the borough interested and force the proposition, the result of which would make Carteret a bigger and better place to live in.

Clarence Dalrymple Promoted by Railroad

Clarence Dalrymple, general freight and passenger agent for the Central Railroad for the last twenty-five years, has been appointed general agent for their main office in Elizabeth. Mr. Dalrymple's efficient service to that company has, in a measure, awarded him.

Plan Masquerade

Tickets have been placed on sale for the first annual masquerade ball which the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Israel will hold at Dalton's auditorium on Thanksgiving eve, November 25. Al Ritter's orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. Numerous handsome prizes will be awarded. Tickets at 50 cents each are now on sale by the members of the committee.

ELECTION HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Two Members of the Borough Council and a Justice of the Peace to be Selected by the Voters.

POLLS OPEN 6 A. M.

Citizens Will Also Vote on Trunk Sewer, Police and Firemen's Raise and Library Question—Large Vote Expected.

On Tuesday next, November 3, is general election. The voters of the borough are to vote on a number of questions this year. First they will elect two members of the council, a justice of the peace and also for one governor, one house of representatives, three members of the general assembly, two members of the board of freeholders. They will vote on the question whether the borough council shall eliminate Noe's creek and construct a sewer, whether the library may adopt the state laws and whether the police and firemen should receive a raise in salary.

The following candidates are running on the Republican ticket: Senator Arthur Whitney, for governor; Stewart Appleby, for congressman; Thomas L. Hanson, Douglas M. Hicks and Wilton T. Applegate, for assemblymen; Clarence M. Halght and Louis Hefoff, for freeholders; Charles A. Phillips and John J. Lyman, for councilmen.

The candidates on the Democratic ticket are: A. Harry Moore, for governor; J. Lyle Kimmonth, for congressman; Charles V. L. Bourne, C. Raymond Wicoff, Tovey R. Conk, for assemblymen; Thomas Layden and Klemmer Kalpeisen, for freeholders; Edward J. Coughlin and William D'Zurilla, for councilmen.

The five polls in the borough will open at 6 A. M. and remain open until 7 P. M. The poll of the first district is located at the Washington school, the second district, 493 voters, the Columbus school, the third district in the Nathan Hale school; the fourth district in the Cleveland school and the fifth district at McCann's barber shop, on Washington avenue.

8th Annual Meeting of the Historical Society

The New Jersey Historical Society held its eightieth annual meeting in the society's building, West Park street, Newark, last Wednesday afternoon. The business meeting was held at 12 o'clock and luncheon followed. Dr. John Martin Thomas, the newly elected president of Rutgers University, delivered the address of the day. His subject was "American Ideals," a very timely topic which was received with much enthusiasm. Hon. Charles M. Lum of Newark is president of the society and Judge Adrian Lyon of Perth Amboy is one of the trustees.

Attorney Maxwell Sosin, who is the only member residing in this borough, attended the session.

HAS COMPLETELY LIGHTED FLYING FIELD

The giant flood light of 735,000 candlepower which illuminates the landing field is shown in the above photograph.

Hadley Field, New Brunswick, the Eastern terminus of the air mail service between New York and Chicago, is the only completely lighted flying field for night operations in the Metropolitan district, according to J. E. Whitbeck, superintendent of the Eastern Division, air mail service.

The flying field is outlined by forty-eight boundary lights, each of sixty candle-power, which are connected with the street lighting circuit. A flood light, with 180 degree lens, of 735,000 candle-power, lights the landing field. This light illuminates an area in the shape of a half circle, the radius of illumination extending three-quarters of a mile from the light in all directions within the 180 degrees. In this area, it is so bright at night that ordinary typewriting can be easily read. The lens of the flood light is made to illuminate the ground only. An aeroplane can fly twenty feet above the flood light and still be in total darkness. It is said this particular set is one of the largest lighting units manufactured.

The hangar buildings are flood lighted in the same manner as billboards, to give daylight perspective. A twenty-four inch beacon on top of one of the hangars guides the aeroplane pilots to the field. This beacon has a concentrated beam which is visible for fifteen miles on the average night. Buildings near the flying field are outlined with red lights.

Hadley Field was leased by the Government for the air mail service November 15, 1924, and in thirteen working days 2,000 feet of eight inch tile were laid, open ditches were covered and the first hangar building was built. Regular operations at the field were started December 15, 1924. Electric power for the field is furnished by Public Service Electric and Gas Company, the company having built an extension several miles long for this service.

WHO SAID

"Graves tell the truth scarce forty years?"

THIS expression of Sir Thomas Browne, the celebrated English physician and writer, is decidedly open to question. Every reader can cite instances where graves have failed to tell the truth in a considerably shorter period than 40 years. In fact, it is safe to say that in many cases graves fail to tell the truth at all. Death and the grave often serve to magnify the good traits of a person and raise him to a pinnacle of perfection in the eyes of the living that he could never have attained in life.

Sir Thomas Browne, however, was a man whose greatness has grown with the years. While the people of his own day did not appreciate his contributions to the knowledge of the world, succeeding generations have appreciated them and today he is regarded in his true light, as a benefactor of humanity.

Sir Thomas was the author of a work, "Pseudodoxia Epidemica," or a "Treatise on Vulgar Errors," in which he scored unmercifully the superstitions and errors that were popular regarding the science of medicine. In this work he did a great good, and it is safe to say his right to fame rests largely on this one book.

It is a strange thing, however, that despite the fact he wrote extensively on "vulgar errors," he was himself a believer in alchemy, witchcraft, and astrology. To him, by some unknown magic process, base metals could be turned to gold; certain persons were endowed with the powers of second sight and mysticism; and the stars, if read aright, could foretell the destiny of a man.

The works of Sir Thomas Browne earned him a high place among the learned men of his day and he conducted a voluminous correspondence with other noted men in England and on the continent. In 1667 he was made an honorary member of the College of Physicians, and in 1674 he was knighted by Charles II. Sir Thomas was born in London in 1605, and his death occurred in Norwich in 1682.—Wayne D. McMurray.

Among the NOTABLES

GEORG HEGEL

THE study of German philosophy and Germany's greatest philosophers is peculiarly interesting.

Georg Hegel, for instance, preached "the absolute superiority of the state, over those who laid hands on the established order of things, even when the state runs contrary to humanitarian sentiments." The state, in his philosophy, was supreme; the individual existing for it, instead of the state existing for the comfort and convenience of the individual, as democratic lands believe.

But Hegel himself did not at first believe this. He was a serious student, dubbed the "old man" even when he was a boy. One of his first works was a life of Christ in which he ignored the miraculous facts and ended with a query as to why this man should be the hope of humanity? He traveled with friends through a wonderful region of waterfalls, but took no interest in the trip. He at first admired Napoleon and gloried in the fall of Prussianism, but later, when he rose from poverty to become a prosperous and wealthy professor at Berlin, his attitude changed.

Deer Facing Starvation

Our on the Arizona desert, that reaches from the colored cliffs of Utah to the Colorado river, circles the Grand canyon, and goes on indefinitely southward, there is a great plateau, higher than the rest of the country and covered with a mighty forest. The plateau is called the Kaibab plateau; the forest, the Kaibab forest.

On this plateau, in this forest, lives a herd of deer, the most magnificent in America. During the past year or so it has been reported that these deer have increased to such great numbers on the isolated plateau that they are virtually doomed to a death by starvation, having eaten everything palatable, says Outdoor America. Escape from the plateau, it is pointed out, is made impossible by the deserts that surround it.

Fresno, Cal.—John W. Benton, thirty-eight, World war veteran and itinerant automobile tourist, shot and killed an unidentified youth on the state highway near here. Benton shot the youth, who was apparently about twenty years old, because he called Benton an abusive name as he strode past the roadside camp which Benton and his wife had established.

THE CHILDREN COME

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TRUTH moves but slowly, but it moves.

It takes a century of thought before the race a thing approves. That in a moment might be wrought. The hearts of women long ago knew war was wrong and war a show. But men have silled the mother's groan With horns a little louder blown.

But now I hear another trend, Another generation nears. Truth moves but slowly, but ahead. The world is tired of making tears. We thought us wise, yet into war The sad world blundered as before.

With grief again the world is dumb. But there is hope: The children come. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Three Propositions

THE Carteret voters, at the November election to be held next Tuesday, will have in addition to candidates three definite proposals before them relating to the future progress of the borough. One relates to the authorization of the council to construct a sewer over Noe's Creek, the other to adopt the state laws for the library to make it self-sustaining and the third the police and firemen's raise.

It should not be doubtful, it seems as to what the voters will do with the proposals on the ballots. The people of Carteret are deeply interested in clearing away the obnoxious creek and look upon the improvement as one of the most constructive and profitable matters that will be undertaken in the history of the borough. It is recognized that the elimination of the creek will be something great for this borough.

As has been explained through circulars, the Carteret library is seeking to adopt the state laws to make it a worth while institution. The reason is clear. The library is a necessary and beneficial institution and a valuable asset to our community and the people should vote for its permanent establishment by making a cross in the square "yes" before the question on the ballot.

It is also apparent that the police and firemen's raise should be approved. The members of the police force are doing splendid work and an increase in salary will help to bring higher standards in the Police Department. The men will be willing to work harder, when they receive a proper wage for their own upkeep and that of their children.

Transportation Need

THE suggestion of Councilman Hercules Ellis to urge the Metropolitan Interstate Coach Company, of New Haven to run its de luxe coaches through Carteret on their Perth Amboy-New York line is an unusually good one. The borough at this time has no way in getting to New York City by direct route. Numerous changes must be made to reach the uptown centre of the metropolis, so that a trip to New York requires some two hours time.

It will be a great comfort to the people of Carteret if the company consents to run its busses through Carteret. It would be great help to many who wish to go to the city on business or pleasure. As it is today, a Carteret resident is hardly able to attend a theatrical show in New York City, since there is no way of returning unless he is fortunate to have his own car. There is a coach leaving the Martinique Hotel in New York City at midnight and would be a welcome thing for the citizens here, who would have no difficulty in enjoying a ride back home in comfort.

B. Schultz, president of the coach line, has been invited to confer with the council. We hope that Mr. Schultz will see his way clear to give us that needed direct transportation to New York City.

TALKING MACHINE DEMONSTRATION

Sol Solder, Victor Dealer to Demonstrate the New Orthophonic Talking Machine at His Store on Roosevelt Avenue.

One of the outstanding events of the season will be a private demonstration of a new and revolutionary type of talking machine, to be given before musical and educational authorities by Sol Solder, local Victor dealer, at his store on Roosevelt Avenue. This line said by acoustical experts and musical authorities to be not less than 100 per cent more efficient than any previous development in the reproduction of sound from a record, the new instrument known as the Orthophonic Talking Machine, is to make its public debut here on Monday, Nov. 2.

Development upon the same basic principles which made possible long-distance telephone communication, the Orthophonic Talking Machine is described as a mechanical instrument which reproduces accurately practically the entire range of musical sound.

Its outstanding vibrations which marred reproductions on old-type instruments, and the extraordinary faithful preservation of tone color. Notes which heretofore could not be reproduced at all, or were distorted as to be pleasant or almost unrecognizable, are now said to be given forth by the Orthophonic Instrument in all their true beauty.

During the demonstration Monday the Orthophonic Instrument will be played in comparison with the old-type instrument to give its hearers an accurate conception of the vast musical advance that has been made.

D. Greenberg to Open New Department Store

Mr. D. Greenberg is soon to open his new store on the corner of Roosevelt and Pershing avenues, where the A. & P. store was formerly located. All the alterations and renovating is completed and the stock from the old store has been moved into the new modern daylight store with its large floor space and show windows and entrances on both Roosevelt Avenue and Pershing Avenue.

When asked about the secret of his wonderful progress in his line of business Mr. Greenberg said: "It's because I have always dealt fairly and honestly with my customers and combined with hard work, you can't beat that combination."

CARTERET TO JOIN REUNION

Both Boy Scout Troops of the Borough Will Take Part at Camp Reunion On Monday, November 9th.—

AT PERTH AMBOY

Interesting Programme Is Being Arranged—There Will Be An Exhibit of Nature Study—Big Time Expected For the Boys.

Plans for the big Camp Reunion of the Boy Scouts of America in the Perth Amboy Scout District are rapidly taking form.

This event is scheduled for Monday evening, November 9th, and through the generous offer of the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Perth Amboy, the splendid facilities of their building have been turned over to the District School Council as the place to hold this big scout event.

It is expected that each of the eighteen troops in the district which comprises Perth Amboy, South Amboy, and Carteret, and Woodbridge and Sayreville Townships, will participate in the Camp Reunion.

The tentative plans for the Camp Reunion program will consist of an exhibit of nature study activities as conducted at Camp Cowaw, the official council camp, features of other camp activities and material of interest to parents and friends of the Scout movement. This phase of the evening's program will be in charge of John Divon who was an Assistant Camp Director at Camp Cowaw. The exhibition will be placed in a large room in the lobby of the Y. M. H. A. Scout Commissioner C. H. Kalquist and his Deputy Scout Commissioners F. Abegg, V. Main and B. F. Ellison, Sr., will be in charge of the troop movements during the assembly of these units in the auditorium and later on in the gymnasium. Each of the troops will come to the Y. M. H. A. under their respective troop leaders.

The program in the gymnasium will consist of a typical camp fire assembly with songs, stunts and special features.

As a special treat for the scouts who will attend the camp reunion, the Y. M. H. A. has arranged to give these boys the use of the swimming pool for a demonstration in life saving methods as used at Camp Cowaw and later in the evening for a big swim. This phase of the Camp Reunion program will be in charge of Mr. Andrew I. Tilton, Jr., who was Water Front Director at the summer camp. Mr. Tilton holds a Senior Red Cross Life Saving Certificate. He will be assisted in this activity by a group of older experienced scouts.

Comparative Statement of Public Service Corp.

A comparative statement of combined results of operations of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and subsidiary companies for the month of September and for the twelve months ending September 30, 1925, shows that operating revenue of subsidiary companies in September 1925, amounted to $7,542,143.51 as against $7,014,854.16 for September 1924, an increase of $527,289.35 or after reclassification of 1924 to make comparable to 1925 $620,917.91. Net increase in surplus before dividends for September 1925, $772,060.46 as against $608,371.48 for September 1924 an increase of $163,688.98.

For the twelve months ending September 30, 1925, operating revenue of subsidiary companies was $92,455,004.91 as against $85,454,125.15 for the twelve months ending September 30, 1924, an increase of $7,000,878.86 and net increase in surplus before dividends, $8,667,834.25 as against $7,087,109.09 an increase of $1,580,725.16. Net increase in surplus before dividends for the twelve months ending September 30, 1924 does not include adjustment of surplus in 1924, due to sale of real estate, which after deduction of charges in connection with financial reorganization results in an additional net increase in surplus.

Appleby

Is Asking Votes

To Aid Coolidge

Stewart Appleby, Republican candidate for Congress from the Third New Jersey District, makes a plea for election on the Coolidge issue in an address to the voters of the district. Mr. Appleby says: "My slogan is supporting the President with efficiency and economy and it is up to the voters to determine whether or not President Coolidge will be supported by a Republican Congressman in sympathy with his program or one of the opposite party."

"I trust a vote of confidence will be given the Administration as this is the first Congressional election held in New Jersey since last year and the decision of the voters of this district will be watched throughout the nation. I trust on November 3 this decision will be reached by a majority of the people going to the polls, and would appreciate support of my candidacy."

REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION ACCOMPLISHED GREAT DEAL

Midsex Water Company from imposing prohibitive rates upon the water consumer. While an increase was granted to the company, it was much less than it asked for, and the case is now awaiting a decision of the United States District Court on appeal of the company. So far the municipalities have gained decisive victories.

Public Market

A public market was promised, and in order to fulfill that promise an ordinance establishing the market was introduced and passed. A site centrally located was procured from the Wheeler Condenser and Engineering Company, and same was prepared for the market. Mr. Lyman, who was chairman of the committee, in company with Councilmen Phillips and Andres called upon a number of farmers on Staten Island, who agreed to come, but failed to keep their promise. Later the Mayor with Councilmen Lyman, Phillips and Andres visited two meetings of farmers of Middlesex County at Spottswood, at which there were about 100 present. The Mayor told them that Carteret would welcome the farmers, had a good site for them, and urged them to try Carteret, assuring them that they would be well patronized. They also promised to come and everything was prepared for them, but they likewise failed to keep their promise. The members of the Council are determined that a public market shall be established in Carteret and promise everything in their power to make it a reality in the coming year.

Police and Fire Departments

The police and Fire Departments have been doing good work and in order to make their pay equal to that received in other municipalities, Councilman Phillips introduced a resolution, asking for a referendum at the next election. The Council is, without reserve, in favor of the increase asked for the police and firemen, and urge all the voters to cast their ballot in favor of the increase.

Noe's Creek

Another matter to be voted upon next Tuesday is the elimination of Noe's Creek by the construction of a trunk sewer. It will cost a large sum of money, but we feel that it is necessary for the continued good of the borough. It will help to develop an important section of our borough which now is only swamp land, and unite the two sections of the borough. This is a matter that has been agitated for a number of years past, and advocated by the Board of Health. The Republican administration promises to fully carry out the wishes of the people in this matter as will be expressed in the votes next Tuesday.

If this improvement is made the terminal mouth of the sewer where the creek now empties into the sound, could be used for the erection of a dock, with no expense to the people for the land. While the people voted for a dock two years ago, the amount to be spent for the land was limited to $25,000. When the Council negotiated for the only available site for the dock, the owners wanted $125,000 for the land. For this reason the land could not be purchased.

Taxes

It has long been realized that the work in the Collector's office was too arduous for one man, with the result that no attempt has heretofore been made to collect delinquent taxes or hold tax sales as required by law. In order to lighten the burden of the Collector, an expert accountant has been installed and the books and records are now always up to date. A great many of the old taxes have been collected. In some instances no taxes have been paid since 1913. A list of these is now being prepared and the properties will soon be sold. The office of the Collector is now open all day for the transaction of business where Mr. Brady and his assistant are always available.

General Progress

The general progress of the Borough during the past year has been marvelous. One new factory has been established which when completed will employ between 300 and 400 workers. More new industries will be encouraged to locate here in the next year to enjoy the natural advantages which Carteret has to offer. Homes to the value of $500,000 have been built since last March and many more are under construction or contemplated. A good deal of this is due to the adoption of the building code, which protects the owner against faulty construction. A great deal of credit is due to the Building Inspector for the efficient manner in which his department is run.

Board of Health

The health of the borough has never been better. This condition is due to the splendid work being done by the inspector and nurses. The clinics conducted by the Board are educating the people to the advantages derived from a proper care of the body. The entire Health Department is to be heartily commended for its untiring and efficient work.

Charles A. Phillips and John J. Lyman have been largely responsible for the splendid condition of the borough today. They have always had the interests of the people at heart. They have helped to accomplish the things that have been done. Their record of service is known. It is therefore to the best interests of every citizen in Carteret that they be returned to office. They have worked for the borough and everyone of its inhabitants in the past, and they promise to do the same in the future.

CANTON STORE NOW CONTROLLED BY ROSS

Stockholders Approve Transfer of Klein Heffelman Zollars Co. to Ross Chain Stores — Rapid Growth in Six Years.

The sale of Klein Heffelman Zollars Co., Canton, O., department store, through the transfer of the store's stock to the Ross Stores, Inc., New York chain store operators, has been ratified by the stockholders of the store, it was announced this week by L. W. Roskopf, president of Ross Stores.

Through the transfer, the more than 350 stockholders retail their stock in the new company and the store will be operated along the same general lines as has been the policy in the past. Several departments will be added to the store and the directing personnel will be augmented by officials of the Ross Stores.

Directors of the Ross Stores, Inc., have authorized the sale of $200,000 worth of 8 per cent accumulative stock to be used in connection with the purchase of the Canton store.

With this addition to the Ross Stores, Inc., it brings their business volume up to $8,000,000 a year. A very wonderful and rapid growth for six years.

New Jersey's Plan to Preserve Shade Trees

The New Jersey state highway commission, which is constructing and improving a vast network of roads all over that state, has just adopted a rule which is heartily to be commended for imitation by road builders everywhere. That is, that for every shade tree by the roadside which it is compelled to destroy, it will set out two new ones. This will check a great evil, and effect considerable positive good. In the last few years thousands of fine shade trees have been destroyed along the roads of that state, some by the state and some by local authorities. Roads have been improved, so far as the pavement is concerned. But they have been damaged, so far as comfort and appearance are concerned, by being denuded of trees. In some cases this was inevitable, where it was necessary for safety or convenience to widen the roads, or to eliminate dangerous curves. In others, probably in half the cases, it was entirely needless and wanton.

Under the new rule it is obvious that greater care and discrimination will be exercised, so as to destroy no trees which can possibly be preserved. When any must be removed, they will be doubly replaced, so that roads will actually have more trees than before. —Exchange.

Have a Home

Many years ago, Abraham Cowley, in his poem, "The Wish," wrote:

Ere I descend to the grave
May I a small house and a large garden have;
And a few friends, and many books,
both true,
Both wise, and both delightful, too.

After all, the fundamental desires of men have changed very little since these lines were penned. Which one of us would not be happy today with a comfortable little house, filled with human and book friends that were true, wise, and delightful—and a garden, small enough not to have its care a burden, large enough to allow for winding walks which lead to shady nooks where one may experience a sense of remoteness from the city's bustling roar? We all want these things. How to achieve them is the question.

That is why the home-building activities of others are so interesting; in some of them we may find the answer to our problem.—Western Electric News.

Avoid Combustible Material

The food upon which the fire demon feeds is carelessness and combustible materials used in building. Carelessness cannot be entirely eliminated, but homes can be built fire-safe. The man who builds a fire-safe home is a good citizen. He is adding something permanent to the wealth of his community, and he has provided a fire barrier that in itself will tend to lessen serious conflagrations.

Guard Young Trees

In the care of one's yard caution should be taken against irregular growth of trees, and means adopted to rectify any fault in the tree's growth at the start. Many trees are inclined to lean in a certain direction through being forced into that position by prevailing winds from the opposite point, and unless braced while young it will be impossible for them to grow upright as they should. It is well that a sufficient space be spaded up around the tree.

Rifle Silencers
The National Rifle Association says that a silencer works on the same principle as an auto muffler. The tube is screwed on the muzzle of the gun. This tube consists of series of baffles that cause the gases to issue slowly instead of with a sudden rush. It is this rush of powder gas from the muzzle of the gun which creates a vacuum causing the report when discharged.

Modern Lad's Question
A little boy from a distant city accompanied his father on a visit to the old family home in a small town in Missouri. "Here," said the father, pointing to the old-fashioned dwelling, "is where your daddy, your Uncle Jack, your Aunt Carrie and your Aunt Alice all were born." "How is that?" inquired the little boy. "Did this used to be a hospital?"

Viviparous Fish
The bureau of fisheries says that black perch or the so-called surf fish is viviparous. In other words, it produces living young. Some other viviparous fish are the top minnow and several species of the tropical fish. Such fish are not considered as palatable at spawning or producing seasons as otherwise. However, it is perfectly safe to eat them.

THE ROOM OF THE PURPLE RAY

By DON MARK LEMON

FOUR months after the salt waves had laid at his feet the cold form of his Love, came the news that Herbert Munson was the possessor of a startling secret. He had, it was stated, discovered a Purple Ray that would wither and destroy certain human cells of memory without injury or danger to neighboring cells. This rumor was followed by the still more amazing report that Munson had erected the Mansion of Forgetfulness, to which all who would free their minds of a hopeless passion might repair, and in one brief hour, forget.

And, sure enough, here they came—those who loved not wisely but too well, those who loved deeply but hopelessly, and those who loved the dead and could endure the grief no longer—and the Purple Ray "plucked" from the memory its rooted sorrow, and they went forth from the Mansion of Forgetfulness unscarred and fancy-free.

Yet he who showed others how to forget would not himself forget. It was agony to know that she was dead, and he would never see her face again, yet he shrank from forgetfulness as the soul shrinks from oblivion. Try as he would, he could not drag himself from the haunted halls of memory, though he remembered that the world without was wonderfully fair, and other women, perhaps as lovely as she, were waiting there to love and be loved. No! Let others forget, he would not! Not that he lived in hope, for had he not kissed the salt foam from her dead face? But that memory was all that remained of a Love who was no more.

He watched them come and go—watched the many, ah, too many, pilgrims arrive with sorrowful, love-haunted faces, but depart with unconcerned, care-free looks, and at times he feared that his philanthropy was a sacrilege. There seemed something unholy in this sudden transmutation of grief into gladness—this swift thrusting aside of their own free will to forget a hopeless passion, and they could now return whence they came and love again, more wisely if less deeply.

Some came, thinking to blot out other memories than that of a hopeless love—memories of sin and crime—but the Purple Ray would not be thwarted to such base purposes, and they left, abashed and disappointed.

It was in winter, when the snow was changed to crystal as it fell upon the walls and cornices of the beautiful marble edifice, or piled itself in drifts of sifted diamonds against the stained glass windows, when a lady came alone across the wales and entered the broad gateway of the Mansion of Forgetfulness.

Something in her manner—perhaps her agitated hesitation at the portals—moved the master to assist her.

"Kind friend," he said, "were it not better to remember what you now seek to forget?" As he spoke he drew closer and his face the cold he wore to conceal his identity from the merely curious.

A sigh was the only immediate answer, as the pilgrim leaned wearily against a marble pillar. Then came the low spoken words:

"Perhaps I may only half forget. I would remember, yet not remember so acutely."

"No, you will wholly forget. The Purple Ray is oblivion itself."

"Ah, well, better I kill these painful memories than break my heart!"

"Then, if it must be so, enter and forget."

"Show me the way and let me go quickly," was the plea of the veiled lady. "I have come far, and the worst is only a few steps farther on."

"Come, then!" and the master led the way to the room of the Purple Ray.

An hour passed, when the door was opened and the veiled visitor came forth and descended the broad stairway. She moved quickly and lightly, and at the foot of the stairs she laughed musically as she again met the master.

"Have you forgotten?" he asked.

"Forgotten! I know that I have forgotten something, else why am I here, yet I do not know what I have forgotten."

"So they all say!"

A flush of rosy light shone from a slender window overhead, halting the pilgrim like a saint.

"How beautiful everything is!" she exclaimed. "Why do I wear this veil? I will no longer!"

So saying, she loosened it, disclosing a face young and exquisitely fair. The man shrank back as if pierced by a bolt.

"My God, it is her spirit!" he gasped.

"No, no!" protested the visitor. "I am not a spirit, and I fear I am too, too human."

"You are Morella!" whispered the man, staring before him like one peering through intense darkness.

"I am. Who are you that you ask?"

"Morella! I thought you dead! I kissed you for dead and then the waves swept me away and I saw you no more."

"Some fishermen once found me on a sandy beach, where they said I had fainted. Who are you?"

The man drew back his coat.

"Look! There was no light of recognition in the other's eyes. 'My God! the Ray has blotted out all memory!'"

"Pray tell me what you mean, and let me go," came the passionless words.

A groan was the only reply, and the man hid his face in his hands.

"You seem to know what I have forgotten. Has it aught to do with you?"

"O Morella, it were better that I thought you dead than to know that you have forgotten! Do you not recall our betrothal? See, you have the ring upon your hand! Does it not awaken one recollection of other days?"

"Has the Ray blotted out every fair memory! Have you returned to life only to forget! Try to think, dearest: Do you not remember that day in Naples when we pledged eternal love for each other?"

"I remember no betrothal." A deep look of pity came into the speaker's eyes when she saw the pain her words had caused. "If remembrance is so sad, why do you not also forget?"

"My love!" he groaned, "you are making the world darker to me than to dying eyes! You ask me to forget! You!"

"You forget that I have forgotten." The man groaned in utter anguish.

As she turned to go he stayed her by a gentle touch. "Wait here while I, too, go and kill that memory!"

He dragged himself up the broad stairway, looking back once when he had reached the landing, then turned and staggered toward the room of the Purple Ray.

Indians Didn't Intend Selling Lands Outright

"From the day that white men had their first land dealings with Indians," says the Frontier, "it has been assumed that the aborigines sold their lands outright, and the various negotiations into which the United States entered with them for the transfer of their lands by treaty or agreement, until comparatively recent times, are no exception.

"As a matter of fact, Indians recognized neither individual ownership of land nor the tribal right of permanent transfer. A man might put any unoccupied land to personal use, and it was his by virtue only of such usage; but if he once abandoned it for any reason, or failed to cultivate or otherwise use it, it reverted automatically to the tribe.

"We often hear of this or the other tract of land having been 'purchased' from Indians by the colonists for a song. Noteworthy among these instances is the island of Manhattan, now worth untold billions, that was 'bought' by the Dutch settlers for a handful of gew-gaws; but there is no doubt that, as in numerous other cases, the Manhattan Indians believed that they were merely permitting the white settlers to live among them and that the trinkets were merely a token of friendship."

First Aid for Wounds

Burnt paper has been suggested as a quick and easy and clean remedy for first aid to the injured. The first principle in first aid to the injured is to find a remedy quickly. A short time ago Sir James Cantile caused some astonishment by explaining that a dressing of burnt paper for wounds was one of the cleanest and easiest to use. This may seem an odd sort of remedy, yet, after all, nothing is more natural, for burnt paper, although black, is clean, since it has been thoroughly purified by intense heat. Many instructors advocate this in preference to a pocket handkerchief, but providing the handkerchief is fresh from the laundry the inside folds may be used with equal safety. In the matter of dressing for wounds, the golden rule is to provide something that has not come in contact with germs or dirt.

Lunch in Marble Forest

On the roof of the cathedral of Milan is a little buffet where one may take luncheon or tea—a unique case, perhaps, of a restaurant on the roof of a church. It is a recent innovation. In the past there was only a small kiosk where fruit and light drinks were obtainable. Lately a more ambitious undertaking was developed. There are now all varieties of food-stuffs. It is the custom of the Milanese who cannot afford to leave the city for their summer vacations, to climb the Duomo for lunch and eat in the forest of marble pinnacles and flying buttresses. From the height of about 300 feet one can enjoy a view of the city, the Lombard plain and the Alps from Mount Viso to the Arlier—Mario Borsa.

Which Limb?

Uncle Sol threw aside the letter he was reading and uttered an exclamation of impatience.

"Doggone!" he cried. "Why can't people be more explicit?"

"What's the matter, pa?" asked Aunt Sue.

"This letter from home," Uncle Sol answered, "says father fell out of the apple tree and broke a limb."

Nature's Forest Provision

The Forest Survey says that when a pine thicket is cut down the oak growth which starts is a natural sequence of forest types. The acorns are doubtless brought to the pine forest by squirrels and other small animals and as soon as the larger growth is removed it makes room for this oak growth which starts. The same would be true of an oak thicket being removed and pine trees starting to grow. Pine needles are doubtless blown into the oak forest from older pine trees near by. As soon as the oak is removed the pine starts its growth.

Value of Remodeling

Remodeling homes represents not only a salvaging process of much economic value, but it is also an absorbing and educative enterprise and is having no little civic value in that it is restoring whole run-down neighborhoods, bringing back real estate value and is at the same time preserving hundreds of the charming specimens of the architecture of the period preceding the Civil war, according to Richard G. Kimball.

SUBACIDITY OF STOMACH

NO ORGAN of the body gives people more trouble and distress than the stomach, though it also gives much pleasure and satisfaction.

Its troubles range from the simplest dyspepsia to the serious ulcer and the fatal cancer.

Especially after maturity, when people are constantly indulging in all sorts of improprieties in eating and drinking, is the stomach prone to be rebellious and refuse to submit to maltreatment.

The stomach is at work so many hours out of the twenty-four it is not strange it should give out and show its exhaustion by disease.

All kinds of food pass into this organ, but it digests only the proteids or albumenoids.

The mucus secreted by its glands gives moisture and slipperiness to the food mass, and the hydrochloric acid and pepsin digest or liquefy it.

These substances may be in excess, they may be deficient, and in rare cases may be absent.

Subacidity, or hypochylia, means there is not enough of them for digestive purposes, just as in superacidity there is too much.

Subacidity is less common than superacidity, occurs oftener with those who have some kind of nervous disorder and is unattended by inflammation or gastritis.

It comes and goes and alternates with periods when there is too much hydrochloric acid.

This fact is determined by examination of the contents of the stomach removed when digestion is at its height.

Connected with subacidity is a condition known as "atony" of the stomach; which means that the muscular coat is more or less paralyzed and does not contract and churn its contents about, which is an essential part of the digestive process.

The conditions causing subacidity may continue until at length no acid at all is secreted, which would mean that some of the tubules which produce gastric juices have atrophied or withered and will be of no further use.

If there is only moderate subacidity there may be no urgent symptoms of any kind; but if the condition persists anemia may develop, with possible termination in cancer; hence the matter must not be neglected.

The ordinary symptoms are discomfort and a sense of weight and fullness when digestion is going on, want of appetite, belching, headache, dizziness and constipation.

In treating it the general condition should be improved by simple food, a glass of hot water before meals, sleep in abundance, outdoor exercise, sunshine and freedom from worry if possible.

Should the disease become very troublesome the contents of the stomach should be examined and a course of treatment instituted by one who is familiar with stomach diseases.

High School Football Men Ready---Bruskie Nervous in First Six-Day Race

PLAY COUNTY SEAT ELEVEN AT BRADY'S

Students and Fans Prepare to Help Blue and White Usher In Season Tomorrow—Coaches Send Boys Through Final Drill Today.

Students, athletes, and fans are all getting ready to celebrate and make merry at the first big event in high school sport tomorrow afternoon. The local Blue and White varsity eleven is also being primed for its first contest of the campaign with New Brunswick at Brady's Field. Game time is expected to be at about 2:45 o'clock.

EXPECT BIG CROWD

It is expected that from five to six hundred onlookers will be at this first sport game of its kind played by a high school outfit here. Everyone who has any life in himself—or herself—will make a determined effort to witness the pigskin warriors usher in their first season. They will be able to get a glimpse of our many performers and learn what they have accomplished after several weeks of hard training under the direction of three coaches, who donated their services and are responsible for the formation of this team.

These coaches—Hagen, Bodnar and Wiseman—will also watch with eager interest to see how their proteges carry out instructions in this hectic struggle. The writer, on getting his first view of the boys in their sessions several weeks ago and a recent glimpse of the same boys in another session, noticed a drastic change in their style of play and, above all, the way they have learned to use their heads when in close calls. The lads are also in good condition, which fact the writer could not have stated at the beginning of the season. One thing that the game has done for these boys is to help to make men out of them—an important object for a boy to look forward to in life. Good strong men make good citizens and men who are worthy of existence.

Stiff Opposition Expected

New Brunswick is expected to give the local eleven some stiff opposition. The county seaters have played several games already and will have an enormous advantage over the boys, who will start their first. It is also interesting to state that some of the men on our team will play their first game of football in their careers as athletes. This fact will also prove a benefit for the New Brunswick outfit, for the locals' inexperience will count a lot for the visitors.

Cheers will be given by the students during various stages. Morris Abrams, Grace Van Pelt, Joseph Gaydos and Blanche Brown are the leaders and are expected to bring out great volleys of noise in supporting the Blue and White on to victory. The leaders and the entire student body held several meetings during the week to perfect the few cheers that have been adopted.

Twenty Men Uniformed

To make appearances even more football like the varsity will be equipped with new jerseys and other paraphernalia. The jerseys are blue and have large white numbers on the backs. The squad of twenty players will all be fully uniformed. Every man will be given an opportunity to get into the game.

Coches Sam Dubov, of Hillside High School and a local man, will officiate. He has been connected with the gridiron game for many seasons and is well fitted for the position of handling the arbitrating matters.

Love of Food Is Ending Fighting Days of Firpo

Luis Firpo, meteoric boxing glove slinger from South America, is through as a pugilist capable of drawing huge crowds to see him perform against champions and near-champions. The powerful "Bull of the Pampas" is ending his fighting days in Europe with a knife, a fork, and a spoon. His love for food has become greater and greater—and his indulgence has kept pace with it. Heavy eating, plenty of sleep, idleness, and almost complete inactivity in so far as training is concerned has sounded the death knell for Luis Firpo.

The ring warrior who once was built like a swartly Apollo, sleek of arms, sleek of legs, and with a torso that rippled with beautiful muscle power, now is reported to weigh in the neighborhood of 230—at least 65 pounds over his fighting weight of other days. Fat eddies around his neck, around his shoulders, on his arms and legs—and masses of it now obscure a once splendidly defined waist line.

And so Luis Firpo is through—a relic of other days—and the tragedy for him lies in the fact that he has killed off chances to earn at least $250,000 more because he couldn't control his appetite.

Photographs Stomach

A tube and a specially built camera have been designed to photograph the stomach, including the walls, top and bottom. The photographs are taken internally, through the introduction down the windpipe of a metal tube about half an inch in diameter, with a series of lenses inside it, with a tiny but powerful electric light at the end.

The Harmony Club Bowling League games this week were featured by an unexpected upset. The Blue Birds, who have been finding things easy picking right along, took a mighty flop last night and lost two games to the Crows, who are now in a threatening position for the lead. The Robins are also there too, being tied with the Crows, after whipping the poor Sparrows three straight in the regular scheduled Tuesday night hits.

CHALLENGES MADE IN BOXING WORLD

Frankie Tucker Accepts Def of Steve Trosko—Both to Fight at Perth Amboy Next Thursday—Interest Keen.

The indoor fight season has just begun and already there is a volley of challenges being showered about the quarters of our best known boxers. The first report of a hostile engagement being arranged comes from the camp of Dave Lynch, who announces that his new star, Frankie Tucker, is challenged by another new comer for a bout. Such activities in the ring sport will help the game considerably.

Frankie Tucker is a boy who expects to have this winter one of the most active campaigns ever waged by a two-fisted mauler. He takes with pride the challenge of Steve Trosko for a bout to be held at Perth Amboy next Thursday evening. Trosko has been contemplating entering the ring for several months and has trained down fairly well. He will be in a fit condition for the big bout next week.

The contest will go four rounds—or less—as the preliminary on the good card arranged by promoter Ed Poulsen. His bouts will be staged at the auditorium ring in New Brunswick avenue. A large crowd of fans is figured to turn out, especially from this borough. Interest is intense in the Tucker-Trosko affair.

Tucker has a busy schedule, which was arranged by his manager Dave Lynch. The 138 pound flash will take on a not-yet-picked opponent in a four round bout at Highland Park on the evening of November 10; and on November 17 at Perth Amboy he will again put on the gloves with Kid Manzarro, of Woodbridge, whom he defeated two weeks ago. The tilt will also go four chapters.

Chappie Was Leader of Sacrifice Stars

The sacrifice hit, once a great part of baseball strategy, becomes rarer and rarer. Each season marks a definite decline and the only explanation seems to lie in the fact that batsmen these days figure it a better thing to try to knock the ball out of the lot than to play it safe by sacrificing themselves to advance or to score a runner. Of all the men that played the game Ray Chapman, the Indian shortstop who was killed by a pitched ball, was the greatest sacrifice banger. In eight years he poked over 328, giving him an average of .41, that was far beyond anything in ballroom history. He also held the single-season mark of 67 made in 1917.

KNIGHT PINMEN IN LEAGUE LEADS NOW

The Carteret entry in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League is now leading a field of six competitors for circuit honors. The second week of the schedule was uncovered Friday night with the local pin knights taking two out of three games from Woodbridge on the Argonne alleys in Perth Amboy. Previous to the match the Morgans were tied with Carteret for the league leadership.

Good pinning was necessary for the local team to outbow the Woodbridge rivals, for the latter were up to standard. All games were well bowled with the exception of the Woodbridge final. The locals took the opener with fourteen timbers to spare and the third game by a margin of 56 pins, while Woodbridge copped the middle contest with a wide advantage.

Bill Dzurilla was individual star with an average of 194.2 for the trio of games. Buck Scally also bowled well, getting high scores in the first two. The best mark went to Einhorn, who rolled 230 in the second game.

Tonight the locals take on the tail end Dunellen team at Coughlin's lanes. Dunellen was off form in its three setbacks against Perth Amboy last Friday, but should give Carteret a better battle. Ed Casey will have the same lineup out again for the home club.

MUD NO OBSTACLE TO SCARLET TEAM

Rain Seems Advantage as Rahway High Trims Orange With Ivans and Harrington Playing Stellar Role.

Rahway high school had little trouble in defeating its nemesis of 1924 on a slushy gridiron last Saturday afternoon. The Class B champions tore loose to hand Orange a terrific lacing at Orange, winning one of its biggest games of the season by a 30-to-9 score. Last season Orange was the only eleven which could trim the Crimson.

Buck Harrington carried over one of Rahway's five touchdowns in the first period on a pretty line play. The Carteret lad had a good day and aided his team considerably in trimming the huskies. Nick Coppola, Walcott and Doty scored the remaining six-pointers, Coppola making two.

Charley Ivans, another local player, did great work for the Crimson line, smearing numerous threatening plays of the Orange backfield. Ivans was a tower of strength on the Rahway line. He figured prominently in keeping the enemy carriers from his goal line, which has not yet been crossed in four games. Rahway, on the other hand, has tallied 115 points. Today Rahway plays Irvington High at Irvington in a contest that should be a stiff one from start to finish. The Crimson is favored to win in spite of the Irvington team's strong running strength.

LYNCH PLANNING

Welterweight Will Soon Box Snyder at Amboy.

Plans are being negotiated to arrange for the meeting of Dick Lynch, pride of the county welterweight division, and Young Gummy Snyder, of Perth Amboy, in a star six or eight round bout on the Elks' Crippled Kiddies program in Perth Amboy, November 16. The managers of the two scrappers and the promoter of the show are trying to come to terms. Nothing definite has been decided yet, but it is most likely that the affair will be arranged in a few days. Lynch is also dickering for a bout in New Haven. Dan Buckley, a man of influence in the New England boxing region, is trying to get a few battles for the local welter; and it is reported that he will put Lynch into some lively bouts. Word is expected from Buckley any day now concerning his plans.

MRS. CROKER IS A HORSE BREEDER

Continues to Operate Farm of Late Husband Near Dublin, Ireland.

Mrs. Richard Croker, Cherokee wife of the former boss of Tammany Hall, now deceased, continues to operate the 554-acre farm of her husband, near Dublin, Ireland, where she is engaged mostly in the breeding of fine horses.

While visiting friends in Washington, Mrs. Croker, with her mother, Mrs. M. S. Edmondson of Florida, occupied one of the palatial suites at the Mayflower hotel, where she discussed freely her ideas of women and their work.

"When I was in the Cherokee school at Tahlequah, Okla.," she said, "I had a four-years' course in agriculture, a very thorough course. I wondered at that time how it would fit into my life, but I have found since that it was a very good thing."

"I am a farmer in Ireland, purely an American, and as such I have not mixed in Irish politics, remaining strictly neutral. There is some poverty in Ireland, but it is not general, and has been grossly exaggerated. While I am interested in helping the country, I believe the best way I can help is by keeping my farm going.

"I have 554 acres and a stable of horses, and employ about forty men working on the place. I feel I can help best in a domestic way and consider that my place is on the farm, and that I can help by keeping those men working. During the war it was a hard struggle to meet the heavy pay roll, but we carried on."

"I breed racing horses and still have Mr. Croker's stables and original stock. It was his wish that the farm be kept intact. While I have disposed of the progeny, I have retained the stables and have 11 of the grandsons of Orly, winner of the English Epsom Derby in 1907, and they are racing now. I am thinking seriously of bringing some horses to America next winter to race at Miami, Fla."

"I am just now a plain, ordinary citizen, a typical farmer, and I believe in the home. I am not even a suffragette. That may be a little old-fashioned, but I believe in women being the queen in the home, and sticking to the fireside. A woman renders her greatest service as a citizen in the home, where there is plenty to do."

Purity Will Save Game

At a speech before business men of New Orleans the other day, Commissioner Landis, speaking of baseball, said: "Baseball's purity will save it. The big leagues are in for the biggest season in their history. Tolerant is one thing, crookedness is another. Neither can succeed. One must be controlled, the other done away with. A clean sport with many men is one that every one likes. And that is what the managers and players have promised me."

Suspend Spectator for Coaching Boxer

Here is a funny one which shows how rigid the Massachusetts boxing commission can be when it wants to. Not long ago Nate Siegel was a spectator at a fight in which his stablemate, Pal Reed, was engaged. In the course of the battle Siegel yelled an instruction to Reed, which, being a spectator, it would seem he had a perfect right to do. Spectators are continually doing this. Yet Siegel drew an indefinite suspension.

Paavo Nurmi Kept His Amateur Status

Offers totaling approximately $250,000 to renounce his amateur status were made to Paavo Nurmi, wonderful runner from Finland, during his visit to the United States. Frederick Rubien, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic union, said after Nurmi sailed for his home. All offers were refused, however, Rubien said, and Nurmi is particularly happy over the fact that his amateur standing remained undamaged. According to Rubien the Miller Brothers' circus offered Nurmi $90,000 to travel with it for 20 weeks. Numerous other offers were made, Rubien said, including several from breakfast food companies.

WHIRLWINDS WIN

Capture Third Straight Game of Season by Whipping St. Jos.

A forty-yard run in the final period by Myer Rosenblum was responsible for a thrilling 12-6 victory scored by the Whirlwind football team over the strong husky St. Joseph eleven at the Columbus school grounds, Wednesday afternoon, before a large gathering of fans. It was the third straight victory of the season for the Whirlwinds, and the first time that an opposing team crossed their goal line.

Rosenblum also scored the other goal for the winners in the first quarter, easily being the outstanding star of the fracas. Lubotsky, Brown, Murlagh and Comba were the other shining lights.

The Whirlwinds wish to hear from light junior teams in this vicinity wishing games with a fast outfit. Write to Benjamin Zusman, 62 Roosevelt avenue.

Community Building

Call for Similarity in Building Designs

The American home builder is constantly existing about for something new, something unusual, in domestic architecture. Architects, therefore, have a difficult task designing new creations that will satisfy for a time, at least, the whims of a public. Due to this constantly changing, restless desire unusual houses have been created, and our country is gradually accumulating a collection of interesting types, whose equal is nowhere to be found.

At the present time the village or community idea is gaining favor with the home builders and buyers. Here and there, dotting our landscapes, villages are being constructed, each one employing a different type of architecture—in one case a French village, in another Italian or Spanish and in still another Mexican. The village idea is not a new one, but the adhering to a particular style of architecture for all the buildings is a comparatively new practice in this country.

The American home builder craves community spirit when he erects his home beyond the confines of the city; hence the village scheme appeals. Heretofore, when a parcel of ground was purchased for the purpose of erecting a home upon it the purchaser had no protection against the possibility of his neighbor erecting a house of a nondescript type. Usually that is what happens in most of our new land developments. The erection of houses of various styles of architecture, some unimpressive, is the result of the lack of comprehensive planning.

As City Grows, Wise Planning Is Needed

It is said with a great deal of truth that you cannot keep a good city down. People are attracted to the cities which have the most to offer in the way of employment, homes, institutions and public improvements. It necessarily follows that the city which has something to offer must increase in population.

But when a city grows it is not all gain. It is the consensus of opinion that the larger a city becomes the less comfort there is for those who live in it. As a city grows its workers must move farther away from their places of employment or live in congested and unhealthful tenements. Traffic congestion increases with the population and the problems of government tend to become more complex. None will deny that after a city passes a certain stage in population the disadvantages of living in it outweigh the advantages.

The evils of the big city, however, will not dissuade the civic booster from working for his "greater" city so as his dream materializes. Greater foresight must be shown to soften the hardships occasioned by the greater population. Cities that want to grow should at least grow wisely. The time to plan a city is while it is expanding.—Newcastle (Ind.) Courier.

Artistic Road Signs

Artistic roadside signs of Colonial days are due to supplant the cold, stark uninteresting signs of the present. In early Colonial days, great care was taken and also a lot of pride, in the designing and making of roadside signs, whether they were for the direction of the traveler or whether they were used for the labeling of a roadside.

Due to the launching of town-betterment campaigns, the roadways of our country are dotted here and there with artistic signs of every description and they attract more attention than the average signboard. These signs are designed in a great measure to harmonize with the architecture of the surrounding communities. English architecture demands that signs will be designed in that style, and the lettering likewise.

This practice should be encouraged in every community, as it will be a factor in adorning them and adding to their interest.

Build for Beauty

A rare thing, indeed, is to find a street where the homes collectively form a really artistic architectural setting. Individual examples of homes both artistic and beautiful are, indeed, found in every community, but an entire block of such homes is hard to find.

Many builders follow a given line of monotony in the exterior plan of their houses leaving the artistic touches to be furnished by the landscaping. True, a plan like this will make the individual dwellings cheaper, in the long run, but what is the saving of a hundred or two dollars, to making a community a thing of beauty and a place worth living in.

Gaiety Not All Happiness

Poems have been sung and novels fashioned about the dash and gaiety of the Gay White Way. This gaiety reminds you of an abandoned merry-go-round in a vacant lot—painted and tarnished. There are lights, yes, jazz, color, rush and hurry, but the spontaneity that comes with happy hearts is lacking. There is more happiness in one peaceful country cottage than in the whole of Broadway.—O. O. McIntyre, in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

YOUR Last Name

IS IT WASHBURNE?

THE Washburne family, which is one of the finest in New England, traces descent to John Washburne who settled in Duxbury, Mass., in 1631. He was a member of an old English family that derived its name from Washbourne, County Worcester, Washbourne gave the name to this family and was the seat of the family until 1852. The earliest mention to one of the name dates from the reign of Edward I when a Walter de Wasseburna was mentioned.

There was an Israel Washburne of this family who served valiantly in the Revolution, a Benjamin Washburne, born in 1810, who was secretary of state, and Israel Washburne, his brother, who was governor of Maine, Cadwallader Golden Washburne was a member of congress, major general in the Civil war and later a prominent flour manufacturer. His brother was Eliza Benjamin Washburne, member of congress, secretary of state, and minister to France. He was the only foreign representative who remained in Paris through both the siege and commune period.

BORIE—This is a name of French origin. Adolph E. Borie, born in 1809, was the son of John Borie, a Frenchman.

RUFFIN—This name is an old name in North Carolina, and was undoubtedly of French origin. In England the name Rufine was introduced by Dr. James Rufine, a student of Leyden in 1671. He went to England because of his Protestant beliefs after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes. He married Elizabeth Young and founded the Rufine family in Suffolk county, England. The founder of the American Rufine family may have been akin to this family whose name is spelled Rufine in England.

FOR SPECIAL OCCASIONS

HERE is something that may be prepared a little at a time, making a rare treat when all the fruit is added:

Fruit Melange.
A stone crock or a large glass jar will be the best receptacle. The fruits in their season are preserved and a cupful at a time is added to the jar. Arrange in layers without stirring and keep closely covered in a cool place all the time. Begin with berries and add peaches, pears and plums and apricots, finishing with a pint jar of maraschino cherries, though the fresh cherries will be sufficient. Let stand a month or two before using.

Peaches in Raspberry Juice
To two quarts of raspberries or canned fruit with the juice drained off, add four quarts of peaches and seven pounds of sugar; this will make about eight to ten pints of this preserve. Boil the strained juice; if it is from canned fruit allow less sugar; add a few crushed peach kernels for flavor. Add the peaches cut into halves a few at a time, cooking them quickly until clear. Remove from the syrup, cool and allow them to stand until perfectly cold before canning. The juice is then boiled again and poured over the fruit which has been packed in the jars. Any fruit juice may be used—pineapple, strawberry or grape; all will make delicious preserves.

When the carrots are small in size, cold-pack a few jars of them for winter. Then when wanted all that is needed is to heat and serve them with any desired sauce. After sealing them place in jars, partly seal after adding salt—one teaspoonful to a quart—and filling the jar with boiling water; cover well with boiling water and boil one and one-half hours. Remove and seal tightly.
