

SEIZES MAN AS LUNATIC

Twas Only Toothache
Tarrytown, N. Y.—"This man isn't crazy, but he has an awful toothache which is driving him mad," a surgeon at Grasslands hospital said the other day when Patrolman Kohl of the Greenburgh police department brought in Anthony Joseph of Greenburgh, who was found wandering about acting like a wild man just over the White Plains line. Kohl started out with sufficient equipment to capture and restrain a lunatic. He was convinced that Joseph was insane until the Grasslands surgeons told him differently. The surgeon relieved the toothache for the man and he returned to his home acting perfectly normal.

PRISON ROMANCE ENDS IN MARRIAGE

Bride of Life Convict Is Social Worker
Baton Rouge, La.—A prison romance, involving a convicted murderer serving a life term in the Louisiana state penitentiary, and a New Orleans social worker, was revealed here when it became known that E. E. Woolfero, a "trustee" in his fifth year of servitude, and Mrs. Martha B. Ogden, of New Orleans, were married recently by City Judge Dawey J. Sanchez. The groom is fifty-eight years old, the bride thirty-eight, according to their marriage license. Woolfero was sent to prison for life June 22, 1923, for murder of his son, and subsequently divorced by his wife, who now lives in New Orleans. Mrs. Ogden also is divorced and her former husband lives in New Orleans. She met Woolfero on visits to the state penitentiary office here while engaged in social work. Woolfero now is a clerk at the prison receiving station, on the outskirts of the city, while Mrs. Woolfero is reported to have taken up her residence in Baton Rouge. Under provisions of the state law defining life term, Woolfero will go free on December 22, 1933, ten years and six months after beginning his term. He has several times made unsuccessful application for pardon.

MAN WRECKS AUTO TO ESCAPE FROM TARANTULA

San Francisco.—Motoring through Niles canyon, Stephen V. Weller of Niles, Bedford, Mass., saw something crawling across the road. It was unlike anything he had ever seen in Niles Bedford. "Must be one of those California crabs," he said to himself, stopped his car, got out, picked up a coffee can by the roadside and induced the crawler to crawl into it. It was the size of his palm. "That's one of the biggest tarantulas I ever saw," remarked another autoist who drove up just then. "Ow, wow!" said Weller, "so that's what it is!" He drove along with his new pet, nevertheless, planning to pickle it in alcohol. A few miles on he saw the tarantula, which had climbed out of the can, about to climb up under his trouser leg. Weller didn't even wait to apply his emergency brake, but leaped from the car, which hurtled into a roadside ditch. The tarantula was still in possession of the auto when some other motorists came by and helped Weller lure it into another can—one with a cover. The giant spider wound up its exciting day by being chloroformed, mounted, and presented to Washington Union high school museum.

CLERK IN PRISON AS BURGLAR STUDIES LAW, APPEALS, VINS

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—The story of how a former postal clerk sentenced to five years in the Leavenworth Federal prison on the charge of burglarizing the post office here, studied law while in prison and prepared briefs and an appeal of his case to the United States Court of Appeals has just been received here. Hayes Vangorler was accused of burglarizing the post office in 1924 and convicted of stealing two mail box keys. His appeal asserted that no one had witnessed the theft of the keys and that they had not been found on him until eighty-seven days after the theft, too late to establish a legal hypothesis that he had stolen them. The Appellate court upheld this contention and the case probably will be dropped. Vangorler was mail order clerk here for some time.

FINE FEATURES ON NEW CHEVROLET

Four Wheel Brakes—Larger Wheelbase and Easier Steering—Some of the Features.
Wildfire enthusiasm kindled all through the country last week when the new Chevrolet line for 1928 went on display took particular account of the many mechanical innovations embodied in the new car. Thousands who viewed the new models noted that the wheelbase was increased and bodies made roomier and more beautiful, also that the mechanical features had been developed to a measure heretofore unknown in the low price class. Outstanding developments in the engine and chassis that received wide-spread endorsement were the increased speed and power of the new car, easier steering, four wheel brakes of new design, shock absorber springs marking an advanced trend toward riding comfort, and smoother engine performance. The last mentioned feature was achieved by the use of constant clearance alloy "invar strut" pistons which make for smoother, more efficient motor performance. Further contributions toward this end were gained by raising the compression ratio and by stepping up the valve lifts. Through these new changes a maximum power is developed. Other changes in the engine are the addition of a breathing system to eliminate the annoyance of engine fumes; a new two-port exhaust, and a silencing engine enclosure. The four wheel brakes are of non-locking design—the product of Chevrolet laboratories plus the facilities of General Motors Laboratories and proving grounds. Front brakes are two shoe energized internals, and the rear brakes are the energized external, self wrapping type. Front and rear brakes have been proportioned to prevent side drag or pull. Each brake has an individual adjustment at the wheels, while "stops" have been provided to make the adjustment process especially easy. Easy pedal application throws the front brakes into action. Further application throws front brakes harder into action and also brings the rear brakes into full play, so that it is possible to slide the rear wheels on dry pavement by using full pressure, but not with the front wheels. The effect of this, according to Chevrolet engineers is to get uniform wear on the brake lining. The springs are also of extraordinary interest. Realizing that all uncomfortable spring action is the result of rebound after striking a bump, Chevrolet engineers set about to increase the friction of the springs and thus check the rebound. This end was achieved by equipping the springs with special rebound checks. Two checks are on each spring located half way between the center spring shackle and the spring end. These rebound checks are inverted bow shaped leaves assembled under high pressure against the top of the spring leaf, the ends pressing against the top of the leaf. So much has the spring friction been increased by this new device, that the car is said to ride 50 per cent better than with the old type springs. The rebound checks also offer greater resistance to bumps. Greater ease of steering was made possible by adopting a ball bearing worm and gear steering mechanism including ball bearings in the steering knuckles, and by increasing the steering ratio from 8. to 9.5 to 1. The four inch increase in wheelbase contributes greatly to the riding quality of the new car, with less pitching and better road holding ability. The front axle has been enlarged and strengthened to accommodate the new brake attachment. A fan shroud has been added for more efficient cooling, and a host of other details combine to make the Chevrolet for 1928 the best performing, most efficient and dependable mechanical unit ever built by the Company.

COOPERATION OF P. S. EMPLOYEES APPRECIATED

In a bulletin to all operators of Public Service trolleys and buses, Matthew R. Boylan, vice president in charge of operation, expresses the appreciation of the Public Service management for the fine spirit of cooperation shown by the men during the past year. "I have asked for your cooperation and support in improving the service and I have received it" writes Mr. Boylan. "There are many things in our relations that convince me that the spirit of our organization was never better. You have demonstrated your loyalty in your support of our accident prevention efforts, in the good work done in enlisting our patrons as stockholders of the parent corporation; in what you have accomplished in the way of selling transportation to the public by means of courteous treatment of passengers and care for their convenience." Mr. Boylan also takes occasion to remark upon the many letters received commenting favorably upon the conduct of Public Service Operators.

BRONCHOSAN
For Coughs and Colds
BRONCHOSAN should not be confused with the ordinary cough remedy. Its action is vastly different, for these reasons: BRONCHOSAN has a direct soothing effect on the mucous membrane, and at the same time acts as a powerful expectorant which brings forth the phlegm, an action that is absolutely necessary in getting rid of a cough. The most severe cough or cold will quickly yield to a few doses of BRONCHOSAN. Its remedial action is really remarkable. BRONCHOSAN is compounded from the purest natural ingredients and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics of any kind. By special process the healing value of all extracts used is retained. Hence, BRONCHOSAN also produces a tonic effect upon the system and aids in restoring you back to normal after a severe cough or cold.

RADIO CHEERS PRISON LIFE

Violations of Honor System
Reduced to Minimum
Since Installation.

Fort Madison, Iowa.—This little city, which has been dubbed the most average town in the United States through the residence here of Iroy L. Gray, "the most average man," disputes the title where its penitentiary is concerned, and all because of the innovation in radio entertainment which the prisoners enjoy.

Warden T. P. Hollowell, veteran of the World war, believes that there may be something after all in this leniency-to-prisoners idea, and consequently has allowed the installation of a radio receiving set for the prisoners of the institution and has decided that it worked so well that he has now installed radio sets at all the prison farms in the vicinity of Fort Madison to keep the prisoners from walking away, as many of them do from loneliness after the day's work is done.

Keeps Them Entertained.
"The radio keeps them entertained and keeps their thoughts from dwelling on the joys that apparently lie over the hill," Hollowell explained. "With an honor and parole system in vogue there is only one way in the world to keep prisoners from taking 'French leave' and that is to keep them contented."

Two inmates of the institution were responsible for the installment of the set originally. They were Andrew Bowers and Arthur Reed, short-time inmates, who conceived the idea of building a single circuit for all the prisoners in the institution. Hollowell said the idea was O. K. if the noise did not interfere with the prison rules about silence.

After some experimenting the two established a circuit through one cell house into which all the men who cared to buy earphones could listen nightly. One of the big problems was to make the circuit fool-proof, for the men would stick matches, pins and other articles into the holes in the plugs and short-circuit the whole affair.

This trouble was remedied and the night the first concert was received the inmates could scarcely keep from shouting their hilarity. Old men who had been in the prison for years and knew only of radio through newspapers listened with tears in their eyes and spoke in awed whispers of its wonders. Concerts, grand opera, prize-fights, baseball games and all the rest of radio entertainment came to cheer the drabness of their lives, and men who formerly passed their evenings sleeping, reading, writing letters or working interminably on souvenirs to sell to visitors at the prison, now sit in silence with their head phones clamped to their ears.

Silence Rule Enforced.
The silence rule is strictly followed, although the prison guards have to pace the corridors demanding silence repeatedly when a prizefight is on the air, and the excitement throughout the big cell houses among the hundreds of listeners is at a fever heat.

Warden Hollowell has been well repaid for his permission to allow radio, for in it he has found one of the best methods of enforcing obedience since he has been in office, for the threat of taking away his headphones conquers the most unmanageable of prisoners.

Only one man has lost his phones and then for only a short time. He insisted on trying to make a loud speaker out of them. As an explanation he said he had read somewhere of a man who had gotten corns on his ears from using headphones too much and he was merely trying to protect himself.

Indians Use the Gobble;

Maybe They'd Buy Squeal
Oklahoma City, Okla.—Parlor tricksters, proud of their ability to gobble like a turkey, will do well to exercise their gift with caution among Indians of Oklahoma.

The gobble has a definite place in the language of several Oklahoma tribes as a challenge or threat. A Cherokee Indian was cleared of a murder charge several months ago after witnesses testified that the man he slew had gobbled at him.

Linguists explain that the languages of some primitive people are so guttural that the speech is transformed into gobbling when the speakers are excited or angry. The gobble, however, may be interpreted as anything from a challenge to a footnote to a threat of death, says Peter Hudson, full-blood Choctaw and historian of his tribe.

Suction Fan Picks

Chickens in Britain
London.—Picking a chicken has become as easy in England as rolling off a log. It is now done by machinery—one chicken a minute.

The feathers are plucked entirely by suction, pin feathers and all. The inventor of the device is Lieut. Com. J. B. Kingston who, upon retiring from the royal navy, became a poultry farmer.

The machine is fan-shaped. The feathers are drawn into it by suction and stuffed neatly into a collecting bag. The fan makes about 500 revolutions for a young chicken, but 700 or so are required to strip a tough old hen or rooster.

JAPAN TO HONOR GRANT'S MEMORY COMING SUMMER

Will Celebrate Visit Fifty Years Ago of Famous General and Former President.

Tokyo.—On August 25, next year, a memorial commemorating the visit to Japan of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant will be unveiled in Ueno park by the man who acted as chairman of the Grant reception committee just half a century ago.

It will be exactly half a century on that day, August 25, since the great American soldier and Mrs. Grant were feted at Ueno by the late Emperor Meiji and his consort.

A great banquet, attended by the emperor and empress, was held, after which General Grant and his wife planted two trees, an hinoki and a flowering giokuran. At that time the ceremonial planting of trees was something reserved solely for the emperor, and the breaking of all the precedents to permit an alien commoner—even though he had been President of the United States—tremendously impressed the Japanese people.

The two trees, inclosed within a simple fence and marked with a wooden board, are thriving well, the hinoki planted by the general having now a height of 36 feet and a girth of 3 feet, while the giokuran has shot up from a 2-foot sapling to a tree of 31 feet.

It was Viscount Shibusawa, then without a title but the first president of the Tokyo Chamber of Commerce, who headed the reception committee for the united wards of Tokyo on the day of the Grant reception. Still hale and hearty and with a vivid recollection of the day he received General Grant in his mind, the viscount will unveil the memorial next August. He will be one of the very few survivors of the event of 1878.

Rewritten "Hamlet"

Applauded in Dresden

Dresden.—Görlhar Hauptmann's adaptation of "Hamlet" to what he believes to be in accord with the original Shakespearean text had a successful premiere at the Dresden National theater recently.

Hauptmann has attempted to rewrite "Hamlet" without materially altering the play's dramatic business. While it is generally admitted that certain changes enhance the dramatic development, many foresee a controversy with the adherents of the Shakespearean traditions.

The revised version is an attempt to approach the lost Shakespearean text, which is believed to have differed greatly from the text handed down. In the cemetery scene Hamlet, not Laertes, first jumps into Ophelia's grave. The famous soliloquy beginning "To be or not to be," is placed in the early part of the fifth instead of the third act. The fourth act has been completely rewritten.

French People Lovers

of Sport in Variety

Paris.—France is a country with no national sport.

A sporting newspaper recently held an inquiry to determine just what sport came first in the hearts of the French people. The replies were so varied and so many sports were presented for consideration that the paper gave it up and decided that the French, while the most sport-loving people in the world, had no one diversion typically French and attracting all the people as baseball does in America.

Poathall and bicycle racing seemed to have the greatest number of adherents. Since Lacoste and his mistletoes have brought world tennis honors to France tennis has become more and more popular, but still cannot be said to be a sport of the people.

Captive Bears Love Soda of Any Flavor

Government Camp, Ore.—As a lover of soda pop the average boy has nothing on a bear. If there is any difference it is on the side of the bear, who not only likes pop but wants, and in some instances gets, lots of it. There are two captive brown bears here, on the Mount Hood loop road. Week-end parties usually stop here, and the big-hearted members buy the two bears pop.

A hole is punched in the metal cap with an ice pick and it is placed within reach of the animals, which rear up on their haunches and snub at the bottle much in the manner of a nursing child.

If one bear has pop and the other none, then the neglected bear will moan and whine piteously until his wants are recognized. The animals have no preference as to flavors, strawberry disappearing down their throats with about the same speed as lemon.

The custom of marking silver has prevailed in England since the reign of Edward I.

RUTGERS PRESIDENT FAVORS COMMISSION

President John M. Thomas of Rutgers University has announced that he would welcome the appointment of a commission by the Legislature to examine the existing relations between Rutgers and the State, as recommended in Governor A. Harry Moore's annual message.

"Governor's Moore's recommendation is sensible and statesmanlike," he says. "A commission such as he suggests should be able to solve existing difficulties and clear up the situation. This would be a great relief to the University. We want to know where we stand and what the State wants us to do. The University can be counted upon not to hold back in any constructive development of higher education in the State. There is only one way for us to go, and that is forward as a State University. We have not manufactured the increasing demands for higher education; they have been forced upon us by economic and social conditions. We have nothing to conceal and desire the fullest examination of facts and conditions and such recommendations as are to the best interests of the State of New Jersey. I hope the legislature will accept Governor Moore's recommendation and I am sure the University will cooperate with the Commission to the best of its ability."

MAKES YARDSTICK INTO CONGRESS
Would Measure Solons as Typical Americans.

Washington.—Measurement of members of the national house and senate is to be attempted during the present term of congress by Dr. Arthur MacDonaid, anthropologist, in an effort to determine the physical status of the American people.

Doctor MacDonaid, author of scientific books, will try also to arrive at mental and physical proportions of the citizenry of 30 other nations through similar examination of their legislative bodies, which he is endeavoring to arrange with the cooperation of the State department.

He believes members of congress to represent, both mentally and physically, the American people.

The anthropologist purposes also to compare various groups of congressmen as to legislative ability, predominant lineage, sociological condition and physical status, after which he will calculate the relation between these factors.

He hopes that the work may lead presently to similar classification of legislatures by states, so that there will be established eventually a comparison between the legislatures of different nations and national groups.

He explains why he is selecting lawmaking bodies as the bases for his tests:

"The physical measurements of members of congress represent the anthropological status of the whole country much better than measurements of any other body of men. More important still, these measurements will be a basis for the health of the nation."

171 Potatoes Dug From Hill in West Canada

Saskatoon, Sask.—J. H. Hoover, a farmer living near Battleford, recently established a world's record when he dug a total of 171 potatoes from one hill on his land.

According to Hoover, his phenomenal yield of tubers came from a single parent spud. It took him approximately ten seconds last spring to plant the prize hill and more than 16 minutes to garner the harvest, which filled a bushel basket.

The potato crop all over Saskatchewan has been abundant and has kept pace with the wheat crop in unusual acreage yields. Total yield of potatoes, it is estimated, will reach 4,000,000 hundredweight.

Ordinarily the average yield of potatoes in the province is about 80 hundredweight an acre, but the 1927 crop is expected to run much higher. Total value of the province's potato yield for 1927, it is said, will be well over $4,300,000.

Tourists Have Reason for Joy in Capri Port

Capri, Italy.—Capri is to have its own port at last, and the uncomfortable experience of tourists in landing on the Syren Island in tossing and pitching rowboats, which long has proved unpleasant to many passengers, especially women, will come to an end.

Work has already begun on the new harbor, which will extend from the Marina Grande for a sufficient distance to allow the steamers from Naples to land their passengers without risk of sea-sickness in a small fishing boat.

The old system of landing here has often proved a real torture to tourists. When the sea is rough it has often proved impossible to land passengers at all, and the Naples packet has had on numerous occasions to anchor off the shore with its suffering humanity until the sea had gone down sufficiently to effect a landing by means of the small boats.

"Dinner—Five ribs of beef, each weighing 3 stone; 1 sheep, 3 quarters of lamb, a shoulder and loin of veal, 8 pullets, 4 couple of rabbits, 2½ dozen of sack and 1 dozen claret."

Formerly of East Orange, N. J., Boppe said he was a college man and had worked at many trades. "I have no references; I can't get a job," he continued, "so I concluded to seek work that didn't require a reference."

"I hear you barely escaped from the fire at your hotel last night." "That's not true, I had my pajamas on."—Tit-Bits.

CARRIES DEAD WIFE ON 30-MILE DRIVE

Frightened Mate Brings Body of Bride to Mother.

Ottawa, Ill.—With the body of his girl-bride on the automobile seat beside him a few evenings ago, Louis Groves of South Ottawa, stunned with fear and grief, sped to the home of his parents at Granville, 30 miles away. Time and again as the car would swing around curves on the road that led through Peru and Spring Valley the body would roll off to the floor of the car. Without slackening the pace he would lift it back on the seat with his left hand, continuing to steer with his right.

Through the towns and villages through which he passed he narrowly missed running into pedestrians and vehicles, but he didn't even slow up. Only one thing was on his mind—to get to his mother as quickly as he could with his wife whom he was convinced had suffered some attack or stroke and was merely unconscious.

Townfolk Suspicious.

He didn't know his wife was dead and that for the next 24 hours the townspeople would hold suspicions that he might have been responsible for her death and that it would take an autopsy and a coroner's jury to free him of that suspicion.

Late in summer Groves, who formerly lived with his mother at Granville, and Miss Julia Bell Hill of Seneca, Ill., were married and took up their residence at South Ottawa where the groom was employed by a furniture firm. The bride, a beautiful young woman, had just passed her eighteenth birthday a week before the wedding. She was a June graduate of the high school in her home town. The few months the couple lived in their cozy apartments was a real honeymoon, according to the neighbors.

A few evenings ago Louis came home from the store, ate supper with his wife, and then helped her with the dishes. He then went out to the garage to clean his car and was gone about twenty-five minutes.

When he returned to the house he found Mrs. Groves lying on the bed. He spoke to her and received no reply. Then he shook her gently and still there was no response. Her eyes were open but did not look at him. He became panic stricken. There was another family in the next apartment but his first thought and impulse was to go to his mother's home. He grabbed his overcoat and threw it about his wife and carried her to the car and was off for Granville.

It was nearly eight o'clock when he left South Ottawa and nine when he reached Granville. He was bewildered when he staggered into his mother's home, bearing his wife in his arms. He thought she was only unconscious as her body was still warm. His father immediately called a physician who pronounced her dead for more than an hour and a half.

The news of the woman's death quickly spread through Granville and many began to talk of suicide or murder. There was no sign of violence on her body, although her dress became soiled when she slipped down to the floor of the car. No evidence of acids or poison, but the story of such a sudden and mysterious death caused the state's attorney and coroner to take action.

Decide on Autopsy.

An autopsy was decided upon and this was held next day. Groves was questioned closely by the state's attorney, but stuck to his story. The autopsy, however, cleared the young man of suspicion, as the surgeon who performed it decided the young woman died from natural causes. All vital organs of the body were found normal except the thymus gland, which was enlarged to the size of an ordinary hand, and its action, called status lymphaticus, had pressed down on the heart until that organ ceased to function.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict according to the finding of the surgeon who performed the autopsy. The only doubt that was in their minds was why the husband did not call a South Ottawa physician instead of making the mad 30-mile drive to Granville. His own actions, when questioned, convinced the members that the finding of his wife, as he thought, unconscious, was such a shock to him that he was unable to act normally.

Baboons May Be Bred for Domestic Servants

London.—In case anyone should want a baboon to aid in certain household duties, such as dusting, sweeping and other simple tasks, it would take only 20 years of scientific breeding to render the animal sufficiently intelligent for this purpose.

This is the theory of Prof. Frederick Alexander Lindemann, professor of experimental philosophy at Oxford, as quoted by the marquis of Donegal, writing in the Sunday News. Regarding world progress in the next 50 years, Professor Lindemann believes that science will make the greatest strides on the physical and biological, rather than on the mechanical, side.

PUBLIC SERVICE DIRECTORS PLAN RAILWAY MERGER

The directors of Public Service Railway Company and of Public Service Transportation Company at a meeting held here voted approval of an agreement of consolidation and merger which will be submitted to the stockholders of the two companies for their action at meetings to be held on January 31, next.

The new company will be known as Public Service Coordinated Transport. Provision is made for the issuing of 2,500,000 shares of no par value common stock, and 487,500 shares of non cumulative preferred stock of no par value, which will have no voting rights but will receive dividends at the rate of $6 per annum per share, for such years as in the judgment of the board of directors such dividend is justified and before dividends are paid on common stock. In the event of the dissolution of the company its preferred stock shall be entitled to a division of the assets at the rate of $75 a share, before the common stock receives any part of the assets.

Under the terms of the agreement the 487,500 shares of no par value preferred stock of Pub. Service Railway Company outstanding will be exchanged for 487,500 shares of non cumulative preferred stock of Public Service Coordinated Transport, and the 1,004,500 shares of common stock of Public Service Transportation Company outstanding for the same number of shares of common stock of the new company.

Thomas N. McCarter, President of Public Service Railway Company and Public Service Transportation Company said in reference to the merger:

"The consolidation of Public Service Railway Company and Public Service Transportation Company into Public Service Coordinated Transport is a forward step in improving local transportation conditions. It will, in the opinion of the directors of the two companies to be merged, accomplish two important objects.

First, a further coordination of street car and bus service with resulting economy and efficiency; and, second, an improvement of financial structure, including the possibility of an open end mortgage, which will make it easier to secure new capital for extension and betterment of facilities. The merger of Public Service Electric Company; Public Service Gas Company, and United Electric Company of New Jersey into Public Service Electric and Gas Company, has demonstrated the benefits of this character of consolidation, which is in the interest of the public as well as the stockholders.

"The large increase in the number of passengers carried by Public Service cars and buses during 1927 demonstrates the demand for adequate transportation facilities, and experience gained through the operation of both kinds of vehicles shows clearly that coordination of service is necessary in order to adequately meet these demands. This coordination, the merger of the two companies will assist in securing."

Enjoy New Found Leisure Hours By Making Electricity Do More Work

Order the THOR Electric Washer Now! Pay for it while you use it.

Every good laundress knows that clothes should be washed and rinsed in waters of the same temperature. The twin air shell, a vacuum principle exclusive with the Thor, keeps the water in which the clothes are washed, hot.

Another outstanding feature of the Thor is the revolving revolving cylinder in which the washing is done. There's nothing in it to catch or injure the finest fabrics. The water swirls in and out through the smooth perforations of the cylinder.

Payment terms are made easy, $5 down, eighteen months to pay.

Reminders

Electric lamps are used more in winter than in summer. So they sometimes get burnt or are unclean. Avoid inconvenience by keeping a carton of Mazda lamps on hand.

Electric grills are convenient for preparing bacon and eggs and other dishes at the table. They are an asset, too, at the evening supper party. Prices are from $12 up.

The THOR Electric Ironer Finishes a Big Ironing In an Hour or Two

Just sit before the machine and guide the articles through. An automatic spring adjusts the rollers to bulky and thin pieces. When not in use the ironer may be folded and stored in space two feet square.

Easy payment terms are $5 down, eighteen months to pay
