

YOUTH MURDERS GIRL AND THEN DISSECTS BODY

Confesses He Slew Woman Because of Love, but Shows No Remorse.

Muskegon, Mich.—Forest E. Weaver, twenty-eight years old, confessed recently to Sheriff William Tissue that he shot Mrs. Gladys Erhardt, twenty through the heart, dissected the body with an ax and knife and buried it in a shallow grave in the scrub brush near his home just outside this city.

The killing terminated a month's acquaintance. The grave was discovered by Weaver's brother, George Weaver, eighteen, when the latter suspiciously after Forest had gone into the woods with Mrs. Erhardt and returned alone, followed their ski tracks and saw a trail leading to the freshly dug earth.

PROVES TOO SMART FOR CARD SHARPS

Prospective Victim, Suspicious, Calls Police.

Kansas City.—What police says was a scheme to mule Harry J. Wheeler, secretary of the Southwest Securities company, Southwest boulevard and Broadway, of $10,000 was foiled here when the prospective victim became suspicious, notified authorities, and the latter arrested four alleged confidence men.

Wheeler several days ago was approached by a man who gave his name as Roy C. Cline and who said that he was guardian for Ray Moshier, reputed to be a wealthy Oklahoma Indian, who was desirous of purchasing an apartment building for $80,000 or $90,000.

White there, Wheeler told police, some one proposed they start a poker game. In the play which followed, Wheeler lost $200. As he departed, he said, Cline drew him aside and suggested that he return to the Ambassador, bringing $10,000 with him.

Wheeler kept the appointment. The game started and, as before, the cards ran against Wheeler. He had lost $400 before the police entered. In the confusion Wheeler picked up an empty quart bottle. It descended on Moshier's head.

Hen Saves Her Life by Laying at Right Time

Burlington, Wis.—Amelia is a hen. Yes, and more than a hen. She is an actress. Her parts in the cackling and strutting scenes of home talent production have endeared her in the heart of Burlington theatergoers.

WOMAN IS SLAIN, THUG THEN RUNS CAR OVER BODY

Motor Is Used Repeatedly to Crush Victim of Highway Robbery.

Salt Lake City.—The body of Mrs. Frank Moormeister, wife of a Salt Lake physician, was found on a country road near Granger, ten miles from this city. She had been struck on the head and then apparently run over several times with an automobile.

Several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry which Mrs. Moormeister habitually wore had been stolen from her person, Sheriff's officers reported. The woman's automobile was found on a street here later.

A maid in the Moormeister home said Mrs. Moormeister drove away in her car in the afternoon, saying she was to meet a woman, but would return in time for an appointment with a masseur.

Indications of Struggle. An inspection at the scene of the killing led officers to the belief that Mrs. Moormeister and her slayer were returning from Bingham, picturesque canyon mining town near here. The car evidently was traveling at high speed when it turned from the highway into a dirt road where the body was found.

Mrs. Moormeister was slugged with a heavy piece of copper ore, the officers believe, and then was robbed of her jewelry, including two valuable diamonds rings, two diamond bracelets and a diamond-studded wrist

FRANCE PLACES HERRICK ON PAR WITH FRANKLIN

American Ambassador's Life Work Wins Highest Praise of Parisians.

Paris.—Four spontaneous movements among French and Americans to honor the memory of the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland will make the Ohioan diplomat rank with Benjamin Franklin as the most honored diplomat of the United States has ever sent to France.

The first honor was the decision of the city of Paris to name one of its most beautiful avenues Myron Herrick, the only American ambassador or minister, with the exception of Franklin, who has been so honored. There are streets for Presidents Wilson, Washington and Lincoln.

U. S. Creates Medical Board for Air Pilots

Washington.—Occupational diseases and peculiar physical requirements of aviation have compelled the War department to develop a special aviation medicine division of the medical corps to keep army pilots in proper condition. Among the occupational disabilities development by constant flying are staleness, impaired hearing and a condition caused by constant high altitudes in which the body gradually becomes deficient in oxygen.

ing units must be attended. They are required to fly constantly and several are qualified pilots. By regular contact with flyers' disabilities they become able to diagnose symptoms of conditions which would not be cause for alarm except to airmen.

The importance of physical fitness lies in the fact that the human element alone has resisted efforts to make flying safer. War department statistics show that 53 per cent of commercial flying accidents, 63 per cent of army accidents, and 74 per cent of navy flying accidents are due to pilot failures rather than mechanical defects.

Swedish Youth Hailed Mathematical Wizard

Stockholm, Sweden.—A Swedish prodigy, who at twenty-one years of age has received his Ph. D. degree in mathematics, has been discovered in Bengt Stroengren, of Lund, now attached to the department of mathematical-natural science at the University of Copenhagen.

It is told that when the Danish Greenland explorer, Peter Freuchen, once visited Prof. Elis Stroengren for the solving of an intricate astronomical problem, he was referred to the son. Freuchen is said to have become enraged when he was introduced to the seventeen-year-old lad, feeling that a bad joke was being played on him, but his anger soon vanished as young Bengt in a swift and clear manner unraveled the problem.

REMODEL HOME FOR G. O. P. CLUB

Historic Mansion in Washington Will Be Made Headquarters.

Washington.—When women Republican leaders come to Washington this summer they can make themselves at home in a nice new Republican club house.

The National Republican club has just bought a $500,000 piece of property half a dozen blocks from the White House, which it will remodel and occupy as a club.

This is a handsome residence property, built of white brick and looking out on Scott circle at Sixteenth street. It is within half a dozen blocks of Secretary Mellon's apartment and Speaker Longworth's house, in the opposite direction from the White House. It is between forty and fifty years old, was built as the home of a wealthy Washingtonian of the past generation, and since has had various vicissitudes.

Used by Japanese.
For the last several years Japanese embroidered panels have hung on its walls. Japanese screens have decorated its spacious rooms, and Japanese government business has been transacted there. During that period it has been occupied as the chancery of the Japanese embassy in Washington, which means the office end of the ambassador's headquarters. Now the Japanese have bought property of their own and are to build a fine new embassy near the new British embassy on Massachusetts avenue.

Before the Japanese occupied the building, World war veterans lived there. A beautiful American woman who had married a foreign prince started a string of service men's clubs during the war and acquired this house as her Washington branch. Trouble developed, the clubs broke up, and the beautiful princess lost her Washington headquarters.

To Be Remodeled.
Inside the rooms are large and high ceiled, with reception or drawing rooms on the main floor.

The Republicans will remodel the interior, tearing out partitions so there will be one very large room where receptions or party meetings can be held. The Republican committee of the District of Columbia and the Republican national and state and congressional committees will be particularly at home there.

Representatives Edith Nourse Rogers (Rep., Mass.), and Ruth Baker Pratt (Rep., N. Y.), and Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, former vice chairman of the Republican national committee, are the only women on its board of governors. The Democrats have no similar organizations here, but the Women's National Democratic club owns and occupies a finer and larger house about four blocks distant.

First Floridian Fought Tigers, Ate Muskrats

Sarasota, Fla.—Science slowly is filling in the details of the picture of what is believed to be the first American, a primitive man whose diet consisted chiefly of round-tail muskrats and the marrow of bones. Evidence found by the Holmes-Moore expedition here indicates the man lived approximately 25,000 years ago and ranged the banks of Florida's freshwater creeks prepared to spear fish, or battle the sabretoothed tiger.

J. E. Moore and Prof. W. W. Holmes, scientists, further believe they have found the great pasture lands of the mammoth and the mastodon, which apparently occupied Florida in the Pleistocene age.

Moore has discovered the skull and a large portion of the remains of the first American on a small palm and oak hummock, thirteen miles from here. He was a meat eater, particularly fond of muskrat and otter, and occasionally devouring turtles and snakes. Bone marrow, according to the scientists, was the greatest delicacy. In the vicinity of the skull they found bones which had been broken open and the marrow sucked out. Moore pictures the first American as a courageous individual who hunted the mammoth and mastodon, and occasionally killed them.

Friend Given Million, Relatives Get $7 Each

San Francisco.—"To seven relatives, $7; to one friend, $1,000,000." Thus read the will of Mrs. Mary Hickman, widow of Louis M. Hickman, "covered wagon" pioneer of California. The beneficiary is A. B. Costigan, of San Rafael, friend of Mrs. Hickman since his boyhood and her financial adviser until her death. Relatives have served notice that they will contest.

Too Fat to Vote; Sticks in Machine

Geneva, N. Y.—Voting machines are no good for fat men. Geneva police recently found out. In a recent election a machine was used. The machine, not at all popular, was used by a man weighing 400 pounds. He got in, but couldn't get out until police wrecked the machine. The voting was continued next day by the ballot system.

One-Legged Burglar Gives Sleuths Chase

New York.—A one-legged seventeen-year-old boy gave detectives a merry chase around the Pennsylvania station. A bullet from one of the officers' guns "wounded" the youth in his good leg and he was captured. Police say he and a confederate had robbed a drug store at the station.

GYPSY TRICKS OLD MAN OUT OF $2,000

Uses Clever Variation of Old Switch Game.

New York.—A variation of the old game of trading bad money for good popped into the Harlem police records recently. The victim, James Barry, sixty-five years old, a night watchman had let a gypsy woman sew his savings, some $2,000, inside his shirt along with a charm that was to cure his eye trouble. After four days of the treatment Barry felt it was about time to change his shirt. He knew that his eyes were as bad as ever, and he discovered that his money was a whole lot worse.

Barry went to the gypsy's home, but found that she and the $2,000 had moved away. Then he told the police. He was walking home one day, rubbing his aching eyes, when the gypsy hailed him from a doorway. She remarked that he looked badly and asked after his health. Barry told her about his eye troubles. She said she had a charm that would cure him. He wouldn't have to pay her a cent until it did, and then he could offer her what he liked.

To make the charm work properly, however, all of Barry's money must be tied up with it and sewn into his shirt. That was the way the gypsy's family had always done with the charm through the many generations whose ill it had cured. The idea seemed plausible enough, so Barry went to his bank and drew out his $2,000, the savings of a lifetime. He thought he saw the woman put his money in the little packet she sewed to his shirt, but he later discovered that it had been something else.

Magnifying Glass at Meals! Wife Asks Writ

Chicago.—It seems there was a Scotchman—
And he had a wife. And she got angry because the Scotchman was Scotch and acted like it; so she got an attorney named Victor Frolich to sue for divorce.

The wife's name is Helen Grace Johnson, and the Scotchman's name is Arthur. Mrs. Johnson alleged: Her husband would not let her use a vacuum cleaner on the rugs because it was too severe on them. He made her use a broom, which caused her back grievous anguish.

He bought all the food—frugally. He forced her to wear magnifying glasses at the table so the food would look like more.

(Interjection by Judge Harry A. Lewis—Oh, come now, there is a limit to credulity.)

(Mrs. Johnson—I am under oath and I'll swear to it.)

He had one alarm clock which had to do for his family and his parents downstairs. After it rang in the morning, the wife was forced to reset it and take it downstairs.

Anyway, the Scotchman named Arthur contested the divorce until he found out how much it would cost to fight the case. He said she could have the divorce—
Unless, of course, there was all-mony.

There wasn't.

Gangster Slain; Trapped Gunman Then Kills Self

New York.—Gangsters armed with submachine and sawed off shotguns put Frankie Dunn, former Hoboken millionaire beer king, "on the spot" less than a block and a half from Hoboken's city hall.

One of them, cornered by the police, committed suicide rather than be captured. Two others fled in a stolen car after wounding a patrolman. Their machine careened along a main street through the crowds and knocked down three children.

Dunn, who recently announced his "reformation," was shot twice and died a few hours later. Patrolman John O'Toole had three fingers of his left hand shot off in a battle with the gangsters.

An automobile license found in the pocket of the dead gangster was made out in the name of Frank Kelly of Hoboken. A short time after the battle two men in a coupe similar to that in which the fleeing gunmen escaped were captured in Jersey City. They said they were Frank Lorenzo and Alfred Orlando.

Hangman's Rope Used to Chase Evil Spirits

Paris.—For years a small piece of hangman's rope has been the talisman with which Simora Mercedes has warded off sickness, bad luck, and other ills. Now she has lost the bit of hemp, which is regarded all over Europe as a very potent charm, and although she has offered a reward of 1,000 francs for another such piece she has been unable to find one.

UNCLAIMED U. S. FORTUNES ARE LURE OF EUROPEANS

Stories of Those Who Died Here Intestate Are Eagerly Read Abroad.

New York.—Extravagant stories of fortunes made in America have led many families in Europe to search their memories for relatives who emigrated to the New world. New papers are now closely scanned for the names of those who have died leaving unclaimed fortunes. Before the war the families may or may not have been glad to hear from their American kin, but today they are eager to exploit any possibility that a relative, dying intestate, left a fortune.

The post-war idea of organization has come to their assistance. In Bucharest a syndicate has just been formed for the purpose of tracing the heirs to unclaimed American fortunes. The syndicate in seeking publicity expects to receive information from Rumanian families who suspect that their American kin died in affluent circumstances without remembering to make a will.

Even before the war, however, European imaginations were fired by reports of colossal unclaimed fortunes in America. Perhaps the most romantic of these is the Horowitz fortune in San Francisco, which, since the death of Bishop Horowitz in 1888 has, it is said, increased to millions of dollars and still awaits its legitimate claimant. When news of the Horowitz fortune reached Europe all bearers of that name formed themselves into Horowitz syndicates in those countries where bearers of the family name resided.

Another unclaimed fortune of millions still agitates all bearers of the name of Bernstein. Bernstein was likewise a poor boy who emigrated to the United States in the '70s and died leaving no heirs.

Explorers Now Direct Efforts Underground

Cobleskill, N. Y.—With the last frontier pushed into the Pacific exploration in America takes a new direction—downward. The same romantic urge that once lured men into the western wilderness manifests itself today in the current fever for exploring subterranean passages, of which the lat est to excite interest is the eerily beautiful Howe caverns near here. "But exploration today is exploration for treasure," Harry Edward Freund of Chicago, director of the American research foundation, stated following a visit to the caves. A bulletin issued by the foundation cites the hazards endured in dim torch-lit galleries by early explorers of the place, then continues:

"Howe caverns, in Schoharie county, are little known to tourists, having been off the beaten motor paths until recently. Completion of a mile-long stretch of road between the caverns lodge and State Route 7, main highway between Albany and Binghamton, has resulted in placing the caverns on one of America's great thoroughfares.

"Exploration undertaken in connection with the reopening revealed untapped miles of formations unearthly in loveliness and led geologists to rank the caverns as a twin wonder to Niagara falls, in upstate New York.

Find Indian Tomahawk in Walls of Old Manse

Newfields, N. H.—Imbedded in the partition of the Milton manse, erected by Col. Winthrop Hilton, grandson of Edward Hilton, the first white settler in New Hampshire about 1700, has been found an Indian tomahawk. This was discovered by Thomas Hehily, an electrician engaged in wiring the manse, which was purchased in 1929 by Elizabeth Belle Battles of Philadelphia, who was the first grantee of the old estate which was originally granted by Charles I, king of England.

The tomahawk, although not of stone or flint, is said by historical authorities to have probably been originally the property of the Indians, the material being of iron, which they doubtless obtained from the early French settlers in this country.

In the walls of the old house was also found a tin tea pot and coffee pot, the bottom being of copper.

KNUTE ROCKNE IS SLATED FOR RAISE

Salary May Be Increased in Fall to $20,000.

Knute Rockne, who, he admits needs only a few more years before he will be able to retire in comfortable circumstances, is due for a raise in salary this fall, according to comment among prominent Notre Dame alumni.

Rockne has been a patroller in cashing in on the by-products of football coaching, but he has never received a salary in proportion to his worth.

Yielding to pressure and influential alumni, the authorities of Notre Dame university are expected to announce sometime before next fall that Rock's salary has been increased $5,000, or perhaps doubled to $20,000.

The amount of Rockne's present salary was revealed in a unique manner at the close of the season last fall. A story got out into the newspapers that Rockne was receiving a percentage of the gate receipts. In his prompt denial Rockne said: "I don't get a cent of the football receipts. All I get from Notre Dame for coaching its football team is a salary of $10,000 a year."

The most artistic faking done in any sport has been delivered in wrestling.

Few boxing bouts that were ever framed went off without the look of suspicion.

In other sports it is equally difficult to fake and "make it look right."

Wrestling differs. Someone said years ago, "The only interesting wrestling bouts are the crooked ones. The dullest sight in sport is a wrestling match conducted on the level."

Wrestlers (at least some of them) have boasted that they could fake a match so cleverly that no one, including promoter and managers, would be aware of the dishonesty.

However, there is one way in which the genuine can be told from the fake and that is in the grip. Any experienced wrestling referee will be able to distinguish a genuine match by the way the two wrestlers grip. They grip lightly when faking.

Mississippi college's football games for next fall include a contest with the University of Mexico at Jackson, Miss., on November 8 and a trip to Hamilton, N. Y., on November 1, for a battle with Colgate.

"Here, here!" said the golf bug to his small son, who was studiously ignoring the spinach on his plate. "Get back on the green."

The few 1929 all-American players we can still recall are, strangely enough, those whose presence on the team was wondered at.

Gunmen are going out of business, so far as the Michigan High School Athletic association is concerned. The association has issued an order for high schools conducting state tournaments to abolish use of the gun in stopping basketball games. Failure of the gun to fire has caused many arguments in past tournament games and to avoid these unpleasant aftermaths, a hand operated automobile horn is to supplant the firearm.

Forward: Adjective, meaning pushing, aggressive, etc. Also a noun, signifying a hockey player with the qualities mentioned.

University of Iowa's new stadium, constructed at a cost of $500,000, is 20 feet below the level of the surrounding terrain.

The United States naval academy has filled all dates formerly held by the United States military academy on its athletic calendar for this season. For May 31, which is known as the athletic day of June week, the following schedule has been arranged: Baseball, Ohio State; Lacrosse, University of Maryland; field and track, Notre Dame; tennis, Pennsylvania. A football game with George Washington university of Washington, D. C., has been arranged for November 29, and one with the University of Pennsylvania to be played in Philadelphia, December 6.

They say some of the baseball recruits coming up nowadays are so weak on fundamentals the manager has to cut up their planked steak.

Bill Breckenridge, a right-handed recruit pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics last year, has resigned. The former Dartmouth ace, who is now studying law at Oklahoma university, wrote to Connie Mack that he was quitting baseball at the request of his father, a judge in Tulsa, for the bar. Mack had expected to send him to a minor league for experience.

Breckenridge found a year with the champions quite profitable. He was given $5,000 as a bonus for signing a contract, $5,000 for salary and slightly more than $5,000 as his share of world series money. He turned in something like six or eight innings of big league pitching and a few innings of exhibition work.

Art Cusinier, brother of the famous "Bo," is a guard on the Wisconsin freshman basketball team. This team also includes another potential "Stretch" Murphy in John Surquist, who stands a mere 6 feet 6 inches tall, while more than a dozen of the 20 survivors on the squad stand around 6 feet 3 inches.

Albie Booth Thrives on Baseball

HARD work seems to agree with Albie Booth of Yale. The mighty little warrior of the gridiron has served his days in football and basketball, but his activity will not end until the scholastic year is finished. He started baseball, his third sport, and by so doing let himself in for a continuous athletic program which started back on September 15 and will run until June 21. That means more than eight months of continuous competition.

In spite of the long stretch over which he has been competing he is stronger, healthier and heavier. Albie has learned a lot of things in his first year as a varsity athlete and as a sophomore, and not the least important one of these is how to eat. Albie is working his way through college partially by waiting on tables at the "Y" club. There is plenty of hash for the one who stings the hash, and a net gain of between fifteen and twenty pounds since the football days is the result.

An Albie Booth with a tonnage of merely 137 or 144 pounds, as his weight was listed in football, was not bad enough to the opposition last fall; what will opponents do when he carries 130 pounds or so? The good little man may become a good big man in no time. Such weight would put Booth out of the midweight class. The more important question for Yale is whether Booth at 160 pounds will be the whirling, dodging, elusive star he was when he was in the 130s. His extra weight did not slow him up the least bit in basketball. Yale appears to have no ground for worrying about its heavier Albie Booth.

Albie Booth.

One peculiar part of the baseball situation this year is that it is the first time at Yale that Booth has not had to go out and battle through the first part of the season before having his superiority recognized. Mal Stevens was often quoted as saying that Booth was not Yale's best back and every one knows how Booth was "just a back" during the first couple of games—until he showed he could handle the pickin in a manner that delighted the spectators.

In basketball the same thing happened. Booth had trouble in making a place on the team. The many available veterans attracted the eye of Elmer Ripley, the coach, and Booth was a substitute—but only for a while. When he finally came into his own, Ripley paid him the high compliment of calling him the greatest competitor he ever saw play basketball.

In baseball it is different. Joe Wood has seen Booth play ball. He watched him carefully during his freshman year and Freshman Coach Clyde Engle told him what he didn't find out for himself. Booth's baseball reputation means something to Wood, and Booth therefore finds himself already assigned to a regular berth at shortstop.

Carnera. And "Joe Hoag," a bit of a fight fan, doesn't like it as well as "Shanty" or "El Grandote."

The California state athletic commission report covering athletic activities in 1929 shows that Lou Daro, Los Angeles wrestling promoter, grossed $325,553 in staging matches last year.

Appointment of Richard "Red" Smith as baseball coach of Georgetown university, has been announced by university officials. Smith graduated from Notre Dame in 1927, after playing three years of varsity baseball and football. He was with the New York Giants for a year as catcher, later going to Montreal in the International league and spending last year with the Boston Braves.

Lou Little is already becoming a familiar figure at Columbia.

The other day, after football practice, Little and Ralph Furey, freshman coach, joined a "pickup" basketball game in the gymnasium. In a few minutes the football coach was putting. Suddenly a freshman on the same side shouted, "Get a move on, big boy, that guy's scoring too many baskets through you!"

With a snarl the $18,000-a-year grid iron inventor replied, "Okay, cap, let's go!" and proceeded to comply.

Phillies Look Good

Better hitting and better pitching will put the Phils in the first division of the National league race this year. In the opinion of Manager Burt Shotton.

He picks Alexander to win a game a week and sees better hurling from the younger pitchers who didn't have the experience last year.

Hurst, he believes, will hit up with O'Boul and Klein, and Sigman, a 1929 recruit, may be one of the leaders.

The Phils' infield is settled with Hurst at first, Thompson at second, Thevenow at short, and Whitney at third.

Freight Conductor Made Coach at Naval Academy

Granted a six-months' leave of absence, Freight Conductor E. F. "Kid" Mohler of the Los Angeles division of the Southern Pacific railroad, has gone east again to coach the United States Naval academy baseball team for the second year.

Before becoming a railroad man, Mohler was a star in the Pacific Coast league, performing with the Oakland champions of 1902 and later as playing manager of the San Francisco Seals. Old fans remember him as the pivot man of Oakland's famed double-play combination of Franks-to-Mohler-to-Streib. Mohler's similarity with the Southern Pacific dates from 1920, but prior to that he worked for the railroad intermittently from the time of his retirement from baseball in 1912. His friends say he railroads like he used to play baseball—with everything he has.

Red Sox Get Promising Recruit in Odd Manner

Tom Oliver, who has a good chance to hold down the regular center field berth with the Red Sox, came to the club in a roundabout way. Last year he was a sensation with Little Rock of the Southern league and big league scouts came bidding for him, including President Bob Quinn's representative.

Little Rock raised the price and all the scouts moved out, leaving him eligible for the draft, and Connie Mack took him. In January Mack decided he didn't need another outfielder and asked waivers on him so he could be sent back to Little Rock.

At this point Quinn stepped in again and got him at the waiver price, decidedly cheap.

Beards in History

Evidence as to any possible relation between beards and national or racial power is conflicting. The Greeks loved beards. The Romans did not. "Barbarian" suggests the bearded; the wild, shaggy, unkempt, violent, reckless. The greatest beard celebrated in history was that of Johann Mavo "John, the Bearded," a painter in Germany, whose beard fell to the ground, except, when, as he usually did, he tucked it in his girdle.—Boston Herald.

Forestry in Europe

France took up forestry only when the destruction of most of her forests was followed by heavy floods and the washing away of her hillsides. Need for wood, says the American Tree association, first caused the Germans to think of forestry, for there, where winters are long and severe, fuel wood is almost as much a necessity as food itself.

A business meeting will be held on Thursday evening, April 10th, at 8 o'clock in the St. Joseph's hall. All members are urged to attend. Court Trinity of Westfield invited members of Court Fidelis to hear Father Murray of the Paulists give a talk on "How to Get the Most Out of Life", on Monday evening, April 7th, at 8 o'clock in Holy Trinity hall, Westfield. It would certainly be worth the trip from Carteret to hear him.

Thorn Presides at Boy Scout Session (Continued from page 1) Raritan Council and are held every two months in the various communities of the Raritan Council. The last conference was held in Carteret in February and the June meeting will be in the form of a Scoutleader's dinner in Perth Amboy. It's under the leadership of this group of over 70 scoutmasters and assistants that the present high standards of the Raritan Council are being maintained. The Boy Scout program is reaching a larger number of boys than ever before because of its unusual appeal in its carefully prepared and tested program. The Raritan Council, Boy Scouts of America, have also received high commendation from Regional Scout leadership training committee of the Executive Gilbert H. Gendall who is in charge of Scouting in New York and New Jersey. Mr. Gendall made this personal statement in a meeting of the Executive Board of the Raritan Council, held recently in Perth Amboy. Mr. Gendall complimented the members of the Executive Board for the splendid showing the Raritan Council had made for 1929 stating that the majority of Councils in this region had had very little net increase in membership, the Raritan Council was very much above the average. He also expressed his confidence in the Executive Board and his happiness in the present healthy condition of Scouting in the area under the jurisdiction of the Raritan Council. The Executive Board meeting which was presided over by Howard W. Thorn, President of the Raritan Council was the regular monthly meeting of this Executive Branch of Scouting and was largely attended by representative men including besides the President, John E. Bernard, Harold L. Hall, E. J. McCormick, Henry McCullough, Dr. C. W. Naulty and William H. Pullen of Perth Amboy; Ray C. Tyrell, Woodbridge; Frederic H. Deik, Keasbey, Dr. H. L. Stranberg, Carteret; Marshall E. Magee, South Amboy and L. L. Russell, Parlin. Routine business was transacted at the meeting including reports from Henry McCullough who is General Chairman of the 1930 Membership and Financial Campaign, and Dr. Charles W. Naulty, who is the Sea Scout Commodore of the Raritan Council.

Wife Sore as Hubby Returns 13th Time Elizabeth, N. J.—It wasn't that her husband deserted her 13 times that annoyed Beatrice Karris so much as the fact that he always came back. The husband, Stanley, she told Police Recorder Brown, came back for the 13th time a couple of days ago and raised a row because she wasn't glad to see him. Stanley was held in $300 bond to keep away from his wife.

GROGER WINS IN DEAL WITH CROOK

Kansas City.—May I have a piece of string to tie my bundle? "Certainly," William J. Embree, grocer, told the stranger who asked the question. Work of tying the bundle, which was broken, disclosed a quantity of suit material. "Present for my brother," explained the man. "Just got here from England, looked for my brother, but he's moved." "Too bad," sympathized Embree, turning to wait upon another customer who just had entered. "Ten cents' worth of tea," said this man. "What have you there?" the customer asked the man who had lost his brother. The contents of the package was explained in the broad accent of the Englishman. The customer inspected the cloth wanted to buy it. Offered $130 for it. "I don't like your nationality," the Englishman told the bargainer. "I can't sell to you." The customer took Embree aside, "I'm Goldberg," he said. "Country club plaza tailor. You buy this cloth. It's worth $300. I'll go to my shop and get the money. Give you $25 for making the purchase for me." But Embree had heard Goldberg ask the Englishman, "You're not going to take that back to New York, are you?" Nothing previously had been said about New York. Embree was suspicious. "Nothing doing," he told Goldberg. "I think I'll tell the police about this Englishman." He started for the telephone, his visitors for the door. Goldberg was carrying the tea, the Englishman his bundle. "Dine for the tea," said Embree, dialing for police headquarters. It was tossed onto the counter. The men disappeared as Embree made connections with the police. "It's an old game," he was told. "Couple of confidence men. Cloth was worth probably $40." "O. K. with me," Embree replied. "I made a cent and a half profit on the tea."

Pumps Three Days as Sharks Circle Craft Jacksonville, Fla.—Hero of a strange saga of the sea is Jack Grant, a huge negro employed as one of the crew in a motor cruiser owned by Paul Rice of this city. Grant saved his own life and that of Rice after an explosion disabled the craft far from shore and sprang leaks in the seams of its hull. For three days and nights without a rest Grant pumped and managed to keep the craft afloat until another vessel happened by. Ten minutes after Grant and Rice were rescued their cruiser sank in 200 feet of water. Grant and Rice were knocked unconscious, but water lapping at his face revived the negro, although Rice was seriously injured. Time and again, when it seemed impossible for Grant to continue pumping, he would glance over his shoulder and groan: "Look at dem sharks, boss!" Then the water would flow more freely from the small pump while the manaters continued to circle the craft. Grant was on the point of collapse when the other boat finally reached the spot.

Hot Stove Thrower's Wife Is Given Divorce Chicago.—If you suddenly saw a hot stove come hurtling through the air at you—how would you feel? Mrs. Ethel Huseby, 2901 McVicker avenue, appeared before Judge Robert Gentzell complaining about her husband, Marshall. She married Marshall, a chauffeur for her father's coal, wood and ice company, on March, 1926. They lived happily until October 5, 1929, when Marshall developed this stove mania. "And he threw this stove—a hot one—right at my client," recited Attorney Irving Eisenman. Judge Gentzell pondered. Then— He granted the divorce and directed Marshall to pay $15 a week alimony for the support of his wife, and a daughter, Ethel, aged three.

RAY LYONS IS A CANDIDATE FOR SENATE NOMINATION

Confirming stories that have been current for some time, C. Raymond Lyons, counselor-at-law in New Brunswick, today announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator.

Mr. Lyons, who served in the Marine Corps during the world war, is a former Assemblyman, having served three terms at Trenton, in 1920, 1921 and 1922.

Mr. Lyons has had a wide experience in various lines, having once been a cub reporter on local newspapers, and having gained an extensive knowledge of business and of public affairs generally.

There is no use discussing now conditions in the party, at least from the angle of placing responsibility and blame for those conditions.

Some things I don't want to discuss now. Perhaps I will talk about them later. What I want is to take this opportunity to say that the great body of citizens in this county still believe fervently in Republican principles and in Republican ideals of local, state and national government, and want a chance to fight for them.

Citizens who would like to hear something from public leaders about principles of government, even about political principles, usually hear nothing but a discussion about who should get the jobs and why and at whose dictation.

My friends are aggressive and are determined to make a real fight to restore the confidence of the citizens in the Republican party and to give the rank and file of the party something they think is worth fighting for.

There is a lot of feeling in the state that the Utility Commission is not always as sympathetic with the rights of citizens in the various municipalities as it ought to be, but shows an apparent willingness to let some of the public utilities become profitable at the expense of the municipalities.

There is no doubt that the method of appointing those Utility Commissioners has something to do with that feeling. It would do something to restore confidence in the Utility Commission if its members were elected by the citizens of the state, and so were more directly responsible to the voters.

There has been much talk of the dangerous increase in tax burdens. Plans to investigate scientifically and to learn how those tax increases may be curbed have been suggested, but nothing has developed which even promises an attempt at relief.

Every day something new is disclosed indicating the importance of this question. So nothing must be done if the property of the citizens is not to be confiscated by the tax collector, and if business is to be permitted to function in a natural and healthy way.

The business men of the community need to have more money in circulation. In order to have more money we must have more wages. In order to have more wages we must have more work.

The theory on which many of them seem to be working is that public funds will hold out long enough for them to get theirs, anyway.

There are other pressing problems. I will not discuss them now. This is a fight which is a fight within the Republican party. I am asking votes of those who I will wage an aggressive fight for Republican party principles.

Unique Welcome Arch Is Formed of Whale Jaws

Colliester, Wash.—A strange welcome arch has been erected here. Automobile tourists entering the town pass through a gateway made of two enormous jaw bones of a whale.

The bones are about fourteen feet long, each having large heavy bases, tapering to five or six inches at the apex, and were found near an abandoned whaling station at Bayside.

PARROT ALMOST RUNS QUARANTINE

Poses as Cat, but Makes Unfortunate Slip.

New York.—A hundred and sixty parrots from Nicaragua expended all the riches of their limited vocabularies here when they were ordered by the public health officials to spend thirty days at Hoffman's island under observation for signs of parrot fever.

One bird, more talented than the others, almost got ashore by posing as a kitten, but at the last moment betrayed himself by directing an uncomplimentary epithet at one of the ship's officers.

All the birds came in on the Colombia of the Panama Mail line, which arrived from San Francisco after stopping at Central American ports to collect the parrots, seven macaws, two toucans and fifty ring-tailed monkeys.

Mrs. Margaret Daly, a stewardess, also had a parrot and she wanted badly to get in the city. She knew that it would be suspected of carrying psittacosis, but she was morally certain the bird was well.

"What's in the cage?" asked a customs agent. "A kitten," she said. "Meow!" said the parrot in confirmation. "Meoweeow!"

Then through a chink it caught sight of a ship's officer. "Hello, you—!" it joyfully remarked. "What kind of a kitten is that, any way?" said the inspector.

He tore off the cloth around the cage. "Hoffman's island for you, fellow," he said. "Meow," said the parrot.

There was considerable debate between Inspector James Duffy and Deputy Surveyor of Customs John Taylor as to the status of the seven macaws and the two toucans.

Walls of Water Will Protect Gotham Vault

New York.—Walls of water through which crackmen in time of peace or enemies in time of war could only penetrate by the use of submarine apparatus will surround the great vault of the Irving Trust company at its new headquarters at 1 Wall street.

This remarkable protective feature will be supplemental to an elaborate system of mechanical, chemical, and electrical safeguards in the second largest vault in the city and the third largest in the world.

Preparations are now well advanced for the installation of the three-story vault. It will rest on foundations cut into solid rock and will occupy almost the entire block front along Wall street, between Broadway and New street, with a depth from front to rear of 40 feet.

The bottom of the vault will be 80 feet below Broadway, well below sea level. It is this feature that made possible the water wall, regarded as the last word in vault protection.

Consensus Shows Portuguese Women Are in Majority

Lisbon.—The latest census of the Portuguese population shows that there are 321,355 more women than men in Portugal. The excess of female over male population has been a regular feature of Portuguese vital statistics, with the preponderance increasing not only as the normal population growth increased the difference in absolute numbers, but also increasing in proportion to the relative numbers of the two sexes.

French Woman Has Slept 100 Years in Same House

Saint Omer.—Mme. Constantine Becu, widow for 60 years, celebrated her centenary several days ago with a wine party to which she invited her neighbors. Madame Becu has an unusual record, having been born in the house in which she now lives. In 100 years she has never slept outside of that house one time.

Hears It's Triplets; Pa Takes a Holiday

Knoxville, Tenn.—"It's a girl!" Manning M. Stinnett, blacksmith, heard the words at his shop near Townsend, Tenn., and started for home. On the way another runner met him and announced: "It's two girls!" Stinnett quickened his steps and went home a third messenger or greeted him with: "It's two girls and a boy!" Stinnett then broke into a run and verified the report of triplets, four pounds each. Stinnett knocked off work for the rest of the day.

Sacred Chinese Temple Taken Over by Bandits

Mount Lushan, one of the twelve sacred mountains of China, famed alike for the piety of its monks and for the beauty of its scenery, has been entirely pre-empted by bandits. The once sacred grottoes, formerly given over to the contemplation of immense carved images of Buddha, or to the rites of Taoist priests, are now used as prisons.

Old English Custom of Wassailing Apple Trees

During the month of January, Somerset (England) farmers participate in the time-honored custom of "wassailing" the apple trees so as to insure a bumper apple crop. The ceremony takes place at night by the flickering and uncertain light of a lantern. The villagers gather in each orchard in turn, round the largest apple trees they can find. A bucket of elder ac companies them, in which a small piece or toast is dipped and placed in the branches. Then an old chant is sung, starting: "Old apple-tree, old apple-tree, we've come to wassail thee." This song concludes with an exhortation to the tree to:

grow apples enow; Hops full, caps full, three bushel bags full.

Then guns are fired and the villagers drink the health of the trees in cider. It is a quaint custom, and has been kept up for centuries.

Head of French Auto Club Pays Two Fines

Angouleme, France.—M. Franchomme, president of the Automobile Club of the North and known as the father of French road legislation, was the victim of his own brain child recently when he was fined for falling to rest his horn at a crossing, and secondly falling to stop when the policeman sounded his whistle. He paid his fines.

Fertile Nile Valley

The waters of the Nile, which attain their greatest height in September, commence to recede in October, leaving behind them a rich, fertile soil, which first appears in the form of islands. To these the sunny Egyptians row out at the earliest possible moment to plant melon-seeds, so that the melon-plants may mature, and fruit ripen, before the waters begin to rise again in June. One of the commonest sights in Egypt in the spring is a long string of camels roped nose-to-tail, and led by a small boy; each animal bearing on its back a huge netful of round green water-melons.

Heart Kept Busy

The human heart pumps over 2,000,000 times in the average lifetime. It accomplishes almost 150,000 foot-pounds of work a day, which is equivalent to raising one ton a height of 75 feet.

WRITES NAME ON ROLL OF HONOR

Orval Martin Wins Much Glory for Purdue.

Not alone through its championship football and basketball teams has Purdue won glory in the Big Ten during the record breaking season, 1929-'30. The Boilermakers boast another champion in Orval Martin, long distance runner extraordinary, whose latest feat was the winning of mile and half mile events in the same night at the conference indoor meet at the University of Minnesota.

The records show that in five meets in which he has competed since he began his career as an intercollegiate athlete at Purdue, Martin has won seven Big Ten championships. This was made possible by doubling up in the mile and half mile runs as he did at Minneapolis. At the 1929 outdoor meet at Northwestern last June he won both these events. He also won the Individual Big Ten cross country championship in the annual meet at Ohio State last fall.

The ideal height of a heavyweight fighter is six feet or an inch or so taller.

There have been shorter ones and taller ones but they were exceptions. There is also an ideal height for pitchers. Nearly all of the great stars you may mention were six footers.

In fact six feet is more important to a baseball pitcher than a heavy-weight fighter. A pitcher who can throw them down-grade will have more speed than one who must make them go straight ahead.

For that reason scouts are always looking at the big boys and passing up those who are under five feet eleven.

Cornell and Princeton have met on the football field 20 times since the rivalry began in 1891, with the former being victorious on only four occasions.

Four pitchers managed to win 20 or more games in the major leagues last season. They were Pat Malone of the Cubs, Bob Grove and George Earnshaw of the Athletics and Wesley Farrell of the Indians.

Most of the players who will captain major football teams this year are centers. The best three centers of the East in 1929—Tieknor of Harvard, Siano of Fordham and Andres of Dartmouth, are among the football captains of 1930.

Tieknor of Harvard was almost a unanimous choice for All-American center last year but give Andres the same opportunities and he probably would excel Tieknor. The Harvard system calls for a roving center, and a roving center has a vast advantage over the stationary type of pivot man such as Andres.

"Gubby" Street, new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, suggests an additional column for the baseball box scores as food for thought in the hot stove league.

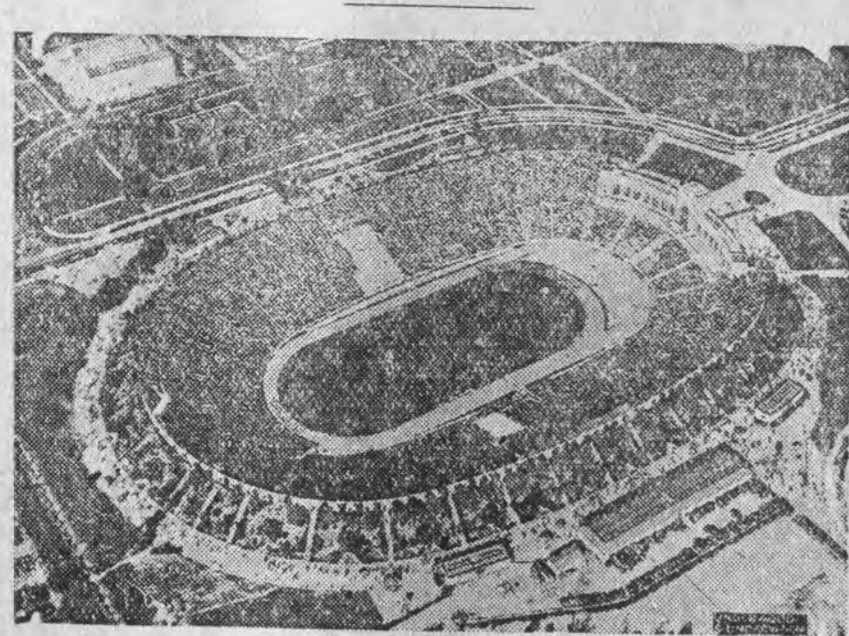

"The box scores omit a very important column," says Street, "and that is the EI column—errors of judgment.

"Manned errors we expect—everybody makes them. But the real errors are those of judgment, like throwing to the wrong base, stealing when the next bag is occupied, being picked off a base through carelessness, trying to steal home with the bases filled, nobody out and your best hitter at bat.

"This type of errors ought to be charged up like manual errors."

Lester Patrick, the Connie Mack of the ice hockey game, believes the baseball magnates are too set in their ways. He suggests a few new arrangements in the national game to make it more profitable.

NEED SOMETHING BESIDES HITTING

Figures Show Big Punch Doesn't Win Flag.

Base hits, especially home runs, may be as decisive as any factor in modern big league baseball, but the National league averages for 1929 reveal conclusively that something besides the big punch is needed to win pennants or even get into the first division.

The Phillies led the circuit in hitting last season with the remarkable average of .309, seven points better than either Pittsburgh or Chicago, but the Phils finished no better than fifth.

Only four pitchers in the American league in 1929 held opposing teams to a batting average of .250 or less. They were George Earnshaw, Edward Wells, Fred Marberry and George (Rube) Walberg.

When you add walks to hits and divide the total by times at bat plus walks, you discover that the leading pitcher in the league last year was the giant Marberry.

Gene Tunney, an extremely conscientious, methodical, painstaking boxer, admits that he has fouled opponents and been fouled by them. He says that "every boxer is fouled."

Practically every bout sees fouls committed. That does not justify claims of fouls. Few are intentional.

A real boxer accepts fouls in a spirit of give and take, knowing that in the hurry-burry of battle all sorts of accidents can make for foul blows.

Only the weak sisters seek sanctuary behind a claim of foul except when inequitated.

Bill Roper, Princeton's coach, felt so bad that his team was beaten by Chicago last fall that he said he was going to quit coaching.

Roper attributes the defeats of his team last fall to the fact that the preceding spring he held no spring practice, letting his men go in for neck, baseball and the other spring sports.

Roper was so impressed with the boy's play that he has been devoting his daily training him and will enter him in the most important tournaments with him.

Young Etienne has played tennis for six years.

In 1930 Navy will play both Ohio State and Notre Dame in the West, two games in Philadelphia and two in Baltimore.

"Keep your eyes on the White Sox. They are the dark horse of the American league race." That is the opinion of Connie Mack, while making an interesting observation on the circuit over which he holds sway for the first time in fifteen years.

"Don't misunderstand me," said the veteran of every American league race, "I am not picking them to finish first or even second. But under Donnie Bush the White Sox are bound to be the most improved ball club in our circuit. They are likely to have a lot to say before September rolls around."

Pick Charlie Root to Repeat

LAST spring before the 1929 pennant fight began a lot of the wise ones of baseball were saying that if Charlie Root only could "come back" the Cubs would win the flag.

Root was an iron man in 1927 when the Cubs wore out in front in late August but collapsed at the finish. Root collapsed along with the whole team after having done about time and a half on the mound all summer.

Root is essentially a fast ball pitcher. He has a lot of speed. Maybe his curve isn't wonderful, but it's useful. He seldom does anything with a slow ball.

COUGHLIN VOTED OUT AS DISTRICT CLERK

protested against the appointment stating that an architect was taking care of the construction work and it was a needless procedure to hire an inspector. Commissioner Mittuch said that the old Board spent money lavishly and he saw no reason why anyone should object to the inspector.

"If we go over the books of the old board, we will find that a lot of unnecessary money was spent on inspectors," said Bradford.

Bishop defended Cohen, saying that he was a war veteran. As the president sought to end the discussion on the subject, he recalled to Heil, that he had on previous occasions refused him further time to talk on various subjects.

The appointment was carried with the Republican majority vote. The minority voted no.

The board, following a lengthy discussion voted to change the plans for the Nathan Hale school, so that a combination auditorium and gymnasium be included, at an additional cost of $1,450. This was approved by all members of the board. The contractor furnished an estimate of $14,500 for two additional class rooms at that school, but President Bishop and the majority did not favor the proposition, explaining that the cost would bring about a deficit over the appropriations. Heil, Conrad, Jeffries and Coughlin were in favor of the additional class rooms. The attorney was directed to advertise the school bond issue, bids to be received at the next regular meeting.

President Bishop appointed the following standing committees: The Teachers' committee, Mittuch, Bradford, Welblund; finance, Mittuch, Yuronka, Conrad; repairs and supplies, Welblund, Yuronka and Bradford; janitors and grounds, Bradford, Yuronka and Conrad; course of study and commencement, Bradford, Yuronka and Jeffries.

Athletic committee, Welblund, Bradford, Yuronka; law, Mittuch, Welblund, Heil; transportation, Yuronka, Welblund, Jeffries; text books and supplies, Bradford, Welblund, Mittuch; printing and stationery, Yuronka, Bradford and Coughlin.

Applications were received from Joseph Comba for playground instructor; William Kovalchick, of 746 Roosevelt avenue for assistant janitor; Genevieve McMahon, Elizabeth; Josephine Megaro, Newark; Florence Brown, 74 Roosevelt avenue, and Thomas J. Limoli, Iselin, for positions as teachers.

The March enrollment report of Miss E. V. Hermann, supervising principal shows the following enrollment, boys, 1368; girls, 1284; total 2652; continuation classes, boys, 45 girls, 75; total 119. Reports of Truant Officer Kurt Grohman and Nurse Elizabeth C. Fezza were also read and filed.

Miss A. D. Scott, principal of the high school, in a communication to the board advised that during a baseball game recently on the high school athletic field, John Dobrowsky, was accidentally hit with a batted ball, causing both upper and lower lips to be cut. The letter was filed.

Permission was granted to the Harmony Social club to use the high school auditorium for its annual review to be given May 1 and 2. The Slovak Gymnasium Union Sokol was granted the use of the athletic field for the Sokol's annual field day, on August 23. The Social Guild received permission to use the auditorium for the matinee and evening of April 23 for its first annual show.

Words Changed by Time

A "heathen" originally was a dweller on a heath. The early Christians were mostly persons living in cities or walled towns; and the wild, half-savage dwellers of the moorland heaths were among the last to abandon their old gods.

In England the letter "e" was formerly pronounced like "a," and because the village clergyman was usually the most socially prominent individual in the place he became "the parson." We still preserve the old pronunciation and call him the parson.

Grand Little Idiom

"But, dear," said the wife, looking over the plans for their new home, "what's the idea of these two bath rooms next to each other?" "That," he said grimly, "is something to make married life easier. One will be fixed up any way you want it, the other is mine, and if ever you stick a guest towel in it, or object to my singing in it while I'm taking a shower—well, you may as well start packing up and go home to mother."—ChicAGO Evening Post.

ARREST OF GIRL FOILS ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL

Plot to Smuggle Saws to Three Male Prisoners Nipped in Bud.

Akron, Ohio.—The arrest of Mrs. Jessie Mata, nineteen, a blond, held by police on a charge of being involved in several Akron and Summit county robberies...

Mrs. Mata confessed to implication in several robberies. Detective Chief Ed McDonnell asserted. Her arraignment was for a holdup at an Akron pharmacy...

Fishing Party That Was Balked.

to the grand jury. Plans to have saws smuggled to the men in jail were frustrated recently, according to deputy sheriffs. Mrs. Mata, police said, went to her former home in Moundsville, W. Va. when her companions were caught.

Mrs. Mata grew mirthful as she told of being in a county resort with her male companions when the Summit county vice squad appeared for a raid at a time when the search for the quartet was being pressed, police said. The three men, she said, gave her their pistols to hide and walked from the place at an opportune time.

Deputy Sheriff George Yohey said the man who tried to obtain saws had prepared to lower a string, to which was attached part of a coat hanger as a "sinker," from a jail window.

"We think it was planned for Mrs. Mata to supply the saws and that she was prevented from carrying out her part in the 'fishing party' because of her arrest," he asserted.

Along Union street, they saw a milk wagon driver running—and just ahead of him was a young man also on the run. Yes, he was a dark young man and had a black mustache.

not be in the eyes of the law. She should never have been brought to trial for the crime." The other sister, Virginia Wardlaw was also charged with the murder. She starved herself to death in her jail cell, while awaiting trial. She fed her food to the rats.

Diamonds Stolen

The diamonds were Virginia Wardlaw's. They had been stolen sometime before the murder and the theft had no connection with the slaying. Virginia was the principal of an exclusive school, Soule college. Realizing that her sister, Carolina Martin was demented, Virginia invited her and her daughter, Ocle, to come to live with her at the school.

REAL QUALITY IN ADVERTISING

By CARL L. GIBSON, Vice President Standard Publishing Corporation.

Buying space in a newspaper is not advertising any more than buying a farm is farming. Crops are reaped only when ground is plowed, planted and cultivated.

Art in anything is nothing more than harmony of function plus harmony of taste. We must come to realize that art, in its broadest sense, must be the motivating and vitalizing force behind advertising.

Of what value are ideas unless they can be adequately communicated to others? Isn't that essentially the big job of advertising? That part of art in copy is making copy talk the reader's language.

This thing we call art has come to be a fundamental of business. The modern retail store is the public's treasure house, the place where it goes to find things which will contribute to its desire to lead gracious, alert, well-informed lives.

AGENCIES IN CHILD FOUNDATION

By JAMES E. WEST, Boy Scout Executive.

Education is a co-operative enterprise in which all the agencies in the child's environment are involved. Our progressive schools recognize this common partnership in the training of our youth and lend full co-operation to the constructive special agencies in the school community.

Among the major influences in the life of the child are the home, church, school and the social agencies of the community. The child "belongs" to all these institutions and to himself, and the basis of co-operation is the common objective in the child's fruitful experience as a means of character development and preparation for citizenship.

The schools are dealing with human problems—more vital than subject matter. Visiting teachers are going after the maladjusted child, even to his home environment. Society no longer permits the schools to cover their failures by dismissing the problem child from school.

WOMEN'S PART IN POLITICS

By NELLIE TAYLOR ROSS, Former Governor of Wyoming.

We deplore, but we cannot refute, the charge that the decade since the suffrage amendment has made no appreciable advance in ethics. Some women are accepting their responsibilities, but there is a far larger number whose political consciousness is altogether unawakened.

We are going to have to make political activity fashionable. Countless women won't embark unless they are quite certain it will be regarded as "the thing to do."

From the background of my experience as organizer of the women of the Democratic party, I would make these two assertions: If the political parties were smart enough to have women shape some of their policies their whole tone would be elevated and women could restore the idealism that has been merged in materialism.

SOVIET CHALLENGE TO FAITH

By BISHOP H. S. LONGLEY, Iowa (Episcopal).

A government founded solely on idealism does not supply the individual citizen with the stamina necessary to meet the moral crises of life. On the surface it might seem that the Soviet is within its rights in setting up an anti-religious government. So long as only those who despise this form of government are affected, it is all right, but the trouble lies in the fact that not only are there large numbers of fundamentally religious Russians, but also it is impossible to have in existence a government of this sort without its effect being felt in Christian nations throughout the world.

Virtually all the older generation in Russia is religious at heart, but they dare not speak. The younger generation is not religious because the Soviet forbids that they be told of religion until they are eighteen years old.

I certainly believe that a diplomatic protest should be made by the nations of the world even though it lead to bloody conflict.

The Communistic idea that every job should be under government control is absolutely wrong. If a man loses a job in Russia he finds it almost impossible to find work because his record follows him from town to town and, unless he is recommended by the group in the city where he originally had employment his chances are slim.

This country has not made the progress it should in solving unemployment problems but compared with the rest of the world our progress has been colossal.

I would remind employers that reduction of wages mean a decrease in buying power.

belonging to the other class does not pinch, even at "oozy mud." All the mud in the world could not hold back this dauntless spirit of the builder because he knows it will improve the living conditions of the prospective buyer and eventually benefit the town. The buyer knows that he is making a good investment because others are buying also, and others are buying because they know that improvements will follow them and when improvements come they know that their standard of living for themselves and their families will rise. They are true citizens. They keep pushing ahead and eventually they will forge ahead to the top.

The writer of "Roads" complains that taxes are burdened upon the borough unmercifully every time a new improvement is asked by "those red blooded followers who will not 'let the grass grow where prosperity should thrive.'" What a "stimulator" for prosperity he is. Here are a few facts that could be mothered in that pessimistic brain—or perhaps they would starve? Great fields of land scattered around any town or city bring little or nothing in the form of taxes. When these fields are sub-divided by some farsighted developer and laid out into lots they are immediately assessed for their purchase value. The price is doubled, even tripled, but why shouldn't it be.

Verily, my friend, you have not judged right. We cannot stand still. If we do we will be living in a village and handle our improvements the way every community in the village class does. But we are going to keep right on opening new developments, building new buildings, paving new streets and some day we will cross the river so that one block of boulevard will be a mighty artery of travel. A real boulevard, and we will name it the BOULEVARD OF PERSISTENCE! AN OPTIMIST.

me to believe that somewhere, someplace a developer did not let him take a "rake off" of some "less intelligent" prospective buyer of a plot in one of these "oozy mud holes." I wonder if I am right. He could have been a booster for his town, probably even had his street paved with nice new curbing and all the fancy fixtures that go into the burden of the borough. The very developers whom he denounces are well-known by every citizen in Carteret to be honest and reliable and are the real backbone of Carteret.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor reports that there were 3,700,000 idle workers in February. It is estimated that the unemployment situation cost the country one billion dollars during the first three months of the current year. Do you know what that means? How much does it cost our "poor borough" to have idle workers. And he would have these developers, contractors and builders stop working. This mass of industrious world builders who venture enterprises at the very risk of their personal fortunes; who employ men in all trades, paying the highest wages of any industrial organization; making the life of men like the writer of "Roads" happy; making the world go round, by force and thereby making it a better place in which to live.

Verily, my friend, you have not judged right. We cannot stand still. If we do we will be living in a village and handle our improvements the way every community in the village class does.

But we are going to keep right on opening new developments, building new buildings, paving new streets and some day we will cross the river so that one block of boulevard will be a mighty artery of travel. A real boulevard, and we will name it the BOULEVARD OF PERSISTENCE! AN OPTIMIST.

High School Debaters Win
The Blue and White debaters marked up their most impressive victory of the debating season, when they defeated the strong New Brunswick High speakers on Tuesday, April 15. The winners argued skillfully on the affirmative side of the league question. Two votes were received by Carteret against one by the visitors. This win was the second Rutgers Interscholastic League victory for the locals. The judges were students of Rutgers University. The Blue and White were represented by Benjamin Rabinowitz, Wilton Pruett, Marie Gaydos and Edith Brown, alternate. Miss Prentiss acted as the chairman.

ELEPHANT BREAKS UP HINDU PRAYER MEET

Runs Amuck During Indian Religious Festival.

Bombay. — Several persons were trampled upon and seriously injured recently when a young male elephant ran amuck for half an hour at Allahabad during the Kumbh Mela religious festival.

Two million pilgrims were packed along the wayside reciting prayers while a procession including nine elephants was returning from the river bank with all the customary pageantry of gorgeous banners, musical bands, naked attendants, and the gold and silver palanquins borne on the shoulders of the men, generally associated with religious festivals here, when the young elephant, apparently peevish at the slow progress of the procession, made a sudden rush at a female elephant immediately in front and gored it savagely.

Dashes Into Crowd.
The suddenness of the attack resulted in the driver and passenger being flung off the attacked animal, which trumpeted shrilly with rage and pain. The crazed attacker then turned its attention to the other beasts, trumpeted, threw out its hind legs, and finally unseated its rider.

In the belief that an elephant can be subdued in even its wildest mood if a camel bites its ear, some venturesome spirits drove a camel toward the beast, which in consequence dashed off and plunged at great speed into the crowd, scattering them right and left. Panic immediately followed, and men, women and children screamed and fought madly in their efforts to escape from the path of the infuriated animal.

Luckily, the courage and resource of Captain Niblett, a magistrate, and Mr. Cole, a police officer, saved what would undoubtedly have been a much worse disaster.

Crushes Thatch Huts.
Captain Niblett procured two tame elephants and set out to capture the escaped beast, which was now racing rapidly toward the river, while Cole galloped ahead on horseback, warning the crowd.

The huge four-footed pachyderm plunged pell-mell through an encampment of pilgrims by the river bank and crashed through a number of low huts constructed of thatch and bamboo, which gave way before the monster like match boxes. Inside almost every hut fires were left burning, and in consequence the wretched dwellings quickly became a series of blazing bonfires.

Captain Niblett chased the mad elephant over four miles of territory before finally coming to grips. Then followed a struggle lasting some time before the raving monster was finally subdued and returned to his trembling attendant at Allahabad.

Relics of Jesuits' Work Uncovered in Wisconsin

Milwaukee.—Three hundred years ago Jesuit missionaries roamed through central Wisconsin, administering to the Indian tribes and establishing missions. Their trails have been found, some half-hidden amid the influx of modern roads and buildings, and numerous relics of their abode in the wilderness are in the possession of Wisconsin citizens.

Such a relic of the pioneer priests is owned by Harry Graves, Antigo, Wis. Graves found a hand-made signet ring, made, apparently, from a large coin. The metal is of a light color, resembling bronze, and declared to be too hard to be of copper.

The bit of historical jewelry, for it has been so declared by Rev. Francis L. Betten, professor of history at Marquette university, is without a setting. It has, instead, a flat medallion shape. Inside the edge of the round flat surface, a line has been cut, forming a full circle. Inside the line are the characters, I H S and a plain Latin cross. Below the letters is a straight line.

Discovery of the ring has supported belief that the Post lake region derived its name from some early Indian trading post on the same site, a rough other evidences of such a place have been removed by years of civilization's trampling out the evidences of the earlier age.

Discovers Ray to Fire Rifles 60 Feet Away

Berlin.—Discovery of a "death ray," said to be capable of discharging rifles at a distance of 60 feet, was announced recently by the Berlin Zwoelf Ehr Blatt.

The discovery is attributed to a young engineer, Erich Schimkowsky. The newspaper points out that use of the invention, when developed, would enable an army to discharge its enemy's guns before they would have a chance to use them.

Coaxing Cows' Appetite With Hawaiian Molasses

Colville, Wash.—Black strap molasses from Hawaiian sugar fields is being fed to dairy cattle here in an experiment to increase milk production. The black, thick sirup is shipped in barrels and is a residue from sugar vats.

New York Has Largest of World's Carillons

The most famous carillon in the world is the St. Rombold's carillon of 45 bells at Malines, in Belgium. The belfry at Bruges has 47 bells, a like number found from Antwerp's cathedral spire. In the belfry at Mons are 44 bells and from the belfry at Ghent 52 bells still ring even as they did when the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain was signed on Christmas eve, 1814. At Amsterdam, the Netherlands, and also at Middleburg, Delft, Utrecht, The Hague, Groningen and at Arnhem, famous carillons are found. Patriotic Americans have placed upon the Louvain (Belgium) library a carillon of 48 bells. In Canada there are five modern carillons, including Simons of 23 bells, Guelph of 23 bells, Toronto university of 23 bells, Toronto Metropolitan church of 23 bells and Ottawa of 33 bells, this last carillon being placed in the tower of the Parliament house. In the United States there are approximately 30 carillons. The most important of these are at New York, a carillon of 63 bells, the largest carillon in the world, the gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in memory of his mother; at Cohasset, 51 bells; at Mountain Lake, Fla., 40 bells; Chicago, 43 bells; Germantown, Pa., 48 bells; Cranbrook, Mich., 45 bells; Gloucester, Mass., 31 bells; Birmingham, Ala., 25 bells; Detroit, Mich., 28 bells; Princeton university, 35 bells; Andover, Mass., 37 bells; Mercersburg, Pa., 43 bells; Morristown, N. J., 35 bells; Albany, N. Y., 60 bells; Norwood, Mass., 50 bells; Plainfield, N. J., 23 bells; Cincinnati, Ohio, 23 bells; Springfield, Mass., 47 bells; Indianapolis, Ind., 60 bells, and Rochester, Minn., the Mayo clinic, 23 bells.

"Radical," Term Applied to Advanced Liberals

At the mention of the "radical" there is immediately conjured up in the mind thoughts of Communists, Bolsheviks or some other revolutionary group whose ideas run counter to those of law-abiding citizens.

That radicalism, however, is not a modern exorcism is known to all who have studied the movement.

The original radicals, in the world's present political sense, constituted an English party, active early in the Nineteenth century.

These radicals were really included in the Liberal political group of the day, the radicals being those members with more advanced ideas.

Henry Hunt and others who were in favor of radical reforms enjoyed the distinction or obloquy of being the first to be termed "radicals," the name being applied to them in 1818.—Kansas City Star

Submits Annual Report to Woman's Club

to institute savings fund in the suburbs and the borough council endorsing a recreation park. Your president recommends that this club make a special effort toward obtaining a recreation center. The council will be asked again this year for the strict observance of the ordinance prohibiting sale of firearms so that we may have a safe and sane independence day.

Books have been added to the "Woman's Club shelf" at the public library, and this year our first club tree will be planted.

A letter was also written to the county board of taxation relative to the many billboards in the borough and one for the utility commission protesting the increased fares.

Classes in millinery and dressmaking have been held. Both the evening department and the juniors have been active during the past year, and have donated generously toward the Braille books for the blind in this state. They also distributed food and clothes to the needy at Thanksgiving and Christmas time.

To help cultivate world friendship among children, three treasure chests will be sent to the children of the Philippine Islands.

Through the efforts of this club a child practically blind and greatly in need of care was given a mental test at the Elizabeth General Hospital, and in cooperation with the Board of Health was later placed in a state institution. The club is also interested in another child in the same family.

We raise 100 per cent. in the Get-Out-the-Vote contest, for which we received a prize.

Our programs last year have been educational, instructive and most interesting.

Your president has attended all but one regular meeting, all directors' meetings and a great many of the Junior meetings. She was chairman of the Christmas sale which amounted to $624.58. Your club has been represented at all conferences and conventions and several club meetings throughout the district.

The name of Carteret has been carried into all parts of New Jersey through the affiliation of the Women's Club with the state federation and as a result there exists a wider knowledge of the borough.

We have not been able to reach every goal set for ourselves, but the past three years have been marked by a steady growth, which indicates strength. Let us have confidence in our organization, in its standards for charity and tolerance and as we plan our future program for service to our community and a better understanding of world problems may we evidence our faith by loyalty and hearty cooperation. It is upon the members that the final success or failure of a meeting depends, so I urge each member to feel it her duty to attend meetings regularly and to take an active part in the Club work by serving on some committee. In unity there is much strength and by working together in a spirit of harmony and good fellowship our aims and achievements will know no bounds.

I am sincerely grateful and appreciative for the hearty cooperation you have given me and especially am I grateful to the board of directors. It is with reluctance that I permit my name to appear on the ballot as president for another year, as I feel it is not fair to me or the club. The many pleasant contacts one gains as leader and the splendid cooperation extended should be incentives for each member to gladly accept the office or any office when offered. May I ask for your loyal support for the coming year?

On behalf of the Woman's Club I want to thank the Carteret News, the Carteret Press and the Perth Amboy Evening News, the American Legion, St. Joseph's church and all others who have in any way contributed to our success.

MONOXIDE KILLS LOVERS IN CAR

Missing Sweethearts Found Dead in Cemetery. Ansonville, Mich.—Two high school sweethearts, missing for three days, were found dead in an automobile near here.

The two, Lowell Durley, sixteen, and Corie Nye, seventeen, students at the Jonesville high school, were found dead in each other's arms in a cemetery early in the evening. It was death was apparently due to carbon monoxide poisoning. The times apparently had expired them as they worked for a semi-final conference with the next morning. It's cemetery is in a glen screened from the road.

Search, however, was fruitless and efforts to find them hampered by a blizzard.

Prisoner Cries Himself Into Nine Years in Jail

Chicago, Ill.—Harriet, 44, South Knox avenue, here cried himself into nearly nine years in prison.

A short time was supposed before Police, Julia Jones, 71, Wisconsin street, charged with securing money to sell slaves. During the war he sold a draft board he was born in London in a recent civil service examination for which he was the fifth man in Illinois. He himself admitted to that fact he was really born in Russia, so Judge Williams sentenced him to four months.

Then the news spread to that his wife and two children would starve. Further added if he were to be kept away that long. He made an impulsive plea for leniency and his wife was released. He took care of his wife and children. The judge finally deferred the sentence and ordered an investigation.

The investigation revealed that that he had been paroled from jail for a one-year term for a similar crime. He had been paroled for a similar crime. He had been paroled for a similar crime.

Dolores Del Rio Comes Into Own with Talkies

Giving the motion picture a voice is destined to give Dolores Del Rio, star of "Evangeline," the United Artists picture scheduled for showing at the Hills Theatre on Tuesday, April 22, her greatest screen opportunity.

Not only does the celebrated star speak four different languages superbly but she sings in these dialects as well and enjoys the distinction of being the first silent picture star to sing for other radio or phonograph records.

Early in 1928 when the talking pictures was such an experiment that few producers considered it seriously, Miss Del Rio sang over the first of the nation-wide radio broadcasts. A month later, because her soprano voice registered so well over the radio, she made a Victor record of "Ramona," the theme song for her first independent starring vehicle for United Artists.

With the development of sound pictures, Miss Del Rio will have an opportunity to demonstrate her rare talent as a singer as well as an actress and in her current vehicle, which Edwyn Carewe has both produced and directed, the popular star sings a romantic ballad written by Marie Antoinette, in French and "Evangeline," a theme song by Al Jolson and Eddy Rose, in English.

IGNORING DANGER SIGNAL OF FEVER OFTEN IS FATAL

Child With Temperature Should Be Made to Rest, Says Noted Specialist.

New York.—Many serious illnesses, especially in children, are permitted to get a dangerous grip on their victims simply because the parents do not yet discern to recognize fever for what it is—a danger signal of impending disease.

This is the warning offered by Dr. Josephine H. Kewenow, noted child health authority, in Good Housekeeping Magazine.
Fever, she points out, is the only recognizable forerunner of many diseases.

Announcement of the marriage, which was performed by Rev. Roland C. Ormsbee, pastor of St. Bartholomew's church, White Plains, N. Y., was made at a dinner given by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mary Focht.

According to Lindsay, the Koenhavo, like a spectre, passed the Tristan da Cunha on January 21, 1929. Her mainmast was missing and her rigging lying loose in the wind.
