

BOROUGH HALL WILL LIE ON EASTERN OUTSIRTS

(This is the third article dealing with the growth of Carteret, an article designed to keep people conscious of whither they are going.)

If a man should say, "Concentrate all your future development in the westward part of Carteret, and forget about all that section lying west of Cooke and Pershing avenues," many local people would rise up in arms and shout, "Nuts!"

Of course, the reason for their alarm lies purely in their real estate holdings. They are hiding their eyes from reality.

As stated before, The News is not in league with realtors and will take the bad end of it in the next quarter of a century as regards its property. But the fact remains that Carteret is going west and must not be stopped, if any one cares about the future of the community.

A great deal of talk has been in circulation here for many years about the development of a park for Carteret. People here should thank divine interference or something for the failure of any administration creating a park in Carteret, foremost assuredly it would have been placed in the wrong section.

Only two and a half decades ago, an engineer planned a boulevard in the outskirts of the City of Detroit, only to receive the severest rebuke from a good portion of Detroit's citizenry. Sufficient strength was on his side to allow the project to go through. To-day that boulevard is in the center of the city. Twenty-years ago they said it was too far out of town to be of any use.

People must have an eye for the future to make a town of any account. Everything must be done—not for to-day but for tomorrow.

The rub in any town comes from people holding property. Every man wants his own parcel developed. One often thinks whether a park was not established in Carteret on account of this. There might have been no possibility of agreement among the men in charge as to where the park should go, because everyone knows that a park enhances the real estate value of property.

The News recommends that if Carteret does develop a park in the next few years that it should be laid out in a portion of the town away from the Pershing avenue line; for anything except the industries, of course—to the east of that line will just die off and rot like a deserted village in the next quarter of a century. It really won't be as bad as that, but one must catch the idea.

Men should keep their eyes on the past just a little to learn what changes have taken place in other towns. If Carteret were not bounded on the east by the sound, it would be hard to predict the direction that further development would take. But under the natural conditions holding, Carteret must absolutely go westward. Besides, there is the tendency for people to build their houses away from the factories.

All projects relating to the development of Carteret must necessarily be done with the idea that the Borough Hall will be on the eastern outskirts of Carteret in the next twenty-five years and not in the middle as it is today. For that matter the section about the borough hall is already on the eastern side of the town.

St. Elizabeth's Church

In honor of the twentieth year of its organization, St. Elizabeth's Hungarian Catholic Church will hold a celebration on Sunday, October 21st. Special services are planned with the Rev. Plans were made for a public card party Monday night, October 15 in Fire-house No. 2. The committee includes: Mrs. Howard Burns, Mrs. A. J. Bonner, Mrs. Morton LeVan, Mrs. G. T. Gaudette, Mrs. Thomas Bulva and Mrs. John McCarthy.

St. Joseph's Church

The weekly parish card party of St. Joseph's Church, tonight, will be in charge of the men of the parish. The committee in charge includes County Purchasing Agent Edward J. Hill, Attorney Francis A. Monaghan, Police Capt. J. J. Dowling, James Dunne, Gervase Nevill, Francis Coughlin, Edward A. Lloyd, John Schein and Joseph Dolnich.

DRIVE SAFELY

BRAKES

DO your brakes hold? They have them adjusted if you would meet the rigorous driving conditions that prevail on the highways today.

Brakes should not only be good—they should be perfect. Certain stopping distances in relation to speed have been set up by engineers, and every motorist should know what these are, and operate accordingly. For example, a car running at a speed of 30 miles per hour cannot stop in less than 73 feet, a car going 40 miles per hour, in less than 115 feet, and so on.

These distances are given as a minimum. Weather conditions which produce icy, slippery, wet or muddy roads greatly alter these figures. Therefore only the best brakes and a keen judgment of speed conditions can protect a driver from constant exposure to the commonest type of automobile accidents.

Inspect and test your braking equipment right now!

Former Household Expenses Included in Electric Bill

FEW consumers of electricity realize that many household expenses once paid separately are now included in their electric bills.

Remember the days when rugs and carpets and other household furnishings had to be sent to the cleaners or a man was employed to "beat" the rugs? This nuisance is now eliminated by the efficient electric vacuum cleaner which keeps the house free of dust and dirt and the expense involved is included in your electric bill.

Take domestic refrigeration, for example. The owner of an electric refrigerator soon forgets that the monthly ice bill which he once paid is now included in his bill for electric service.

Or consider the electric washing machine which is operated in thousands of households at the cost of but a few cents an hour.

A part of the monthly laundry bill which many consumers once paid is now included in their electric bill.

There are other electric devices which do odd jobs about the house which once were items of continual expense.

Yet, despite the large number of these former domestic expenses now included in the cost of electric service, the average consumer pays but $2.80 per month for his electricity.

No other item in the household budget gives so much for so little as electricity.

CALL ON BRAINS FOR SUPPORT

"Regimented" Propaganda Is Modern Idea.

Established Order Bolstered by Intellectuals.

No conscientious student of letters has been inclined to take too seriously the alarm that has been felt over the future of literature in Russia's proletarian state.

History shows that it is the part of the intellectuals during stability to support the established order and when that order becomes insupportable to express, in varying ways, the intellectual ferment that precedes all fundamental shifts in political power.

Writers know this. Somerset Maugham, in the preface to "East and West," takes pains to inform his readers that the editor of the magazine where his stories mostly appeared never told him what to write or what not to write.

The Russian revolution is now an accomplished fact. The need for obvious propaganda lessons, the diaphanous as any back publicity agent, that is what happened in Russia, when, in the phrase of Max Eastman, the artists were put in uniform.

The Russian revolution is now an accomplished fact. The need for obvious propaganda lessons, the diaphanous as any back publicity agent, that is what happened in Russia, when, in the phrase of Max Eastman, the artists were put in uniform.

And so it may soon be that the writers of Russia will lay aside their uniforms and the Russian artists in mufft will find new means for expression. Out of the chaos of revolution may appear the needed security which is the basis of all art.

Sea Collisions Minimized

The danger of collisions at sea on foggy nights can now be minimized by a new invention which shows—with luminous spots and arrows on a compass-marked screen—the location and direction of every ship within a radius of ten miles.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the right dose of a properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a more natural movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action.

You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store, ready for use.

De La Salle and Motence Live Again

ON THE banks of the Kankakee river in 1679 the Indian chief Motence and his daughter, Janeer, greeted that bold young explorer, Robert Sieur de la Salle, and his faithful friend, Father Hennepin, and a French soldier. The other day the little city of Motence celebrated its centennial and the historic event was reproduced, as shown in this scene.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

BUTCHER THE SHRIKE

"WHO is Butcher the Shrike?" asked Peter Rabbit.

"He's new to the Old Orchard," replied Skimmer, "and you probably haven't noticed him. I've often seen him in the South. There he is now, on the tip-top of that tree over yonder."

Peter and Johnny Chuck looked eagerly. They saw a bird who at first glance appeared not unlike Mocker the Mockingbird. He was dressed wholly in black, gray and white. When he turned his head they saw a black stripe across the side of his face and that the tip of his bill was hooked. These were enough to make them forget that otherwise he was like Mocker. While they were looking at him he flew down into the grass and picked up a grasshopper. Then for some distance he flew with a steady, even flight only a little above the ground, suddenly shooting up and returning to the perch where they had first seen him.

"He certainly has wonderful eyes," said Skimmer admiringly. "He must have seen that grasshopper way over there in the grasses before he started after it, for he flew straight down. He doesn't waste time and energy hunting aimlessly. He sits on a high perch and watches until he sees something he wants. Many times I've seen him sitting on top of a telegraph pole. I understand that Bully the English Sparrow has become terribly nervous since the arrival of Butcher. He is particularly fond of English sparrows. I presume it was one of Bully's children you saw in the thorn tree, Peter. For my part, I hope he'll frighten Bully into leaving the Old Orchard. It would be a good thing for the rest of us."

"But I don't understand why he fastens his victims on those long thorns," "For two reasons," replied Skimmer.

"First, the thorns are sharp and he can pull them to pieces more easily. You see, his feet and claws are not big enough to hold them while he tears them to pieces with his hooked bill."

"Does he kill many birds?" asked Peter.

"Not many," replied Skimmer, "and most of them are English sparrows. He is a good deal like Killy the Sparrow Hawk in this respect. Hello! Now what's happened?"

Relics Found in Palestine

All that remains of an Egyptian tomb which flourished more than 3,000 years ago, on a site near the present city of Tel Aviv, Palestine, are a heart-shaped scarab, the sacred beetle of ancient Egypt, a fragment of an Egyptian seal used on a papyrus document and a few bronze and flint implements. The large stone scarab, which bears a hieroglyphic inscription of a passage from the "Book of the Dead," is the first of its kind to be found in Palestine. It was placed over the heart of a mummy and is believed to have come from the tomb of some Egyptian official.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORY

by Vance Wynn Public Ledger

"So Perish All Traitors"

THE two young men who registered at the Southern Hotel, in St. Louis, many years ago, were well dressed and looked prosperous.

Also they seemed to be devoted friends. Charles A. Preller and Walter L. Maxwell were the names they inscribed on the book, and it later developed that they were Englishmen, having come from Liverpool to Boston and thence to St. Louis.

At all events they were inseparable companions, and their mutual devotion attracted the attention of the other guests of the house.

Maxwell left the hotel first, saying that his friend intended staying a few days longer.

Also he suggested that he had some work to do in his room and did not want to be disturbed.

That was all very well, but when Preller failed to make his appearance after two days the management of the house thought it was time to investigate.

There was no response to the knock on his room door and it had to be forced.

There was a trunk in the corner of the apartment.

It was opened and in it was found the dead body of Charles A. Preller.

His mustache had been removed, probably to change his appearance, and on his clothing was pinned a sheet of paper on which was written:

"So perish all traitors to the great cause."

The first and most natural move on the part of the detectives was to try and find the former companion of the dead man.

There was no special reason for suspecting that he had killed the friend to whom he seemed so devoted, but there was every reason for supposing that he might throw some light on the tragedy.

Did the two men belong to some secret society?

Were they being pursued by avengers?

It was not easy to get on the track of Maxwell, but it was eventually learned that he had gone to San Francisco.

The chief of police of that city worked in unison with the chief of police of St. Louis.

In a few days he was able to report that a man who looked very much like the description of Maxwell had been seen in the smoking room of the Palace hotel.

Inquiry showed that this man had registered as T. C. D'Auger, of Paris.

He talked with a French accent, although one day, in answering a question suddenly asked by another guest, he spoke perfect English.

Just when the police were planning to place him under arrest he left San Francisco for New Zealand.

He was captured there, but resisted extradition.

He seemed to have plenty of money and legal advice, but eventually the papers were signed by President Cleveland and the suspect was brought back to St. Louis.

For up to the time there was no convincing legal proof that he had killed Preller.

He denied the charge vehemently and defied the authorities. But the police got to work and in the course of time they proved a number of things.

First it was shown that the handwriting on the note which was pinned to the clothing of the corpse in the trunk was that of Maxwell.

It corresponded exactly with the signature he had placed on the hotel register.

That demolished the theory that Preller had been the victim of the vengeance of some secret society. It was simply an ingenious idea of Maxwell to send the police on a false scent.

Secondly, they proved that Maxwell had gone to a barber shop after leaving the Southern hotel and had his beard taken off, and that after it had been done he turned to the barber and said:

"Do you think any one would recognize me now?"

Thirdly, they proved that he had purchased the trunk in which the body was found.

They produced the porter who had carried it to his room, and they had evidence that he displayed a big roll of hundred-dollar bills shortly after leaving the hotel.

This furnished the motive for the crime—the cold-blooded, calculated robbery of the man who had been his generous friend.

At the trial he was confronted by the druggist from whom he had purchased the chloroform which he had used to overcome Preller before murdering him.

There were no mitigating circumstances whatever, and the jury rendered a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Record Inflation

The German mark as a unit was established by the German Federation of States following the Franco-Prussian war in 1873, with a nominal value of $23.30 for 100 marks. After the World War an inflation of currency set in, which reached its peak in 1923, to such an extent that the paper mark was practically worthless. For instance, it cost 2,000,000,000 paper marks to carry a letter from Germany to the United States. Under the Dawes plan Germany stabilized her monetary system, going back to the gold standard. The new currency now in use is called the reichsmark, which has a nominal value, like the former mark, of $23.30 for 100. The old paper mark notes issued before 1923 are worthless. The reichsmark notes issued by the Reichsbank in Germany are today purchased by banks at current rates.

Essential Vitamins in Foods

Comprehensive A B C D List, Given Here, Should Be an Answer to All the Varied Problems of Every-Day Diet for the Family.

"Would you kindly publish brief lists of the foods that are rich in vitamins A, B, C, D respectively? A list of this sort seems to me a logical necessity if discussion is to prove helpful. If milk is deficient in B, what other food supplies it adequately? Is D only present in cod-liver oil? A brief list showing the principal foods supplying each of the vitamins would be generally appreciated, I know."

The above is a quotation from a letter from a reader and speaks for itself. As those of you who have been following this column know, I have published from time to time such information. The intervals between seem, I hope, longer to the readers than they do to me. I am so glad to have an excuse for repeating a "chart" of the vitamins and I am using the very comprehensive one prepared by Dr. Helen Mitchell of Battle Creek college. You will find it useful enough, I think, to cut out and paste it on a card for future reference.

You will notice that this summary answers the questions, except perhaps as to what irradiated foods are available. At present there are several cereals and breads treated in such a way that they supply vitamin D. There are also milks which contain vitamin D on account of the food fed to the cows which produce it, and an irradiated milk powder used mostly for infant feeding. There are also some cod liver oils which have been irradiated to give these already rich oils extra vitamin D content. As you look over this vitamin summary, you will see the point which I have so often emphasized again—a generous, varied diet is the answer to all the problems of every-day diet.

A—Rich food sources, anti-infective (antioptalmic): Butter, cream, egg yolk, cod-liver oil, spinach, carrots, tomato.

Destruction by heat, drying, light, etc. Gradual destruction by exposure to heat; drying and oxidation.

Deficiency results in malnutrition, low resistance to infections of eye, ear, lungs, sinus and glands.

Experimental animals used: Rats, rabbits, chickens.

B—Antineuritic or antiberiberi. Yeast, whole grains, wheat embryo, nuts, legumes, spinach, tomato associated with G.

By excessive heating, 2 to 4 hours in superheated steam. Less stable than G.

Loss of appetite, fatigue, nervousness, constipation, beriberi (in man), polyneuritis (animals).

Experimental animals used: Rats, dogs, pigeons.

C—Antiscorbutic. Orange and other citrus fruits, tomato, pineapple, berries, cabbage, potato.

Rapid destruction by heat and oxidation except in acids; by drying and aging.

Malnutrition, scurvy, sore mouth, stiff joints, tooth defects.

Experimental animals used: Guinea pigs, monkeys.

D—Antirachitic. Cod liver oil, butter, egg yolk, foods irradiated with ultra-violet light.

More stable than A; destroyed by excess irradiation with ultra-violet light.

Rickets, soft bones, poor teeth, skeletal deformities, lung infection (?)

Experimental animals used: Rats, calves, dogs, chickens.

E—Reproductive. Wheat embryo, yellow corn, cotton seed, green leaves.

Stable to superheated steam, dilute acid and alkaline and drying.

Sterility in males, resorption of fetus in females (observations on rats only).

Experimental animals used: Rats, G—Antipellagric or pellagrapreventive. Yeast, yeast extract, liver, eggs, milk, legumes associated with B.

More stable than B to superheated steam; withstands drying and aging.

Malnutrition, stunted growth, pellagra (in man), black tongue (in dogs).

Experimental animals used: Rats, dogs.

Spinach Loaf. 1 loaf white bread 5 tablespoons butter 1 tablespoon chopped onion 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1 cup chopped bread crumbs 1/2 cup cream 3 cups cooked spinach

Remove the crust from a loaf of bread, cut out the center, leaving a wall one-half inch thick; brush over the case, both inside and out with melted butter and brown in a hot oven, 450 degrees F. Melt butter in a sauce pan, add onion and cook until it becomes yellow; add salt, pepper, bread crumbs, cream and cooked chopped spinach. Stir until thoroughly heated, pour into bread case. Decorate with sliced hard-cooked egg and serve with cheese sauce.

Cheese Sauce. 3 tablespoons butter 3 tablespoons flour 1 1/2 cups milk Salt and pepper 1 cup grated cheese

Melt butter in sauce pan, add flour; stir until smooth, add milk gradually and cook until boiling point is reached, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and add grated cheese.

Crab Bisque. 1 lb. can crab meat 2 cups milk 1 cup chicken broth or hot water in which one chicken bouillon cube has been dissolved.

2 tablespoons butter 3 tablespoons flour 3/4 teaspoon salt Paprika Whipped cream

Remove bones and chop crab meat fine. Cook crab meat and milk together in double boiler until milk is scalded. Melt butter, blend in flour to a smooth paste, slowly add chicken broth, stir until it boils. Add scalded milk and crab meat mixture to chicken broth and bring again to boiling point. Add seasoning. Serve on each portion of soup one heaping teaspoon whipped cream, seasoned with salt and paprika.

Old Scottish Goddess. That the ancient inhabitants of Scotland worshipped a mother divinity or "fertility goddess" has long been suspected, but now proof has been found. Scottish place-names of twin peaks, such as Dumbarton and Dumgoyne, were held to be indications of this worship. The proof has been supplied by Ludovic Mann.

When examining the deep-seated gravels at Kirkin Tolloch, where mammoth and rhinoceros relics have been discovered, he unearthed a large pebble of hard reddish rock skillfully carved into the shape of a female torso.

Mercolized Wax. Keeps Skin Young. Absorb blemishes and discolorations using Mercolized Wax daily as directed. Invisible particles of aged skin are freed and all defects such as blackheads, tan, freckles and large pores disappear. Skin is then beautifully clear, velvety and so soft—face looks years younger. MACKMEN SWAMP NEPTUNE IN OPENER, 32-0 FIELD CLUB DOWNS JERSEY CITY TEAM, 7-0

Kosel and Trianovich Score Twice for McCarth's Team

By CLARENCE M. SCHWARTZ

Led by Stan Kosel, who scored two touchdowns and as many extra points after touchdown, the Carteret High School football team opened its season with a 32-0 victory over Neptune High here last Saturday.

The big Blue and White team scored in every period. Early in the first period Kosel went over from the six-yard line for the locals' first score.

Carteret won the toss and elected to kick off, Kosel doing the honors. Evans, Neptune fullback, took the ball from his own 24-yard stripe to the 32. Failing to make the required ten yards Neptune lost the ball. Trianovich ran around Neptune's left end for a ten yard gain and a first down. A short pass, Kosel to Romanowski, netted the Blue and White eleven another first down. On a spinner reverse play, Comba broke through from the 12-yard line to the six. Kosel plunged over for the touchdown and kicked the extra point from placement.

The Blue and White team worked the ball down to Neptune's thirty-yard line soon after the second period got under way. On the second down, Kosel whipped a bullet pass to Trianovich who scored standing up from the 20-yard stripe. Kosel's attempt for the extra point went wide. Carteret threatened to score in the closing minutes of the second period with Kosel shooting short passes to his ends. The half ended with Carteret in the lead, 13-0.

The third period saw the most spectacular play of the afternoon. On a double reverse play, which the locals used to good effect all afternoon, Mike Trianovich, former all-county halfback, ran seventy yards for Carteret's third touchdown. The play was perfectly executed, guards and ends taking out their men beautifully. Kosel again kicked the extra point from placement.

The Malmen worked the ball down to Neptune's fourteen yard-line as the fourth period began. On a short pass from Kosel, Dinney Comba, alert quarterback of the locals, scored from the seven yard line. Kosel's try for the extra point went wide.

No sooner had the Mackmen taken their positions after the kick-off, they found themselves again knocking at Neptune's goal. On a reverse play, the likes of which Tri-vanovich used in his thrilling touchdown conquest, Kosel ran to the four yard line. But the locals were penalized five-yards for an off-side offense, and it was second down on the nine-yard stripe. Two unsuccessful attempts to score by the use of forward passes lost a yard for the locals, making it a fourth down with the ball on the ten-yard line. However, Kosel tried a center plunge and scored Carteret's fifth touchdown. He blew the try for the extra point.

At this point, McCarthy injected his entire second string team with the exception of Kosel, who called signals. The Neptune boys took advantage of this, however, and as the final minutes of the game grew closer, were knocking on Carteret's goal. Only Kosel's fine work backing up the line prevented a score.

McCarthy's second string backfield worked fairly well for the experience that they have had. "Sonny" Coughlin showed good judgment in directing his plays.

Jackie Wielgolinski, Herkey Cherepon and Red Pelcz all played a fine game for the locals.

GRANTLAND RICE

Dirty white jerseys backed against the goal line—lush green grass streaked by mud cleats—throngs of rooters in the stands—loud cheers—another Carteret High football season under way.

Carteret High's 1934 debut surely was impressive. Fans went away thoroughly satisfied that McCarthy's 1934 edition should go places. "They're green up front, but those caissons will go rolling along when the linemen begin coordinating with that crackerjack backfield," they said. The latter is perhaps the truth.

This Carteret team, its bright galaxy of backs hobbled by a rugged line, should gather power gradually, show progressive improvement and come up to its major games with both barrels primed. As long as there is a Stan Kosel to shoot those running passes, a Mike Trianovich to get 'em, and a Dinney Comba, to lead interference, Carteret High will be mighty hard to beat this year.

Although the season has just started, local fans are pointing to the Woodbridge game, and proclaiming that this year at last, will see a Carteret victory.

The Carteret High School football team meets Glen Ridge High tomorrow afternoon in its second game of the season.

By virtue of their 32-0 victory over Neptune last week, the locals are again favored to win. Glen Ridge fought Cranford to a scoreless tie two weeks ago, and last week battled Hasbrouck Heights to a 12-12 tie. Carteret meets Cranford later on in the season.

The Glen Ridge team has a very speedy man in Alworth, whose specialty is running back punts. Although he is not listed as a regular, it was learned from authoritative sources that he is indeed a mighty big factor in the Glen Ridge eleven.

The probable lineups for tomorrow's battle:

WHAT MEDWICK DID IN THE WORLD SERIES

With the World Series over the community can now go back to its normal pursuits.

Joe, who started off like a world-beater particularly at the bat, finished up the series in the same strong fashion.

While the Carteret Clouter did not equal his record again of the first game of making four hits in any single contest, he came through with eleven hits in the seven games for the top average of .379.

the Tigers, who tied Medwick for first place batting honors in the World Series with .379.

Medwick, the mauler, tied for first also in the number of total bases obtained on his hits, sixteen. He came through with a home run, a three-bagger and nine singles.

In the matter of fielding, Medwick was also one of the leaders. He was the only one of the St. Louis outfielders who went through the seven games without an error.

So that Joe tied for the World Series record in number of hits, tied for the World Series record for the total number of bases obtained on hits and tied in the World Series for the fielding average.

So in these departments of the game the former star of Carteret High School gave a very good account of himself.

In addition to sixteen bases through hits, Joe also got on base through receiving a pass, a base on balls. He was a victim of strikeouts on seven occasions. He had nine put outs to his credit in the outfield.

During the series the Carteret star brought in four runs himself and was responsible for batting in five others, a total of nine runs in the world series. With St. Louis making 34 runs in the seven games, this means that Joe was responsible for more than one-quarter of the runs made.

So all in all the ex-Carteret High School performer, putting his first full year in with a big league team, has done a pretty good job.

Incidentally, his cut in the World Series was $5,941, which is pretty good income for seven days of ball playing.

FEUD

By THAYER WALDO

RONALD STEELE put his cigar down and spoke earnestly: "You know, my dear, sitting here looking at you reminds me of something I've said innumerable times before. Why not be sensible and stop hiding that charm and beauty in an accounting office? You were simply made for a screen career."

I'm one of them. Suppose you just withdraw your unsolicited nose." Glaring venomously, Edwards shot: "To hell with you! I'm taking Lorna to a show tonight, and fifty bucks say I talk her out of this whole nutty acting notion."

Swagger Furs Will Attend Game

IN REGARD to the swagger, swanky sports furs which will attend the football games, here's the newest of fashion notes—a seven-eighths brown lapin coat with a lighter brown suede skirt. Fancy what a sensation in spectator row such a novel and stunning combination will create.

dressy as it is sporty, and therefore can be properly worn most anywhere in the daytime. Its tuxedo revers of fur stamp it as being one of the newest of the new, for the fur-rever styling is "just out."

President Calls for Truce Between Labor and Industry—Convention of A. F. of L.—Air Combat Forces Taken Away From Foulis.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S latest radio talk with his fellow citizens was well written, well delivered and peculiarly vague as to his future intentions.

That because it has failed to reduce hours of labor sufficiently it has also failed to create a satisfactory number of new jobs. That its compliance machinery is ineffective, with the result that violations of the spirit of the codes are easily accomplished and quite general.

PRESIDENT GREEN in his address to the Federation of Labor declared the establishment of the 30-hour week was one of the possible means of wiping out unemployment.

INTERESTING, though not highly important, is the report that came from Vienna that Mustafa Kemal Pasha, dictator-president of Turkey, may marry one of the four unmarried sisters of King Zog of Albania.

"Rhine" of New Zealand Busy With River Trade

For generations, writes a correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle, the Wanganui, the "Rhine of New Zealand," has been the scene of busy river traffic. Paddlewheel steamers have given the stream something of the appearance of the Mississippi many years ago.

IN TONES OF GREEN

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Green is exceedingly voguish this fall. The costume pictured is of one of the newest ribbed woolen weaves in the much-sought-for pine-green which is so really handsome.

GLOVES STAND OUT BOLDLY THIS FALL

Gloves go gay. Never have they been so pert and full of individuality as they are today. Gloves of the present, and those in a formative state for the fingers of 1935, no longer resignedly fit in with the costume so that one notices them only as a part of the whole.

Monograms Are Used on Coat Lapel or as Buttons

Everyone smart is giving her right name this fall season, according to fashion shows. Coat lapels and dress fastenings feature monograms sometimes a half-foot deep, in leather, metal, wood, and even marble.

More Slashed Details

Slashed details are becoming more and more prevalent in dinner and evening dresses, posed not only just at the front but also appearing at side-front and back seams.

REMODELING of the NRA to the new industrial recovery agency which has displaced General Johnson is under way. One of the board's first official acts was to give a good-bye to Kilbourne Johnston, son of the retiring administrator—though he held his name differently. Engineers Test New Steel Car Wheels Equipped With Rubber Designed to Make the Operation of Street Cars Quieter

Above car equipped with noise-reducing wheels. Left—One of the new wheels showing rubber ring in center.

EXPERIMENTS are now under way on a newly-designed steel street car wheel in which has been inserted a ring of solid rubber by means of which it is hoped to effect a reduction in the noise of trolley car operation.

The new wheel resembles the ordinary steel car wheel, except that a "live" rubber ring about one and one-quarter inch thick has been inserted dividing the wheel into two steel sections. This rubber "insulation" acts as a deadener of sound and takes up part of the shocks which the wheels receive as they move over the tracks.

Public Service Coordinated Transport's engineers have equipped a street car operating between Orange and Newark with a complete set of the new wheels. Tests thus far indicate a marked reduction in the noise of operation noticeable both inside and outside of the car. Further tests must be made to determine the length of life of the rubber, the effect of the heat generated by braking and other factors, before the complete practicability of the new device can be determined.

Use of Tobacco Defended, Condemned for 450 Years

The use of tobacco has been condemned and defended for the entire span of the 450 years since its adoption by the European nations. But tobacco traces its ancestry back to 3000 B. C., when the Egyptians burned sweet herbs in their temples. The Romans and Greeks also followed this custom, and the former initiated the practice of burning medicinal herbs. In America, says a writer in the Washington Post, the Mexican Maya tribes, which flourished from the Fourth to Seventh centuries A. D., also burned herbs in ritual—a practice so common among all the peoples of the New world that a thousand years later the popes of Rome issued bills forbidding smoking in church on the grounds that it was a pagan rite.

The real red-letter day of tobacco history was that on which Columbus discovered the Antilles and saw the natives smoking. However, it was not until five years later—in 1497—that one Romano Pane brought the first account of smoking to Europe. In 1519 Oviedo brought specimens of the tobacco plant to Portugal, where, strangely enough, it was regarded as merely a kind of potted blossom of no practical value. In 1559 Jean Nicot, French ambassador to Portugal, discovered that the leaves had some curative qualities and introduced them into France.

Playing Cards European; Known in 14th Century

Cards were not introduced by the Saracens, or from the East, but were of indigenous European origin, and are first mentioned, although probably known previously, at the very end of the Fourteenth century, says the Boston Herald.

The earliest marks for the suits were cups, money, swords and clubs, supposed to represent faith, charity, justice and fortitude, or more probably meaning nothing at all, but taken accidentally from objects of common occurrence.

The Germans used hearts, bells, leaves and acorns. It was the French who introduced what we call spades, hearts, clubs and diamonds. The spade on cards owes its shape to one source and its name to another. It appears that it is the leaf of the German marks, to which the French gave the name of pique, from its resemblance to the head of a pike. In England the symbol survived, but the name is the Italian denomination for their corresponding suit of swords.

The English club is in shape nearly the German acorn, but retains the Italian name, which actually agrees with the symbol of a club upon their cards. Hearts descended from the old cups, and diamonds from the ancient pieces of money.

Million Men Cross Bridge

Abydos, an ancient city of Asia Minor, was the scene of the greatest military display of early history. It was there that Xerxes crossed the Hellespont in 480 B. C. Throwing a bridge of boats a mile long across the intervening water, Xerxes was prepared to march his army over when waves dashed his bridge apart, during a heavy storm. An angered, the mighty leader had the waves subjected to 300 lashes, after which chains were cast into the waves. Then a second and stronger bridge was erected and wine was poured on the water in a peace offering. When all was ready, the army started on the march. For a week, soldiers from 46 nations, all attired in their own national costume or uniform, passed in ceaseless line across the bridge as Xerxes sat on a throne and watched. It is estimated that his army numbered a million warriors.

Eighteenth Century Migration

In the latter decades of the Eighteenth century migration from the east to Ohio was progressing at such rate that many persons of New England feared that their country would be drained of the best brains, blood and sinew in America, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer. To stop this flow many tales were told of the terrible life one must suffer in this new country. One caricature published in a Boston newspaper of this period, presented a well-dressed gentleman on a large horse, with the sentence, "I am going to Ohio," while in the opposite direction was headed a wretched specimen of humanity in rags, on a thin wretched beast, with the words, "I've been to Ohio."

Five November 11s of Note

There were five November 11s culminating in the Armistice of November 11, 1918. On November 11, 1914, the British warship "Niger" was sunk by a German submarine. November 11, 1915, marks a Russian victory on the eastern front. November 11, 1916, the British bombarded the Germans on the Ancre and the French recaptured most of Saillies and on November 11, 1917, there were heavy rains all along the trenches with enemy artillery fire active.

U. S. Coast Line

According to the United States Coast and Geodetic survey the continental United States, her territories, possessions and dependencies have a total general coast line of 16,900 (land) miles. If, however, all inland shores reached by tidal waters up to the point where such waters narrow to a width of three miles is included, the total coast line amounts to 40,300 (land) miles.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL BE IN THE CENTER OF CARTERET

By EDDIE EKROY

(This is the fourth article concerning the future of Carteret, an article written for the express purpose of keeping politicians and other people conscious of the question, "Just Where Are We Going?")

Carteret High School will be in the center of Carteret before the present quarter of a century is over, whereas today it is off out of the way. The board of education might have been guilty of a lot of misdoings in the past, but one must give them credit for keeping in mind the fact that a high school where it is now will be a central spot not very far off in time.

When the present depression has vanished off into history, people everywhere will find themselves in the greatest prosperity yet recorded. Carteret will flourish again as it did in the decade previous to the present collapse. People will have money to spend on new homes.

Most assuredly they will build them not by the borough hall or close to the great factories along our waterfront. They will take their picks and shovels and go west.

What will our local government do about protecting Carteret from moving stores and houses together and continuing the great mess that presents itself today? Will the government learn that business must be central to be prosperous? Or will it go along afraid to hurt somebody's feelings by saying, "Sorry, Mister, but we must make this thing the way it is everywhere else. Stores and houses are like oil and water. They do not mix?"

Even if a politician enters the field to get what he can out of it, he should realize that his hand takes a very important part in the success or failure of a community. It is not always a question of spending money for improvements, but one of guiding improvements properly.

Certainly, a politician has land-holders battling with him on every turn. One group hates to see an improvement in another section of the town, because the group over there will get the benefit of that improvement.

A politician is stern enough to fight his opponent to win an election. He must be stern enough also to face the facts and fight for a better community regardless whose feelings he should damage.

The trouble is that development takes place with such a slow gradual pace that one does not see all the phases. Parents are actually unaware of their children growing. Residents here are in the same position regarding the growth of their town. Some people actually state the town is not growing at all. Hence definite measures related to the growth of a town are not taken. And everything is allowed to go along uncontrolled.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Directors Monday, October 15th, at the home of the president, Mrs. Howard W. Thorn. It will be held in the afternoon instead of in the evening as heretofore. Directors are requested to please note the change of time, namely, 2 p. m.

Mrs. Morris Spewak, chairman, announces that she has completed details for the club's annual card party. It will be held Monday evening, October 22, at St. Joseph's Church Hall. The directors are furnishing the refreshments. Each member is asked to give a prize, as usual. Within the week or early next week a committee will call at the homes of the members to collect the prizes.

The annual Fall conference of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs was held Thursday, October 11th, at Convention Hall, Asbury Park. Among those who attended were: Mrs. Thorn, Mrs. Henry Harrington, Mrs. T. J. Nevill, Mrs. Sam Harris, Mrs. Thomas Burke, and Mrs. Emanuel Lefkowitz. Details of the conference will be given next week.

A feature of the club's opening tea to be held October 25th at 2:00 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church will be a one-act play by members. The name of the play is "Mrs. Haynes Joins the Club." The cast is as follows: Mrs. Alden, hostess, Mrs. Harry Yetman; Mrs. Walbach, club president, Mrs. Julius Kloss; Mrs. Sears, club secretary, Mrs. Emanuel Lefkowitz; Grandmother Haynes, Mrs. Emil Stremiau; Grandmother Williams, Mrs. Charles Morris; Grandmother White, Mrs. George Dalrymple; Grandmother Ganes, Mrs. Sam Harris; Grandmother Schneider, Mrs. H. The play is laid in Mrs. Alden's living room. The first rehearsal was held this afternoon.

Mrs. Strandberg, chairman of drama and literature, is director.

Finishing touches are being made on the program which has been planned for the coming year. The program, which is a varied one, combining education and entertainment, promises to be most interesting. Mrs. Henry Harrington, is chairman.

COLUMBUS DAY PROGRAM

Reading "Columbus Day", Phyllis Fedkow; poem "Columbus", Margaret Sidun; piano solo "Gondolieri", Dorothy Kathe; poem "Columbus Day", Sophie Myrlo; Quotations for Columbus Day, Margaret Lyman; Life of General Pulaski, Alice Thorsten.

ETIQUETTE CLUB

Twenty-eight enthusiastic boys, who are members of the Senior Class voluntarily joined the newly organized Boys' Etiquette Club. It is intended that the group remain small in size, so that there will be more attention given to the individual person, and, in this way each may discuss problems of correct behavior thoroughly.

There will be two officers of the club, a president and secretary. Since there will be no dues it will not be necessary to appoint a treasurer.

Chester Wielgolinski and Edward Steiner were nominated for the office of president. The voting was carried on through secret ballot and Chester Wielgolinski was chosen for the office of president.

The remaining ten minutes was given over to reading and discussing one or two questions of Etiquette. There will be social gatherings after school, and it is intended, that the club will provide its members with a set of rules, which will prompt each to select the correct form of procedure, rather than the incorrect.

STAMP CLUB

The Stamp Club held a meeting on October 9th for the purpose of electing officers. The result of the election was as follows: President, Fun Yew; vice president, Murray Lehman; secretary, Thomas Lloyd.

The members of the club also decided to attend the fourth exhibition of the New Jersey Stamp Clubs which is being held at the Mosque Theatre, Newark, October 11th to 14th.

FIRE SQUAD REORGANIZED

The Fire Squad of Carteret High School was reorganized this week. The members of the squad under the supervision of Mr. Misdom were shown how to fight fire. The members of the squad are: Henry Travostino, John Poll, Thomas Brandon, Edward George, William Coughlin, Patrick De Santis, Thomas Coughlin, Joseph Haluiko and Charles Woodhull.

Since this is Fire Prevention week, two fire drills were held during the week. The time used for emptying the building was an average of one minute and thirty seconds. Last year's record was less than one minute and we hope soon to equal it.

Count the Jobs
Electricity
Does for You
Then—
Count the Cost!

Washing, ironing, refrigeration, carpet cleaning, coffee-making, toast-making.

Running the radio, sewing machine, clocks, the machine shop in the basement.

Reading lamps, floor lamps, desk lamps, night lamps in the hallways.

No other item in the household budget gives so much for so little as electricity.

When you receive the next electric bill jot down a list of jobs electricity does for you, also a list of lamps in the home.

You will be amazed at how much you have received for such a small expenditure and you will find that of all the items of the household budget, nothing gives so much for so little as electricity.

We repeat—count the jobs electricity does for you, then count the cost!

The Carteret News

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY IN THE YEAR AT THE PLANT OF THE CARTERET NEWS AT 9 COOKE AVENUE, CARTERET, N. J. TELEPHONE, CARTERET 8-0300.

M. E. YORKE, Publisher

Entered as second-class matter June 24, 1903, at the post office at Carteret, N. J., under act of March 3, 1879.

THE CARTERET NEWS was founded June 17, 1908 as THE ROOSEVELT NEWS; was published on Wednesdays until July 15, 1909; was then published on Thursdays until December 6, 1912, since which time it has been a Friday paper. The title of the paper became THE CARTERET NEWS on November 17, 1922, following the election of November 7, 1922, when the people of the Borough voted to change the name of the Borough from Roosevelt to Carteret by a vote of 1652 to 203.

HOW?

The country is still striving with the aid of wholesale federal spending to recover. It has been a slow process. More recently the country appears to have been slipping rather than going ahead.

Two of the outstanding problems in a public sense are that of trying to stimulate business to such a degree that the unemployment will be taken up; and, secondly, all government bodies have been perplexed as to how to obtain money to carry on even their curtailed functions.

The Federal Government appreciated that with greatly reduced demand for manufactured goods that efforts in some way should be made to speed up business. The N. R. A. was one of those attempts not altogether successful by any means.

The Public Works Administration was another and more recently the housing act. The latter act has not really gotten into swing yet but the former two have not stimulated business to the extent expected.

The Federal Government realized the situation in regard to employment resolved itself into either finding some way to create greater demand for manufactured goods or through invention and research the creation of new businesses that would take up the slack in employment due to the lack of normal demand for manufactured and other goods.

In the same way individual communities are affected by the lack of demand for manufactured goods so that the only way unemployment could be taken up steadily is either through the sale of more manufactured goods or the introduction into a community of new businesses which will add to employment either temporarily or otherwise. Most of the government moves have simply been temporary in regard to direct employment. The Federal, State, County and local governments have not got the usual tax money available because of general conditions. Yet a certain amount of money is required to carry on essential governmental functions. Without any increase in new tax properties in a community, it simply means a steady increase in taxes for those who are already paying taxes. The introduction of a new business occasionally with tax ratables postpones the day of tax increases for the other taxpayers and to that extent relieves them.

If there is only a certain amount of business in a community and community officials are bent on holding out all new businesses that give some additional temporary and permanent employment, how is unemployment to be taken up?

In the same way in order to carry on the local government or have the slightest addition to local costs in any way, it becomes necessary to increase taxes on the regular taxpayers unless new enterprises bringing in more tax ratables are permitted entry into the community.

For sometime the President has been urging the expansion of private enterprise and there has been very little of it to date. The Federal Government, the various State governments, county governments and local governments have been hunting high and low for means to yet new tax money. It seem unbelievable that in such a period that officials should, for reasons that seem not at all clear, consistently attempt to prevent a community from getting the benefit of new tax money. Such occasion simply tends to increase the taxes locally and drives the tax money and employment to some other community.

GOOD WORK

Elsewhere in this issue of the paper is a summary of the work of Joe Medwick in the World Series. Joe, it is remembered, is only out of Carteret High School a few years where he starred on the gridiron, the diamond and the basketball court.

He has just put in his first full year on a big league team and has given a splendid account of himself.

In the all-star game at the Polo Grounds he batted out a home run. In the present World Series he made four hits in one game, equalling the all time record of hits in one game in a World Series. He tied two other records for the present World Series. He led in number of hits and he was tied with one other for the highest batting average. He also had a clean record in the field. Only one other outfielder in the series did as well and he was on the Detroit team. All in all it looks as if Carteret Joe did well for St. Louis. Incidentally, he did well for himself. His share of the World Series money alone was approximately $6,000. This ought to keep the family in coal for the winter and who knows but "Ducky Wucky" will be hopping off with the girl who gave him the nickname.

A GOOD SENATOR

All in all John Toolan, Middlesex Senator, gave a good account of himself in a legislative session that was not conspicuous for its accomplishments. The Senate, however, had among its membership a number of men who are experienced in state affairs in the Senate, yet former Prosecutor Toolan always seemed to appear to advantage. Seldom has a new man come into the Senate and made his personality felt so quickly and followed the legislative moves in such an understanding way.

DRIVE SAFELY

SPEEDING

MANY elements enter into the question of safe speed and each safe speed depends on several factors.

Clearly, there are two safe speeds on a road that today is jammed with traffic and tomorrow may find only your car on it.

Another element may be your brakes. Yours are in excellent shape. The other fellow's may be bad. Here, a safe speed for you is unsafe for him.

In an emergency, the alert driver can stop more quickly than a sluggish driver even though their brakes may be equally effective. Here again a safe speed for one would be unsafe for the other.

If ever you feel like stepping on the gas make sure first that you know your car, your highway and yourself. Be certain that you have the capacity to think fast and act even faster in an emergency.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER DISCOVERS SOMETHING STARTLING

NOT far from the Old Orchard grew a thorn-tree which Peter often passed. He never had paid particular attention to it. One morning he stopped to rest under it.

"You're wrong, Johnny Chuck. You are altogether wrong." Imagine how those creatures could have become fastened on those long, sharp thorns. It was a dreadful sight.

Sitting on his doorstep under the big apple tree in the far corner of the Old Orchard he found Johnny Chuck and at once hurried to tell him the strange news.

Now, Peter knew that he hadn't been dreaming. He knew that he had seen with his very own eyes that dreadful sight in the thorn-tree and he grew quite indignant with Johnny Chuck for doubting him.

That the first wearer of a top hat was John Hetherington, who strutted the streets of London in 1797, and created such excitement that he was arrested for disturbing the peace.

BROAD FIELD OF CONTROVERSY IN ARYAN-SEMITIC

The fact that Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, made use of the term Aryan in describing his ancestors, apparently disconcerted British ethnologists and etymologists, although taken in connection with a similar common use of the term Semite, the London Times thinks the circumstance worthy of erudite comment.

"Not long ago 'Aryan man' was one of those popularized scientific phrases of which the layman was quite sure that he knew the general meaning. Though he could not give an exact definition, Aryan, he thought, was an understandable way of distinguishing a branch of mankind which in its progress westward from some original stock had followed a northern rather than a southern path and had come in course of time to be characteristically European.

"Then, because the term, further confused with the pseudo-connotation of Nordic and vaguely associated with fair hair, was adopted as a justification for political intolerance, it was recently discredited as having no useful meaning in common speech.

"Now, after all, there are found authorities to defend it. Against those who hold that the Aryan family is a lingual family and nothing more, it is contended that the lingual distinction does in fact coincide with a racial distinction, that Aryan and Semite can hold up their heads, scientifically speaking, with Mongol or Negroid.

But the Aryan-Semite controversy is only a small part of a whole realm of dissipated conjecture. The instinct for separatism is too deep-seated ever to be at a loss for a means of expressing itself. In the expanding scale, when political frontiers have fallen out of fashion, it can fasten on still untried combinations of race, language or creed; in the diminishing and then the cycle of history will have made a full turn—it can rediscover the indisputable abilities of clans, totems and matrilineal descent."

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right dose of a liquid laxative brings a more natural movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may often do more harm than good. A properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin brings safe relief from constipation. It gently helps the average person's bowels until nature restores them to regularity. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which all druggists keep ready for use. It makes an ideal family laxative; effective for all ages, and may be given the youngest child.

Crochet Motif for Bedspread

A bedspread in crochet is a work of art, attracts attention and frequently becomes an heirloom. A spread crocheted in one piece becomes cumbersome as the work progresses. How much simpler to crochet one motif at a time and then assemble the motifs to complete spread. Watch your work grow when it can be taken along with you to social gatherings.

The above illustration represents the "Snow Flake" motif and how it shows up when put together. This motif when made of carpet warp measures six inches. Thirty-two motifs can be made from one pound of warp. This is only one of the 29 motifs shown in our book No. 27 on motif bedspreads. These motifs can also be used to make match sets for bedroom: curtains, pillows, chair-backs, scarfs, etc.

Age 13

Old enough for strong drugs?

It is not wise to give a laxative of adult strength to a child, just because you give it less often or in less amounts.

Stomach upsets and bowel troubles of growing children can often be traced to this single mistake.

There is a better way to relieve those occasional sluggish spells or constipation in a child of any age: Use a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not harm or upset a child's system.

Doctors advise liquid laxatives, and hospitals use the liquid form. Almost any child who has been convalescing in the hospital usually comes out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch. Make the change now to pure, California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you won't risk any more violence to your child's appetite, digestion and general physical condition. Those little upsets and complaints just disappear as a rule and the child is soon normal and happy again.

THE "LIQUID TEST." First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is the pure California Syrup of Figs, but be sure the word "California" is on the bottle.

N. Y. WRITERS SEE OWEN MORE AT FAULT THAN MEDDY

Due to the lopsided score by which the St. Louis Cardinals polished off the Detroit Tigers in the final game, 11 to 0, the principal news interest centered around the fracas that developed over Medwick's sliding into third base in the sixth inning. According to authentic photographs taken by the New York Times, the New York Tribune and the New York Daily News, separate photographs taken by their own staffs, third baseman Owen was shown coming down with one leg on Medwick as he slid into the base.

So, it would appear in the excitement of the game that Medwick had some excuse when sliding into base on the ground for kicking back after he was stepped on. According to all accounts on the scenes when Medwick arose the players started to box almost simultaneously and when separated Medwick offered to shake hands with Owen who refused the proffer. The New York Times, the New York Tribune and the New York Daily News' observers on the ground in no way blame Medwick. The incident which was said to have been the spark for shooting pop bottles at Medwick in leftfield, was one for which Medwick was not entirely to blame.

The New York Tribune representative on the ground describes the situation as follows: "Medwick, a belligerent young man, slid into third base after he had soaked a triple into right center in the sixth inning and met Owen's spikes, bottoms up. Medwick retaliated with a judicious kick at Owen. The umpires and players separated them. Then the crowd began to boo in earnest and yelled 'Take him out!' The game was delayed for fifteen minutes and finally Fullis was assigned to take Medwick's place. Medwick went out of the game but there appeared to be no excuse for the crowd's conduct."

In other words, the New York Tribune along with the Daily News and others who had men on the job seemed to feel that there was no justification for the crowd singing Medwick out and riding him the way they did. Most of the men who are real sports writers seemed to appreciate, in such a closely contested series, it was expected a player, who had made a triple, would slide into the bag vigorously. They also understand a player sliding into either second or third base has the right of way more so than when going into first base. It is the job of the third baseman to give the right of way to the runner and tag him as he slides into the bag. According to the pictures, Owen at-

The Carteret High-Glen Ridge football game, which was rained out last Saturday, is to be played Monday afternoon at 2:30. It was learned by The News this week. Tomorrow the Maermen meet Caldwell High, in their regular scheduled game.

McCarthy put his charges through a stiff scrimmage yesterday, at which time the second team was given most consideration. It seems that McCarthy wants to save his varsity team for the Glen Ridge game on Monday. However, should the "scrubs" start, the varsity will be pressed into service during the latter part of the game.

Little is known as to the abilities of the Caldwell team. In a game played last week at Nutley, the first football game that Caldwell ever played. They were defeated by a 12-6 score by Nutley. That is, this is the first season that they are playing interscholastic football. Because of this, Carteret rules a slight favorite.

Bill Babeock, the Caldwell fullback, pulled off an unusual stunt last week against Nutley. Babeock faked a kick from behind his goal line, cut for the sidelines, and after evading a couple of tacklers, out-sprinted the Nutley safety to score a touchdown on a run of 106 yards.

The McCarthy varsity will have Felcz and Romanowski, ends; Ward and Onderjacket, tackles; Such and Cherspon, guards; Wielgolinski, at center; Trivanovich and Dumanski, halfbacks; Kosel, fullback, and Dinney Comba, at quarterback.

The second team backfield is composed of Coughlin, quarterback, Martin and Suto, halfbacks and Horvath, full back.

tempted to cover the bag and block the runner. This same man Owen on the previous day fell on top of one of the other St. Louis players after he had slid into the bag. Partly because of the fracas and partly to assure the continuance of the game, without any further disturbance Commissioner of Baseball Landis asked Frisch to replace Medwick.

The general likelihood was in view of the fact St. Louis had already given Detroit a beautiful licking, knocking out its best pitchers, including Schoolboy Rowe, the crowd was looking for some outlet to start something. They came expecting to have a big celebration and were, of course bitterly disappointed when the St. Louis Cardinals routed their favorites. Incidentally, aside from the Deans, Joe Medwick's bat and all around playing in the series as a whole, probably did more to damage the Detroit than the work of anyone else. This, together with the fact that he played a vigorous game all through, did not sit any too well with the bleacherites.

Glen Ridge-Carteret Game Monday at 3

The Carteret High-Glen Ridge football game will start at 3:00 P. M., Monday afternoon, it was announced by Coach McCarthy yesterday. The game was supposed to have been played last Saturday, but inclement weather conditions prevented its being played.

Comba's St. Jos. Team Sponsoring a Dance

Joe Comba's championship Saint Joseph basketball squad will hold a dance on Monday evening, November 5th, at the Falcon Hall.

The proceeds from the affair will go to pay expenses for the team during the coming Carteret Junior Basketball League season.

The Carteret Junior Basketball League which functioned so well last year under the direction of Joe Comba and Joe Shutello, is reorganizing for the 1934-35 court season, it was learned by The News this week.

A Board of Directors meeting is to be held shortly, at which time teams desiring membership may file applications. It is thought however, that no more than six evenly matched teams will be accepted.

Joe Shutello, who served as president of the loop last year, will again head the league, it was learned. Assisting him will be Joe Comba, who has backed many other worth while athletic enterprises in town.

It is hoped that the league will again be granted access to the high school gym one night a week. Last year, Thursday night was league night at the high school, and the games drew quite a bit of attention from the town's fans.

The league was organized last year for the sole purpose of giving Carteret's younger element a chance to play basketball outside of the high school. It also gave the boys something to do one night a week, keeping them off the street corners and out of mischief.

Local officials are genuinely in back of the movement. Last year's record showed that a league of this sort could be engineered in town. Needless to say, the St. Joseph team is again favored to win. With their collection of stars from last year's championship squad they have one of the best junior teams in this vicinity. However, the other teams are also strengthening themselves, and when the season gets under way which will be sometime in the latter part of November, a fight to the finish can be expected.

Outlaws Desirous to Book Football Games

The Carteret Outlaws, a heavy junior football team, are desirous of booking games with teams of equal strength in this vicinity. Teams interested are requested to communicate with Manager Jake Schein, of 99 Emerson street, Carteret.

CLEM'S QUIBS OF SPORT

The borough was in a very belligerent frame of mind over the week-end. Fights in all the beer "joints" along the main stem kept the police busy.

But this was all shadowed by the St. Louis Cards' sensational victory over the Tigers in the final game of the world series on Monday afternoon. Not because the Cards won by such a decisive margin, but because their idol, Joe Medwick, figured in one of the most unusual incidents that ever took place in a world series game.

It all happened in the sixth inning, when Joe slammed out a triple to rightfield. As Joe slid into third base, Owen of the Tigers thinking that Medwick was going to spike him, began to shove Joe around. This was finally broken up by Cy Perkins, the Tiger coach. But when Medwick went out to his position in leftfield after the completion of the inning, the half-crazed fans began throwing all sorts of things at him. Ham sandwiches, pop bottles, papers, hats, everything under the sun was thrown at him. When the fans did not stop, Judge Landis ordered Medwick's withdrawal from the game. As Medwick left the field, he was led by a constabulary escort. Landis, in explaining why he took Medwick out of the game, stated that it was for his (Medwick's) own good. Probably it was but why didn't the Judge haul Owen out of the ball game, too?

Many fans have taken up the incident as a means to "debunk" Medwick. These free speaking young men are going about town telling everyone in sight that Medwick is a "dirty" ball player, spiking everyone he sees.

But Ford Frick, in his radio talk on Monday evening after the game, put in a great word for Joe. Frick said that Medwick is the most spirited player on the Cards. He said that Medwick plays ball with so much zip and vigor that other players think he is trying to spike them when he comes sliding into a base. The incident, according to Frick, should not stand as a black mark against Medwick's name.

ABOUT THE FIELD CLUB

The players of the Carteret Field Club staged a little free-for-all for themselves Sunday afternoon at the high school field, much to the delight of everyone.

The brawl started over the officiating. The Newark boys claimed that Chippy Cutter wasn't calling the plays as he ought to.

Up until this game, no one ever said anything about Chippy's officiating. He worked the ball games, and called the plays as he saw them. Those who know him can truthfully say that Chippy Cutter isn't one who would do any "gypping."

However, a fight here and there is what's needed to put football back where it belongs. It is safe to say that the Field Club will have a greater attendance now than they ever had at their football games. The fans in this town are after action, not just ordinary football playing. But, sad to say, they won't be treated to a fist fight every week. A team only backs up against a bunch of soreheads like the Leonards once in a season.

Slinsky Wins Bowling Award

Joseph Slinsky won five dollars in cash for bowling the highest score for the week in the Chrome Bowling League. The contest was held from the week of October 2nd to the 9th. After leading most of the week "Tarazi" Horvath fell down completely after being pressed by Slinsky's smart bowling. The prize was given him by the manager of the Chrome alleys.

Next week, a six team bowling league will get under way at the Chrome alleys. The place is newly furnished and a large crowd is expected to roll this season.

Game Ends In Fisticuffs; Green Local Offensive Star

In a game that was abruptly halted in the final period by fisticuffs, the Carteret Field Club whitewashed the Benny Leonard Association of Newark Sunday afternoon at the high school field by a 30-0 score.

Petty arguments dominated the major part of the game. The climax however, came in the final period with about four minutes to play, when a fist fight broke out between the players of both teams.

The locals, outweighing their opponents twenty pounds to a man, scored in every period. Two minutes after the kick-off, Green, hard driving fullback raced twenty yards for Carteret's first score. An attempted pass, Green to Donovan, for the extra point, was grounded.

As the second period got under way, Leván, substitute for Czerpaniak raced to the Newark ten yard line from the forty. Andy Galvanek went over for the second touchdown. A bad pass from center made it possible for Galvanek to kick the extra point.

Green again ran the ball down to the fifteen yard stripe as the second half opened. Czerpaniak, on an end run, scored Carteret's third touchdown. Galvanek's drop kick for the extra point was blocked.

Chippy Conrad went in for Al Nagy, and once again the local tusslers began a touchdown drive. Conrad took the ball on an off tackle play from the thirty-five to the fifteen. Again Conrad took the ball, went around the left end and broke loose to score the fourth touchdown for the locals standing up. Galvanek's pass for the extra point was grounded.

Green tossed a thirty-yard forward pass to Malaszewski, lanky end, who scampered over the goal line for the final tally. The pass for the extra point was again grounded. The Carteret team led by a 30-0 score as the waning minutes of the game approached.

The visitors, however, were not content in having the game come to a peaceful ending. During the course of the game, they protested heartily at every decision rendered by Chippy Cutter, who was officiating. However, their "squawks" went unheard. So, to get revenge, they began to play very unsportsmanlike football.

After Red Godmustad had intercepted a loose aerial, he was brought down heavily by two of the Newark players. One of the fellows took Red's helmet, which had come off, and "slugged" him one on the beam. The other fellow although he wasn't seen, twisted Red's leg.

The other Carteret players came to Red's aid, and fist fights between different members of the teams raged for about five minutes. A few of the other Newark players, not in on the first fight, made their way over to Chippy Cutter, and were going to get even on him for his "chiseling." But Joe Comba came to Chippy's assistance, and finally the boys broke it up and went into the gym and got dressed.

The attendance at the game was very small, fans staying home at their radio sets listening to the world series game.

FRISCH, HALL PRAISE MEDWICK LAST NIGHT AT MONSTER AFFAIR

Ducky Medwick

The finest affair ever held in Carteret was staged last night at the High School by the Mayor's welcome home committee when a banquet and testimonial was tendered Joe Medwick, former local high school athlete, member of the St. Louis baseball team, the Champions of the World for 1934. Tables were in every available inch on the floor of the high school gym and the stage as well. Due to lack of space anywhere late comers were forced to stand, but everyone was in on the main part of the show, hearing the insides of the world series play from no less a person than Manager Frank Frisch, of the World Champions, himself.

Manager Frisch received a great ovation as he was introduced by toastmaster Monaghan. The crowd arose and applauded and cheered for fully five minutes as the successful manager in the world series stood up to speak. His talk was worth more than the price of the show.

Speaking of his team he said that they made their last minute dash from sixth to first place in the National League to win the league championship because they were a bunch of young vigorous players who kept fighting to win up to the last minute. He remarked that it was this drive and fight that carried his boys through the world series to the world's championship.

Frankie Frisch told the audience that he had played in 8 world series during his 16 years in professional baseball but that the games with Detroit were the hardest fought on both sides and the toughest contests that he ever played in. He maintained that due to the way the men on both sides fought all the way there naturally were a few collisions on the bases. He claimed that in one of the games Goose Goslin of the Detroit's crashed into him so hard at second base that he was completely dazed for a few minutes. Here he pointed out that he did not ask to have Detroit's outfielder removed and neither did the Detroit fans yell to take out Goslin or throw fruit at him.

The always interesting Frisch said that he would be manager next year, that their had been all kinds of stories as to where Joe would play next year, but he assured the crowd that if he had anything to do with it that Joe would be out in his accustomed place at left-field for the champions of 1934. Speaking directly to Joe Medwick, his manager congratulated him on his work, told him to take care of his money and his health and predicted that Joe would have a great future. Frisch was high in praise of the the Dean Brothers and so was Medwick when he spoke. Carteret's Clouting Kid, Joe Medwick, provoked a wild demonstration when he was presented by the toastmaster. He looked like a good healthy boy and spoke just like one. Joe said the welcome home and now this outpouring at a testimonial dinner, capping the climax, was all so wonderful to him that he really did not know what to say other than to express his appreciation to the Mayor and his reception committee for their hard work and the people generally for the splendid way he has been received. He said that Frisch was a great manager, who kept after everyone on the team all the time in order to win but that he liked to play for him and hoped that he would be on Frisch's teams as long as Frisch stayed in baseball and he hoped that would be a long time. As to the well publicized third base incident, Medwick said that he had in mind that the third baseman had spiked one of the other St. Louis players and that he took no chances when he saw him with his foot in the air coming down on him and that he impulsively tried to protect himself since he was lying on the ground. His opinion, however, was that Commissioner Landis had done the right thing in taking him out as the fans would not let the game go on.

Joe said that he was disappointed at being taken out of the game as he missed an opportunity to add to his record in the series for base hits. As it was he tied for first place in the series. The toastmaster, who did a fine job, read telegrams from all parts of the country from the St. Louis players, including the Dean brothers expressing regret that they could not be present and congratulating Joe. The meal was promptly served once the speakers were in the hall and the toastmaster kept everything moving in the way of talks.

Mayor Hermann in a brief talk presented to Joe for the diners a wrist watch as a token of esteem. The Mayor said that the Borough was proud to welcome Joe back in the high school where he had studied only a few years ago before he had dreamed of gaining in a few short years national prominence in sports. He complimented him for having his parents share with him all his triumphs. He said that a boy who does not forget his parents at the time he is scoring victories for himself is made of the right stuff. In presenting the wrist watch the Mayor wished Joe health and happiness in the days to come.

John Hall of Elizabeth and Coach McCarthy of the high school athletic teams were also speakers. The gymnasium and stage were decorated with the national colors, a loud speaker was used at the head table carrying the voices all over the building and traffic outside the high school was well handled. The affair was most dignified and reflected credit on the committee and the charge include Mayor Hermann, G. community. The committee in A. Bradley, John Casaleggi, William Lawlor, Sr., William Duff and C. A. Sheridan. Joe Fitzgerald handled the loud speakers. Chief Harrington and a group of his men handled traffic.

Truck Driver Is Relieved of $75.00

Frank Swinglor, colored, of 29 Salem Avenue reported that at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, while he was operating a truck owned by Arthur Hall of 191 Pershing Avenue, he was held up by three armed colored men, near the Railway line. Swinglor alleges he left the borough for the Pennsylvania coal mines to get a load of coal, and was shortly thereafter approached by a single colored man to take him to the Railway Station. Swinglor complied and when his truck made the turn in Rahway Avenue near the Railway line, another car is alleged to have pulled alongside of his truck and the bandits ordered him to halt. He complied and is alleged to have been relieved of $75 by the bandits.

"IT COULD BE WORSE"

By R. H. WILKINSON

MABEL WILLIAMS is an optimistic person. When things go wrong she is apt to present a cheery little smile and say: "Oh, well, it could be worse."

Which really has a brightening effect on the atmosphere and creates a more hopeful outlook for the future. However, of late, this "it could be worse" business has become more or less automatic with Mabel.

She issues the statement in rather an unconscious manner, no matter how gloomy the circumstances, and somehow you get the impression it has become a habit.

You can depend upon her saying it when you have concluded reciting what you believe to be a tale of unrequited misfortune.

You find yourself waiting for the words to escape her lips, steeling yourself against them, thankful when they are over.

Bill Williams, Mabel's husband, has come to realize this more and more during the past few months of their married life.

Bill is himself no pessimist. He is ever hopeful for better times and a brighter future.

And during the days of prosperity, when business was booming and orders were rolling in faster than they could be taken care of, Bill would welcome the sound of Mabel saying: "It could be worse," whenever he came home with a tale of some minor misfortune that actually had no effect on his output, one way or the other.

But when the depression victimized Bill along with hundreds of others, when orders ceased flowing, when business dropped off to the lowest ebb in history and life became a constant round of worrying and fretting and wondering which way to turn, Mabel's "it could be worse" wasn't so consoling.

Physically exhausted, mentally weary Bill would drag his tired feet into the house late at night, flop dejectedly into a chair and unburden himself on Mabel with a bitter tale of the hard luck in which he was playing, and predictions of a hopeless future.

Mabel would wait until the tragic tale was ended, smile brightly and say: "Oh, well, it could be worse."

She might just as well have said: "I know you must talk about it, Bill, and I'm willing to listen, but don't expect me to believe there's anything really wrong."

That was the trouble with Mabel. She never seemed to attach much importance to things he had to say relative to his business.

The attention she gave him when he talked was a dutiful attention, a preoccupied, polite attention.

Her "it could be worse" was stereotyped. Perhaps, Bill told himself, it was his own fault.

ing a man home to dinner. He's interested in buying the Reynolds property. If I can put the sale across, we can struggle along for another six months. If not, we're sunk. Please try and be nice to him." Mabel expelled a lungful of breath that whistled through the air in the form of a vast sigh of relief.

There was triumph in her eyes. "There!" she exclaimed. "I knew it!" "Knew what?" "Knew things could be worse. It would be worse, wouldn't it, if you didn't have any prospect at all, or if the Reynolds place wasn't for sale?"

Bill shook his head and deigned not to answer. There was a sad, helpless look in his eyes.

There wasn't much you could do with a person like Mabel. The prospect's name was Crabby, Eustice Crabby. And Bill, after spending the afternoon expounding on the merits of the Reynolds place, decided that Mr. Crabby was well named.

He crabbied at everything that could be crabbied about. His long, thin face, his forlorn-looking eyes, his gaunt, stooped frame fairly radiated gloom.

To look at him was depressing. Mr. Crabby's reaction to Bill's salesmanship was in the form of sympathy rather than enthusiasm.

It seemed to Bill that the bloke piddled him for even entertaining a thought of selling a piece of property in these dull times.

He wondered why the man had come to look at the property at all, and regretted having invited him to dinner; would, in fact, have discarded the thought had the invitation not been issued at an earlier date.

Dinner was on the table when the two men reached Bill's house and Bill knew a feeling of irritation upon discovering that Mr. Crabby's gloomy outlook on life had in no way impaired his appetite.

Mr. Crabby ate with a relish and heartiness that was quite astounding. He devoured the last morsel, smacked his lips, pushed back his plate and nodded his appreciation to Mabel. "A fine meal, Mrs. Williams."

Mabel smiled brightly. "It could be worse," she admitted. "Times are pretty bad," Mr. Crabby suggested, "Nothing like good food to cheer a man up when he's low in spirits."

"Well, I don't know," said Mabel. "Times could be a lot worse." "Think so," asked Mr. Crabby, interested.

"Of course I think so. Now take us, for example. Bill thought he'd have to go to the wall. And then he remembered you. When he told me you'd bought the Reynolds place, it simply proved my argument. It could be worse."

Mr. Crabby and Bill exchanged glances. Mr. Crabby said: "Glad to hear some one admit things could be worse. Most every one holds an opposite opinion these days."

"That's because they don't stop to think, Mr. Crabby. Folks have been used to having too much. They don't appreciate a little—they want a lot. Oh, my, yes; things could be a lot worse than they are."

"By jingo," declared Mr. Crabby, picking his teeth. "That's good philosophy. Cheers a feller up." He turned to Bill. "You're lucky to have such a wife, young man. Having some one around with a bright outlook on life must be inspiring."

Mr. Crabby loosened a stray piece of meat from an upper molar and chewed on it pensively. "I dunno," he said at last, "but what I'll meet your figure on that Reynolds place, Mr. Williams. Seems like a good buy. At least it could be worse."

"Yes," said Bill weakly, "it could be worse." "Much worse," Mabel said brightly. And Bill grinned at her.

Velvet Goes Everywhere This Fall

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

As you are going stepping along boulevard and avenue in crisp golden smalt autumn days? A round of calls to make about town? Perhaps afternoon tea with friends at the club? Wear tailored velvet.

You have a swanky new plaid woolen daytime dress? Top it with a swagger coat and matching beret of velvet in black or a gorgeous hue.

You have a modish suit or ensemble of the loose wavy nubby tweed the likes of which everybody is wanting this season? Give it a final touch of distinction with accessories of rich colored velvet—bag, belt, scarf and an Alpine hat in forest or pine green or the popular rust color.

You have accepted an invitation to dine and dance tonight? Wear regal velvet with stunning jewelry or glittering metal accents. You simply must own one of the scintillating silver mesh bag and triangle scarf sets such as the lovely young girl in the foreground of the illustration is so proudly wearing with her handsome velvet gown.

Of course the fall and winter wardrobe of the properly velvet-minded will include at least one de luxe velvet coat or evening wrap. The new three-quarter loose-from-the-shoulder coats of white velvet either self-scarfed or trimmed with brown fur are the latest.

Nor does the glory of velvet depart when the lights are out, for even when the woman of fashion retires she is supposed to dream sweet dreams in velvet. When we explain that the velvet which makes these perfectly lovely nightrobes is of the kind that actually washes as easily and as satisfactorily as your favorite muslins, batistes and nainsocks, velvet for "nighties" becomes a practical as well as a fascinating theme.

SCARFS ARE BRAZEN WITH BRIGHT COLORS

Scarves for winter are gay, almost brazen, with plaids and stripes in strong colors. Colors preferred are bright red, rust, wine, all varieties of green and some navy. Black and white still is popular. Materials include sheer woolsens, cashmere, novelty materials, spun silk, velvet, rough heavy crepe and taffeta.

Shapes include the square and triangle, the ascot and a new favorite called the jockey, which is narrow and long enough to twist around the neck several times.

Dainty pastels in woolsens, such as pale yellows and orange, are offered for tweed suits.

Small Checks and Large Make Costume Different

Those indispensable three-piece suits for sports or for spectating are frequently in checks this season. But the current mode being what it is in the way of a yen for something different, the checks are sometimes dissimilar in the same suit. One variation is wrought by the use of small checks in the jacket and skirt, and large checks of the same color and pattern in the long topcoat.

Tailored Suits Are Being Projected for Fall Wear

A stunning new tailored suit model is in a rich green gabardine. The double-breasted jacket has two large patch pockets which feature inverted pleats. A bi-swag back with a stitched down belt is an interesting fashion note. A white linen mannish blouse is worn with the suit. Brown accessories and a silver fox scarf add a note of distinctive chic to the costume.

Smart Parisians Now Are Going About Bareheaded

Parisians, the smartly-dressed feminine ones, are going about bareheaded, according to stylist Marjorie Howard, who recently returned from France.

If no hat at all is too much of a fashion leap to take at once, the next best thing, says Miss Howard, is a hat with a high crown.

"The things that are definitely out, finished, are flowers and the shallow hat. We shall see no more of either for a bit," she declared.

American buyers grabbed all the high-crowned hats they could get their hands on at the recent Paris mid-summer openings in a reaction against that "potato chip" kind of headgear that's been worn all summer, she says.

Fullness at Back Shown in Many Interpretations

Evening frocks with gathered fullness at the back of skirts show a stronger appreciation of the Augustan bernard "bustle back" silhouette launched last season. At that time it registered as one of the most radical departures in silhouettes, partly because it introduced such massed fullness of the back. Up to that moment the skirts with excessively fitted hips were in command; another reason for its arousing interest was that it introduced a new movement in the use of gathered fullness of fabric worked on the straight, while all current effort has been concentrated on fullness through bias cuts.

Assassination of King Alexander and Louis Barthou Alarms All Europe—Spanish Revolt Suppressed—CCC Will Be Continued.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

TWO men of great importance in the maintenance of peace in Europe were removed from the scene by the bullets of the assassin, Petrus Kalemen, who slew King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, in Marseilles.

"Another Sarajevo?" was the question in every mind, and, indeed, there was some slight danger that the crime would start another great war. Alexander was just beginning a "good will" visit in France, which was closely tied up with Barthou's plan for an accord between France and Italy, and Barthou was soon to go to Rome to further the scheme.

King Alexander

It trouble does follow after the assassinations it probably will start with revolution in Yugoslavia. Only by assuming and exercising dictatorial powers was Alexander able to keep peace in the hodgepodge that comprises the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, otherwise Yugoslavia, and it is not certain that there is anyone else there who can do it.

Alexander's eldest son Peter, who was in school in England, was promptly proclaimed king and, being only eleven years old, will rule under a regency of three men who were named in the political will of the murdered monarch. Whether these three can hold the kingdom intact is a question.

The death of Alexander was held especially important to Germany by the statesmen of that country, for they had looked to him to curb to a considerable extent the alleged ambitions of Mussolini. He was considered a close friend of the reich and a potential ally.

France was not only worried by the possibility of trouble in the Balkans, but also deeply mourned the death of Barthou, one of her ablest statesmen and, indeed, one of the ablest in Europe. He had been working assiduously on his pet scheme of a security pact for eastern Europe; and, although Germany had scored him for trying to build a diplomatic and economic ring about the reich, last June he personally negotiated an accord between France and Germany that was believed to give assurance of peace.

Petrus Kalemen, the assassin, who was quickly killed by the French police, was found to have been traveling on a forged Czech passport. Two men who accompanied him on his mission of death were captured near the Swiss border and another was being hunted down in Fontainebleau forest. Where they came from and what organization was back of the assassinations had not been learned at this writing. The police thought they belonged to a secret Macedonian revolutionary society.

CIVIL war in Spain was precipitated by the radical elements, starting with a 24-hour general strike which was declared by the Socialists and Communists in answer to the formation of a conservative government by Premier Alejandro Lerroux under the domination of reactionary Catholics.

Within a few hours bloody conflicts broke out in many regions, and Catalonia, the northeast corner of the country, decided this was the time to establish itself as an independent republic. Luis Companys, president of the state, announced: "Catalonia is breaking off relations with the rest of Spain. I demand complete discipline from everyone." He called on Gen. Domingo Batet, commander of the garrison at Barcelona, to swear allegiance to the new regime, but that wily soldier spurned for time, and before an hour had passed he received orders from Madrid to declare a state of siege.

His troops battled with the Catalans, and soon had Companys and his fellow leaders cooped up in the presidential palace. Reinforcements for the government forces arrived swiftly by land, sea and air.

Then the artillery opened up, and after the palace had been thoroughly shelled, Companys and his colleagues surrendered and were marched to a prison ship in Barcelona harbor. The revolution was over and the new Catalan republic went out of existence. It was rumored the collapse was partly due to a dispute between Companys and former Premier Manuel Azana, a co-leader in the revolt. Azana was found in hiding and arrested.

Surrender of Companys did not end the fighting in northern Spain, for the revolutionists in various regions continued their desperate efforts, but the government considered the revolt really had been suppressed. There was no telling how many had been killed or wounded, but certainly the casualty lists were terribly long.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff and now in command of the G. H. Q. combat air force and also of the ground forces, is planning to develop a fighting fleet of super battle planes. The first step will be the organization of the G. H. Q. air force of at least 1,000 planes grouped in five "wings" based on both coasts and in the Middle West. This would bring the army corps up to about 2,300 planes, making an aerial fighting fleet approximately the equal of any in the world.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania has in the past been in sympathy with much of President Roosevelt's program, but he has now definitely broken away by coming out in favor of the re-election of Senator David A. Reed, anti-New Deal Republican whose defeat would be most welcome to the administration.

Immediately after Pinchot announced his stand in a speech at Wilkes-Barre, Postmaster General Farley conferred with Mr. Roosevelt and then, as chairman of the Democratic National committee, gave out a stinging attack on Pinchot. In it he referred to Senator Reed as "perhaps the most outstanding foe of the President's policies," who, if elected, would "do everything in his power to hamper the President's program and to make a misdeal out of the New Deal."

It is said that the Pennsylvania Democrats are impugning the President to take a hand personally, and perhaps make a speech in the state, in an effort to win over rock-ribbed Pennsylvania and retire Senator Reed in a defeat which could also be construed as a slap at Pinchot and Andrew W. Mellon.

GOVERNMENT crop benefit checks for more than $52,000,000 have been paid to farmers participating in the production adjustment program, according to figures compiled by the AAA. Some $575,000,000 additional is scheduled for payment under programs now in effect, nearly 60 per cent of it before the end of this year.

Thus, the farmers' stake in the AAA approximates $1,000,000,000. Payments already made or to be made before January are included in the estimate of the bureau of agricultural economics which places 1934 cash farm income at about $6,000,000,000 compared to $5,000,000,000 last year and $4,333,000,000 in 1932.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has made it plain that the Civilian Conservation corps, one of the least criticized features of his recovery program, is to be continued indefinitely. He wrote to Robert Fechner, director of the corps, saying:

"I have been greatly interested and encouraged by the fine report from your visits to CCC camps in many parts of the country. This kind of work must go on. I believe that the nation feels that the work of these young men is so thoroughly justified and, in addition, the benefits to the men themselves are so clear that the actual annual cost will be met without much opposition or much complaint."

Mr. Fechner had reported to the President that the cost of the CCC during its eighteen months of operation had amounted to $443,000,000.

THERE is an interesting report circulating in Wisconsin, especially in Madison. It is to the effect that President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin is looking toward the Republican Presidential nomination in 1936 and that this idea explains his refusal to permit Lloyd K. Garrison to remain in Washington as head of the national labor relations board.

The Madison Capital Times said it understood Doctor Frank feels the Republican party is in need of a "liberal" candidate, yet not a "dangerous" liberal, and believes he is in a position to qualify.

To interviewers Doctor Frank declined to comment on the newspaper story. He said his insistence that Garrison return to his duties as dean of the law school was solely in the interests of the university.

RHODE Island Republicans are quite satisfied with Felix Hebert as senator and have renominated him. For governor the state convention named Gen. Luke H. Gallan, a veteran of the Spanish-American and World wars.

USE of the taxpayer's money in government operation of industries in competition with private enterprise was condemned by the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers, which acted on petitions received from seventy-three trade associations. The manufacturers assert that such government experimentation merely results in depriving employees in private industry of their jobs, creating unemployment at one end and unemployment at another.

"Entrance of the government into the manufacturing business in competition with its own citizens," says the manufacturers' statement, "eventually supply relief for the unemployed, but constitutes an extravagant use of the taxpayers' money in further experiments."

"Where those in distress cannot be provided with either public or private work for which they could be then public funds may be legitimately used to provide relief of actual need on a subsistence basis. But to furnish necessities required through government operated factories is the wrong way to do the right thing."

CONFERRING with the full membership of the new national industrial recovery board headed by Mr. Clay Williams, President Roosevelt is to be known that he was far from satisfied with NRA enforcement in the past and asked the board to devise more vigorous and effective methods.

Price-fixing and production control were discussed but not at length, and although price-fixing policies of the Johnson regime would be reversed on paper, no sweeping action would be taken to upset existing codes and any action at all would come slowly.

ATTORNEY GENERAL CUMMINGS has called a national conference to discuss crime which is to open in Washington December 3 and continue three days. President Roosevelt is to address the first session in Constitution hall. The conference will be invited to give broad and practical consideration to the problem of crime in three principal aspects:

- 1. Causes and prevention of crime. 2. Investigation, detection, and apprehension of crime and criminals. 3. Criminal courts and prosecution. 4. Detection, parole, probation, and pardon.

THE voice of Hauptmann is the voice I heard in the cemetery that night when the $50,000 ransom was paid," said Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to the grand jury in Trenton, N. J., after he had listened to the suspect in the kidnaping and murder case. The grand jury accepted this as clinching testimony and returned an indictment against Bruno Hauptmann, charging murder.

The words "Hey doctor. Over the doctor" were spoken by the man who got the ransom money from Lindbergh's intermediary, Dr. John T. Dunton. They were spoken in the cemetery where the payment was made. Lindbergh heard them and remembered the voice.

Although the case is invariably referred to as the "Lindbergh kidnaping," the grand jury returned no kidnap indictment. Kidnapers may be sentenced to life terms. Murders face the electric chair.

DELEGATES to the American Federation of Labor convention in San Francisco adopted unanimously and with cheers a resolution proposing adoption of a six-day day and five-day week for all workers, private and government.

A committee appointed to investigate possibilities and need of shorter work periods reported favorably.

William Green, president of A. F. of L., made an impassioned speech in favor of shorter work periods during which he said the federation can be expected to mobilize its economic strength to make a concerted drive on industry and owners of industry for adoption of a six-hour day and five-day week and that legislation by congress would be sought at the forthcoming session.

There will be enforcement of this economic reform, not to make less work for those already employed but to create work opportunities for more people. Resolutions as adopted provide for no reduction in wages to result from shorter work periods.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, won a victory when the convention voted unanimously for the organization of workers into single unions embracing whole industries, as distinguished from craft unions limited to particular trades. The executive council was instructed to issue charters or the creation of national and international unions in the automotive, cement, aluminum and other mass production industries.

The council also was ordered to inaugurate organization campaigns in the iron and steel industries. The federation also went on record in favor of pensions for the aged, for mothers of dependent children and for the sick, and unemployment benefits.

IGNITARIES of the Roman Catholic church from many lands and pilgrims by the hundred thousands gathered in Buenos Aires, Argentina, for the thirty-second International Eucharistic congress. Ship after ship entered the harbor laden with pilgrims from Europe, Africa and all the Americas, and the city threw open its homes for their accommodation. The picturesque open air ceremonies were held in Palermo park, and other religious rites were celebrated in the magnificent cathedral.

CAREFUL BUILDING CODE WILL HELP CARTERET IMPROVE

By EDDIE EKROY

(This is the fifth article concerning the future of Carteret, which article is designed to keep people thinking for a moment at two of the questions, "Where are we going?"

Seven years ago the writer composed a column under the heading of OPINION. At that time he could see Carteret going westward. In the three years that followed, Carteret stepped out in great strides across the fields beyond Washington Avenue and clear up into East Highway.

Many people here said it was all foolishness and that building a house in East Highway was nothing short of going out on a farm to live.

A terrible business collapse struck down all further progress into that section. More people were packing up. But when they saw the storm crashing in upon them, they un-packed and decided to remain awhile to ride out the storm.

Other people in those furious years before the collapse thought it would be better not to build houses away out in East Highway; so they built places in a wide radius about Brady's corner. People saw the passing of a baseball lot that had been regarded as a permanent thing, for few dreamed that we had arrived at the point where houses would be put on Brady's field.

The important thing to notice is that everything went westward.

Things will continue over that course as soon as the clouds have lifted. They are lifting now.

The men in charge of Carteret's planning must not forget that they are capable of doing Carteret a great deal of harm by not realizing that careful restrictions are necessary in the building program of a community in order to assure its success as a decent going place.

Certainly details are not necessary to point out the mistakes in Carteret's development so far.

A definite building program is needed enforced to keep business places and houses separated.

Carteret suffers today from a widely scattered business layout. Perhaps a little thinking may give a central business section to Carteret some day. That that day is not far off, if careful planning is done.

LIBRARY CHAT

By WILLIAM HARRINGTON
Carteret Public Library

THE FOLKS, by Rut Suckow—This is the story of the Ferguson boys and girls who stem from the comfortable small town home of a thrifty bank cashier. One goes to New York to be a Bohemian. Another goes to Los Angeles to become a Californian. The younger son marries a burning young radical who brings an alien element into the easy going household of the parents. Although panoramic in its scope, this novel is not guilty of the melodramatic qualities usually prevalent in novels of that class.

FULL FLAVOR, by Doris Leslie—Catherine Ducros' preoccupation with business wrecks her marriage with a young and talented artist. Her iron will works havoc on her loved ones and slowly they drift from her—generation after generation. An interesting story of character.

DUSK AT THE GROVE, by Samuel Rogers—This story is told from inside the minds of first one and then another of the various characters in the book. It is concerned with the Waring family and with that part of their lives which is lived at the grove, the beloved place on Rhode Island where they spent their summers.

SALVATION, by Scholen Asch—The story of the life and religious reactions of Jechiel, a Polish Jew of the period of Napoleon. Jechiel is a conscientious youth brought up by a devoted mother who instills a love for the "Faith" in her son. This love bears fruit in an exemplary life and wide influence as a rabbi.

BULLDOG DRUMMOND STRIKES BACK, by H. C. McNeile—Hugh Drummond, better known to McNeile's readers by the cog-nomen of Bulldog, takes the reader through many a page of thrills to the solution of a good mystery.

The Carteret News

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY IN THE YEAR AT THE PLANT OF THE CARTERET NEWS AT 9 COOKE AVENUE, CARTERET, N. J. TELEPHONE, CARTERET 8-3000.

M. E. YORKE, Publisher

Entered as second-class matter June 24, 1905, at the post office at Carteret, N. J., under act of March 3, 1879.

THE CARTERET NEWS was founded June 17, 1908 as THE ROOSEVELT NEWS; was published on Wednesdays until July 15, 1909; was then published on Thursdays until December 6, 1912, since which time it has been a Friday paper. The title of the paper became THE CARTERET NEWS on November 17, 1922, following the election of November 7, 1922, when the people of the Borough voted to change the name of the Borough from Roosevelt to Carteret by a vote of 1652 to 203.

PARKS

On every question, whether public or otherwise, there is often a difference of views or opinion, based in part upon the experience and knowledge of the individual. An honest difference of opinion is healthy. The way to arrive at a correct solution of any public question is through intelligent and frank discussion. The objective always ought to be to honestly strive to do the best thing.

A communication recently received by The Carteret News took the view that parks are unnecessary in a community such as this where there is very much more unused acreage than there are houses, so much undeveloped land with no crowded tenements or giant apartment houses. This communication particularly stressed that in these times of difficulty for all, with inability to pay taxes on the part of many, it is not the time to further burden the individual with something that is not now essential to individual or present community existence.

There is, of course, much to be said for these viewpoints. However, by the very situation that exists to-day with discouraged property holders willing to let go for the sake of the remission of taxes, it might not be unwise to take advantage of the situation as against the future and accept a limited amount of land that might be obtained for taxes or in any other such way looking towards the day when general improvement will really have arrived and as a provision for the future.

In much this same way the property now Central Park in New York City was obtained a great many years ago under similar conditions. It was gotten for a "song" and it was then said it would "never" be used. Now it is in the heart of the city very much used and worth a fortune. However, it was not unloaded as a real estate "job" on the City.

Along these lines of providing for the future as the opportunity offers and not weighing the community down, the Borough took over in the past year some sixteen acres of Canda property, which is a step in the right direction for the future. It is quite true this is no crowded city and there is now no driving need for it. Yet the Borough was obtaining no revenue from the property owners, since the holders could not pay taxes. A gradual step now and then in this direction hardly can be considered unwise particularly when it is made certain that it is not a real estate grab simply to unload and that the community is in a position to handle the situation financially.

EXPERIENCE ESSENTIAL

Authentic figures at hand to-day show that business in the country as a whole has been slipping since June. September country-wide reports indicate that September not only was a worse month than August, but that September 1934 was much slower in work available than September 1933.

Usually September shows a pickup over August. But this September is worse than August and even worse than September a year ago.

Carteret, like every other municipality, appears to be faced in the coming year with a more difficult situation than we just passed through during the past year. The record of our community in these depression years has been remarkable. Heavy deficits left by the previous administration have been wiped out; not a single public employe has been discharged; all public services have been fully maintained; all teachers, police and firemen have been paid promptly in cash, not in scrip or baby bonds, and no homes have been sold.

Taxes have been reduced. Was this because taxes were promptly and fully paid in Carteret?

No! quite the contrary! In 1932 60% of the residents were unable to pay creating a situation that indicated homes would have to be sold and many of the public employes laid off with promises instead of pay for those lucky enough to still be at work.

At the end of 1933 taxes to the amount of $300,000 were owed the Borough, again indicating only the finest kind of management of municipal finances would bring us through 1934 without the sale of homes, wholesale layoffs of public employes and payless payrolls for our teachers, police, janitors and firemen. But Hermann's long experience brought us safely through another year.

Business has been steadily getting worse, so that from now on we will need the best available EXPERIENCE ON THE JOB TO PROTECT OUR HOMES, our community's future and maintain present services with regular pay in cash for public employes. Unpaid taxes and assessments are heavy and no business pickup is in sight, which means the most careful, experienced management will be needed in the next few years if we all are to come through safely.

Damp Air Weighs Less

The weather bureau says damp air weighs less than dry air, as the dampness is due to the vapor of water in the air, and vapor of water is lighter than most of the other gases of the atmosphere.

Cold Killed Prehistoric Reptiles

Research indicates that the great prehistoric reptilian monsters of North America died of cold, caused by change of climate, rather than by enemies. The tiling of great land masses dried up their swamplike homes.

The "Bulletin Tree"

An old tree guarding the White House gate has often been referred to as the "Bulletin Tree" because of the claim that bulletins were posted on it hourly from the doctors at the bedside of the wounded President Garfield.

Longest Shadow

The longest shadow in the world is that of El Tilon peak on Tenerife, the largest of the Canary Islands. This peak rises abruptly 12,200 feet above the Atlantic and at sunrise and sunset it casts a shadow more than 200 miles.

THE NEWS TEN YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

ISSUE OF OCTOBER 10, 1924

Mayor Mulvihill charged the Democrats with spreading false propaganda in the present political campaign against his reelection saying in part, my opponent has recently told the public that we are spendthrifts. The mayor suggested going out on a public platform with ex-mayor Hermann to discuss the borough finances in the open.

Yom Kipper, the day of Atonement, the most solemn and sacred day in the Jewish religious calendar, was observed here on Wednesday.

Emil Stremlau, counselor and borough attorney, has taken up his residence at 97 Lowell street, coming from Perth Amboy. He was appointed to the borough attorney position in 1922 by mayor Mulvihill.

A negro was stabbed by another negro at Salem and Warren streets, Monday morning. The motive was revenge for a stabbing received some time ago.

At a recent meeting of the High School Athletic Association the president appointed a committee to find a suitable basketball court for the team to use in practice. A schedule has been arranged with nearby high school teams. The committee consists of Miss McCarthy, Isaac Nadel, Ted Daniels, Joseph Sexton and Edward Dubow. The treasurer Margaret Child has appointed her assistants in getting membership subscribers.

King Brady pitched the Tigers to the championship of the Twilight League last Sunday by holding the Belmonts and winning, 5 to 3. In nine innings he fanned ten batters and allowed only six singles. Rusty Donovan was his opponent moundman. Ted Faulkner rapped him for the only extra-base hit of the fracas, a two-bagger.

ISSUE OF OCTOBER 17, 1924

C. C. Sheridan said at a great mass meeting of Democrats, Friday, that "if the Republicans were in office sixteen years, this borough would have been hocked in the pawn-shop with no pawn-broker to take it." Ex-mayor Hermann stated, "economy and efficiency should be the chief aim of the executives and should be adhered to by those who are in power", laying particular stress upon the policy of "pay as you go."

With the arrest of two men residing in the newly acquired Steinberg tract, local police believe they have solved a check and counterfeiting plot, the aim of which was to manufacture ten dollar bills for distribution throughout the State.

Dalton's Hall was jammed to capacity Monday night when the Carteret Republicans held a rally and mass meeting with their principal speaker being Senator Walter E. Edge.

Curley Sullivan of the Tigers won batting honors in the Twilight League this season with a batting average of .491. He also led in home runs with three. Bill D'Zurilla hit six doubles, Chippy Cutter hit five triples. Balarich struck out 25 times and T. D'Zurilla was a close second with 21.

Topsy Roth, of the Cadillacs, was the pitching marvel of the Twilight League, being responsible for getting his team to the top rung at the end of the schedule, winning seven out of nine games. One of his defeats was at the hands of the Tigers and then he allowed only two hits. The Cadillacs, minus his pitching, lost two games in the finale and with them the pennant. In sixty-six innings, Roth struck out twenty-nine batters, giving fifty-five hits. He struck out twenty-one in winning an eleven-inning 1-0 battle from Felix Mack of the Stars.

Fighting in forty-one battles since 1918, Johnny Carroll has lost only seven, taking eight by knockouts and twenty-three by decisions. Bill Nash is his manager.

When Your Wife Begins Her Day!

WHEN your wife begins her day does she look forward to a morning filled with arduous household tasks? Or does she anticipate an easy and efficient completion of her day's work with plenty of time for herself and her children knowing that the electric service in her home will eliminate much of the burden of housekeeping?

Modern housekeeping methods do much to eliminate the drudgery and burden that once were the lot of the homemaker. One great essential in modern housekeeping methods is electric service—a dependable, economical servant.

The electric vacuum cleaner which cleans the rugs, upholstery and drapes; electric washer and ironer which do the laundry; electric dishwasher; electric mixer; electric refrigerator; electric illumination, radio, various electric table appliances.

All these things have a place in modern housekeeping. And their use costs little while the conveniences they bring mean much.

No other item in the household budget gives so much for so little as electricity.

It was announced that Mrs. Emil Stremlau, chairman of legislation, will conduct the "Get-Out-the-Vote" contest. All members, as citizens, are urged to show an interest in the coming election and vote so that the club may rate 100 per cent in the voting of its members. As the club is strictly non-political it is not interested how members vote so long as they exercise their right to vote.

A printed report, in book form, of the fourth Herald-Tribune Conference will be placed in the Public Library.

The club's annual card party will be held Monday evening at St. Joseph's Church Hall. All games will be played and refreshments will be served. A committee is calling at the homes of the members for their prizes.

The club's opening tea will be held

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A GREAT COMMOTION

A GREAT commotion had broken out in the Old Orchard. Instantly Skimmer the Swallow flew over to see what it was all about and Peter Rabbit followed, lipperty lipperty-lip, as fast as his legs could take him. He was just in time to see Chatterer the Red Squirrel dodging around the trunk of a tree, first on one side, then on the other, to avoid the sharp bills of the angry feathered folk who had discovered him trying to rob a nest of his young.

It Was Their Nest.

Peter chuckled. "Chatterer is getting just what is due him," he muttered. "It reminds me of a time I got into a Yellow Jacket's nest. My, but those birds are mad!"

Chatterer continued to dodge from side to side of the tree while the birds darted down at him, all screaming at the top of their voices. Finally Chatterer saw his chance to run for the old stone wall. Only one bird was quick enough to catch up with him, and that one was such a tiny fellow that he seemed hardly bigger than a big insect. It was Hummer, the Hummingbird.

Hummer followed Chatterer clear to the old stone wall. A moment later Peter heard a humming noise just over his head and looked up to see Hummer alight on a twig, where he squeaked excitedly for a few minutes, for his voice is nothing but a little squeak. Often Peter had seen Hummer darting from flower to flower and holding himself still in mid air as he thrust his long bill into the heart of a flower to get the tiny insects there and the sweet juices he is so fond of. But this was the first time Peter had ever seen him sitting still. He was such a mite of a thing that it was hard to realize he was a bird. His back was a bright shining green. His wings and tail were brownish with a purplish tinge. Underneath he was whitish. But it was his throat on which Peter fixed his eyes. It was a wonderful ruby red which glistened and shone in the sun like a jewel.

Hummer lifted one wing and with his long needle-like bill smoothed the feathers under it. Then he darted out into the air, his wings moving so fast that Peter couldn't see them at all. But if he couldn't see them he could hear them. You see, they moved so fast that they made a sound very like the humming of Bumble the Bee. It is because of this that he is called the Hummingbird.

In a few minutes he was back again and almost at once was joined by Mrs. Hummer. She was dressed very much like him but did not have the beautiful ruby throat. She stopped only a minute or two and then darted over to what looked for all the world like a tiny cup of moss. It was their nest.

QUESTION BOX

By ED WYNN . . . The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I just received a letter from my nephew, who lives in England. He writes me that his wife is suffering with "water on the brain." Can you tell me what that means?
Sincerely,
U. TELMEE.

Answer: When a woman has "water on the brain" it simply means she has a notion (an ocean) in her head.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I live in a boarding house. I pay $20 a week but the food they serve is not fit for a pig to eat. What shall I do?
Truly yours,
I. BETTY KNOWS.

Answer: If the food is really not fit for a pig, just sleep there and get your meals some other place.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
My birthday was January 4. My girl sent me a pair of gloves for a present but they are too large for me. What shall I do?
Truly yours,
A. B. SEEDEE.

Answer: Just pour about a half ounce of Scotch whisky on them. If it's the kind of Scotch they're selling now, a half ounce will make them tight.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
My wife returns home next Saturday from the hospital bringing with her our triplets just five weeks old. I am surprising my wife, as I have just had a nursery fitted out for our new babies. It is a beautiful room and I would like to have a suitable name painted on the door instead of "Nursery." What do you suggest?

Yours truly,
POP. PAH.

Answer: Three babies, five weeks old, in one room? If I were you I would call it the "Bawl-room."
Dear Mr. Wynn:
I got a job last Monday in a department store in the shoe department. At the end of the first week I was discharged. Can you tell me why? I swear to you I didn't do anything.
Sincerely,
I. STAUL.

Answer: That's why you were discharged.
Dear Mr. Wynn:
I just moved into a new neighborhood. This morning I passed one of my new neighbors and bowed to her, but she did not return the bow. What would you do in a case like that?
Yours truly,
SHEREZA KATT.

Answer: That should be a warning to you. She may be the kind of a neighbor who never returns anything.

SEASONABLE DISHES

THE bride of today with all her equipment in culinary knowledge has no fear of failures in cookery. Up-to-date cook books with clear directions for preparing even the simple foods gives assurance to the most inexperienced.

Here is one which any bride will like to try:

Fancy Biscuit.
Take two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of sugar, two tablespoons of shortening, one egg and two-thirds of a cup of milk, one-third cup of sliced dates, four tablespoons of peanut butter and one egg yolk. Sift the dry ingredients, work in the shortening with a fork until well blended, add milk and well beaten egg to form a soft dough. Roll out on a floured board and cut small rounds. Spread one with peanut butter, place one or two slices of dates and cover with another round. Press the edges together to enclose the butter and dates. Brush with egg diluted with a little milk or water and bake in a hot oven. If preferred cut the round larger and put the butter and date on one-half and fold over, pinching the edges together.

Mocha Frosting.
Take one-fourth cup of butter, one tablespoon of cocoa, two cups of confectioner's sugar and three to four tablespoons of strong coffee infusion. Cream the butter, add the

FOR A GOLD STAR MOTHER

By ANNE CAMPBELL

THE first point of the star is Memory. The recollection of his baby ways. Upon the road to yesterday we see The smiling candor of his infant gaze; The touch of velvet cheek, the clinging hands. The cunning accent making sweet demands.

Service to him, the next point of the star. The days and nights were busy in his care. There is no rest where little babies are For mothers who are happiest to share The beating of their hearts with their small sons. They concentrate their lives on these dear ones.

Love is the third point of the star of gold. In blest affection, all the stars converge. Only a mother knows how hearts can hold So much of love; it is her life's chief urge. Her love will follow him across the world, And past the gates where his lone flag is furled.

The fourth point of the star is sorrow. . . . See! The star is falling. . . . Shadowed is its light. Only a mother's faith holds valiantly Against the coming of the final night. Now hurtling into space the gold star goes, Its cargo all the heartbreak mother knows.

Only the fifth point keeps the star from wheeling. Forever lost in midnight's empty space; But still upon the sky a faint light stealing. Shows it upheld within its lawful place. Serene upon the heavens see it ride, A gold star swinging by its fifth point—PRIDE!

Cocoa. Stir in the sugar and coffee gradually. Beat until smooth and spread on the cake.
Coffee Ice Cream. Scald one and one-half cups of milk with one-third of a cupful of finely ground coffee, strain through a double cheese cloth, add one cup of sugar, the beaten yolks of four eggs, one-fourth teaspoon of salt; cook over water until thick, adding one-fourth cupful of sugar and one cupful of cream; cool, add three more cups of cream and freeze. Serve garnished with maraschino cherries.

Keep Assortment of Sauces

Always Well to Have Supply on Shelves, Since Nothing Adds to Soup, for Instance, Like a Dash of Worcestershire or Ketchup.

Almost all housekeepers keep on the pantry shelves a supply of the better known sauces. At least chili sauce, ketchup, one of the worcestershire style sauces, tabasco or one of the other sharp sauces of the same type are usually to be found among these supplies. Sometimes we find, as well, mushroom and walnut ketchup, anchovy essence, chutney and occasionally soy sauce.

In some households these sauces are used only as table accessories. They will appear with meat and fish, to be added to their individual taste. In the household where cooking is practiced as an art, we find, however, that they are used as condiments as well to flavor soups and sauces, canapés and sandwiches. It seems to me that a dash of worcestershire or a tablespoon of ketchup, for instance, often lifts a soup from the usual to the unusual. A tablespoon or two of chili sauce or chutney added to a plain drawn butter or white sauce gives a flavor indescribable but appetizing. It is difficult to give special recipes for the addition of these sauces to ordinary foods, because all of these blends should be made to taste—good taste. The good cook is not afraid to experiment with seasonings, but she knows that they must be used with a light hand. Prejudice against certain seasonings has invariably been engendered by an over use of them when they were introduced. There is curry, for instance. How many times, says a food expert, I have found that persons who say they "just can't bear curry" ask for second helpings of hartford sauce. This sauce, by the way, is wonderful with lobster, crab and shrimp, served as a cocktail or as a main supper course. The sauce popularly known as vinaigrette is made differently by almost every cook. Its basis is a french dressing and it can be varied in any way you like. Chopped watercress and minced celery are often used instead, as an addition to the ingredients suggested in the recipe given today.

I often use these to flavor creamed butter to spread sandwiches or canapés. This gives a flavoring foundation, no matter what is the rest of the filling or garnish. One of the easiest and best hot canapés to serve with cocktails is made of rounds or finger lengths of bread, spread with ketchup butter and then baked until light brown and crisp. A dash of one or more of these sauces is often an addition to the flavor of a tomato juice cocktail. I also like a dash of tarragon vinegar for this purpose. Have you noticed that every hostess has her own special recipe for this popular first course beverage? "To taste" is the best directions for seasoning it, but have plenty of seasonings on hand to make the perfect flavor.

Why the Sudden Change to Liquid Laxatives?
Doctors have always recognized the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be thus regulated to suit individual need. The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a more natural movement without any discomfort at the time, or after. The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys. The wrong cathartic may often do more harm than good. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is obtainable at all druggists.

A Little Bit Humorous
DEMAND FOR NOVELTY
"What we need," said the emphatic citizen, "is some new laws."
"Maybe you're right," answered Senator Sorghum. "Even a law can grow old and convey the impression that it has outlasted its usefulness."

In a Tough Spot
The taxi came to a halt. The fare descended a trifle uncertainly and proceeded to search his pockets slowly.
"Sorry, old man," he said, finally, "but I haven't a bean!"
Seeing that the driver was not taking it too well, he added:
"That's the position, old man, and you know you can't get blood out of a stone."
"No," agreed the driver, rolling up his sleeves, "but what makes you think you're a stone?"—Province (Vancouver).

"Yes," answered Farmer Cornstossel. "He can sit on the fence an' see people work for hours. I dunno as I ever see anybody that seemed to get more enjoyment out o' work than he does."

"I'm goin' to keep on sendin' my boy Josh to college," said Farmer Cornstossel.

Aunt Liza's mistress was talking to her one morning when suddenly she discovered a little pickaninny standing shyly behind her mother's skirts. "Is this your little boy, Aunt Liza?" she asked.
"Yes, miss, dat's Prescription."

"Ah simply calls him dat becuz ah has sech habd wuk gettin' him filled."

Around the Corner

"There have been some high words exchanged around the Capitol."
"Much to my disappointment," said Senator Sorghum. "As we keep zig-zagging along, we continually find that asperity is just around the corner."

Double Eggs

The small daughter of the home was greatly excited over a large double-yoked goose egg which had been found in a nest. The next time she hunted eggs, she exclaimed:
"Oh! Daddy, look! Here are two hens in one nest; are they going to lay a double egg?"

Spectacular

"I suppose you regard all your display of eloquence as beneficial to the cause?"
"Well," answered Senator Sorghum, "to be candid, that eloquence isn't so much for the cause as for the effect."

A Supposition

"Some of us congressmen are thinkin' a great deal we don't say," said the representative from Shuckville. "Didn't know it could be done," answered Farmer Cornstossel. "Allus s'posed your specialty was sayin' a great deal you didn't think."

Practical House Frock

PATTERN 9083

The nice thing about this frock—one of the nice things—is that you can wear it buttoned up some days and opened on others. If you face the reverse with a contrasting color, as in the illustration, it makes a great deal of difference whether you see the inside of it or not—it really makes a different frock of it. It is one of those house dresses which may be worn out of doors in the country or for shopping in the mornings. The inverted pleat makes the sleeves most flattering. Very attractive in a plain fabric as well as a printed one.

Pattern 9083 may be ordered only in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 yards 36-inch fabric and 3/4 yard contrasting. Take Caldwell Easily, 28-6; Glen Ridge Monday By 19-0

Table with 4 columns: Team, Stat, Value, Value. Rows for Carteret (28) vs Caldwell (6).

With a variegated running and overhead attack, the hard charging Carteret High football team Saturday buried a heavy but cumbersome Caldwell High eleven under a 28-6 landslide at the high school field before 2,000 shivering customers in nippy fall atmosphere.

After the Macmen had taken a 21-0 lead, Coach McCarthy seized the opportunity to give some of his reserves a trial, and before the game was over, practically every member of the squad of 30 saw at least one minute of action against the hapless and helpless Caldwell team, who were able to coordinate but once during the entire game.

The Macmen went over the top for the first time early in the opening quarter when Kosel plunged over after tossing a 25-yard forward pass to Dinney Comba. Kosel blew the try for the extra point when his kick went wide.

The locals scored two more touchdowns and a safety during the second period.

Kosel plunged over from the three yard line for the second touchdown shortly after the second period got under way. Kosel passed to Trivanovich for the extra point.

A few minutes later, Dinney Comba, alert Carteret quarterback, pounced on the ball down in the end zone, after the Caldwell center had passed over Noonan's head to score a touchdown.

Later in the period, Kosel shot another short pass to Comba, who brought the ball all the way down to the three-yard marker. Kosel scored on an off-tackle play, but his kick for the point went wide.

When the half ended, Carteret led by a 21-0 score. Caldwell held the locals well in check during the third period, neither team threatening to score.

A continuous drive toward Caldwell's goal line early in the fourth period capitalized when Tony Nascak, substitute for Trivanovich, scored on an end run. Nascak kicked the extra point from placement.

The entire local team coordinated perfectly throughout the afternoon.

Our Strange Humanity: The fact that a society exists, the exclusive function of which is to prevent cruelty to children is in itself a strange commentary on our strange humanity.

Table with 4 columns: Team, Stat, Value, Value. Rows for Carteret (19) vs Glen Ridge (0).

Led by Stan Kosel, who is by way of becoming one of the outstanding schoolboy backs in the State, Carteret High's football team romped over a bewildered Glen Ridge team at the high school field Monday afternoon by a 19-0 score.

Kosel kicked, blocked and plunged superbly, beside scoring two of the locals' three touchdowns.

Dinney Comba, who usually plays in the blocking back position, played quite an offensive game, tossing a 35-yard forward pass from the portside to Kosel, who scored standing up. Kosel's kick for the point after touchdown was blocked.

Comba tossed another short pass to Kosel as the second period got under way, which brought the ball down to the five-yard line. One the next play, "Dynamite" Dumanski, the "forgotten man" plunged over for the touchdown. An attempted pass, Kosel to Trivanovich for the extra point was batted down.

Kosel tossed two passes to Romanowski, one from the Glen Ridge 35-yard line to the fifteen, and another from the fifteen yard line to another of the two yard stripes, as the closing minutes of the first half drew near. Kosel cracked the center of the line, but failed to go over, the ball resting about six inches from the line. As the teams lined up for the next play, the referee's whistle blew ending the half. Had there been another minute of play, the locals surely would have scored again.

Kosel rolled up four first downs by himself as the third period got under way, carrying the ball from his own 40-yard line to Glen Ridge's 19. A short pass, Kosel to Comba, put the ball on the two yard line, where Kosel scored on the next play. He kicked the extra point from placement.

By scoring two touchdowns in this game, Kosel placed himself up with the State's leading scorers. He now has seven touchdowns and three extra points to his credit. When it comes time for all-state selections to be made, Kosel's work cannot be overlooked.

TANK HOUSE NINE U. S. M. R. COMPANY BASEBALL CHAMPS

Carteret had its own World Series on Sunday morning prior to the home-coming celebration of Joe Medwick. Carteret's World Series took place down at the Copper Works' field when the Tank House team defeated the Yard nine in the final play-off by a score of 8-3, winning the championship of the United States Metals Refining Baseball League for 1934.

Six departments competed in the league, the Tank House, Yard Department, Mechanical, White Metals, Office and Lead Plant. At the close of the first half the Tank House and the Yard Department finished tied for first place, each having won 7 games and lost one. The Mechanical Department finished second in the first half and the White Metals, Office and Lead Plant followed in order. On the play-off for the first half the Tank House was the winner. The Tank House had a final record of eight wins and one defeat as against the Yard Department's seven wins and two defeats.

In the second half the Yard Department again tied for first honors but this time with the Mechanical and Office Departments. The play-off was held on October 7th, with the Yard Department victorious, entitling them, as winners of the second half, to play the Tank Department, 'the winners of the first half of the series. The other teams that finished in order were the Office, White Metals, Tank House and Lead Plant.

Some good snappy baseball was on tap despite the fact that six teams instead of one were put together from the plant. There was great rivalry and enthusiasm throughout the various contests. It is understood that one of the players got time off one day to report at the Polo Grounds and be looked over by one of the big league teams. Approximately one hundred men engaged in the various contests either in active playing or managing the teams. The men who took part in the games for the various departments were as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Team, Stat, Value, Value. Rows for Carteret F. C. (12) vs Delta Phi (6).

CLEM'S QUIBS OF SPORT

SONG OF THE BLOCKING BACK

Someone has to clear the road, so follow after me, You can take the headlines, kid, I haven't time to wait— There's a pair of punks ahead, and I must shake you free, You must reach the open, kid, But I'm the swinging gate. I can hear them cheering you from all the crowded stands, While I smack a tackler down, or smear the end, I can hear the roaring and the music of the bands, While you pick up thirty yards along the path I've cleared. G. Rice.

In a letter addressed to the Editor of The Sun, a New York fan had this to say concerning the Medwick-Owen incident in the seventh game of the World Series.

Answering a letter in The Sun concerning the Joe (Ducky Wucky) Medwick-Judge Landis episode, I feel that Judge Landis's action was directed solely to save Medwick from grave injury and possible death should he have been permitted to finish the game.

The fact the weak hitting Owen, seemingly the more responsible of the two, was permitted to remain as soap to the crowd's injurde feelings, and Medwick eliminated, at that stage of the proceedings could have been of but slight benefit to Detroit in a game that was already irretrievably lost to them and so it developed.

Then, too, had Medwick been permitted to finish the game in center-field, with Detroit last at bat, at the game's conclusion he would have been far away from the nearest safety exit and completely at the mercy of the temporary insane crowd.

Should Judge Landis decide to punish Medwick, it would seem only fair that in the face of his apparently greater guilt in starting the disturbance, the penalty should at least be equally imposed on Owen.

ABOUT ST. JOE TEAM: One of the finest teams to be seen in the Junior Basketball League this year will be Joe Comba's St. Joseph quintet. The Trojans, who dispersed after last year's campaign was finished, have merged with the St. Joseph team, thus putting out the strongest team in town, so far as junior circles are concerned.

They are already making plans for a great season. To raise money for equipment, they are running a dance at the Falcon Hall on Monday evening, November 6.

the Carteret attack began to click in the second behind the slippery running of Green and Andy Galvanek.

Green broke away for a 34-yard run about a minute before the second period ended, carrying the ball from his own 45-yard line to the 16. On the next play he went over for a touchdown on a center plunge. A pass, Green to Donovan, for the extra point was grounded.

Early in the fourth period, Green tossed a pass to Czerpaniak from the 25-yard line, Czerpaniak scoring standing up. Green's kick for the extra point was wide of the bars.

Dusty Dedrich, who practically beat Carteret High single handed last year for South River, again showed a championship brand of football to local fans. Late in the final period, he scored a touchdown for the Phis from the six yard line on spectacular plays.

Lineups: Carteret Field Club (Nagy, Coughlin, Green), Delta Phi (Budzin, Baronowski, Lukach, Christ, Lagoda, Zenko, Sivess, Quinn, Konopko, Kobynski, Zyskowski).

Score by periods: DELTA PHIS 0 0 0 6-6; CARTERET F. C. 6 0 0 6-12; Touchdowns—Green, Czerpaniak, Dedrich; Carteret substitutes—Bryer for Galvanek; Czerpaniak for Coughlin; Conrad for Nagy; Chomici for Krulikowski; Hart for Green, South River substitutes—Dedrich for Kobynski.

MACMEN FACE BIG TEST TOMORROW IN WEST SIDE GAME

Coach McCarthy's high school football team will get its mettle tested tomorrow afternoon when it meets its strongest opponent, West Side of Newark, in the first traveling game of the season.

The local aggregation will depend upon the "Kosel to Comba" forward pass team to carry them through victoriously. If the locals win tomorrow, they have a very good chance of getting through the season undefeated.

Last week, West Side conquered Barringer High, 7-6, in a tight game. Carteret has achieved victories over Neptune, Caldwell and Glen Ridge.

Lineups: Carteret High (Pelcz), West Side (Milton, Calabresi, Such, Gles, Wiegolinski, S. Manroth, Cherepon, Williams, Baranczuk, K. Manroth, Romanowski, Cohen, Comba, Florillo, Dumanski, Walker, Trivanovich, Reidy, Kosel, Braun).

Field Club Meets Jersey City Pros. Sun: The Carteret Field Club will meet the Jersey City Pros Sunday afternoon in the first traveling game of the season.

The Field Club will have Donovan and Malaszewski, ends; Godmustad and B. Szelag, tackles; Krulikowski and O'Brien, guards; W. Galvanek, center; Andy Galvanek, quarterback; Nagy and Coughlin, halfbacks; and Green, fullback.

WOMEN GATHER TO INAUGURATE NEW SEASON'S START

By ISABEL LEFKOWITZ
The club's winter season was inaugurated yesterday afternoon with a tea held at the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Howard W. Thorn, president, presided at a short business session.

The meeting was opened with a salute to the flag, followed by the singing of "America the Beautiful", which was led by Mrs. David Lasner. Mrs. Henry Harrington, vice-president, read the Clubwoman's Collect.

Members were reminded and urged to vote Election Day, Nov. 6. The lists will be checked after election to determine how many members voted. Stress was laid on the fact that the club is strictly non-political. It is not interested personally in a member's political faith but it does desire each member to be civic-minded enough to vote. It is hoped the club may be able to rate 100 per cent in this respect.

Announcement was made of the Third District Fall Conference to be held at Matawan November 6th. The conference will start at 10:30 A. M. and be over by 3:00 P. M. Good speakers and music are on the program. Mrs. Thorn has charge of reservations and transportation.

Announcement was also made that a letter had been received from Mrs. Thomas Currie, a member, who is wintering at Tucson, Arizona, wishing the club well. The club, too, wishes Mrs. Currie well and hopes to welcome her at a meeting in the near future.

For the entertainment, a one-act play, "Mrs. Haynes Joins the Club", was presented with the following cast: Hostess, Mrs. T. J. CROWD PACKS HIGH SCHOOL AT MEETING; MOORE, DILL SPEAK

A great crowd jammed every bit of available space in the High School last night to hear Mayor Hermann, Governor Moore and Judge Dill. The Mayor received a great ovation, as also did Governor Moore and Judge Dill as they were introduced before beginning their speeches.

Gov. Moore praised Dill and said that he would make a good Governor. He also dwelt at some length on what the Roosevelt administration had done. Judge Dill promised an independent, business-like administration of the State's business. Both were well applauded at the close.

The text of Mayor Hermann's address, before the mass meeting last night follows:

LET US LOOK AT THE RECORD
A public office is a public trust. Public funds should be handled with the same degree of care that an individual would handle or disburse his own moneys. That the public moneys of the people of Carteret were disbursed with reckless disregard for public welfare by the former Republican administration has been clearly demonstrated in innumerable instances. This statement is based on the facts disclosed by the Borough Auditors.

The present Democratic administration feel that we owe a duty to the public to call its attention to the various items of achievements and matters of importance that are of vital concern to the good people of Carteret.

Therefore, with much pride, we present a concise review of our achievements during the past two years:

1. We have re-established the credit of the Borough of Carteret throughout the State of New Jersey.
2. We have brought down the tax rate to $4.34, a drop of 163 points since 1931 at which time I took over the office of Mayor.
3. We have included in our municipal budgets the sum of $80,696.00 to pay for the deficits of a former Republican administration.
4. By refunding our bonds and notes we have effected the very remarkable saving of $22,500.00 interest charges for the Borough of Carteret.
5. We have paid the salaries of our police, our fire department, school teachers and all other borough employees in cash money.
6. Hundreds of unemployed men have been placed yearly.
7. Following the Roosevelt policy we have expended the sum of $24,000.00 for the relief of the local need without favor to none.
8. We have made an 80 per cent collection of taxes for the past year through the cooperation of our taxpayers.
9. Transportation facilities have been increased and improved through the heart of our borough to the nearby cities.
10. An application has been filed

Mrs. John Quinn Addresses Jr. Women

Mrs. John J. Quinn, of Perth Amboy, third district adviser, of the Federation of Women's Clubs was the speaker Monday night at a meeting of the Junior Woman's Club in the Borough Hall. A public card party will be held November 15th in charge of Miss Frances Harrington, Miss Alice Brady, Miss Katherine McDonnell and Miss Lillian Donnelly. Miss Wanda Knorr will entertain the club members at a Halloween party in her home in Lincoln avenue, October 29th.

Sailed for A. L. Convention

On Friday evening, October 19th, Miss Jane Cooke sailed on the steamer Iroquois for Miami, Florida, to attend the national convention of the American Legion being held at that city. Miss Cook is a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the local American Legion Post.

with the Postmaster General at Washington, D. C., for a new Federal Post Office building in Carteret.

11. We have succeeded in getting the approval of the Navy Department at Washington to dredge the Rahway River channel to Lambert's Creek, by which act a vast strip of undeveloped waterfront and inland territory might be converted into valuable industrial and real estate properties.

12. The present administration has acquired a fourteen acre plot of land to be used for park and recreational purposes in lieu of a big sum of back taxes from the Canda Realty Company.

13. We sponsor a centrally located park in the vicinity of the Municipal building to connect the two sections of the borough, as conditions warrant.

14. We have placed permanent improvement on Atlantic street and Janet Street through the operation of man-power, thereby effecting street improvement and at the same time providing employment for the unemployed.

15. We have regulated the distribution of fire hydrants and electric lighting facilities throughout the borough.

16. The present administration has taken advantage of the C. W. A. and E. R. A. projects in connection with (1) the addition and complete renovation of the local Public Library, (2) the improvement of streets, (3) the opening up of the park land which the borough has recently acquired from the Canda Realty Co. and (4) the covering of the Twin Sewer which was built at the enormous cost of one quarter million dollars on top of the ground by the former Republican administration.

17. We have consistently aided the small home-owner in every way through the cooperation of the Home Loan Bureau.

18. We sponsor the organized plan to establish a Municipal Employment Bureau as projected by my administration weeks ago. This in itself would require a full time director and his staff for which no funds are available in this year's budget.

19. At the present time we are seeking State and Federal Aid to give permanent improvement to Carteret avenue through the Boulevard section and continuing on to East Rahway section at a point adjacent the Godesky Garage in East Rahway on Roosevelt avenue. When prosperity returns our borough will obviously grow out in that direction.

20. My administration maintains an efficient and progressive personnel in the office of:

- Borough Assessor,
- Borough Collector,
- Borough Engineer,
- Borough Attorney,
- Borough Building Inspector,
- Borough Police Department,
- Borough Fire Department,
- Borough Board of Health, and all other departments of the borough government.

21. It has not been necessary to borrow any money to finance the Borough of Carteret during the year of 1933 or 1934.

Voters, with this record of actual achievements I stand before you tonight to render an account of my stewardship for the past years of my administration. I ask you to weigh well and consider the services that my administration has rendered you in finances, relief, increased improvements and genuine worthwhile action that spells Economy in the Judicious Expenditure of Public Moneys.

We, the local candidates for Mayor, for Council and for Justice of the Peace, the candidates for an energetic, sound, progressive and business administration ask your vote and your whole-hearted support on Election Day that we may be enabled to carry out the Roosevelt policies and hasten the return of prosperity.

OVERTIME

By JEAN PARMELEE

I SAW more of you when I was your office wife," said Shirley with a wistful little catch in her voice. Bob Taggett, effectively long and lanky, took one step and his arms were about his wife's shoulders. But she turned her head quickly, and his lips which had sought hers touched only the tip of one small ear. His arms tightened. "But, darling, don't be silly. Of course, you saw more of me than. Nine till five and overtime."

Kidnaped Louisville Woman Ransomed for $50,000—Jugoslavia's Murdered King Buried—Collective Bargaining Plan of General Motors.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

LOUISVILLE'S sensational kidnaping case came to a climax with the return of the victim, Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, to her home. The young society matron had been held captive for six days in Indianapolis by Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., a maniac who had been twice held in insane asylums. She was treated rather roughly but not really injured, and was set free after Mr. Stoll paid $50,000 ransom. Robinson fled with all but $500 of this sum and a country-wide hunt for him was at once begun. His wife and father were arrested, charged with complicity in the kidnaping. Mrs. Robinson, however, was said to have protected Mrs. Stoll to the best of her ability and it was she who returned the abducted woman to her relatives, abandoning her crazy husband.

FRANCE lost another of her elder statesmen in the death of Raymond Poincare, who was president from 1913 to 1920 and returned later to public service as premier. It was during that period that he seized the Ruhr in an effort to compel Germany to pay the war reparations to France. Poincare was born in Lorraine, and that fact explained in part his unrelenting attitude toward Germany in dealing with post-war problems. Entering political life in 1887, he was mixed up in many prominent "affaires" and made a record as an intense patriot and a liberal republican. In 1926, when he was called out of retirement, he succeeded in saving the country from its disastrous financial state. Poincare was seventy-four years old when he died, and had been in poor health for some years.

SECRETARY OF STATE HULL is vexed by what he calls the "undesirable practice" of certain countries in boosting tariffs or other restrictions to obtain concessions by reducing them again in negotiations with the United States for trade agreements. He made a statement about it, intimating that under such conditions there may be a failure of negotiations. Although no nation was named, Germany has begun a program of controlled imports and has denounced its most-favored-nation treaty with the United States, and France is increasing tariffs.

FIRST shot in the coming contest between the automobile manufacturers and the American Federation of Labor was fired by the General Motors corporation in the form of an offer to its 130,000 employees of its own plan for collective bargaining. In a letter sent to every worker President Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., said: "We of the General Motors recognize 'collective bargaining' as a constructive step forward, both for the employees and the management. Regardless of any obligations that may exist, we propose not only to continue the idea, but to develop it."

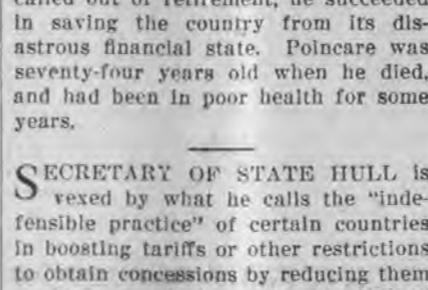

WITH overpowering pomp and ceremony Alexander I, assassinated king of Yugoslavia, was laid to rest with his fathers, the founders of the Karageorgevitch dynasty. Nearly every nation on earth was represented at the funeral rites. King Boris of Bulgaria and King Carol of Rumania were there, as was President Lebrun of France. King Victor Emmanuel of Italy was represented by the duke of Spoleto, and Chancellor Hitler of Germany by Gen. Hermann Goering, premier of Prussia, who flew from Berlin. England sent Prince George, now duke of Kent. Other notables present were Prince Cyril of Bulgaria, a delegation from Poland, Foreign Minister D. Maximov of Greece, Foreign Minister Dr. Tevfik Rustu Bey of Turkey, Foreign Minister Dr. Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulescu of Rumania, and Undersecretary of Justice Karl Karwinsky of Austria, with many others.

FRENCH police having caught three of the companions of "Kalemen," really Tschernometsky, who slew Alexander and Louis Barthou in Marseilles, the authorities of half a dozen countries were making progress in unravelling the assassination plot. From the confessions of those captured and from the investigations of the police of France and Belgrade it was learned that Kalemen was a notorious Macedonian terrorist named Valda Georgeff Tschernometsky who killed two Bulgarian political leaders several years ago. He and his associates in the plot were directed in their murderous work by a mysterious "master mind," and the authorities assert that Mr. Roosevelt controlled the activities of several distinct terrorist bands who were ignorant of one another's moves.

DR. Ante Pavelic, described as the leader of the Croatian terrorists, and Eugent Kvaternik, his aid, were arrested in Turin, Italy just as Alexander was being buried in Jugoslavia. Kvaternik was known as the "delegate" and was supposed to have acted as liaison man for Pavelic, making contact with the Marseilles assassins. The police had hunted them throughout Europe. Kvaternik was trailed as far as the village of Etaples in France, where the trail was lost. Pavelic, however, was known to be in Italy, and the search turned there, on the theory that the two would get together.

Advantages claimed for the fireless locomotive are low initial cost, reduced maintenance, one-man operation, longer useful life and 60 per cent to 80 per cent greater hauling power. Since there are no smoke or fumes, the locomotive may be operated inside buildings. Spins Billion Times a Day Exerting a centrifugal force nearly 3,000,000 times greater than that of the earth's gravitation, an ultra-fast centrifuge produces speeds as great as 600,000 revolutions a minute, or nearly 1,000,000,000 a day. This device, the fastest piece of machinery in the world, is made of a special alloy of chrome nickel steel, one of the toughest materials known. At high speed the centrifuge causes metals to recrystallize. When an alloy of lead and silver is placed in the hollow center of the device, which is shaped like a top, the lead is splattered out, leaving the silver.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

ORGANIZED labor doesn't like S. Clay Williams, chairman of the new national industrial recovery board recently appointed by President Roosevelt. At the San Francisco convention of the American Federation of Labor, a resolution was adopted demanding an investigation of Mr. Williams' attitude as vice chairman of the board of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company of Winston-Salem, N. C., the charge being that he was opposed to trade unions and to collective bargaining with them. The federation's executive council instructed President William Green to present the matter to Mr. Roosevelt on his return to Washington, and he promised to do so. Incidentally, it should be recorded that Mr. Green was re-elected president without opposition.

S. Clay Williams

THE plan, which actually is already in effect, was designed to meet all requirements of section 7A of the National Industrial Recovery act. Though the company in its communication did not mention the A. F. of L., it declared that "membership in a labor union or other type of labor or employee organization does not in itself establish the right of any such union or other organization to represent employees in collective bargaining negotiations. Representatives for such purpose must have been specifically chosen by the employees they are to represent and the fact of such choice must be established."

EMPLOYEES must be given complete freedom in setting up collective bargaining organizations and choosing representatives, the company declared. The management may, however, assist any employee organization in plans for employees' mutual benefit, provided that in the determination of the right of employees to participate in the benefits there is no discrimination by management on the ground of affiliation with any labor organization.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT went to Williamsburg, Va., and took part in the ceremonies attendant on the inauguration of John Stewart Bryan as president of the old College of William and Mary. In return for his courtesy Mr. Roosevelt was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws. The same honor was conferred on Gov. George C. Peery. The exercises were conducted in the reconstructed main building of the college, designed by Sir Christopher Wren.

ON the same day took place the formal rededication of Duke of Gloucester street, the city's main thoroughfare, which has been restored nearly to its original appearance as the last major construction project of the restoration of colonial Williamsburg. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., financial backer of the restoration which already has cost approximately $15,000,000, was among the distinguished visitors present, along with cabinet members, congressmen, diplomats and educators.

ALL the members of the German cabinet took the oath of loyalty to Chancellor Hitler at their first full meeting, and then Dr. Hans Heinrich Lammers, chief of the chancellery office, announced that "Adolf Hitler is fuhrer for life." He added that the Weimar constitution no longer exists. Many laws were decreed by the cabinet to carry on Hitler's policies. These included laws reducing the tax burdens of the big families and the cost of tax administration, laws reorganizing cooperative associations and "purifying the auctioneers' trade," laws altering bankruptcy sales, reorganizing the traffic in grain "to enable the National Grain company to control grain even when the harvest is reduced."

REPUBLICAN senatorial candidates in five states have incurred the displeasure of organized labor, and President Green of the American Federation of Labor has called on the members to work for the defeat of those men in the November elections. The five are Senators Reed of Pennsylvania, Walcott of Connecticut, Hatfield of West Virginia and Fess of Ohio, all seeking re-election, and George M. Bourquin, Republican nominee in Montana.

Circular letters signed by Green review the records in congress of Reed, Walcott, Fess and Hatfield. They say the candidates voted against the 30-hour work-week bill, for reduction of federal salaries, for the sales tax and for confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina to the Supreme court after he had upheld what union men call the "yellow dog" contract between employers and workers. Each letter reminds the members of the federation's declaration to "stand faithfully by our friends and elect them; oppose our enemies and defeat them."

THE police felt that it was incumbent upon them to do something, so they placed the shoemaker under arrest. He was held as "a material witness." Many weeks went by without the discovery of anything to account for this strange disappearance. Then the shoemaker was released. He went to his home and, prowling about the loft of the house, made a ghastly discovery. It was the trunk of a human body stuck in a bag and fastened to the rafters.

THE remains were assembled and a peculiarity of the teeth made it clear that the body was that of Marie Anna Holzmann. After that the authorities began to use their brains. They made it their business to find out who else had lived in the house at the time the girl lived there. They learned that two men had been there for at least part of the time. One was Charles Steiner, who was supposed to be half-witted, and the other was John Rauschmeir, a shrewd and unprincipled sort of chap who had no visible means of livelihood.

THE BAVARIANS did what the police of New York or Chicago would have done under the circumstances. They located the two men and they shadowed them for many weary days. So far as Steiner was concerned, it was love's labor lost, and they planned their hope upon Rauschmeir doing something that might incriminate himself. Their expectations were realized. One day the man went into a pawnshop and offered to pledge a woman's coat. It was a coat that had belonged to Marie Anna Holzmann!

THE man was arrested and accused of the murder. But he laughed at the charge. He admitted that he was a criminal and cheerfully confessed that he had stolen the coat from the girl's room, but ridiculed the idea of having had anything to do with her murder. But stimulated with the progress they were making, the police made a third search of the lodgings. This time they found a cheap ring—a man's ring that was splashed with blood.

INQUIRIES were made in the neighborhood, and a man was found who said that he had seen this ring on Rauschmeir's finger. That was rather convincing, but the police hesitated to show it to the man for fear that he might deny ownership and thus spoil their case. How could they contrive to make him admit that the ring belonged to him without letting him know that such an admission would be fatal to him? They recalled the play scene in "Hamlet" when the moody Dane declared that the play was the thing to catch the conscience of the king.

WHY could not a little play on their part convict this man they believed to be a murderer? It was worth the attempt. So the police gathered together a quantity of jewelry and placed it on a table, together with the ring, which had been washed of its bloodstains. They brought Rauschmeir from his cell and pointed to the loot upon the table. "What is the use of your denying that you committed murder," said the police chief, "when we have here the stuff you stole from the girl's room?" "I didn't steal it," retorted the man, and, seeing the ring, he picked it up, saying: "As a proof of it, there is my own ring."

HE slipped it on his finger, and that little incident was the bit of evidence upon which a case was built which ended in his conviction and execution. The Blood-Splashed Ring

IN THE course of time thousands of persons have disappeared as completely as though they had dropped through the earth, but few of these mysteries have been quite as weird as that of Marie Anna Holzmann, of Augsburg, Bavaria. She had lodged for years with a shoemaker in that town, but he did not report the case for a month after she had left the house. He explained the delay by saying that she was in the habit of leaving for a few days at a time, and he did not want to cause unnecessary excitement.

THE police felt that it was incumbent upon them to do something, so they placed the shoemaker under arrest. He was held as "a material witness." Many weeks went by without the discovery of anything to account for this strange disappearance. Then the shoemaker was released. He went to his home and, prowling about the loft of the house, made a ghastly discovery. It was the trunk of a human body stuck in a bag and fastened to the rafters.

INVISIBLE VILLAGE

A fitting home for the invisible man would be Eldon, a village in Hampshire, four miles from the market town of King's Somborne. It causes it approximately most closely to his own peculiar quality—visibility. The stranger standing in the midst could not be expected to recognize it as a village. Neither school, smithy, dance hall, post office, tavern, nor any other normal village acquisition does it possess.

But Eldon is proud of itself. Its assets include seven inhabitants, one of them a young girl, a farm, two cottages, and a church. The village covers only 300 acres. The church, bereft of a steeple, and looking like a small barn, is only 25 feet long, with an old bell operated by a piece of wire, six pews, and a floor no bigger than a tea-cup. A simple gravestone adorns its churchyard where cattle graze at will. Only once in the last three hundred years has it seen a christening, a marriage, or a funeral. And each of these events took place beyond the memory of the present inhabitants.—London Tit-Bits.

THIS CHANGE gives Children a Chance

Perhaps you have tried nearly every sort of way to keep a child's bowels in proper condition, and failed. Yet, almost any child who has been convalescing in a hospital, will usually come out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch. The average mother gives laxative the family may be using, while doctors give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

Make the change now to pure California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result, too. Those little upsets and complaints just disappear and the child is soon normal again. Try it! THE "LIQUID TEST" First, select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is the pure California Syrup of Figs, but be sure the word "California" is on the bottle. On the Loose He—"What part of the car causes the most accidents?" She—"The part that holds the wheel."

For good digestion

—there is nothing that can take the place of your own gastric, digestive secretions. Frequently, poor digestion is due to lack of tone in the stomach walls—because of low blood strength. S.S.S., the great, scientifically-tested medicine, is specially designed to fill a two-fold purpose in this respect... it aids in stimulating the flow of natural stomach secretions... and by building up deficient red corpuscles, with their hemo-glo-bin, it restores to a more normal functioning the secretions of the stomach digestive juices... so necessary for good digestion. This double value of S.S.S. is important. By all means try S.S.S. for better health and more happiness. Its benefits are progressive... accumulative... and enduring. Unless your case is exceptional, you should enjoy again the satisfaction of appetizing food and good digestion... sound sleep... and renewed strength. This is why many say "S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again."

Do not be misled by the efforts of a few unethical dealers who may suggest substitutes. You have a right to insist that S.S.S. be supplied you by request. Its long years of professional use is your guarantee of satisfaction. the world's great blood medicine

Suffered Very Much with Tetter Healed by Cuticura

"I suffered with tetter on my head which would itch and burn. My scalp became rough and red and I scratched for two weeks. I suffered very much. I could not sleep and could barely lay my head on a pillow. My hair came out. "I tried several remedies but got no relief. Then I wrote for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bought more and after using three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, with the Cuticura Soap, the tetter was gone. I was healed." (Signed) Miss Ada Tatum, R. 1, Box 110, La Rue, Texas. Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and Cuticura 25c. Sold Everywhere. One sample each free. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. B, Middletown, Mass.—Adv.

M. E. YORKE, Publisher

Entered as second-class matter June 24, 1908, at the post office at Carteret, N. J., under act of March 3, 1879.

THE CARTERET NEWS was founded June 17, 1908 as THE ROOSEVELT NEWS; was published on Wednesdays until July 15, 1909; was then published on Thursdays until December 6, 1912, since which time it has been a Friday paper. The title of the paper became THE CARTERET NEWS on November 17, 1922, following the election of November 7, 1922, when the people of the Borough voted to change the name of the Borough from Roosevelt to Carteret by a vote of 1652 to 203.

THE AMERICAN SPIRIT

Certain persons, whose names are still uncertain, tore down the political signs of the local Republican party last Sunday night, disgracing both themselves and the American spirit that call for a square deal.

With the present lack of knowledge regarding the details of the vandalism just described, one cannot accuse any particular group for the misdeed.

It is not so much a matter of accusing any one, as far as this newspaper is concerned. The feeling, however, is that it was certainly a display of the poorest kind of sportsmanship.

To a great many citizens, Americanism is just a word. They pay it lip service—but they have a very poor knowledge of its actual meaning.

Real Americanism is a spirit. It is that spirit which inspired the founders of the country—a spirit of unselfishness, self sacrifice, iron-clad character. It gave us liberty of church, of press, of political belief. It freed us from intolerable monarchic domination and established a nation where the government was to exist for the individual, not the individual for the government.

Today, the American spirit stands for these things precisely as it did in the past. They are as important today as ever, and perhaps more important. The public is beleaguered from many sides by those who would effect sudden and irrevocable change in the very foundation stones of our government. The advocates of fascism, communism, dictatorship and other theories are always active—and there is danger that they may seem persuasive to a people struggling with great, yet temporary, problems.

The public cannot be too strongly warned against seeking temporary benefit at the expense of permanent principles. Even the worst of depressions pass—and we will be a sad nation indeed, if after this one passes, we find that we have lost those constitutional guarantees of corporate and individual freedom that have made us great.

A GREAT BUILDER

"Life insurance is always building, never tearing down; it constructs and conserves but never destroys," said James G. Callahan of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, recently. "It stabilizes business, encourages enterprise, stimulates progress, sustains property. It is the enemy of disease, poverty and fear; it develops character, trains in thrift and strengthens the virtues of love, loyalty and duty. The American home rests confidently and securely on the bed rock of life insurance."

In these days of change and general uncertainty, a constantly increasing number of people are turning to life insurance. They are using it not only to protect dependents, but to assure an income for themselves in old age, to educate their children, to build estates. During five years of depression they have learned many bitter but invaluable lessons. They have seen investments, which seemed iron-clad, shrink and disappear; they have witnessed business failure, and the utter collapse of great fortunes that once appeared to be impregnable. In that time life insurance has carried on its work without wavering—it has given the people a new realization of what the word "permanence" means.

THE NEWS TEN YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

ISSUE OF OCTOBER 24, 1924

Edward Wilgus, Republican Councilman, made a public statement today that the Democratic house organ is helping to boost the Republican administration in his campaign talks.

The shuttle trolley ran over and killed Andrew Kondas, aged thirty, of John street, Sunday night.

The council listened to Samuel Mason of the Perth Amboy Water Works who stated his company had enough water to supply Carteret for the present and future. Mayor Mulvihill talked of condemning the lines of the Middlesex Water Company on the grounds of inadequate service.

Contracts were awarded to the Matthew A. Hermann Construction Company for curbs and sidewalks on Irving street between Cooke avenue and Locust streets at $2,580, for curbs and sidewalks on Union street between Edwin street and the northerly end of the present paving at $3,096, for curbs and sidewalks on Sharot street, between Lafayette and Pershing avenue at $5,329.

Councilman Joseph C. Child, Democrat, said this week: "Mayor Mulvihill's statement as regards the finances of the borough of Carteret is like all other statements that he has made of late, intended to fool the voter and taxpayer."

Since 1918, Charley Leslie has mixed in twenty-four boxing bouts, as well as numerous exhibitions never placed in the records. He lost only two, one of them by knock-out. He has five K. O.'s to his credit.

Dropping its fourth straight game in the State league, the local soccer club was defeated at Trenton by the War Vets, 7-0 last Sunday. The winners got all their points in the second half.

Find Ancient Cats

Skeletons of two ancient cats were discovered by Smithsonian museum paleontologists in southern Idaho that were believed to have lived in that section just before the coming of the great ice sheet. This skeletal material represents two distinct lines of the cat family. One line, represented by the great saber-toothed cats and near relatives, were probably the most efficient killers the world has ever known. It is believed by some that this same efficiency hastened their extinction by killing off their own meat supply. The other line resembles the true cat family of the present day, including everything from the puma down to the house cat. It may not have been the direct ancestor of the present family, the scientists say, but it certainly was a close relative. It was one of the most widely distributed of the New world mammals, ranging over both North and South America.—Pathfinder Magazine.

The Damascus Sword Blade

The Crusaders first drew attention to Damascus blades. They were found to possess not only great elasticity, united with considerable hardness, but their surfaces were covered with beautiful designs formed by a tissue of dark lines on a light ground, or light lines upon a dark ground and occasionally by the inlaying of gold on the steel blue ground. Gold and silver are inlaid in the higher class of sword blades. In genuine Damascus blades the designs run through the substance of the blade and the watering on regular, almost symmetrical figuring is not worn off by friction or even grinding.

Banjo Clocks

The first banjo clocks were made by one of the families of Connecticut clockmakers, the Willards, in a dozen clockmaking enterprises, as individuals or in partnerships. The earliest form of the banjo clock was patented by Simon Willard of Boston, in 1802, as an "improved timepiece." The banjo clocks were a comparatively small part of his product but there were nevertheless a great number of them, for he was in the business many years, dying in 1848 at the age of ninety-five.

Gibbel-Taric

Gibraltar derives its name from Gibel, a rock, and Taric, the first Moorish conqueror, who took possession in 711. It had an adventurous career of sieges for about 700 years and then was regained by Spain in 1462.

Mileage Hints

By J. F. Winchester, S.A.E. Supervisor of Motor Vehicle Equipment, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey

SURPRISING as it may seem, few motorists know much about gasoline other than that it is a petroleum derivative that propels their automobiles. The average motorist drives to his service station, has his tank filled, and lets it go at that. A few remarks on gasoline and its handling therefore seem appropriate in this series.

Old gasoline left in the tank or carburetor for some time when the car is not in use will lose its strength. The same is true of gasoline left in storage tanks. Stale gasoline is slow to ignite, due both to evaporation and to chemical changes. For this reason it is advisable to purchase gasoline only at service stations handling reputable advertised brands of gasoline which are received almost daily from the refinery.

Occasionally motorists will be troubled with a leaky gas tank. A temporary repair can be effected by applying ordinary soap, which will usually remedy the difficulty until the defect can be permanently fixed.

Another useful tip for motorists in connection with their gasoline tanks is this: Every tank contains a small hole, usually drilled through the filling cap. This permits the air to enter the tank as the gasoline is drawn off. If this hole becomes clogged with dirt the gasoline, in flowing out, will tend to create a vacuum and the flow will stop. Keep this little hole clean at all times.

In case of a gasoline fire never try to put out the fire with water, for the burning gasoline will float and spread the fire. Smother such a fire with sand, flour, dirt, or a wet blanket.

Every motorist should realize that gasoline obtains its desirable qualities from its volatility. This very quality of volatility should cause it to be treated with respect.

At the end of the meeting the club's year books were distributed to members by Mrs. Harrington. The next meeting will be November 8th, at the American Legion Rooms in the Borough Hall. Rev. D. E. The Word "Sicker"

As the comparative of sick, the word sicker has been in use in English speech since 1450. It is to be found recorded in Lovell's Grail, l. l., folio 187. At that time it was spelled syk-ker. A century later we find, in Granton's Chronicles, issued in 1508, Vol. II, p. 493, the following: "In this meanwhile, King Henry waxed sicker and sicker." Shakespeare in his play Richard II (1591), act 2, sc. 1, l. 91, made use of the term, Sick, sicker, and sickest are the correct forms of the positive, comparative, and superlative of sick.—Literary Digest.

The constellation of Orion, in addition to containing the finest gaseous nebula, two of the most remarkable stars and a host of interesting double, triple and multiple stars, furnishes us with a most convenient measure for estimating angular distances in the heavens in the form of its strikingly beautiful and conspicuous belt, which is very close to 5 degrees in extent.

Roman Pottery Kiln Site of First Century Origin

A remarkable Roman-Saxon pottery site dating from the first century, discovered near Wimborne, Dorsetshire, England, was on the ancient Roman road, running between Hamworthy and Babbury Rings.

The kiln itself was destroyed before it could be properly examined. Subsequent excavation laid bare a long narrow stoke-hole about 16 feet long and 5 feet wide. This contained a vast quantity of kiln debris, including the remains of nearly 200 vessels of various kinds, mostly underfired, as well as piles of sand and lumps of clay prepared for potting.

The pottery represented was mostly of five different types, and these form an important group, three types being forms in use in South Britain in the early Iron age, while the two others are varieties introduced by the Romans. The transitional character of the pottery is confirmed by the discovery on the floor of the stoke-hole of a coin of the Emperor Calligula, A. D. 40.

One of the early Iron age types represented is the well known "bead-rim" pot. The early Roman forms are basins or mortars provided with a spout, and wide-bellied jugs of buff or pinkish clay fitted with a handle.

Poplar Tree Yields Nectar

The remarkable straightness and height of the tree and the lightness and workability of its wood, as well as its rapid growth commend yellow poplar to the forester and landowner. Its distinctive beauty of form and foliage have always attracted attention. Another feature is honey production; a well-developed tree of 20 years will yield enough nectar to bees to make four pounds of honey.

Moulting Time Bird's Holiday

Wild geese retire to distant haunts when they lose their flight feathers during the moult. They choose out-of-the-way places where they can rest until their feathers grow again. Hundreds of other birds seek shelter where they will not be disturbed, for moulting time is the birds' holiday.

JENNY WREN GOSSIPS ABOUT HUMMER

AS PETER RABBIT sat staring up at the tiny nest of Hummer the Hummingbird, which he had just discovered, Jenny Wren came along. Being quite tired from the feeding of her seven babies, Jenny was content to rest for a few minutes and gossip. Peter told her what he had discovered. "I know all about that," retorted Jenny. "You don't suppose I hunt these trees over for food without knowing where my neighbors are living, do you? I'd have you understand that this is the dearest nest in the Old Orchard. It is made wholly of plant down and covered on the outside with bits of that gray moss-like stuff that grows on the bark of the trees and is called lichen. That is what makes that nest look like nothing more than a knot on a branch. Chatterer the Red Squirrel made a big mistake when he visited this tree. Hummer may be a tiny fellow, but he isn't afraid of anybody under the sun. That bill of his is so sharp, and he is so quick that few folks ever bother him more than once. Why, there isn't a single member of the tance doesn't bother Hummer any. You needn't worry about those wings of his. He goes clear down to South America, where he has ever so many relatives. You ought to see his babies when they first hatch out. They are no bigger than bees. But they certainly do grow fast. They are flying three weeks from the time they hatch. I'm glad I don't have to pump food down the throats of my youngsters the way Mrs. Hummingbird has to do hers." Peter looked perplexed. "What do you mean by pumping food down their throats?" he demanded. "Just what I say," retorted Jenny Wren. "Mrs. Hummer sticks her bill right down their throats and then pumps up the food she has already swallowed. I guess it is a good thing the babies have short bills." "Do they?" asked Peter, opening his eyes wide. "Yes," replied Jenny. "When they hatch out they have short bills, but it doesn't take them a great while to grow long." "How many babies does Mrs. Hummer usually have?" asked Peter. "Just two," replied Jenny. "Just two. That's all that nest will hold. But goodness gracious, Peter, I can't stop gossiping here any longer. You have no idea what a care seven babies are."

With a jerk of her tail off flew Jenny Wren and Peter hurried back to tell Johnny Chuck all he had found out about Hummer the Hummingbird.

QUESTION BOX By ED WYNN... The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn: I have just arrived in this country—my first visit here since 1903. Kindly tell me: When the prohibition law was passed was it a big surprise to the people?
Truly yours,

Answer: I'll tell the cock-eyed world it was a surprise to the people. In fact, it took most of the people's breath away.
Dear Mr. Wynn: In our town there is a burglar who is causing considerable trouble as well as curiosity. The police can't catch him. The report is that he travels around absolutely nude. What I want to know is this: What shall I do if some night I find the robber in my house and he is really naked?

GIRLS seem different about the time a fellow enters high. When you start to take them out girls seem—well, I can't say why. Can't say what. But they're different a lot.

Seems you've sort of put them on a kind of pedestal, perhaps. When the schoolyard days are gone girls are different, and chaps. Here is how All the girls are different now:

May Employ Radio Waves in Fight Against Pests

Dr. Thomas J. Headlee, director of the Department of Entomology of the New Jersey State Agricultural Experiment Station of Rutgers university, knew of the uses to which physicians were putting short-wave radio transmitters. He had read how artificial fevers could be generated within the body and how the germs of certain infectious diseases could be killed with almost miraculously quick results. And then there were the tricks of engineers, who, to arouse the wonder of those easily mystified by the feats of fire-eaters and sword-swallowers, would cook eggs merely by holding them in the field of the transmitter, the space wherein the effect occurs.

Thus inspired, Doctor Headlee decided to try the effect of the waves on insects. He knew, of course, that pests could be electrocuted by putting them in a circuit through which a sufficiently powerful electric current was passed. He wanted nothing that smacked of wires or of electrocution. So he had several radio sets built, and with these he began a series of experiments that may be of historic importance.

The first fact to be determined was whether insects can be killed at all by radio. He turned on the waves. Bees, flies, beetles, moths, locusts dropped dead—sometimes in fifteen seconds, sometimes in little more than two minutes. He studied the dead bodies. They were warm to the touch, although the glass containers through which the waves had passed were cool. Evidently the insects had been killed not by electricity, but by the heat generated within them—cooked alive. For the benefit of radio enthusiasts it may be stated here that the minimum frequency for killing a bee, for example, is 3,000,000 cycles a second, although Doctor Headlee has experimented with frequencies as high as 17,250,000 cycles a second. The field strength may vary, but the killings were prompt when 4,000 volts were allowed for each linear inch.

Insects sometimes bury themselves in earth, fruit and vegetables. Can they be reached without killing the plant? Experiments made by Doctor Penson with many different liquids, minerals and earths, and with such substances as paper, wood, tobacco, wheat, cereals, leaves and paraffin, show that it is possible to destroy an insect without killing the plant or the fruit on which it feeds. More experiments with honey bees and wheat showed that insects could be killed without having any harmful effect on the plant. But

Oh, Doctor! Blinks—So you thought you'd get a big kick out of riding a mule while out on the farm, eh? Did you? Jinks—No, but I got a whale of a one from the mule.

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless use of strong laxatives may do more harm than good.

Harsh laxatives often drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gently helps the average person's bowels while nature is restoring their regularity. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "convenience" in any cathartic which is taken so frequently, you must carry it with you, wherever you go!

Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome, a delightful taste, and a delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. At all druggists, ready for use, in big bottles.

"Shirtmaker" Frock

PATTERN 9986

The vogue of the shirtmaker frock has been carried right over into the autumn, but the new members of this popular family are a trifle less severely tailored than those one has seen in all smart places during the summer. Here is an excellent example of what we mean—with chic short epaulet-like sleeves and soft gathers. You can make it of a fabric as formal as you wish. It would be as smart as Paris in black with crystal buttons and a white satin knot at the throat. Or perhaps you would prefer it in crepe morocain in the warm new shade called "clay-rust."

Complete, diagrammed sew chart included.

Pattern 9986 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3½ yards 39-inch fabric and ¾ yard 1½ inch ribbon for bow.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth Street, New York, N. Y.

HIGH SCHOOL GRIDDEERS SINK UNBEATEN TEAM HUDSONS TAKE LEAD IN CITY BOWLING LOOP

Wealth of Power Submerges West Side of Newark, 12-0

By CLARENCE M. SCHWARTZ

West Side High School was justified in its fear for Carteret High, as the local griddeers went over to Irvington last Saturday afternoon and knocked them off with such precision and ease that the Newarkers hardly had the aspect of an undefeated eleven. Although the final score was 12-0, it should have been much greater.

Carteret flashed a world of power and really looks like the champions of group two for this season. Besides making consistent gains while carrying the ball, the Blue and White griddeers overwhelmed West Side and did not allow them more than thirty yards gaining through the line of scrimmage during the entire game.

With Kosel as the central figure, Carteret's resurgent team uncovered a dazzling offense and balked West Side's forces at every turn.

Two minutes after the game started, Kosel went over for the locals. After punting to the goal line from mid-field, Kosel took a pass from Comba from the five-yard line, scoring standing up. His placement for the extra point bounced back after hitting one of the uprights.

At the end of the opening period, Larry Brahm fumbled and Wielgolinski recovered for Carteret on the Green 33-yard line. Kosel passed to Trivanovich and Romanowski, advancing the ball to the 18-yard line, for another first down. Kosel then hurled himself at the big Green line four times, finally being stopped about an inch short of a first down. Florellino kicked the home team out of danger.

The locals threatened to score again in the third quarter, after Wielgolinski recovered his second fumble on the West Side 34-yard line. Nascak ran twenty yards around left end to the 14-yard line, and Kosel recorded another first down on the four yard stripe. Here the Green forward wall made a valiant stand, taking the ball on their own two-yard line.

During the remainder of the period, Carteret threatened to score twice, having the ball on the sixteen yard line. Both times, however, the Green line tightened up.

Kosel got off a 40-yard punt in the final period that rolled down to the West Side one-yard stripe, where Romanowski, the big Carteret end, downed the ball. Florellino kicked to the 34-yard line from behind his own goal line, but to no avail, because on the next play, Mike Trivanovich followed his interference perfectly and scored after shaking off several tacklers. Kosel's kick for the point after touchdown was blocked.

The local team played a strictly offensive game throughout the afternoon. At no time during the ball game did the West Side eleven pass the Carteret 30-yard line.

The victory, however, proved costly to the local outfit. Red Pelcz, the big red-headed end, sustained a fractured wrist after one of the various pile-ups. The big boy played fine ball in the four Carteret victories, and his absence from the lineup will be noticeable. Bartz or possibly Churilla will get the call for Pelcz's position.

Dinny Comba also was injured, although not seriously. The local quarterback has been out of practice all week due to a hip injury, but it is thought that he will recover sufficiently to start the game tomorrow.

CLEM'S QUIBS OF SPORT

OPPOSES SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Joseph C. (Chick) Saltman, chairman of the Health Education Department at Lane High School, Brooklyn, and once noted football coach at Stuyvesant High School, predicts that there will be no football, as we know it, played in the city's high schools in the next five or ten years. Saltman hitches a hope that strikes a radical note in gridiron circles. "In its place, I hope, there will be 'touch football'," said Saltman.

When Saltman speaks of touch football, with references to the intangible aspects of the game, he speaks with enthusiasm and authority. His Stuyvesant teams of more than a decade ago made New York football history.

For years, this teacher has been advocating the abolishment of scholastic football and the adoption of the simplified game, in which the ball is declared "dead" when the ball carrier is touched by the hands of the opposing player.

"Too much stress is put on victory," Saltman maintains. Besides, football distracts from health education in our schools. It harms the youth instead of helping him. Teachers are building up the weaker boy but the stronger, football playing through the gymnasium classes. The strength of the scholastic student is being weakened. Football player has deteriorated because he is naturally playing the game in the years of his immature strength to "take it." There is no reason why a young man," Saltman continued, should leave a high school with a trick knee, chipped elbow or bruised hips, nor why a high school should prove a roughing ground for colleges in search of football material."

With interclass sports as one of objectives, the Lane teacher sees another angle of value in "touch football." "Instituting touch football will allow more boys to play. Conditions now prohibit many to take part. After all, what good is football to the schools if only 6 per cent of the male registration take part?"

According to Saltman, this modified game contains all the elements of the regulation game with "tackling" and "taking out" the real dangers of the game, omitted. "Take those parts out, Saltman said, "and a boy can still learn enough to qualify him for a college team."

Saltman is already putting his plan into effect at Lane.

In a parting shot, Saltman asked: "How many football coaches allow their sons to play the game?" The answer came from the questioner—a negative shake of the head.

The latest school to join the ranks of "touch football" is Fordham Prep, where an annual interclass schedule has been arranged.

fashionable Hun School in South Jersey, this year.

Spewak, as was expected, is playing heads up football for the Hun School team. His work at left end has done much in Hun's rise to football supremacy this fall.

Spewak, as you may remember, was all state center on Carteret High's 1934 state championship basketball team.

SPEAKING OF FOOTBALL

With the exception of about two plays, every time Carteret High needed a touchdown this year, all they had to do was call the signal for a pass. The passes, either from Kosel to Comba or vice versa, have never failed to gain considerable ground for the local griddeers. West Side, whom the locals humiliated last week to the tune of 12-0, were supposed to have a pretty fair sort of a ball club. True, their club was no pushover, but a team without a fairly decent pass defense cannot be considered much. In the case of the locals, their pass defense as well as their offense has been excellent.

FIELD CLUB PLAYS JERSEY CITY TO SCORELESS TIE

The Carteret Field Club and the Jersey City Football Association team played to a scoreless tie last Sunday afternoon at the latter's field.

It was a hard fought game throughout, neither team advancing within 20-yards of the respective goal lines.

For the locals, Green and Andy Galvanek were outstanding, the former making many long runs, although none of them materialized. Galvanek punted the locals out of many tough situations.

JAY WALKERS

A MASS of statistics isn't necessary to prove that crossing in the middle of the block is particularly hazardous to pedestrians. The man on foot has trouble enough getting across a busy thoroughfare at the intersection when drivers have slowed down and are on the lookout. When he jay walks the chances of being struck down are multiplied.

Too, there are road hogs among pedestrians as well as among motorists. Have you ever noticed those pedestrians who cross the street with that "try and hit me attitude"? Some of them seem to be deliberately foolhardy. Then there are others who are absent minded and apparently forget that there is a time and place for them to cross safely.

But whatever the reason, motorists must watch out for them. Courts are still notoriously "pedestrian minded" and are inclined to be sympathetic toward the man on foot regardless of who was in the wrong.

The safe driver drives on city streets as if he considered every pedestrian deaf, dumb and blind.
