

Honoring Kathryn Stocoski

In observance of Women's History Month, Scranton City Council presented a proclamation to the first women to hold or who currently hold certain elected offices within their respective townships, boroughs, or cities.

In 1968 Kathryn Kochan Stocoski, was the first woman elected as a township Supervisor in Lackawanna County.
