Computers with a Cause Laptop Presentation

Charleston, S.C.—Charleston Mayor John Tecklenburg and Dr. Bobby Baker, founder of the Charleston-based nonprofit Computers with a Cause, will present 12 laptops to Charleston Development Academy at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, October 29, 2020 at Arthur W. Christopher Community Center, located at 265 Fishburne Street.

Computers with a Cause works to provide laptops to students facing the financial challenge of owning their own computers, which this year has been compounded by the increase in remote learning due to the ongoing coronavirus pandemic.

Also during the press conference, Mayor Tecklenburg will proclaim ‘Computers with a Cause Day’ in the city of Charleston, observed in conjunction with ‘National Computer Learning Month,’ an annual campaign held in October to support the use of computers in educational settings.

The press conference will be live-streamed at www.facebook.com/CityCharleston.

Attendees are asked to practice safe social distancing during this event.
