

About InRegalia:

Based in the city of Mumbai in the western part of India, InRegalia is a band which plays good old fashioned rock with elements of Indian classical music.

Formed in 2012, InRegalia has been active on the Indian indie circuit playing at a number of venues in their home city and across the country. The band was founded by guitarist Vijay Fernandes and bassist Duane Wilson. They were later joined by vocalist Peter Abraham, drummer Warren Swaries and Keith Pereira on keys.

The band's first single titled 'Was it a Dream' was released in June 2014 followed by the release of their second single 'Rock this House' in August the same year. A year later in December 2015, the band released its debut EP 'A New Horizon' which featured the earlier mentioned tracks along with two new songs, 'Lalitha' and 'Stand Up'.

The band has received positive reviews and coverage in the press and their music has been aired on close to 100 radio stations worldwide.

InRegalia plans to release a full length album in 2017. Their music is available on iTunes, Amazon and Spotify.

IN REGALIA/ FUSION ROCK

This four-piece band formed in late 2010 consists of lead vocalist Peter Abraham, Vijay Fernandes on guitar and backing vocals, Duane Wilson on bass and backing vocals, and Warren Swaries on drums. About the unusual name InRegalia, Vijay says, "I was working in a corporate firm in the US and playing on and off for a band, when this name came to mind. It is ethnic yet depicts a fusion influence."

On their a-ha moment: Their first big moment happened in 2013 with the digital release of their debut single, Was It A Dream. "It is very self-satisfying when you have your own song playing on the radio or being reviewed or listened to by friends and family," says Vijay.

On their brand of music: The band adds subtle doses of Indian classical and Carnatic music to their songs. Their first song has a live alaap part and a Carnatic guitar solo, while the second one has a Carnatic riff. "We pick up from different sources. It's more listening than learning for us," says Vijay. Their songs are inspired from a diverse range of scenes. For instance, the first song is surrealistic. It's about the connection between a guy and a girl and has three different interpretations. In the second song, the band experimented with catchy lines and the fusion concept to create a party anthem, while the third song is more socially driven. The band records their songs in two steps. The scratch is done in a home studio set-up, and only when every single detail is finalised and done do they go for a final recording at a professional studio.

On their influences: Being a four-member band, InRegalia have a varied set of influences. Peter listens to a lot of Freddie Mercury. Warren listens to a lot of jazz drummers, while Duane listens to classic rock. Vijay's prominent influences are Led Zeppelin, Ivan Heylin and Indian metal act Motherjane for their guitar. "In fact, AR Rahman indirectly influences me to come up with out-of-the-box music, which constantly inspires me to do something innovative," says Vijay.

On their way forward: The band is releasing their second single Rock The House this week. They also plan to release a complete album sometime later next year. "We would like to promote ourselves in the country as well as to audiences abroad, and would like to explore a host of different avenues. Presently, the Indian market is pretty much dominated by Bollywood." Their dream is to create a niche for themselves such that there is a big enough audience for bands like theirs in the fusion rock genre.

The band consists of:

Peter Abraham (Lead Vocals)

Peter Abraham is the vocalist for InRegalia. It was about 15 years ago, that Pete was convinced to audition as vocalist for his first band in college. Since then he has been part of five bands and has done shows in various venues in Mumbai, Pune, Delhi and Bangalore. He is a huge fan of the vocal styles of Bono, Freddie Mercury, Eddie Vedder and Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan. Currently Pete is training for certification from London's Trinity School of Music.

Vijay Fernandes (Lead, Rhythm Guitars / Backing Vocals)

Vijay's musical talent was imminent at an early age having won several local guitar and singing competitions. The journey from an acoustic folk guitarist to an accomplished Rock Lead/Rhythm guitarist has brought with it experience in Rock & Soul bands to which he blends in pop and ethnic sensibilities. Some of his influences include Jimmy Page, Ritchie Blackmore and Angus Young.

Keith Pereira (Keyboards / Backing Vocals)

Keith's musical journey with the keyboard began at the age of 7 and progressed from there on. Keith is an accomplished musician, having completed Grade 5 theory and Grade 6 practical exams through Trinity College, London. He's been an active musician in the local music circuit in the Mumbai area. He cites Elton John and Jordan Rudess as his main influences.

Duane Wilson (Bass / Backing Vocals)

A self taught musician, Duane was singing before he learnt to play the guitar. Ever since he made the decision to become a bassist, it has been an ongoing journey. Though his primary genre is Rock, he loves to add touches of other genres to songs. Among his idols are Flea, Billy Sheehan, Marcus Miller and Victor Wooten. When playing acoustic sets, he doubles as guitarist, preferring the finger-picking style of playing.

Warren Swaries (Drums)

Born into a musical family, Warren was exposed to the drums early in life, with his Dad and uncle both being drummers too. However, his great interest in the instrument had to wait quite a while, before he got his first kit at the age of 16. Since then, there was no looking back. From his first band formed with childhood friends, to playing at university level for state competitions, and being on the Sa Re Ga Ma Pa band special finals, Warren was exposed to a wide range of music. He cites Vinnie Colaiuta, Benny Greb and Gavin Harrison as his heroes.
