

---

PITTSBURGH ARTIST LOLOREE

---

Who is LoloRee?

Born and raised in Pittsburgh Pennsylvania, 21-year-old LoloRee is "The Artist that Interviews Artist". Formally known as London Reese-Scaife, LoloRee started her musical journey as young as 3 yrs old by being involved in Theatre and Dance programs. When she became of age, she applied and was accepted into Pittsburgh's Creative and Performing Art School studying Musical Theater, where she attended from 6th-12th grade. When She reached High School was also accepted into a Youth Work program that introduced her to her newfound passion Radio and Television Broadcast. While under the direction of Emmy Award Winning Emma Alaquiva, LoloRee got to gain experience doing a youth radio show called "LOCKDown Radio" with HipHopOnLock. The station gave her travel opportunities to New York, interviews with legends like the Pittsburgh Major, and got to experience the behind the scenes production of the 2014-15 Roots Picnic in Philadelphia, PA. She attended one year at Point Park University and decided college just wasn't for her, She decides to start an online radio station under the Direction of Jaybee Jackson called MXCI Radio. MXCI Radio allowed her to start our own podcast called "Live with LoloRee", where she interviewed local creatives on there impact in the community. After monthes of fighting and battling with herself, LoloRee decided to take all her poems from 2016-17, and make her EP "I DONT OWN THE RIGHTS". Now LoloRee is looking to travel and book performances countrywide in hopes to be the next big "Artist that Interviews Artist".