

Emily Martin traditional Old Time music

Emily Martin carries on a rich heritage of traditional Old-Time Appalachian music on mandolin, dulcimer, and tenor banjo. A member of the Martin Family Band, based in Maryland with deep Southwestern Virginia roots, Emily is part of a multigenerational family that has shared its music through concerts, square dances, festivals, and jam sessions in her local community and beyond. Through performing, teaching and researching she continues to share the music of the Blue Ridge Mountains and carry her family's musical legacy wherever she goes.

Past appearances: Santa Fe Bluegrass and Old Time Fest, The Kennedy Center, The National Folk Festival, Friends of Tidewater Folk Concert Series, The American Roots and Music Fest, The Watermelon Park Fest, and more!
