

Orangeburg, S.C., January 10, 1971, Page 13

Bugaloo Buggy Way Out Car

One of the more expensive cars in Hollywood is an odd-looking contraption that was designed to resemble an insect. It's the Bugaloo Buggy, an auto designed for use on NBC Television Network's Saturday morning colorcasts of "The Bugaloos" (9:30 - 10 a.m., NYT).

"We decided that the kids on the show would need a method of transportation, and since the kids have wings we decided that we'd give them a car that had wings," explain producers Sid and Marty Krofft. The Krofft brothers asked custom car specialist George Barris to create a Bugaloo Buggy.

Barris and his team of designers started their "creation" with a visit to the stage. They chatted with the four young stars of "The Bugaloos" and asked what they'd like to have, in the way of a car, if they could have anything they wanted.