

Hankton Group, LLC

For 18 years, I have served in education and had the privilege to work in many capacities, particularly in the District of Columbia and Maryland area. I hold a balanced perspective as a former English teacher, Teacher leader, Instructional Coach, Curriculum Writer, Assistant Principal, Principal, Head of School, and Education Program Evaluator. My goals are to create predictable, joyful learning environments where adults receive strategic, results-driven Professional Development and students are challenged with robust standards-based learning outcomes. I have led school teams and collaborated within Public, Public Charter, Single-gender, International Baccalaureate, and Private Elementary and Middle School communities.

Hankton's professional credentials include a Bachelor of English from Dillard University, a master's in teaching from Bowie State University, an Education Specialist Degree in Curriculum, Instruction, and Assessment from Walden University, and an Executive Education Leadership from George Washington University. I look forward to future partnerships. Service Expertise Area includes:

- Professional Development Planning and Facilitation Workshops
- Curriculum Planning
- Comprehensive School Plan Design and Review
- Master Scheduling
- Instructional Coaching
- Leadership Coaching
- Observations and Debriefing
- Strategic Planning
- Hiring Support
- Data Coaching
- Data Analysis Protocol Implementation
- Distant Learning Design
- Instructional Model Design
- Organizational Leadership Support
- Personalized Learning
- Return to School Planning