The Connector Statement For Women and Men

This section is to bring women and men together by finding common ground. This can be relationships at work, with family relationships, between spouses, among friends, etc.

EXERCISE: Find a common goal or something you have in common which needs attention.

1. Write down each other's approach
2. Compliment one another and find something positive in each other's approach
3. THEN: think to make the result represent the best outcome for both of you.

All life has change: it is the way we handle change TOGETHER that makes the ~~difference~~ best outcome.
