After an eight-month hiatus, resulting from a November 2015 near-fatal car accident, I and the Second Impact Concussion Awareness Corp. (www.thesecondimpact.com) have resumed our demanding schedule.

Highlights of 2016 included keynote addresses at the Burke Research Center, New York (Dr. Barry Jordan and the Retired Athletes Cognitive Evaluation Program), Nazareth College, St. Bonaventure University, Maine Brain Injury Association Conference, Vermont Brain Injury Association Conference, Colonie High School, Albany, and Syracuse University.

I continue to participate with retired NFL players on the Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE) Legend Study at Boston University under the direction of Dr. Robert Cantu.

January 2017 will kick off with a three-day conference at Colby College in Maine and visits to Golisano Children's Hospital and Children's Hospital of Buffalo.

A most sincere thank you to my many supporters and well wishers. Happy New Year and keep punching!
