PROFILE

Editor with roughly 8 years of editorial experience in television and documentary film, including several years of assisting prior and in between. Looking to tell interesting stories in new and exciting ways while maintaining a vast curiosity and constant desire to learn new skills to better create and collaborate with any team and every video tool available to make the best possible end product.

MISSION

To collaborate using my obsession of current cultural trends to modernize and energize your video content with deep thought regarding how we will think of media/brands in the future.
