NOT WHAT I WAS PLANNING ON...

by Father Michael

I can't imagine how many times this thought has crossed the minds of so many people in so many circumstances in these past months. Some issues are serious and have far reaching implications. Other issues are more of an inconvenience or an impact on the quality of life.

- Educators and school personnel trying to make heads or tails out of what this year's classes will look like
- High school students whose favorite sport has been sidelined
- An engaged couple who was planning on a wedding with 150 guests that is now reduced to two dozen, followed by a barbeque in the backyard
- Parents who are discerning what is the best course to take with their children
- Elderly folks and those who are in health care facilities who are in isolation from their loved ones
- Exciting vacation plans going by the wayside
- The first-year college student who was looking forward to life on campus now anticipates only having time in front of a computer screen
- Watching your favorite team playing in an empty stadium
- Furloughed workers wondering if their job will ever come back.
- Kids who want to just play with their friends

As time goes on we have all made some adjustments to the way life has become. But, every once in a while, we are reminded of the way things were. There can be a sadness, frustration, as well as an uncertainty for the future.

It's fine to name the sorrow and losses of these past few months. But, in the midst of it, don't overlook the graces and blessings. I reached out to more long lost friends in the past few months than ever before. My appreciation for the gift of priesthood grew to new heights. Simple things and conversations seem more life giving.

I certainly do not want to minimize the heartache and hardship that many have faced. I also don't want to be unrealistically optimistic. But the gospel calls us to be people of hope. I pray that in the midst of the challenges, I hope you have experienced God's strength in a new and unexpected way. I'm sure all the saints of the Church would have said, "This is not what I was planning on." But that's okay, because the gift of God's grace is still at work.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Welcome to Holy Cross Religious Education

The Religious Education Office is planning ahead to the 2020-2021 Formation Year. We need your help so that we can adequately plan to meet the needs of our parish. If you have a child entering First Grade in September you need to register. If you have recently moved to our parish you need to register in the parish. Due to Covid-19, our program will be a mix of online and “home based” learning, depending on CDC guidelines. Please contact our office for more specific information.

- Religious Education classes will begin the week of October 19th, 2020.
- First time registration can be done online at www.pothc.org . Go to forms.
- Registration needs to be completed by September 1, 2020.
- Summer Office Hours: Monday – Friday 9:00-12:00 & 1:00-2:30
- If your child was not baptized at Holy Cross you need to send us a copy of your child’s Baptism Certificate. Please email it to hcreled@optonline.net .
- For those who are already part of our program, you need to re-register for the upcoming year. Please note that textbooks will not be distributed to your child without a registration form.

A detailed outline of our program is available online or at our office. However, there are a few important details to be noted.

- Children must successfully complete each grade level to proceed to the next.
- The Sacraments of Reconciliation, Eucharist, and Confirmation require a minimum of two years of preparation.

Most importantly, we need to work together. Faithful attendance at classes and parent workshops is essential. As comprehensive and informative as our program is, this is only one part of your child’s faith formation. The greatest thing you can do to nurture your faith and the faith of your child is to regularly be part of our Sunday Eucharist - whether in person or viewing our 11:30 AM live streamed Mass.

The Catechism of the Church states that parents have the first responsibility for the education of their children. We are privileged to work with you in this task. We thank you for your cooperation in allowing us to be part of your lives. We look forward to a fruitful year where everyone, young and old, continues to grow in understanding the gift of our faith.

LITURGY BYTES

Sacraments of Vocation

For the next few weeks, we will glance into Holy Orders and Matrimony, the two Sacraments of Vocation or Service. The word vocation does have a secular meaning expressing someone's suitability for a particular profession. It also includes having a passion and an aptitude for that profession which indicates one's career choice is more than a job.

In the Church world, the word vocation comes from the Latin word "vocare," meaning to call. At the heart of the meaning of vocation is a call. Perhaps you have heard, as I, that it is a call from Christ, offered to all the baptized, to follow him and to become signs and witnesses of the reign of God.

Many of us probably learned either in Catholic school or in Religious Education classes that vocation meant a call for the single male population to become a priest, or for single males and females to enter a Religious community as a Sister or Brother. Perhaps there were events where priests, sisters and brothers would speak to young people about their vocation, answering questions and offering encouragement to pray about their future endeavors. I am sure many vocation ideas came from those meetings.

Today, what do Church documents say about the word vocation? In the CCC (Catechism), they speak of holiness as the vocation of all Christians (n.1533). Pope Francis emphasizes the aspect of call when discussing holiness in "Rejoice and Be Glad." The Lord calls each of us to holiness. Although great saints and martyrs are extraordinary examples, Francis urges us to live out our vocation to holiness by finding its path in the everyday gestures in our lives. In another of the Pope's exhortations, "Amoris Laetitia," he states this about marriage:

“Marriage is a vocation, in as much as it is a response to a specific call... consequently the decision to marry and to have a family ought to be the fruit of a process of vocational discernment” (n.72).

In the book “Sustaining the Spirit” by Michael and Cathy Carrotta, the dimensions of vocation are addressed as: work, relationship, and faith.

If these were better understood, better conversations about vocation would help with family matters which then would certainly benefit the people of God to realize that being a Christian is a vocation that invites us into lay ecclesial ministries in the parish that foster the mission of the Church in addition to family commitments.

Here is one question for this week’s reflection: “WHAT DOES GOD WANT FOR ME?”

Have a healthy, safe, and blessed week! ~~~~Michele Hahn

Prayer to Know One's Vocation

Lord, my God and my loving Father, you have made me to know you, to love you, to serve you, and thereby to find and to fulfill my deepest longings. I know that you are in all things, and that every path can lead me to you. But of them all, there is one especially by which you want me to come to you. Since I will do what you want of me, I pray you send your Holy Spirit to me: into my mind, to show me what you want of me; into my heart, to give me the determination to do it, and to do it with all my love, with all my mind, and with all of my strength right to the end.

Jesus, I trust in you. Amen

PARISH OUTREACH

Outreach School Supplies Thank You

This has been quite a challenging year for all of us, especially parents and children. Although the school year may look a little different this year, one thing remains the same and that is the ability of Parish Outreach to provide some help to families as they begin the school year. We are able to do this due to the wonderful generosity of our parish community.

On behalf of those families, I thank you so very much for your support of the Outreach School Supplies program. Because of your generosity we were able to provide over $50 in gift cards to each of the 60 children who accessed our program. We trust this will help them get their school year off to a good start.

You are all fantastic! Stay safe and God Bless!

AS PANDEMIC DESTROYS TRADITIONAL BLOOD DRIVE MODEL, 75% OF INCOMING SUPPLY IS THREATENED

Start of school year usually boosts donations, but offers no relief amid COVID-19

New York Blood Center encourages blood donors to schedule appointments at donor centers

NEW YORK — New York Blood Center is calling on the community to make appointments to visit donor centers as COVID-19 has fundamentally changed the process of donating blood. Before COVID-19, mobile blood drives hosted by high schools, colleges, businesses and other organizations made up about 75% of the region's incoming blood supply, but the number of blood drives has dropped by two-thirds this year due to the pandemic.

The upcoming school year presents new and unprecedented challenges. Blood donations are typically lower during the summer and the return to school usually helps make up the difference and stabilize the blood supply. In the past, school and college drives have resulted in 75,000 blood donations during each school year.

"The pandemic is forcing us to rethink the entire landscape, which means encouraging donors to take the extra step of making an appointment and traveling to a donor center. The loss of young donors is a particular challenge because our future blood supply is dependent on these first-time donors becoming lifetime donors," said Andrea H. Cefarelli, Senior Executive Director of Recruitment & Marketing for New York Blood Center. "We've always relied on the fall to provide a boost in blood donations from high school and college students hosting drives and this year we know this relief will not be coming."

NYBC began hosting a limited number of drives again this summer, however they are far from the number of drives per month needed to support area hospitals. NYBC is encouraging eligible donors of all ages to adapt to this new normal by making appointments to visit one of its 19 donor centers, which have expanded capacity and hours of operation in order to safely accommodate more donors.

Blood from volunteer donors is needed every two seconds to help meet the daily transfusion needs of cancer and surgery patients, accident and burn victims, newborns and mothers delivering babies, AIDS and sickle cell anemia patients, and many more.

To make an appointment to donate blood, visit here.

NYBC also needs more partners to step up and help host drives in large venues. If you have a space available and would like to host a blood drive, please sign up here.

For information on the extra precautions being taken to help prevent the person-to-person spread of COVID-19, visit here.
