THE SPIRIT GOES ON VACATION

Weekly Reflection by Fr. Michael

I am still coming out of the joy and relaxation of my riverboat cruise on the Rhine. One thing I have found is that for me there is always a strong connection between vacation/travel and prayer. This trip was not a retreat, yet there were deeply prayerful moments that came out of the blue. For example, one day I was wandering by myself through Old Town Zurich when I stumbled upon a labyrinth (prayer walk) in the courtyard of a church. I always find walking a labyrinth to be a reflective time. And so, for 20 minutes I found myself having this prayerful walk. It was an unexpected gift from the Spirit.

The TV in the cabin on the ship had live TV; it was mostly different news networks from around the world. I would briefly check to see if there were any significant headlines, but I consciously chose not to watch the news. Without having to deal with the complexities and emotions of the election and other global issues, it was like I immersed myself in a bubble of serenity. I was able to catch up on what happened while I was away, but the break from media was a welcome respite.

In the absence of TV news, there were occasions when I was looking for something to fill the time. The entertainment system on the ship offered hundreds of on-demand movies. Most of the more contemporary movies I did not recognize or had little interest in, and so I found myself watching some old classics that I had never seen before. Sometimes it was just a few minutes at a time, but I worked my way through some real gems.

Two films had a much greater impact than I expected. First was the 1961 (a very good year) Disney film, "The Parent Trap." While it was light-hearted and entertaining, it raised questions about the complexity of divorce and the impact it has on children. For a sixty-year-old wholesome film it raises some pointed questions and provides insight into the human struggle. But there was even a more engaging movie that took me by surprise, Gregory Peck in the 1947 film, "Gentlemen's Agreement." It was a powerful statement on prejudice and antisemitism. You would think a 75-year-old film would have lost its relevance. There were many aspects of the story that could have been taken from today's headlines. It's well worth a viewing, if you have the opportunity.

Sadly, some issues of life are timeless. The struggles of humanity found in the scriptures, old Hollywood films, and today's headlines are essentially the same. We haven't gotten it right yet. In light of our need to grow and be transformed, the Spirit remains at work. Sometimes the Spirit touches us in formal prayer, sometimes in the routines of our life. And sometimes, the Spirit travels with us on vacation and offers rich gifts. I am grateful for all the blessings of my life and how the Spirit continues to offer hope.

Practice of Charity (Excerpt from "At Home with the Word 2024")

Jesus says to the deaf man in Decapolis, "Be opened!" (Mark 7:34) Immediately the deaf man hears. How is Jesus telling you to "be opened"? Spend time reflecting on how you can figuratively open your ears and your heart to listen to how God is speaking to you.

WORK OF THE PEOPLE

LITURGY BYTES by Michele Hall

The Church tells us that the word liturgy comes from a Greek word, leitourgia, which means "public work" or the "work of the people." It definitely is work and not a passive activity. It calls us all to actively participate with heart, mind, and voice.

In addition to the priest who celebrates and leads the community in the prayer of the Mass, there are many others involved in assisting to make this happen.

As you might have noticed, we have singers and musicians who lead us in song, servers who assist the Priest and Deacon at the altar, Lectors who proclaim God's Sacred Word to us and Ministers of Holy Communion who, along with the Priest and Deacon, distribute the Body and Blood of Our Lord to the assembly at each Mass. We also have Ushers/Greeters who welcome you to each Mass, take up the weekly offerings, and distribute the Church bulletin after Mass. In addition to the folks you might see each week, there are also "behind the scenes" helpers that share their time and generosity in making things run smoothly for each liturgy.

As you probably already know, we continue to need faithful assistants from the parish family not only for special events but also for our celebration of Mass weekend after weekend. Since we will soon receive the training schedules that the Diocese offers for the fall, I wanted to raise awareness about the needs we have right here at Holy Cross.

Could you see yourself being.....a Lector (reading the Scriptures at Mass); an EM (distributing Holy Communion at Mass); an usher (greeting people, taking up the collection at Mass)? Pray about it and contact me with your questions or concerns. You can email me at mhall@holycrossrc.org or call me at the Parish Office. Remember, God's work is also our work. We are invited to meet Him halfway. He is inviting us now.

Have a blessed, joyful, and prayerful week ahead!

Membership in the Catholic Church

Do you know someone who is:

- not baptized, but interested in learning about the Catholic faith?
- baptized in another Christian denomination, but wishes to explore membership in the Catholic Church?
- baptized in the Catholic Church but hasn't celebrated the Sacraments of Confirmation and Eucharist (Holy Communion)?

Then, the RCIA (Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults) is just what they're looking for!

RCIA is the process through which adults are welcomed and fully initiated into the Catholic Church.

Our RCIA will be meeting again soon, so if you know anyone who might answer "yes" to any of these questions, or if you are interested yourself, please contact Jude at jpickel@holycrossrc.org or at (631) 265-2200 x116.
