THE POWER OF THE SPIRIT

by Father Michael

Most people reading this article have received the Sacrament of Confirmation. Some might even know the date they received it. Last week 130 of our young people received the Sacrament when Bishop Romero visited Holy Cross. Every year on Pentecost the spotlight is turned on the gift of the Holy Spirit. We can pinpoint significant days on the calendar related to the Holy Spirit, but it is another thing to know and experience the power of the Spirit at work in our hearts.

What does it mean to experience the power of the Spirit at work in our hearts? How do we make it happen? We don't control it. We can't plan for it. But the movement of the Spirit is real. I'm not sure I can completely explain it, but there are times when I know when it's happening. One gift I believe I was given was the ability to preach. I may not always do it well, but there are times when I sit down at the end of a homily and I ask myself "Where did that come from?" I have done my best to use the gifts I have discovered in my life, but then something happens even beyond that. There is an exponential outpouring of life. When it happens, it is both a joyful occasion but also a humbling one. To experience the power of God at work through our words or actions is a grounding experience.

Perhaps it is no coincidence that Pentecost falls in between Mother's Day and Father's Day. I have to believe that for those who are called to parenthood, they have some insight into the power of the Spirit. I'm sure there are times when parenting demands focus, persistence, and specific action. But then there must also be times when the Spirit gives insight, understanding, and grace in situations that you never anticipated. I'm sure every parent has at least one story of amazement of getting through a trying time in an unexpected way. Chances are it was not just some divine coincidence, but rather the power of God giving the wisdom and insight that was needed.

Sometimes gifts are exercised in a public way where many people share in the experience. Although Scripture describes the first Pentecost in a dramatic way, it need not be that way. There are also times when the outpouring of the Spirit is a very quiet and gentle expression that perhaps only one other person is privileged to share. The goal is not to attain the attention of many, but rather allow the Spirit to come forth in whatever way the Spirit unfolds. This one day is devoted to celebrating the Spirit, but it cannot be limited to any specific time period. We remain open to the wondrous and mysterious ways in which the Spirit touches our hearts and brings us life.

LITURGY BYTES

A Different View – part 2

Picking up from last week's part 1, we return to our response of paying attention to the liturgy. Our first response is we need to be reflective about what we are doing at the Mass. We also need to pay attention to the prayer – the words, the movements, the objects, even the space and time.

Firstly, let us look at what we bring to the liturgical prayer of the Mass as it unfolds. In other words, our dying and rising in our everyday lives should be joined to the death and rising of Jesus. We need to be mindful of the griefs and the joys of our daily lives, the longings, the half-met expectations etc.—all human experiences that influence what we bring to Mass each week. The liturgy is a celebration of our experience, helping us to make sense of it, to purify it, to face the truth of it, to live through it and to surrender to God. Liturgy demands of us attention to itself and attention to ourselves. With so many distractions in our world today, this makes it most difficult. We have gadgets that distract us, much noise coming from many sources. On the other hand, there are those who do not have a cluttered life. They barely have enough to get by and struggle to make ends meet. Even though we have a longing for these obstacles that distract us, there is a longing for other kinds of values, like something more than mere survival, for example, beauty, solitude, simplicity to name a few. Today, we have a reverence for the earth, the fragility of our planet and all creation. There are so many things to distract us from paying attention, and yet there seems to be a restlessness until we rest with God. The desire for God is at the beginning and end of paying attention. This is called contemplation. Contemplation is the art of paying attention to God and to oneself in God. I am sure by now you are wondering what all of this has to do with our experience of the Mass. In liturgy, we gradually cultivate an awareness of God at the very heart of the touches, sights, sounds and smells of the Word, gestures, and objects, even of the faces of those with whom we have gathered at Mass.

I am not trying to be complicated by offering all that influences how we pay attention when we are at Mass. Truly it is impossible to recall all of the above as we come each week for Mass. Perhaps a good place to start would be to try to think of one point each week. It could help in realizing, once again, the beauty of each part of the Mass and how we, the people, are truly part of it. And, depending on “where” we are at on that day, what effect of God's love will we experience?

Have a reflective, blessed, and healthy week ahead! ~ Michele Hall

TAKE A CHANCE!

Spring Cash Fling

For many years the Cash Calendar was a part of the Holy Cross routine, and this fundraiser provided some additional financial support to the parish. At this time, it is unlikely that we have enough parishioners attending Mass on a weekly basis to support a monthly drawing, so we will continue as we have done for the past few years with our quarterly drawing.

- $10 per ticket
- Tickets are available for purchase through March, April and May.
- Drawing will be held May 30th.

This is the pay scale which will be offered:

- * 1 Prize @ $250
- * 2 Prizes @ $100
- * 10 Prizes @ $50
- * 15 Prizes @ $25

- This formula was based upon selling 250 tickets @ $10 each. If more than 250 tickets are sold, the number of prizes will be increased.
- Please use the tear-off tickets below. You may return your entries by placing them in an envelope and depositing it in the basket on weekends, or returning them to the Parish Office.
