Picture this:

The lights are low, the candles are glowing, and there's laughter bubbling between sips of wine or tea, and whispers of "Oh my gosh, how did you know that?" You and your besties are sprawled on cozy cushions, grazing on charcuterie, holding crystals, and pulling cards that land a little too accurately - because Spirit never misses.

One by one, you are guided into your own private mini reading. It is part divine download, part therapy-but-make-it-intuitive, and totally channeled just for you. We read the energy, you feel the shift - and suddenly, things start to make sense.

In between, you are pulling affirmation cards, playing intuition games, giggling over how someone's "past life lover" just made an appearance, or maybe just sipping your favourite tea (or tequila) - we don't judge - under the soft hum of sacred meditative sounds in the background - or is that dance music I hear?

This is not your average girls' night. This is a soul-tuned, vibe-lifting, light-infused mini retreat in your living room.

And the best part? You get to wear comfy clothes and be surrounded by your favourite people.

Come curious. Leave clearer.
