

VOLUNTEER

Being a volunteer in the “Legacy in Stories Project” is a meaningful way to connect with seniors and help preserve their life stories for future generations. Your role involves capturing memories that bridge the generational divide, fostering empathy and understanding. This experience not only brings joy to the seniors and their families but also allows you to contribute to a lasting legacy. Volunteering here means being part of a project that creates enduring connections across generations.

ABOUT

TRANSCRIBING ORAL STORIES TO TEXT

The "Legacy in Stories Project" is designed to connect family generations through the power of storytelling. Volunteers meet with seniors over several weeks to record their life stories in 30-minute sessions, capturing their voices and experiences using AI technology.

These transcriptions are carefully edited by volunteers, ensuring accuracy while respecting the senior's narrative. The completed stories, often enhanced with photos or memorabilia, are shared with the senior's family, creating a lasting heirloom. This process fosters deep intergenerational connections, ensuring that the wisdom and experiences of older generations are passed down to future ones

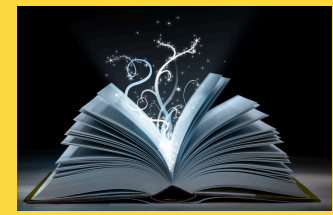

PHILOSOPHY

ROOTS OF WISDOM

We believe in the transformative power of stories to bridge the gap between generations. Our "Legacy in Stories Project" is inspired by the wisdom found in nature—a wisdom that mirrors the intricate connections within our own communities.

In nature, young Aspen trees sprout directly from the root systems of older Aspens, forming large, interconnected colonies. This shared root network allows the younger trees to draw strength and nutrients from the mature trees, helping them grow strong and resilient. As they mature, these young Aspens continue to support and expand the root system, enhancing the health and vitality of the entire colony. This natural interconnectedness reflects how older generations nurture and support the younger ones, who in turn contribute to the strength and unity of the community over time.
