The attached listing is offered as a preview of the types Course Preps offered by Fite's Professional Services. Fundamentally, these courses are offered to those individuals that have attained knowledge through education and experience and want to be recognized through certification. Our certifying body is the United Quality Management Institute (UQMI). All certification applications are reviewed by our Board of Directors to ensure no bias or partiality between instructor and student.

Certification Level:

This refers to the level of certification that the candidate is seeking. This is a partial list of the most popular current UQMI certifications. The UQMI standard is that all certifications carry a prerequisite. Students may exempt some of these certifications through written confirmation of education background, experience and testing out of the previous certification levels.

Support Hours:

This refers to the amount of expected time needed for an individual student to be coached in preparation for the UQMI testing exam. The UQMI controls all certification requirements including exam and project approvals. These hours may be adjusted as needed. However, these hours do not reflect exam time, only preparation. Support hours may be through face to face instruction, telephone, email or Zoom sessions.

Study Groups / UQMI Chapters

The hours listed for Support are not mandatory for certification. In some instances, individuals may elect to form a Study Group to self teach. In other circumstances, companies may elect to form a UQMI Chapter (a more formal study group) to accomplish the prescribed study guidelines. This has become very popular. Fite's Professional Services can help provide to establish the groups and provide the necessary instruction, if needed.
