My journey of wellness and the practice of Reiki, and other healing modalities began back in 2006. Like so many, a life altering event helped me to redirect my path. Over the past 12 years I studied, practiced, and taught Reiki and other healing modalities in a variety of settings. In 2013, I opened a private practice in Millis, MA where I see clients on a regular basis. In my private practice I help people find balance, relief from physical and emotional pain, helping with life transitions, and so much more. I also incorporate sound healing with my Reiki using Tibetan singing bowls, crystal bowls and tuning forks.

Beyond my office, I share Reiki at a wellness center, on college campuses, at dog parks, in hospitals, at a senior center, and hospice homes. I have trained students, faculty, and staff at Wheelock College in Boston in Reiki since 2012. I continue to conduct monthly Reiki clinics where students receive Reiki from volunteer practitioners to help relieve the stresses of college life.

Since 2015, I volunteered over 200 hours directly with patients at Spaulding Rehabilitation Hospital in Charlestown. I helped to educate the patients and their family members to the benefits of Reiki and gave direct service to patients, parents, and family members. Currently, I facilitate quarterly Reiki Shares for the nurses and support staff.
